In the absence of Secretary Campbell I shall endeavor to reply to your letter of August 5th, dealing with the United Radio Telegraphers' Association of New York.

With due respect for the statements made by James A. Moore, secretary of that organisation, I wish to state that prior to 1917 the organised radio telegraphers of New York City were all members of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. Mr. Ross Young was secretary of our Atlantic and Gulf Division. The officials of the Marconi Wireless Company were fighting us bitterly at that time and finally made a proposition to Mr. Young that if he would induce the radio telegraphers to secret from our union and form an organisation of their own the company would assist them in building up an employes' organisation. This I believe was the genesis of the United Radio Telegraphers' Association, and I notice that the address given is the address of the Marconi Wireless Telegaph Company of America.

It may be true that the association is independent of company control today.

While Secretary Moore may find some justification for his statement that the grievances of the land telegraphers are not theirs, and vice versa, the fact remains that a large percentage of the land telegraphers are capable of working radio and vice versa. Any number of our members fluctuate between land and sea positions.

Our reasons for objecting to the issuance of the charter are first: The belief that one international is sufficient in embracing all branches of the commercial telegraph service, which includes the radio telegraphers. Second: The maintenance of the membership in the radio tranch during the past eight years. Third: That the United Radio Telegraphers' Association had its inception as a secoding movement from the parent body.

Yours fraternally,

S. J. KONENKAMP, International President.

COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS' UNION OF AMERICA,

Chicago, Ill., August 11, 1919. Dictated August 8th.

Mr. Frank Morrison, Secretary, American Federation of Labor, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir and Brother:

The enclosed copy of a letter from James A. Moore and my reply thereto are self-explanatory. In looking over the rosters of officers I find that the president of the  $U.\ R.\ T.\ A.$  was one of those who helped to bring about the defection referred to.

I can readily understand this situation. We have been exercising considerable pressure through the wireless operators of other countries to bring this U.R.T.A. into the fold as a bonafide organization.

It also happens that a number of officials of the Marconi Company are ex-officials of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies. The Western Union is understood to have a financial interest in the Marconi Company, therefore, it is desirable on their part to alienate from us every bit of support we can expect from the commercial telegraph field. Nevertheless, I feel confident that we will get all of these matters adjusted in the course of time.

With best wishes, I remain.

Yours fraternally,

8. J. KONENKAMP, International President.

Dear Sir and Brother:

Attached please find copy of the letter I have received from James A. Moore, of the United Radio Telegraphers' Association. I wish that you would let me have your advice in regard to this communication. Yours fraternally, Secretary, American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Frank Morrison, Secretary,

American Federation of Labor,

Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

I wish to inform you that it has come to our notice that the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America is extinct as a result of the last woefully mismanaged strike.

I am also informed that Mr. Konenkamp has transferred his activities to the practice of law. Here's hoping that he may never burden himself with the responsibilities attached to controlling a labor organization, being totally unfit as has been proved.

I now wish to show you the injustice of the  $C.\ T.\ U.$  of A. claiming jurisdiction over this organization, and of your refusing to grant us a charter on the grounds that the  $C.\ T.\ U.$  of A. has jurisdiction over us.

This organization since we applied for charter has increased in membership more than 190 per cent and we now have a New Orleans branch.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) JAMES A. MOORE,

Secretary-Treasurer. Chicago, Ill., October 28, 1919.

Mr. Frank Morrison, Secretary American Federation of Labor,

Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir and Brother:

I am in receipt of your letter of the 17th ult., together with attached communication from James A. Moore, secretary-treasurer, United Radio Telegraphers' Association, 44 Broad Street, New York City.

Mr. Moore, as his letter indicates, has very little use for Mr. Konenkamp. And I believe that one of Mr. Moore's reasons for not desiring affiliation with the C. T. U. A. is because of the fact that he did not agree with Mr. Konenkamp's policies. Mr. Konenkamp, however, is no longer the president of this outfit. If you feel so inclined, you might advise Mr. Moore to this effect. At the same time suggesting that the jurisdiction of the C. T. U. A. embraces the wireless craft.

As a little indication of what has been accomplished within the last two weeks for Marconi wireless telegraphers of Canada, I am attaching herewith a telegram received today. The Canadian Marconi Wireless System Division No. 19 was organized late in September. Within five weeks after a charter had been issued, the Canadian Marconi men took their grievances before a board of conciliation in Montreal with the result that an increase of from sixty to one hundred per cent was awarded.

The C. T. U. A. can do the same thing for the American wireless men, once we have them organized.

I hope I have succeeded in giving you necessary material for your answer to Mr. Moore. As soon as I hear from either yourself or Mr. Moore on this subject, it is my intention to get busy on an organization campaign embracing every wireless telegrapher on the Gulf of Mexico, Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Yours fraternally,

ROSCOE H. JOHNSON International President.

November 3, 1919.

Mr. Frank Morrison, Secretary, American Federation of Labor, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:
Your letter received this morning with enclosed copy of a letter from President Johnson of the C. T. U. A.

Mr. Johnson is altogether wrong in assuming that it is on Mr. Konenkamp's account that we object to the jurisdiction of the C. T. U. A. over us radio operators.

This is not so. As I informed you both in person and by letter several times, we have nothing in common with land wire men and do not desire affiliation with the C. T. U. A. or any other organization of land wire operators.

We are sorry that the Canadian operators are affliated with the C. T. U. A. We have established the fact that the radio men on the Atlantic and Gulf Coast can look after their own interests much better than the C. T. U. A. could do for them.

Should Mr. Johnson attempt to interfere with our affairs in the matter of organizing wireless men anywhere in the United States we will take active measures to prevent his doing so. This organization has been recognized by the ship owners, and we are at present under a wage agreement, and satisfied with conditions.

Please understand that we are not and will not apply for a charter from the A. F. of L. as long as you claim that the C. T. U. A. has jurisdiction over us.

Very truly yours, (Signed) JAMES A. MOORE, Secretary-Treasurer.

COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS' UNION OF AMERICA,

Chicago, Ill., November 17, 1919.

Mr. James A. Moore, Secretary-Treasurer, United Telegraphers' Association, 44 Broad Street, New York, N. Y.

My dear Mr. Moore:

Mr. Morrison has forwarded me a copy of your letter to him, dated November 3rd. I hope I may be able in this letter to set forth clearly some of the advantages that would accrue to the radio operators by affiliation with the  $C.\ T.\ U.\ A.$

I am an ex-radio man myself and feel that I am in a position to sense these advantages to a fair degree.

To begin with, Mr. Moore, the August convention of the C. T. U. A., held in Chicago, amended our constitution as regards reorganization. Under the new order of things each "System" has complete autonomy over its affairs without the least bit of interference from the international officers unless called upon by the system division for assistance, financial or otherwise. There are several of these "system divisions" now operatives. The United Press, The International News Service, Universal Service, Postal Telegraph Company, Associated Press in the States and in Canada the Canadian Press, Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphers, The G. N. W. Telegraphers, The Grand Trunk Telegraphers, the Government Telegraphers, and the newly organized Canadian Marconi Wireless System Division Number 53. Every one of these "system divisions" exercise completely their own autonomy. Their general officers are elected by their own votes and the international officers have no part in their workings, except when specifically called upon by the general officers of the system division. division.

As a little illustration how this new system division arrangement works out, I will go over briefly the case of the Canadian Marconi radio operators. Early in September of this year, an association of Canadian Marconi operators drew up and presented to the Canadian Marconi Company a schedule of demands. The Marconi Company refused to recognize any of these demands. The "association" was not of sufficient strength financially or in membership to carry on a fight for their just demands. Later in the same month a committee representing Canadian Marconi operators of the Great Lakes Division, called on me in Toronto and, after a discussion of their troubles, agreed that affiliation with the C. T. U. A. was their only salvation. Application for a charter was made. As soon as this was done, the general officers of every C. T. U. A. system division in Canada profered their financial and moral support to the Canadian Marconi radio men. Temporary general officers to represent the new radio organization were appointed and immediately got to work on the draft of a new schedule to be presented to the Marconi Company. The result of this work is contained in the November issue of the C. T. U. A. Journal, a marked copy of which I am mailing to you under separate cover.

I remained with the Canadian Marconi boys only as long as they felt my presence of which I am mailing to you under separate oover.

I remained with the Canadian Marconi boys only as long as they felt my presence necessary—two days. During this time, I, together with B. J. Young, general chairman of the Great Northwestern Telegraphs System Division, Thomas Taylor of the same system division and Thomas Carrothers, general chairman of the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs System Division, helped the Canadian Marconi boys to draft a new schedule. This accomplished, the radio men told us they were sufficiently supplied with information to go ahead "on their own." All C. T. U. A. officers immediately withdrew. The Marconi men sent their representatives to Montreal to present the new schedule. I affered to go to Montreal in an advisory capacity, but Mr. F. C. Allen, general chairman of the Canadian Marconi System Division said he felt this step unnecessary. I returned to Chicago and, aside from rendering financial aid to the committee to carry on their negotiations, took no part in the presentation.

I have gone into this subject at some length, Mr. Moore, to illustrate to you the workings of the new reorganization plan in the C. T. U. A. Each system division takes care of its own affairs; the international body taking no part unless called upon. Under the A. F. of L. constitution, any man who handles messages in any form whatsoever comes under the jurisdiction of two affliated bodies—the O. R. T. and the C. T. U. A. The O. R. T. embraces railroad operators only, consequently the balance of the field comes under the jurisdiction of this organization.

If there be any further information I may be able to give you in this connection, I shall be pleased to do so either through the mails or a personal conference with you at your own convenience in New York. I am sure that once you understand the "system division" plan you will readily see that affiliation with the C. T. U. A. is an entirely different proposition now than it has been in the past.

With best wishes, I remain,

Sincerely yours, ROSCOE H. JOHNSON International President.

November 19, 1919.

Mr. Roscoe H. Johnson,

International President, Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, Rooms 669-671 Transportation Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

Dear Str:

Your letter received this morning and duly noted.

I am sure that there is no doubt of the fact but that the Canadian Radio Operators have received considerable assistance from you and from the organization which you represent. Notwithstanding this fact I wish to again reaffirm our unalterable decision that Radio Telegraphers and land wire men have nothing whatever in common, and that we will not affiliate with the C. T. U. A., seeing nothing to be gained by doing so but a whole lot to be lost be lost.

Hoping that you will not take this letter as an affront in any way to your organization, but as a candid expression of the opinions of us Radio Telegraphers, I remain,

Very truly yours, JAMES A. MOORE, Secretary and Treasurer.

Canadian Press

Press telegraphers of the United States have many reasons to be thankful for the masterful committee work of Canadian Press representatives. Under the leadership of General Chairmen Kennedy and Coyle, our Canadian brothers in the press field have shown the way at almost every turn. While the present Canadian Press maximum scale is lower than that paid to United Press, I. N. S. and Universal Service telegraphers, the C. P. minimum of $45.00 is five dollars in excess. The Canadian Press night scale is also slightly below that of night operators employed by the Universal Service and United News.

Minimum points involve the greater number of men, however, and should be the point of greatest contention.

Associated Press

Fair progress has been made in the work of organizing Associated Press telegraphers. At the present time our A. P. roster contains a greater number of names than at any time during the past ten years.

Due to the practice of the Associated Press to keep pace with the increases obtained by organized press telegraphers in the United States and Canada, the A. P. has succeeded in a great measure in convincing their unthinking telegraphers that it is unnecessary for them to carry a union card.

On May 28, 1920, I succeeded in obtaining an interview with Mr. Frederick Roy Martin, successor to Melville Stone as general manager of the Associated Press. The object of this conference was to obtain first-hand Mr. Martin's attitude toward A. P. telegraphers who were affiliated with the union of their craft.

I was impressed with Mr. Martin's statement that "Associated Press telegraphers are free to hold membership in any union they may choose and that insofar as I (Mr. Martin) am concerned, membership in a union will not be used as a barrier to employment by the Associated Press."

An exchange of correspondence between the general manager of the A. P. and myself followed, all of which has been reproduced in the columns of our official organ.

So far Associated Press telegraphers have refused to awaken in sufficient numbers to accomplish material results.

Canadian Pacific

C. P. R. members are working under an agreement signed August 6, 1920, which carried with it an approximate wage increase of 15 per cent.

General committeemen were elected as C. P. R. delegates to this convention and are expected to get together two days before convening of the convention to map out the course to be pursued in future negotiations with the management.

Canadian National Telegraphs

As stated elsewhere in this report the Canadian National Telegraphs is the result of amalgamation and reorganization of The Great Northwestern, Canadian National and Grand Trunk Pacific Telegraphs which was brought about in January of this year. Full details have appeared in the Journal. A new charter embracing the amalgamated divisions has been issued to Canadian National Divi-The former G. N. W. general committee has been retained with the sion No. 43. exception of an additional committeeman representing former Grand Trunk Pacific Interests.

Canadian Marconi Wireless

The progress made by our Canadian radio brothers is a glowing tribute to Brothers F. Cuthbert Allen and Thomas Taylor, Toronto. In October, 1919, a little group of progressives banded themselves together for the purpose of obtaining a C. T. U. A. charter. Thirty days after issuance of a charter to the Canadian Marconi telegraphers, a schedule had been negotiated calling for increases in wages ranging from fifty to one hundred per cent together with protective clauses which radio telegraphers had been unsuccessful in obtaining through many years of endeavor.

Under the old system radio operators were engaged at a "commencing salary" of $45.00 per month, with annual increases of $5.00 per year until a maximum of $70.00 per month had been reached. The rates of pay now "commence" at $70.00 a month for first-year employes and continue until $120.00 a month is reached in annual increases of $10.00 per month. In addition, a charge allowance of $15.00 a month is payable to officers in charge of coast stations, and $5.00 a month to operators in charge of ship stations carrying two operators. Forty dollars a month is allowed for provisions, fuel and lodging. Two weeks' holidays annually with pay were obtained.

Canadian Government Wireless

This division was chartered early in 1921. While progress in the matter of securing a written agreement with the Canadian government has not been as successful as their Marconi brothers experienced, nevertheless these brothers refuse to be discouraged. The division at present stands indebted to the Canadian Marconi Division in the amount of $500.00 and approximately $250.00 to the international. The international has guaranteed reimbursement to the Canadian Marconi Division by January 1, 1922, in the full amount due from the government division if that body finds it impossible to return the loan.

Legislation-United States

Little legislation has been enacted directly affecting telegraph workers since Federal decontrol of the telegraphs. Congress has occupied itself almost entirely to haggling over foreign policies, revision downward of taxes on huge incomes, etc. Passage by the Sixty-sixth Congress of the United States of the Capper-Tincher bills which places all boards of trade more or less under the supervision of the Department of Agriculture, is not expected to bring about any radical changes in the present methods of marketing grain crops of our country. "Puts and calls" have been legislated out of the United States boards of trade, which means that our friends across the line in Canada will profit through increased business. The C. T. U. A. was instrumental in the modification of the Capper-Tincher bills. Passed in their original form these bills would have legislated out of business every wire house in LaSalle and Wall Streets depending upon the grain trade for support.

Legislation—Canada

Unlike the United States Congress, the Parliments of Canada have busied themselves with enactment of constructive legislation during the years 1919 and 1920. Public health, regulation of immigration, restraint of combines, cost of living, exemption of employes pension fund from taxation, railway regulation, vocational education and Federal labor laws affecting workmen's compensation are a few of the constructive problems with which Canada has dealt. Amendments to the Industrial Dispute Investigation Act were enacted.

Eight Dominion provinces have enacted legislation restricting and regulating the employment of women and children. Several have passed minimum wage laws, abolished private employment agencies and enacted laws giving to widowed mothers pensions sufficient to enable them to provide for dependents.

The Federal-Provincial Co-operative Employment Service, inaugurated in 1919, has proven of great value to the unemployed. Offices are maintained in large industrial centers throughout the Dominion. From March 1, 1919, to December 31, 1920, some 755,000 men and women were placed in employment without cost to either employe or employer. The service is administered by the Canadian Department of Labor as is also the Act of 1919, whereby the government of Canada gives aid to technical education. Over one million dollars per year is contributed by the government to aid Provincial efforts in this direction. The Minister of Labour for the Dominion of Canada is the Honorable Gideon D.

Robertson, Third Vice-President of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, who has been directly responsible for many of the commendable measures passed by Provincial and Dominion parliaments.

Political Activities-United States

In line with past policies, the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America took no part in the way of endorsement of any of the political parties during the last presidential campaign. The C. T. U. A. did, however, subscribe to the principle of "elect your friends and defeat your enemies" in line with the program promulgated by the American Federation of Labor and concurred in by the Order of Railroad Telegraphers and other standard and recognized labor organizations. Fairly good result followed this moderate form of campaign. In the Seventh Congressional District, John J. Esch, suffered defeat in the primaries. In Iowa, Senator Albert B. Cummins, co-author of the Esch-Cummins Law, ran for behind his ticket, but secured re-election through the overwhelming landslide which swept President Harding into office.

Canada

Very material progress has been made in the Dominion of Canada, chiefly through the coalition of farmers and labor. At the elections held in the Province of Ontario, October 20, 1919, eleven straight labor candidates and four joint farmer-labor candidates were elected to the Legislature. Prior to this election there was but one labor representative in the Ontario Legislature.

The general elections for the Province of Manitoba, held on June 29, 1920, resulted in the election of seven labor and eight farmer candidates to the Legislature. Among the successful candidates on the labor ticket, was Brother G. H. Palmer, General Secretary and Treasurer, Division No. 43, Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

The Provincial elections held in the Province of Nova Scotia, July 27, 1920, resulted in the election of twelve candidates out of twenty-eight nominated on the farmer-labor ticket, which was remarkable in view of the highly progressive record of the Liberal Party which has been in power in that Province for the past thirty-eight years.

A very healthy condition obtains in Canada, politically, which augurs well for the future welfare of the Dominion.

"Labor"-Our National Newspaper

Attention is again drawn to the publication issued at Washington, D. C., weekly, under the auspices of the sixteen standard and recognized railroad labor organizations. The newspaper is known as "LABOR," originally published in conjunction with the promulgation of the Plumb Plan. It has, however, been segregated from the Plumb Plan and is now being operated as an independent newspaper designed to promote the interest of labor in general. It carries all the important happenings in the labor world and keeps a strict check on Congress and the influences working on that body, for and against the interests of the people.

Every member of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America should be a subscriber to this highly valuable chronicler, and I commend it to you and through you to the entire membership of our organization.

Official Organ of the C. T. U. A.

The report of our international secretary-treasurer will contain much illuminating information regarding the expense of conducting our Journal. The cost has exceeded the appropriation by many hundreds of dollars. Being practically the only avenue open to use for organization work, during the past two years, I feel that the money has been wisely and profitably spent. Telegraph operators, probably more than any other class of workers, will read the written words.

The convention should make adequate provisions for financing this valuable medium of propaganda.

Visitations

Lack of funds has made it impossible during the past two years to get away from headquarters except when occasion made it imperative. At such times I have made it a point to address as many meetings as our limited funds would permit. I succeeded in addressing meetings at Montreal, Toronto, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Boston and Chicago.

A. F. of L. Delegate

I attended the Fortieth Annual Convention of the American Federation of Labor held in Montreal in June, 1920. Owing to a request for my presence in New York by the press committees I was unable to attend the Denver session in June of this year. President John B. Alcorn, Western Broker Division, having other business in the west at that time, acted as our delegate at Denver.

Obituary

The duty imposed upon me under this caption is indeed a solemn one.

The chairman of the General Executive Board, has left us. Charlie Hill has been called to the great beyond and the entire membership of the C. T. U. A. and O. R. T. mourns his departure while those of us who knew him best feel a double loss—that of a co-worker and an esteemed friend.

Words are inadequate to express our sincere appreciation for the splendid services he rendered for many years as a member in the ranks and an executive of our organization.

Both as an international officer and as a local officer of the C. P. R. and Canadian Press divisions Brother Hill's time, energy and money were constantly at the disposal of his fellow man. Every week, almost every day of his life carried with it some activity for the good of the union.

To register in a phrase the sorrow that is ours in the loss of our esteemed brother would be impossible. We can only mourn in silence.

Recommendations

- 1. That three vice-presidents be elected who shall devote all their time to the Union; one vice-president to be a Canadian who shall become ex-officio Deputy President for Canada; two vice-presidents to be selected for their knowledge of and ability to organize commercial telegraphers of the United States.
- 2. That the Mutual Benefit Department be abolished and a Funeral Benefit Fund be inaugurated in which all members in good standing for one year and more shall automatically become beneficiaries.
- 3. That minimum annual dues shall not be lower than twelve dollars in any division.
- 4. That the salary of the International Secretary-Treasurer shall be thirty-five hundred dollars per annum.

Conclusion

In conclusion I wish to express my sincere thanks to all those brothers and sisters who have participated in the work of building up our organization during the past two years. I feel an especial sense of gratitude toward the local and general officers, who without exception have been unstituting in their willingness to assist in the progressive conduct of the affairs of our Union. Co-operation and harmony has been the rule and guide.

To the delegates of this convention I extend best wishes for solution of the many problems with which you are confronted at this time.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF INTERNATIONAL SECRETARY-TREASURER

To the Officers and Delegates of the Eleventh Regular and Eighth Biennial Convention of The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. Greeting:

In accordance with our laws, I herewith submit for the consideration of the delegates assembled and the membership at large, a condensed report of the transactions of my office for the two-year period ending June 30, 1921:

NEW CHARTERS GRANTED

Two new divisions were formed and charters granted during the two-year period. These divisions are composed of Canadian wireless telegraphers, who are among the organization's most progressive members. The Canadian Marconi Wireless Division No. 59 has secured for its members an increase in wages of approximately 60 per cent, with highly improved working conditions. The Canadian Government Wireless Division No. 65, which received its charter early in 1921, has not as yet secured a schedule for its members but has had several conferences with government officials in Ottawa and the West. These conferences have been harmonious and bid fair to bring an early schedule with improved conditions.

Through the amalgamation of the Great Northwestern, Canadian National and Grand Trunk Pacific, a Division combining the three has been born and is known as Canadian National Division No. 43.

MEMBERSHIP

Through the untiring and wholly unselfish work of our voluntary organizers the number of new members initiated has been gratifying. During the last six months of 1919 a total of 881 new members were initiated; during the year 1920 the number was 1,748, and during the first six months of 1921 the total was 516. A grand total of 3,145 new members were therefore initiated.

The increase in membership was divided as follows: United States, 83 per cent; Canada, 17 per cent.

FINANCES

The financial statement shows, more than anything else, the progress made during the past two years. From a deficit of $6,351.56 on June 30, 1919, we have recovered to such an extent that our deficit on June 30, 1921, amounts to only $1,021.00. The net deficit as shown by present worth has been reduced from $5,351.56 on June 30, 1919, to $1,933.51 on June 30, 1921.

The organization was put to considerable expense in fighting federal indictments against our members as a result of the 1919 strike, but this expense was all taken care of. Substantial reductions in liabilities were made through the settling of the debt of $4,925.00 due the United Mine Workers of Illinois; the payment in full of salary due Past International Secretary-Treasurer James F. Campbell, and the payment of twenty-three hundred dollars on salary account due Past International President S. J. Konenkamp.

Expenses at International Headquarters have continued to increase. Clerical help, rent, paper and supplies have gone upward and upward and there is no immediate prospect of a drop in these essentials. It has been exceedingly difficult to wipe out our deficit and make a showing on present worth, under such adverse conditions. We must bear in mind that the International has been struggling along on the same per capita tax for almost 13 years and some provision must be made at this Convention to relieve the situation.

ORGANIZING

It has been demonstrated not only in our own case, but in the case of other trades unions that it is next to impossible to make a creditable showing in the way of organizing, unless funds are available for that purpose. Printer's ink helps some, but it must be followed up with traveling organizers. The commercial field is ripe now as never before and this Convention should make it possible to put several paid organizers in the field who will devote all their time to such work.

MUTUAL BENEFIT DEPARTMENT

The Mutual Benefit or Insurance Department of our organization is sadly in need of a surgical operation. If no change is made it will drift along to disaster. Under the present system, the department is operating with only 33 members. Cash on hand is approximately $5,600, while the total face value of outstanding policies amounts to $16,000.

I do not believe it wise to make membership in the M. B. D. compulsory, and that is the only way it could be made a success. My recommendation is that the Mutual Benefit Department be abolished and a Funeral Benefit Fund, in which all members of one year's continuous good standing will participate, be inaugurated. I am submitting a carefully worked out plan along these lines to this Convention. I pray that you give it earnest consideration.

MAGAZINE

The Journal has been made over into a real trades union magazine, and is recognized as such by other organizations. It has cost considerable money during the past two years, but I have felt that the membership wanted something of that kind. I plead guilty to a Journal Fund deficit of $3,500.00 during my tenure as Editor and Manager. The monetary return in increased membership, has, I am certain, compensated for this deficit.

If the present standard of The Journal is to be maintained, however, more money must be made available for the Journal Fund. Under the present per capita tax allowance only 20 pages per issue could be printed.

I wish to thank those members who have helped me make The Journal what it is by their valuable contributions.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Proposed amendment to abolish the Mutual Benefit Department and inaugurate in its stead a Funeral Benefit Fund, ranging from $100 to $300 according to length of continuous membership, this fund to be taken care of through increased per capita tax.

Proposed amendment to increase vice-presidents from one to three, and General Executive Board from five to seven.

Proposed amendment to raise minimum dues of subordinate units to $12.00 per annum and minimum initiation fee to $5.00.

Proposed amendment to increase International per capita tax to at least $8.00 per annum.

CONCLUSION

This report, covering the past two fiscal years, would not be complete unless I made mention of the active assistance and support rendered me by the International and subordinate unit officers and the membership at large, who have at all times cooperated with me in discharging the duties of the office I have the honor to hold.

To President Johnson, with whom I have been more closely associated than anyone else, I especially wish to extend my thanks for the advice and assistance rendered me in performing the duties of my office.

To the officers and members of our subordinate units I also wish to extend my thanks, for they, too, have done much to make the duties of my office lighter.

I wish to extend to the delegates of this, our Eleventh Regular and Eighth Biennial Convention, my sincere good wishes and trust that the Convention in its deliberations and decisions will enact such legislation as will everlastingly redound to the credit of this assemblage in particular and the entire labor movement in general.

It has been a pleasure to serve you and I now return to you the high office entrusted to me, hoping that the discharge of my duties has met with your approval. Your good will is my reward.

I conclude by making the request that I be permitted to return to the ranks, where I shall continue to serve you to the best of my ability.

Respectfully submitted,

Taul F. Schnur

REPORT OF THE GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD

To the Officers and Delegates of the Eleventh Regular and Eighth Biennial Convention of the General Assembly—Greeting:

We, your General Executive Board, acting in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution submit the following report:

Immediately on election of the new International Officers the Board ordered the books of the International Secretary-Treasurer audited and turned over to International Secretary Schnur. Former Secretary-Treasurer Campbell's accounts were found in good shape and approved.

Shortly afterwards the Board was faced with the demand for an increase in rent of headquarters from $56.25 to $113 per month. After careful consideration of recommendations made by the International President to move headquarters to the present location on Ashland Boulevard, it was decided to do so. Rental of the present location was secured for $52 per month and an additional saving of $15, because of free water cooling apparatus, washstand, etc.

In January, 1920, A. F. Joyner, member of the Board, was compelled to resign because of ill health. Several names were submitted and Brother J. G. A. Decelles was elected.

In November, 1920, Brother E. A. Johnson of the Board resigned to enter army service.

Brother A. S. Strachan was elected in his place.

Chairman C. E. Hill died Nov. 21, 1920. This announcement was received with sorrow by the entire membership of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union and was an especially hard blow to the General Executive Board. We cannot let this occasion pass without some slight tribute to the memory of one of the most consistent and hard working members of the organization. The election of his successor as Chairman was of such importance that it was not until early in 1921 that the vacancy was filled, when Brother Joseph F. Mallon was elected. The vacancy created on the Board by Brother Hill's death was filled by the election of Brother Frank B. Powers.

On Jan. 24, 1920, a circular was sent out from Calgary without approval of the International President as provided for in the Constitution, by Brother J. H. Booth. This circular was of such a destructive and disruptive character to the organization that the Board gave the International President full authority to handle all matters involving treason or secession as he deems fit.

The International President, however, found that it was possible to maintain discipline and respect for the organization without using this authority.

The arrest and persecution of a number of our members in Oklahoma by the Western Union brought about such a heavy expense that the Board considered levying an assessment on the entire membership. It was finally decided that this would be inadvisable and the liquidation of the Oklahoma indebtedness was put before each individual division for action. Practically every division immediately volunteered to underwrite its share of the obligation and the indebtedness was soon wiped out.

The handling and settling of this attempt to wreck the organization by the strongest financial power in our field is a long story, but the Board can testify that some clever and diplomatic work was done by International President Johnson and International Secretary-Treasurer Schnur.

In April, 1921, after nearly a year of petitions and agitation from all sections of the country proposing that the next convention be held in Toronto, the Board decided that this sentiment represented the thought of the organization in general. The previous session of the General Assembly had decided on Atlanta, but the Board exercised its powers of appellate jurisdiction when the biennial convention is not in session and voted that the best interests of the organization were against Atlanta and in favor of Toronto.

When the salaries of the International officers were fixed by the previous General Assembly it was thought that the International Secretary-Treasurer's salary would be equitable. It soon became evident to the Board, as the cost of living kept mounting, that something would have to be done to help Brother Schnur to meet his living expenses. Brother Schnur personally made no request for an increase but the facts were these: The Eastern Broker Division and Western Broker Division were, and are, paying $65 per week to their Secretaries and prevailing wages of skilled press and broker operators were, and are, from $5 to $20 higher than Brother Schnur's salary. Subject therefore, to approval by the General Assembly, the Board voted to grant an increase of $500 in salary for the year 1921 to International Secretary-Treasurer Schnur.

In July, 1921, the Board was requested by the International officers to authorize transfer of $5,000 of the Mutual Benefit Department funds to the Savings Department of the Bank of North Dakota, because of increased rate of interest as well as an encouragement to the farmers' movement. The Board believed this matter could be held over for consideration by the General Assembly.

As a matter of economy, the Board authorized Brother Powers, member of the Board, to act as its representative in overseeing the audit of the International Secretary-Treasurer's accounts on his way to the convention. Certified Accountant Finney was secured, and submitted a report which is appended to our report. There has been no change in the affairs of the Mutual Benefit Department and no claims have been paid since the last General Assembly.

The Board has approved expense accounts submitted by the International officers, members of the General Assembly and delegates to the American Federation of Labor, and Canadian Trades and Labor Assembly.

The organization has shown marked progress since the last General Assembly. We find that membership figures are increasing, but that the International officers have been considerably hampered through lack of money and analysis of the International President's expenses will show plainly that despite his economy the increase in railroad fares and hotel rates has made it necessary to keep organization trips down to the minimum. Despite these handicaps the splendid progress made under the direction of our officers can be shown by the fact that our delegate at the Denver American Federation of Labor convention polled the largest vote since 1907.

We wish to commend our International President for the splendid leadership and foresight during the various wage negotiations conducted by the press committees and the Canadian committees.

His efforts and work would have been of little avail without the aid of the loyal and hard working officers and organizers of the various divisions. The membership and their representatives are to be congratulated for the splendid work of these divisional officers.

Respectfully submitted,

THE MAPLE LEAF CONVENTION

The work of the Toronto Convention was well done.

Every progressive proposal met with intelligent, broad-gauged action.

Quibbling, hesitancy and delay were absent elements from start to finish.

Harmony, co-operation and aggressiveness ruled at each session.

The rank and file have reason to be proud of their representatives at the first C. T. U. A. Convention held on Canadian soil.

Probably the most important policy adopted was the election of a full time Deputy President for Canada. The naming by Canadians of our retiring international secretary-treasurer typifies better than anything else the strong fraternal bond existing between Union telegraphers regardless of national allegiance.

The imaginary line separating the two great countries was forgotten whenever the question arose, "What is best for our Union?"

One for all and all for one, was the slogan throughout the deliberations of the General Assembly.

The Toronto Convention has cleared up all misunderstandings. We have seen what solidarity and co-ordination of purpose will do.

Let's hew to the line during the next two years.

SAID THE GROUCH

The press quotes E. C. Davison, Secretary of the International Association of "Before the workers go back to pre-war conditions they Machinists, as saying: will start another war and get their rights. And that's not idle talk."

Applying analytics to the above quoted sentence it is reasonable to assume Mr. Davison's radical statement is the result of conclusions reached after a study of industrial economics as interpreted and applied by the employing class, particularly in connection with after-the-war readjustment of world affairs, politically and industrially. The masses, that is the wage workers, tradesmen, farmers and small investors, have, since the present administration came into power, been given a wonderful display of legerdemain activities on the part of statesmen when questions of vital importance to the people of the United States and the world were at stake. In no single instance has the Harding crowd cast its influence on the side of human rights. On the contrary every legislative move appears to have for its purpose the protection of the holdings, whether acquired honestly or otherwise, of those citizens who control the production, price and distribution of essentials necessary to life and comfort of the people as a whole.

The other side of the picture is different. It bears the label, "American plan." or open shop.

Read this head line copied from a St. Louis paper: "C. of C. referendum vote goes for 'American plan,' by 1,436 to 58—Chamber bound by result which favors open shop—only 12 votes cast for closed union shop."

Get that part of the headline quoted which says, "Chamber bound by result which means open shop." Four thousand four hundred and seventy-nine employing concerns belong to the Chamber of Commerce of St. Louis and the vote as reported binds them all to declare war on labor unions.

Don't kid yourselves into the belief that everything will come out all right without your aid. You are liable to wake up some morning and find an "American plan" artist has stolen your only pair of trousers.

Brother Davison said a mouthful in one short sentence. Some people will shout "treason" when they read Davison's warlike utterances. But remember. there has been periods in the world's history when treasonable utterances sounded, to the majority, more euphonious than the Lord's Prayer.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

The reception dance held at Forresters Hall was a huge success. The terpsichorean stars were Mallon, Newcomer, Kelleher and Coyle. When Mallon and the beautiful young lady in white glided onto the floor the rest of the crowd got out of the aisle and gaped in admiration. Joe shakes a wicked hoof. One young lady was overheard to remark: "He's the cat's pajamas."

The automobile tour of the city, ably conducted by the Entertainment Committee, was a revelation to Yank delegates and their wives. The beauties of Toronto left an indelible impression.

and then with the state of the banquet was the banquet was the banquet was the Hero of the Prince George, Thursday evening, October 6th, for a banquet and general merry-making. The banquet was a brilliant success. The star of the banquet was the Hero of the star of the banquet was the Hero of the Johnstown Flood.

The Committee on Essentials functioned night and day and many delegates carried away sweet memories of Canadian hospitality.

THE MINERS' PROGRAM

Nationalization of Mines to Be Urged at Public Ownership Conference

The United Mine Workers of America will be officially represented at the Public Ownership Conference, to be held in Chicago, November 19, 20 and 21, and will present in a formal and carefully prepared manner their program for the nationalization of mines.

Mr. John Brophy, president of District No. 2 of the United Mine Workers of America, has been selected by the miners' organization to deliver the address. John Walker, president of the Illinois State Walker, president of the Ill Federation of Labor, also a miner. others will speak along the same line.

Mr. Brophy's pamphlets on this subject, which are now being published, are without doubt the most carefully prepared, most thoroughly constructive and illuminating of anything so far put forward in America. His address at the conference, therefore, will present not only the official program of the mines, but also the most program of the mines, but also the most carefully collected mass of authoritative information on the subject.

The conference aims to get and give the facts.

THE BENNETT SITUATION

By John B. Alcorn, President, Western Broker Division.

The question: "What is the Bennett situation?" has been asked by so many and so often that it has been impossible to keep up with the correspondence, but it shows to our satisfaction the earnest interest manifested by not only our own members, but by those of other divisions.

The situation is simply this: Bennett has a 65% force of scabs, which includes 35% incompetent men, who are learning the business. He has lost FOUR of his largest correspondents. He has lost some good customers. He maintained for quite a while and we think is still maintaining a staff of "detectives" furnished him by the Groh Detective Agency. These so-called detectives cost money. He had to offer special inducements in some cases to secure scabs, such as written agreements for 18 months at salaries much higher than he was paying the men who went out on strike because they could not get a fair deal. The men struck, not for higher wages, not for an open or closed shop, not for shorter working hours or for a written agreement. Mr. Bennett admits that he had a splendid telegraph force, yet he prefers to sign up agreements with scabs and a higher salary than to give his men a fair deal.

In addition to the above the scabs had to be hauled to and from work in taxicabs, or housed in loop hotels, as well as a few banquets to ease their conscience and not allow them to ponder very long on the dastardly crime they were committing. In other words, Mr. Bennett knows he has had a strike and will continue to know it.

other words, Mr. Bennett knows he has had a strike and will continue to know it.

The above monetary loss is a mere drop in the sea compared to the inestimable loss he has suffered by incurring the enmity of every decent telegrapher in this country. Probably he does not now realize what this means, not being very familiar with the telegraph business, but his chief lieutenants, Jim McMahon and Charlie Sparkman, can tell him, if they will tell the truth. It means that every telegrapher in this country, with the exception of the scabs, will be on the lookout for an opportunity to show his repugnance for everything connected with the Bennett outfit, as long as it continues on the unfair list. It means that he will have to maintain his entire telegraph force with scabs; he cannot go out into the open field and secure good talent, not only in ability and moral character, like his competitors can, he must scour the country for more of these slimy, sneaking mistakes of humanity, properly called scabs, for his telegraph force. He himself said that telegraph operators are employes of a confidential nature, yet he employs men who are traitors to their fellow men as confidential nature, is heling circulated that the strike is off that all those who could come

Propaganda is being circulated that the strike is off; that all those who could come back are back and that the Union is not paying strike benefits any more. Neither one of these statements is true. The strike is not called off and the smallpox sign will stay on Bennett's door until he decides to deal fair. The Toronto convention levied a $1.00 per week assessment on ALL leased wire operators for the purpose of taking care of the strikers and combating any other attack by unscrupulous employers. These are the real facts in the case and no Union telegrapher will be misled.

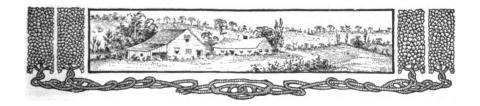

As to the scabs he now has and those he might have in the future, leave it to the great majority of decent telegraphers throughout this country and Canada to show them the error of their way. They will be shunned wherever they may go. If they stay where they are they will be reduced the limit in wages, because they know and the firm knows, that their chances elsewhere are slim. A sad awakening is in store for the following SCABS:

Notwithstanding our correspondent's remarks, I can state without fear of contradiction that no executive member was aware of the actual facts of Bro. Not only was it unanimously agreed that an appeal be made, but suggestions were made with a view to making the appeal as strong and as broad as possible. These suggestions, together with executive approval of the appeal, were sent to Quebec for publication. were sent to Quebec for publication.

LOWER WAGE FOR WORKERS-U. S. OFFICIALS GET MORE

While the government swells the deaf-ening chorus for wage reductions, there is no censure against the federal reserve bank of New York—maintained and con-trolled by the government—for its salary increase of nearly 300 per cent to 21 officials.

The figures were prepared by John Skelton Williams, former comptroller of the currency, and were used by Senator Heflin of Alabama in a reply to Senator Nelson of Minnesota, who disapproved "high" Wages.

The figures show that 21 persons connected with the federal reserve bank of New York were formerly paid a total of $121,800 a year. They are now paid a total of $349,000 a year.

Formerly, the average for each of these persons was $5,800 a year, but the average is now $11,800 a year.

Some of the increases are: Benjamin Strong, from $30,000 to $50,000; Pierre Jay, from $16,000 to $30,000; J. H. Case, from $20,000 to $30,000; E. R. Kenzel, from $4,000 to $25,000; L. F. Saller, from $7,000 to $25,000; G. L. Harrison, from $4,000 to $22,000; L. H. Hendricks, from $6,000 to $18,000; Shepard Morgan, from $5,000 to "The next time one of you senators feel called on to get up here and lambast labor, said Senator Heffin, "I suggest that you clean up the high salary scandal at the reserve bank in New York."

"PRINCE" TURNED JESTER

You have read of the jester of olden days. He was there to please the powers that were. Not so with the modern jester. He has the faculty of being a "prince" one day and turning jester the next—a sort of werwulf.

Not long ago the writer was making a trip through Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, trying to interest broker telegraphers to safeguard their own interests. Upon arriving in a large town in Indiana, where headquarters of a large wire house operating in Indiana and Ohio are maintained, he was told by the telegraphers, or rather by all but one, who was already a member and who is one of our best members today, that "What do we want with a card as long as we work for ——?" and they affectionately called him by his first name, "he is a prince!" Well, there wasn't much comeback to this argument except that before leaving, this prediction was made: "I'll admit you are working for a prince, but the time will come when, as a business man, he will reduce you if he sees others reducing. Therefore it is to your advantage to support the organization that will try and prevent salary reductions."

Two months later this "prince" turned

Two months later this "prince" turned jester. He did not wait for others to reduce; he started the ball rolling himself. Thus the joke was on the simple minded admirers he had working for him. We haven't heard whether they are good sports and took the joke or not. The "prince" bought a new $5,000.00 car the same week he imposed the jest. A ride in the new car should satisfy the boys.

Brokers, above all other employers, have no license to reduce salaries. They have never paid operators what they are worth and never will unless the operators real-ize their power and assert themselves.

The moral is: Regardless of whether your employer is a "prince" you will wake up some morning with a nice little slash in your wage (not salary) unless you cooperate promptly and freely with the officers of your union, who have an intimate knowledge of the situation and who have no more to gain than you.

WORTHY AIMS OF THE COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS UNION

The Commercial Telegraphers Union of America was organized, and is being maintained, for the promotion of the best social, economic and fraternal interests of commercial telegraphers.

Its membership considers it the only labor union capable of consistently representing the best interests of commercial telegraphers.

So believing, and basing such conviction upon its past achievements and need for future protection, it urges all telegraphers eligible for membership to investigate its record in the hope they will realize its merits and the advisability of becoming members of a labor union established for their special protection.

A FEW DON'TS

Don't condemn the labor movement because you know of "objectionable features." Every man and every human institution has some imperfections.

Don't "wait for others." Others are waiting for you. Some must be among the first—why not you?

Don't forget that the more bitterly the employer opposes labor unions, the more the employe should support them. There's a financial reason. Think it over.

Don't shirk the moral obligation to do all you can to uphold the dignity of our occupation—to elevate the standard of our living.

Don't be blind to your own interests; unionism helps all workingmen, all society, the home and state.

Don't let so-called "independence" prevent you from being unselfish. We are all dependent on someone or something. "No man stands alone." Let's get closer together.

Don't forget that bricklayers, plasterers, tinsmiths, stonecutters and in some places, hodcarriers, receive more pay than telegraphers, and don't forget the resson, strong organization.

and don't forget the reason—strong organization.

Don't say "I got along without a union for 5 (or 55) years it is useless to me; unions can't accomplish their purpose." They do-Over seven million union men say so!

TEN WAYS TO KILL ANY ORGANIZATION

1. Don't come to the meetings.

2. But if you do-come late.

3. If the weather doesn't suit you, don't think of coming.

4. If you do attend a meeting, find fault with the work of the officers and the members.

5. Never accept an office, it is easier to criticise than to do things.

6. Nevertheless, GET SORE, if you are not appointed on a committee, but if you are, do not attend the meetings.

7. If asked by the chairman to give your opinion on some important matter, tell him you have nothing to say. AFTER the meeting, tell everyone how things should be done.

8. Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary. When other members roll up their sleeves, and willingly and unselfishly use their ability to help matters along, howl that the organization is run by a clique.

9. Hold back your dues as long as possible, or don't pay them at all.

10. Don't bother about getting new members. "Let George do it."

¶ Labor is prior to and independent of capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital and deserves far the higher consideration.

-Abraham Lincoln.

WHY THE QUICK POPULARITY?

We don't know which of these original features are responsible for the quick success of our CUSHION-KEY as opinions seem to be equally divided on the rubber cushion shock absorber, that prevents jolts and jars on the nerves; the adjustable lever, that affords a change of position. as the fingers com-mence to tire; the triple spring vibrator, with its great carrying capacity, or its compact and beautiful construction.

Our booklet explains other advantages it has over every machine now on the market—and it costs you no more.

WHAT THAT ASSESSMENT MEANS

By Frank B. Powers

(International Secretary-Treasurer)

The officers elected by the General Assembly at Toronto are entering a twoyear term under industrial skies that are still dark, but with plainly evident signs of the dawn of better times. No thoughtful person expects for one moment that there will be as much employment of telegraphers as during the boom times, but it is quite certain that we can look for a gradual improvement.

Through several trying months of comparatively hard times the C. T. U. A. has successfully resisted all efforts to take away the fruits of many bitter and uphill struggles. For the first time in our history we have been on the defensive. Fighting to hold our own, rather than fighting to go ahead.

The tide of depression is turning and we must keep abreast of the returning wave of good times. To say the least, we cannot and MUST NOT allow a reduction in wages or withdrawal of any concessions.

The General Assembly at Toronto, fully awake to the urgency confronting us in Chicago, and prospects of similar movements to cut wages or break us down elsewhere, found it essential to levy an assessment for defense purposes.

Would that I had words to bring home to the membership of the leased wire divisions just how important that assessment is.

Organized business—and that means particularly the organized brokerage houses in La Salle street—are being assessed many times $1.00 per week. They look en it as "strike insurance."

Let us call our small assessment "WAGE REDUCTION INSURANCE." That's just what it is.

Every member in the leased wire field is going to be directly affected if the Western Broker Division is forced to recede. To protect himself he must protect his brother.

How long will the assessment run?

It could be terminated within a few weeks if ALL would remit promptly EVERY week. The International President will terminate it the instant he believes it is SAFE to do so.

This assessment cannot be terminated until there is a sum in the Leased Wire Defense Fund—which is being kept in a separate banking account—large enough to take care of prospective emergencies, not in the Western Broker Division alone, but in the leased wire field generally.

Disbursements from this fund are under the personal direction of the International President. That goes as it lays. No further words of mine could emphasize stronger that it is being handled right.

The fight has been well carried on during the past few months. What of the coming winter? Will there be any wavering of our lines? I am absolutely sure there will not. All that is needed is a realization of what YOUR delay in getting on top of this assessment meant. YOU multiplied by a hundred or several hundreds is prolonging this assessment.

Let us wind this thing up quickly and have a defense fund sufficiently large to insure your wages and conditions.

N. B.—Only leased wire members were assessed by the General Assembly.

"THE MOTH"

By O. L. Newcomer-

(International Vice-President)

The moth, a small insect that burrows a network of holes in our clothing when placed in dark places and for a time unused, seemingly has no connection with a labor union, yet we have moths at work in all organizations, both in and out of the labor movement. Would that I had the language to express what I feel on the subject and, although I agree with Medbury that writers should travel abroad, as far as possible, and then stay there, please bear with me while I try and I will be brief.

No one who was privileged to attend the recent convention at Toronto could entertain anything but a feeling of fullest confidence and optimism for the future of our organization. The outlook is bright and the progress being made in most of the divisions is most encouraging, and it is the writer's firm belief that the next few years will be the most productive ones ever experienced by the C. T. U. A., in numbers as well as results accomplished.

To experience these results, brothers and sisters of our common cause, the organization that protects your interests has a right to expect your full measure of support in accomplishing these things. The moth must go; its effect upon the organization is as disastrous to that organization as the kind that feeds on your clothing. This can be done by having more faith in our fellow-workers, forget the distrust, selfishness and the petty personal feelings, realizing that it hurts and retards progress, and let us work in closer harmony.

We are working (and fighting, if necessary) to uphold the principles for which our organization stands, those who are in the "fold" already prove their positions; but those "outside the fold, yet unsaved," who insist they are with us and for us, etc., reminds me of a story told on the convention floor at Toronto (by one of the heroes of the Johnstown flood) that illustrates the point perfectly. Mike Flanagan's remains were lying in state and, with some friends, the widow was taking the last look at Mike when she sobbingly remarked: "Oh, Mike was the grandest man I ever knew; he had such foine principles. Of course, he drank a little, but ivery Saturday night he brought his pay envelope home to me. Of course, there wasn't anything in it but it was the principle of the thing."

Too many of us have nothing in the envelope.

If you knew of a man who neglected his business; one that absented himself days, weeks and even months at a time, knowing nothing of what was being done, you would readily agree with me what would be the ultimate result, yet some telegraphers persist in following this policy. Let us all do some good, sound thinking about our most important business, our UNION, yours and mine; let us analyze ourselves and, as Shakespeare said:

"To thine own self be true

And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not be false to any man."

If we are true to ourselves, it will necessarily follow that we will be true to our union and the principles it stands for, our common protector, the C. T. U. A., the saviour of the commercial telegrapher.

THE CANADIAN VICE-PRESIDENT

The convention topic of greatest interest to Canadian members was the selection of a brother from across the imaginary boundary line for the high office of Canadian Vice-President. Indeed, there are those who feel that a Canadian should have been elected to the office.

To those Canadian members who were not privileged to hear or read the reports of their delegates to the Convention, is offered a little enlightenment.

The Convention instructed the entire Canadian delegation to go into caucus, select their nominee and report back, stating their choice. They were assured of the unanimous support of the United States delegation for the Canadian nominee.

This writer does not know what transpired in the Canadian caucus.

The unanimous choice for the office was Brother Schnur, the retiring International Secretary-Treasurer. Brother Schnur accepted the call of his Canadian brothers and sisters.

The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America recognizes no boundary line. We are all members of the same union, working for the advancement of all.

As long as we recognize a boundary wall of resentment we are playing into the hands of ruthless interests who are spending huge sums of money to keep our minds on such trivial matters as nationalism and religion.

Brother Schnur's experience and vision will do much towards co-ordinating and solidifying the ranks of our northern brothers and sisters.

The Canadian vice-president is a brother member who has the confidence of the rank and file. His mission is to serve.

What difference does it make, be he Canadian or Yank?

PRESIDENT JOHNSON ILL

International President Roscoe H. Johnson, who has suffered from stomach trouble for some time, finally accepted the advice of his physician and consented to undergo treatment and an operation, if necessary.

Scientific treatment and cautious dieting has, to a great extent, relieved Brother Johnson's suffering. He entered the Norwegian-American Hospital Thursday, November 3rd.

Another week or two will determine whether or not an operation will be necessary. The diagnosis to date has revealed a duodenal ulcer.

The entire membership is pulling for Brother Johnson and we sincerely trust he will soon return to us as fit as ever.

Anyone wishing to write Brother Johnson may address him in care of The Norwegian-American Hospital, Chicago, Ill.

ASSESSMENT INFORMATION

The general secretaries of leased wire divisions paying the General Assembly assessment have been advised that it will not be necessary to send out a receipt every time a member sends in one week's assessment.

When the assessment is terminated, each member will be sent a receipt in full for the entire amount paid and his record card at International Headquarters will be credited accordingly.

It will be readily seen that money in stamps and stationery will be saved by this arrangement.

NOTICE.

The revised Constitutions are ready for distribution and, as a matter of economy, will be sent out with the 1922 cards.

Any member wishing a copy of the new Constitution before paying his 1922 dues may obtain same by making a request to the International Secretary-Treasurer.

FRANK B. POWERS, International Secretary-Treasurer.

WRECK LABOR DEPARTMENT; FORCED ARBITRATION NEXT?

Opposition to any attempt to weaken, destroy, subordinate or amalgamate the department of labor was unanimously voted at a meeting of two score of labor legislative representatives of national and international unions, held in A. F. of L. headquarters.

Several representatives stated that the committee appointed by President Harding to reorganize government departments has under consideration the formation of a department of public welfare, with education, public health and labor to be the three major divisions.

Sixty per cent of the present functions of the department of labor would be placed in other divisions of the new department. The labor division of the new department would be composed of the bureau of labor statistics and the conciliation and employment services, with an additional bureau to be known as "bureau of compulsory investigation of labor disputes for public information." The fact that this bureau is to be created uncovers the conspiracy which has been in progress since during the war, according to the labor representatives.

Employers who favor autocracy in industry have demanded the destruction of the department of labor and the adoption of laws that will compel employes to work against their will, they say.

Labor representatives show this is in line with the declaration by Attorney General Daugherty in Cincinnati, last August, in which he favored compulsory investigation of labor disputes, so that in time "laws can be enacted making such controversies impossible."

President Gompers presided at the meeting of labor representatives and he was directed to bring the matter to the attention of the organized wage earners throughout the country, as well as all the people.

After years of agitation by organized labor, a bill creating the department of labor was passed in 1913, in the closing hours of the sixty-second congress. President Wilson appointed William B. Wilson, former congressman and secretary of the United Mine Workers, as the first secretary of labor. The new cabinet official found himself handicapped because congress failed to appropriate money for the new department, and a special urgency bill was passed at the special session of the new congress, on May 1, 1913, to pay the actual running expenses of the department.

In urging congress to make suitable appropriations for the new department, the A. F. of L. executive council made this report to the A. F. of L. convention in 1913:

"The department of labor is the only department of government which deals exclusively with problems of human progress and the relations of man to man, including that of employer and employe. To have it thus handicapped in its initial work retards the progress of the great humanitarian purpose for which it was brought into existence.

"We can not too strongly condemn the niggardly, picayunish policy of congress in dealing with the only department entrusted with promoting the welfare of the wage workers."

ARE YOU TRUE TO YOURSELF?

You believe in unions and union principles, don't you?

Do you know that the UNION LABEL is one of the biggest things with unions? Just think what the label means! It is an indication that the goods bearing it have been made under conditions for which YOU stand. It shows that the makers of those goods are paying the union scale, and often more. It is an endorsement of YOUR union principles and benefits YOU.

Remember, success for one helps for success of ALL unions! Co-operate with your brother workers by demanding the UNION LABEL.

Every time you buy goods with the label you strike a blow at unfair manufacturers, sweat-shops and prison workhouses. You help wipe out the products made by NON-UNION people—people who are working against YOU.

Think, talk and push union labeled products. You owe it to yourself—for your own benefit! Make the UNION LABEL as important as the price of an article. Get the habit and give it to your fellow-workers. Uplift the good cause and you uplift the welfare of yourself and your family.

LIBERTY VERSUS SERFDOM By Paul F. Schnur

"The God who gave us life gave us liberty at the same time."—Thomas Jefferson.

In the old slave days prior to the Emancipation, thousands of negroes were happy to be slaves. They were assured a full belly and a place to sleep. Came the proclamation of President Lincoln freeing the slaves. Large numbers did not want freedom. It meant responsibility. Shaping their own destinies.

One negro, upon being informed by his master that he was free and could go where he chose, felt badly about it, and shuffled slowly to his cabin. Shortly thereafter the master chanced to walk near this cabin and heard loud moaning and sobbing from within. Drawing closer he heard the negro praying to the Angel Gabriel to come and take him to the promised land. He would rather die than be free. The old master, having a humorous bent, decided to test the sincerity of the negro, and, walking up to the cabin, knocked sharply upon the door. The tremulous voice of the negro quavered: "Who dar?" The master pitched his voice and replied: "The Angel Gabriel come to take Rastus to the promised land." After an embarrassing delay the negro finally shouted in a disguised voice: "Dey ain't no such niggah in dis cabin."

Which reminds the writer of the telegraph operator as a whole.

Every time an organizer of The Commercial Telegraphers' Union knocks upon the door of a non, "Dey ain't nobody home." They do not want freedom when it is offered to them. Why should commercial telegraphers join the C. T. U. A! Why should they be bothered with Union meetings, where they would have to exercise themselves and shape their own destinies! Why should they presume to expect more money for their skill when they are making enough to feed and shelter themselves (some of the time, at least)!

The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America was organized twenty years ago to secure and preserve the rights of labor to those who work at the trade of telegraphy; to promote the welfare of one another and reciprocate fair dealings from any source; to protect, maintain and advance trade interests and secure better conditions of employment; to establish and uphold a fair and equitable rate of wages; to distinguish the work performed by members of the Union and make it preferred.

This the organization has done in spite of thousands of eligibles who insist on telegraph slavery. These shirkers are determined to stand in their own light regardless of the fact that much has been done for them and the entire telegraph craft through the direct efforts of their organization. The wages now being paid are attributed, not to this organization, but to the charitable generosity of telegraph slave holders.

THE IMPROVED CONDITIONS IN THE TELEGRAPH INDUSTRY ARE DUE SOLELY TO THE HARDY HANDFUL OF STAUNCH UNIONISTS WHO HAVE AND WILL CONTINUE TO SERVE AS FERTILIZER SO THAT THE TELEGRAPH TREE OF FREEDOM MAY NOT WITHER AND DIE.

Five thousand men carrying the burden for fifty thousand! Oh, the shame of it!

Freedom from industrial slavery for the asking, but lacking the manhood and guts to reach out and extend the helping hand to the hardy patriots who are fighting their Argonne for them!

The telegraph slave holders may well laugh. Their lot is an easy one. Not a semblance of rebellion from their slaves. Do anything with me, but let me make barely enough to fill my belly and buy my flop!

Western Union, Postal and Associated Press telegraphers will do well to take stock of themselves. It's about time they were finding out why they have wishbones where their backbones should be.

It takes more than a presidential proclamation of emancipation to free telegraph slaves. It must be brought about through the acquisition of individual manhood. When that prime requisite has been obtained it will not be necessary to tell them they are free. They will realize it immediately.

When the commercial telegraph slaves find themselves it will mean:

FIFTY THOUSAND COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPH WORKERS WITH THE SLOGAN: "THE INJURY TO ONE IS THE CONCERN OF ALL."

God speed the day.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF WORKING WOMEN Meeting in Geneva, Switzerland, October 17, 1921 Address to the Delegates by MRS. RAYMOND ROBINS. PRESIDENT

FRIENDS AND FELLOW-WORKERS:

It is a great privilege to welcome you, the delegates of the working women of forty-eight nations, to the Second International Congress of Working Women. It is a great joy to know that so many delegates have found their way to the Congress, though beset by many difficulties and hardships, so that today we may counsel together in fellowship for that concerted action required by the task we have set ourselves.

Since the meeting of the Congress in Washington, our honored comrade and beloved fellow worker, Mary MacArthur, first vice-president of the Congress and intrepid leader of the working women of Great Britain, has gone to her long rest. In her death we have suffered a deep sorrow and a great loss. Yesterday, while she lived, she was a burning flame of inspiration and hope to all struggling women workers, and today, the memory of her shining personality quickens countless human hearts. We pledge ourselves to carry on her unfinished task in the International Congress of Working Women and establish unity in service among the working women of the world.

We are meeting at a time when the world is facing the end of a civilization. We are at the birth of a new era, and whether that new social order is going to be better or worse than the old order will depend very largely upon the vision, the spirit, the valor and wisdom of the women of the world. All the peoples of the world are suffering the terrible aftermath of the Great War. From all lands comes up the cry for bread and peace and brotherhood. In the common misery from slaughter and starvation, profiteering and unemployment, the working people suffer most, and among the workers, as of old time, the women bear the heaviest burdens.

It is now nearly three years since the Armistice was signed "in the war that was to end war—the war that was to make the world safe for democracy." Everywhere, except in the remains of the Central Empires, there is the menace of increasing armaments. Everywhere the springs of fellowship and good will are poisoned by propagandas of hate and economic imperialism. Everywhere unemployment and consequent hunger and suffering threaten the homes of the working world. The working women have ever been the mudsills under the burdens and travails of the peoples of the earth. Against hope we believed in hope. We have eaten the bread of sorrows. We have been patient in tribulation. We have been silent, but the hour to speak is at hand, for this hour of universal sorrow and need is also the hour of supreme opportunity. The time for action is here.

The first task of the working women of the world, to which we here stand dedicated, is to make war against war. The first battle in that war is to stop increasing armaments. Armaments breed war. This is the lesson of the mad race of Europe for greater armies and mightier navies between the year nineteen hundred and the fatal first of August, nineteen hundred fourteen. Armaments breed arrogance and fear and feed the propogandas of hatred between the peoples of the earth. Armaments tax the workers engaged in productive toil to make the engines and machinery for slaughter of our brothers and the ruin of our homes. The cry of suffering humanity against this monstrous wrong has resulted in the Call for an International Conference on the Limitation of Armaments that convenes in Washington on Armistice Day. When we remember the joy that went up from the peoples of all nations in thanksgiving that peace would once more dwell on earth, no other day can lend the same significance throughout the entire world as this anniversary of November 11th, 1918. We can, if we will, make Armistice Day this year in every land a day of resolution and prayer to the end that this Conference shall not adjourn until some vital step is taken toward the disarmament of the nations. If the women of all lands will use Armistice Day for kindling the fires of sentiment and action against this crime of increasing armaments, the Eleventh of November, 1921, will mark the beginning of the peace of the world. To this task we consecrate ourselves today.

And at home, each one in her own land—at home, our first domestic task is to win the right to our daily bread. Everywhere the curse of unemployment shadows the workers' homes. Bread lines, soup kitchens and thousands of idle toilers indict the governments and the social order of the world. Unemployed, able and willing workers in lands rich in raw materials and machinery are a more destructive criticism of our officials and society than all the writings and speeches of the revolutionary agitators of all time. Either unemployment or capitalism must go. If competitive private industry cannot employ the able and willing workers, then is competitive private industry doomed. Governments that can spend billions in destructive war must learn how to spend some millions for constructive peace. Not doles in debasing idleness, but living wages in productive work; this we demand from the governments and the economic order in all lands. Either this or the toiling masses will pronounce the ancient judgment, "Mene, mene tekel upharsin!"—Thou art weighed in the balance and art found wanting.

One further word I must speak to the working women of the world. For the first time in history we have political power, and power imposes responsibility. We face the chaos and suffering made by man's governments in the world. Let us be honest with ourselves and the facts of human history. Under all forms of governments and systems of social order humanity has known war and peace, hunger and plenty, comfort and suffering. Women are not theorists. We cannot feed and clothe and house the children, we cannot keep warm and clean the home, on theories. We are realists. Let us say to the governments, masters and rulers of all nations, "We are weary of your hagglings and debates and theories. The earth is rich with the means of life. Eager brains and strong hands there are in plenty in all lands. We demand such use of the land and labor of the world as will insure us bread and warmth and education and peace. We are eager to work, but we intend to enjoy the fruit of our toil. We refuse to be fed any longer on the east wind of partisan doctrines. Either we are employed and fed and housed, or we are idle and hungry and cold. Either we are at peace or we are at war. At each election we intend to test the party in power by the facts of our human welfare. When we are hungry and homeless and idle, or slaughtering our brothers or killing our sons, let us vote against the administration without regard to party. Let the working women of the world bring the world back to reality. Let us refuse to be beguiled by party shibboleths or hypnotized by party leaders. Together let us demand bread and security for our homes. When we have these simple, understandable benefits, we support the administration; when we are deprived of them, we sweep the administration out of office. This is direct action in politics. This will liberate us from the division of theories and unite our power in support of realities—bread and peace.

It can be done! It can be done! The power of a great faith can recreate the mind and will of the peoples of the earth, paralyzed by the aftermath of the war, and set free the spirit of mankind. A great faith held fast by a handful of poor folks, carpenters and fishermen, menders of nets and working women, two thousand years ago, changed the face of the earth in spite of empires and Caesars! A great faith held fast today by the working women of all nations can redeem the world. It is the hour of decision. We are called to answer in the power of the spirit. We hear the cry: Working Women of the World, what of the night, what of the night? And we make answer: Till the morning cometh we will hold high the flaming torch of our faith, and through the power of the spirit set free, give bread to the hungry, undo the heavy burdens, let the oppressed go free, loosen the bonds of wickedness, proclaim liberty to the captives and the opening of prison doors to them that are bound, and bring reconciliation to the peoples of the earth. It can be done! Come!

Strengthening the Chief Link-Organization

It is an old and true adage that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link. It is equally true that a movement is no stronger than its actual organization.

The organization of the workers—their unions—is always the mark of the strength of their protest and their ability to contribute to the progress of community, state and nation.

Mr. Baer, the famous congressman-cartoonist, puts it all in a picture, with his wonderful ability to depict a great truth simply and clearly.

The American Federation of Labor is engaged in the great task of strengthening the organization of the workers everywhere.

Upon the strength of this link depends the effectiveness of labor's struggle for justice, progress, democracy, and all of the other links in the great chain which marks the march of humanity toward the ever-advancing goal.

The simple message to each individual member of a union is this: Go out and get a new member.

Single notes of music make a great orchestration. Each note by itself means but little. Its sound carries but a trifling distance, its beauty is scant. But all of the notes, properly played together, may move multitudes by the power of their combined expression.

To get your single new member may of itself mean little. But for each to get a new member and for all of the new members to be brought together into the great organized family of workers means a volume of strength the value of which to human progress is beyond estimate. Out of such a grand volume comes the overwhelming song of irresistible righteousness, moving toward the fulfillment of human hopes and aspirations.

There is no song without the little individual notes.

There is no growth of organization without the individual members, gathered here and there to make the great unity, the great concord,

Men and women of Labor, upon each of you is laid the duty of doing faithfully your own part.

From the American Federationist

ASSOCIATED PRESS ORGANIZATION FUND

The following contributions have been received for the A. P. fund since the list published in the September Journal:

A. C. Martin, United Press	 2.00
Total	  $ 50.00 697.00
CDAND MODAL	9545.00

The action of the General Assembly at Toronto in increasing dues will make further contributions to this fund unnecessary. The returns from this voluntary fund have been excellent and marked progress has been made towards organizing the Associated Press operators. With our increased per capita, the coming year should see some real things accomplished in this field.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The editor wishes to announce that he is entitled to absolutely none of the credit for the excellent work done on the October and November issues of the Journal. For various reasons it was impossible to get on the new job until Nov. 12, at which time the November issue was nearly ready for publication. For the past three weeks Bro. Schnur has carried the entire burden of International Headquarters, as well as getting out the Journal. As his many friends will readily believe, he has picked up and carried this load just as capably as he has other duties the union has seen fit to give him.

When the 1921 convention of the C. T. U. A. had disposed of its agenda and elected its new officers at Toronto, the choice of next year's meeting place remained the only item of unfinished business. An eloquent New York City delegate rose upon his hind-legs and in a half-hour oration extolled the superlative advantages of his town for convention purposes. Eight other New Yorkers followed, each finding new and cogent reasons why no other place on the continent could be a possible rival. It took them an entire evening to recapitulate New York's overwhelming attractions. Then a modest Montrealer at the back of the hall got up and diffidently moved alternatively that Montreal be the honored city.

"Second the amendment," came instantly from half a dozen quarters.

"Move that nominations close," shouted a middle-state delegate.

"Montreal has it," it was announced.

"With the condition that Montreal mustn't go dry," whispered a canny Scottish-American from Chi.

"Now why couldn't that chump from Montreal have made his motion in the first place and saved all that waste of time," grumbled a Pittsburgher who had missed his train. An office of the Universal Service was recently forced by a well-known non-union competitor to locate new quarters. The office was moved into another building in a room adjoining one used for the purpose of assemblage and worship of a group of pious citisens of this particular locality.

Everything went all lovely for the first few days and I am the recipient of exclusive information that the operator was very well pleased with the change. Comes Sunday evening; and services by the peace-loving and worshipful neighbors of the telegrapher.

The leader of the congregation was first to arrive, and stopping outside the open door of the telegraph room gased in bewilderment upon the hard-working inmate. Then asketh he: "May I have a word with you, sir?" The follower of the vicer profession, very obligingly assured the newcomer that he could spare at least a couple words. Then:

"Is that thing (indicating the telegraph instrument) run by e-e-lectricity?

The answer, of course, was in the affirmative.

"Mebbe that's what caused the electric light bill of my flock to be $11.34 more this month than usual." After having the "innerds" of "that thing" explained to him he left the presence of the ardent follower of Morse, still wondering how it happened that his electric bill should mount to such dissy heights this particular month.

TINKER TO EVERS TO CHANCE

Tinker to Evers to Chance has, perhaps, appeared more frequently in bex score summaries than those of any ballplayers of all time. Brilliant playing of these famous diamond stars stands today as an example of almost perfect teamwork and harmony that made the old Cub machine well nigh unbeatable, largely because of the work of this immortal trio—Tinker to Evers to Chance.

Tinker to Evers to Chance, of course, tells us of the innumerable double plays, or the RETIRING of batsmen—OUTS—made by this famous machine of baseball perfection. The foundation, perhaps the whole body of the machine, was TEAMWORK and HARMONY, directed by their Peerless Leader, which was responsible for the team's phenomenal success.

The success that undoubtedly can be achieved in our own ranks by harmony and team work is apparent from the rapid strides made by the various divisions under the leadership of our Peerless Leaders, International President Roscoe H. Johnson and Secretary Paul F. Schnur.

H. Johnson and Secretary Paul F. Schnur.

By putting men IN instead of OUT, team play developed by that well known and beloved trio—Shrimpton to Thomas to Russell—twenty years ago, is today bearing fruit in all walks of the telegraph field. Shrimpton to Thomas to Russell! What names to inspire and urge us on to greater things.

Confining ourselves to our own Division and coming down the Corridor of Time to 1920, how can we forget the great work of another famous team—Donohue to Hinshaw to Schnur? Success in 1920 was a stimulant to others in 1921 where the records show other brilliant performers such as Towne to Hickey to Schnur, ably assisted by our loyal and active membership.

Tinker to Evers to Chance! Shrimpton to Thomas to Russell! Their names alone inspires to further perfect our team play which is essential to our success. From our International officers down through sub-unit officers to the lowest salaried clerk of our organization, the spirit of Tinker to Evers to Chance or Shrimpton to Thomas to Russell must permeate the atmosphere to bring about our aims and ambition—SUCCESS!

our aims and ambition—SUCCESS!

Every member of our UNION is, figuratively, a member of the Tinker to Evers to Chance combination. Let us be up and doing and not fumble our chances on the field of battle. ORGANIZE!

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Organizing the Associated Press into a regular division is essential to the maintenance of present wage standards for A. P. men themselves, as well as support to Broker and unionized Press Divisions—the latter now working under contract agreement—in holding tenaciously to our present wage scale.

Many telegraphers, members as well as non-members, do not yet realize the magnitude of the recent success achieved by various press committees in their fight to maintain present salaries in this field, despite stubborn opposition from the three news agencies. This achievement is all the more notable when cognizance is taken of apparent universal tendencies to reduce to an absolute minimum the wages of labor in general.

Associated Press telegraphers have been slow to realize and understand that union contracts with competing press associations have been solely responsible for the many increases they have received in the past few years. A. P. men, who are intelligent observers, cannot fall to see the advantage to themselves and their fellow telegraphers in the various press and broker divisions, in thoroughly organizing to promote their interests as telegraphers.

Had the three press committees been forced to accept a reduction last June, the result of that cut would have been instantly reflected in the weekly checks of all A. P. men—and perhaps some broker men—but fortunately for all, the committees, under direction of our hustling International President, were successful in their fight to keep salaries in three press divisions on a par with those of last year. Not only did men employed by the three scheduled press associations benefit, but the Associated Press men were equally benefited thereby. Hence, we can thank the press committees for helping other branches of telegraphy besides the three unionized press concerns.

The Key firmly believes the Associated Press men see the danger threatening them and are only waiting for an opportunity to organize—waiting for someone to "break the ice." Some feel that their fellow workers are of the same opinion as themselves and each is waiting for the other fellow to start it. To all A. P. men The Key, official organ of the Eastern Broker Division, offers to help in any way we can to get things started. Any A. P. man in the South or East may communicate freely with the editor of The Key and feel assured that his communications will be held in strictest confidence. Secretary Powers, we know, is a very busy man, and for this reason alone are we offering our help in organizing the A. P.

Think, Gentlemen, what it would mean for a committee representing Associated Press telegraphers to come to New York next June working in conjunction with the committees from other unionized and scheduled press associations! Your fight is our fight and we are waiting to help you if you will show that you want to help yourselves.

Get on the job, boys! Write Secretary Powers or The Key at once!

LIVE UP TO YOUR OBLIGATION

When joining the C. T. U. A. every member signs an obligation that he "will give employment to a member of this Union in preference to a stranger." By "stranger" is meant, of course, any non-card man. Members of the Union should bear this in mind and consult the local Secretary (who has charge of the Employment Bureau), whenever they require additional wire-room help. It is obviously unfair to adopt any other course when our Employment Bureau is at your service.

It is not unionism, but a flagrant violation of your obligation, to put a noncard man to work in preference to an up-to-date brother of unquestioned ability.

Place yourself, for the moment, in place of an unemployed man at Headquarters and think how it would work out in your case to have some brother member through influence, or direct employment, place a non-card man on a job because he knows him personally or thinks him a "good fellow," etc. We have star telegraphers—men of integrity and intelligence—to supply you.

We are organized to protect ourselves, individually and collectively-all for one; one for all.

Think this over, gentlemen, and let's have closer co-operation with Headquarters.

STEEL WAGE CUTS

After lambasting labor twice in the same spot since January 1, the Steel Octopus landed another wallop by announcing, on August 21 another reduction of approximately 19 per cent. This is the third cut since January 1 and comes at a time when pig iron is advancing, quotations being up, 50 cents to $2.00 per ton in ten days.

The situation in the steel industry seems to refute all arguments against unionism and collective bargaining. Would this greedy corporation, sucking the life blood of labor, attempt such arbitrary methods in dealing with their employees were they (the employees) affiliated with a real labor organization?

Not in a thousand years!

We hear subterranean rumblings emanating from the Postal and Western Union because of unfair treatment of the men who have no means for adjusting their differences. As for the Western Union men, they chose the A. W. E. in preference to a real union. We have wasted enough time on thin-skinned yellow bellies. When they have been beaten to earth and can stand no more, perhaps they will see the wisdom of supporting the union of their craft—the only organization capable of helping telegraphers in the commercial field. When they muster enough courage and manhood to help others fight their own battles, the C. T. U. Awill be standing by, ready to take them; but we are NOT wasting time on spineless bipeds just now.

Press and Broker Divisions are protecting themselves through the union and not losing any sleep over Western Union and Postal men who, seemingly, are in a comatose condition. We have tried to help them and they refused to be helped. Perhaps they will, in time, realize that their actual existence depends entirely on their ability to organize and use their head for something other than an object on which to carry a hat.

In the meantime, we're doing business at the same old stand.

WESTERN UNION RE-FINANCING

Kuhn, Loeb & Company have purchased $15,000,000 Western Union Telegraph Company 15-year 6 1/2 per cent gold bonds which will be offered for subscription at 99 per cent and accrued interest to yield over 6.60 per cent on the investment if held to maturity. The bonds will not be redeemable before maturity. THIS IS THE FIRST ISSUE OF CAPITAL SECURITIES MADE BY THE WEST-ERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY SINCE 1907.—From Wall Street Journal.

Anyone having one iota of intelligence knows who will pay this $15,000,000. The easy-going, vacuum-headed telegrapher. The company has been bringing pressure to bear for some time to get the men to resign, putting most of them on the "extra list" and curtailing or abolishing vacations. In the meantime, they are hot-footing it down town for broker and press jobs. It is high time these men understand for all time that what we have, we got by organizing and fighting for it. Far be it from us to let the bars down to this herd of underpaid, unthinking, crowd of men. Get together and come to us in sufficient numbers and you will find a real labor organization waiting to help you. In the meantime don't try to steal the fruits of our labors, gained by organizing our particular branch of the telegraph field.

TOO MUCH EFFICIENCY

Many large and powerful financial institutions have gone mad on efficiency and they may find a crying need for the system; but comparatively small brokerage houses, in trying to keep pace with the "Big Fellows," are employing hordes of girl clerks to follow precisely the law, as laid down in "Operating Instructions," and other tomfoolery—a sheer waste of good money.

To what work these boys and girls, still in their 'teens, is assigned is none of our business, but one house, perhaps two, top-heavy with the expense of too much efficiency, has ceased to exist.

So-called "Efficiency Experts" are so palpably ignorant of the brokerage wire systems that no effort is ever attempted to improve this branch of their employer's business. An expert for any wire room must, necessarily, be a telegrapher with wide experience—the only way to acquire a thorough knowledge of the business.

Some firms flounder along and muddle through on the assumption that any man who can send "Morse" is good enough for his wire room. Practice of such ideas is responsible for decreased business through "bulls," unsatisfactory service to the customer, loss of correspondents and in general the unsatisfactory handling of what little business the broker is able to corral.

Some concerns, ready and willing to pay fabulous salaries to the alleged "Efficiency Experts" in the "Filing Departments," are averse to paying a living wage to real Efficiency Experts—their Telegraphers. The Wire Room is unquestionably the heart and lungs of any brokerage concern and each Telegrapher is an expert in his line.

All brokerage houses might improve their systems with less efficiency in other departments and more of it in their Wire Rooms. There's where REAL efficiency must be—efficient telegraphers who know their employer's business from top to bottom and around the sides. Mr. Broker, we have just such men to send you from Headquarters. Call Broad 2258 and let us tell you about it.

Contributors to The Key are requested to double space all articles. Printers do not like to "set up" single spaced copy any more than you would to send a 500 word, single-spaced night letter. All contributions must be in not later than the seventh of each month .- Editor.

OUR ANNUAL OUTING

Between three hundred and fifty and four hundred members, their families and friends enjoyed our outing held at Clark's Landing, Point Pleasant, N. J., Sunday, September 4th.

Many members and friends participated in the various athletic events which were, apparently, thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The Committee on Arrangements désires to extend their hearty thanks to our mem-bers and friends for the loyal support ac-corded them in making the affair a huge success.

OUR GREATEST HUMORIST!

"Is Irving W. Cobb rightly considered our greatest humorist," asks a seeker of knowledge in a letter to The Key.

We are happy to inform our inquirer that Mr. Cobb is considered a rank third rater when compared with Marshall W. Malone- of Portland, Oregon, who consumes two columns suggesting the Western Union be scheduled by the A. W. E. For this humorous suggestion Malone probably has received a gaily decorated tomato container packed with a choice assortment of raspberries. The paternal Western Union doesn't tolerate these things and if the A. W. E. takes the suggestion seriously, (which they dare not), they will find themselves knocked for a row of country outhouses.

This timely remark was overheard by many persons in the vast throng that wended its way homeward at the conclusion of the annual dance and entertainment of the Pittsburgh Unit, Eastern Broker Division, C. T. U. A., which was held in the spacious auditorium of the Hotel Schenley on the evening of September 23. While this was only one of the numerous suggestions, it seemed the most appropriate. appropriate.

It is doubtful if a more successful affair was ever held by the telegraphic fraternity—certainly not in the history of Pittsburgh. From the opening dance at 9 p. m. until the closing number at 1 a. m. there was one continuous round of pleasure. To the quiet observer, those 1500 or more in attendance had but one idea—to have the time of their lives, and they surely did; there was no limit to the merriment, every one present trying to outdo the other in enjoying themselves.

Chairman Reitz of the entertainment committee and his assistants deserve much credit for the perfect arrangements that made possible the success of the whole affair. Chairman Dolan of the vaudeville committee, is also to be congratulated on his excellent judgment in the selection of his performers, each act being exceptionally clever, and receiving encore after encore.

The orchestra of 10 pieces was superb and their music was appreciated thoroughly by every one, especially the advocates of "jazz" who received the treat of their lives. All in all, it was an event never to be forgotten by those lucky enough to be present.

OUR ANNUAL MEETING

As provided for in our Constitution and By-Laws, the annual meeting will be held Saturday, December 3rd. The meeting will probably be held, as usual, in the Morrison Hotel, but the place will be announced later.

Many complex problems face our organization. Much constructive work must be done. The further progress of the W. B. D. depends on the work done at this meeting.

The election of officers for the year 1922 is, of course, important, but there are other problems to solve, which are of more vital importance to the well being of our organization.

Those of you who have watched the progress of the W. B. D. during the year, especially those who were entrusted with some office, whether in Chicago or otherwise, must have made observations and thought of ways and means by which our organization could be bettered. You have probably found parts of our Constitution and By-Laws that, in your estimation, could be changed for the good of the organization. The annual meeting is the place to air your views. Consult your By-Laws and if there is anything you want changed or added, write it up in proper form and submit it to the meeting. If you live outside of Chicago you can send it to Secretary McDaniel, who will introduce it for you.

Members located outside of Chicago may also send in their nominations for Divisional Officers to Secretary McDaniel, who will place the nominations before the meeting. The officers to be nominated and placed on the ballot are the following:

President, First Vice-President, General Secretary-Treasurer and five Executive Board members, who must reside in Chicago. In addition to that, four Vice-Presidents, residing outside of Chicago, are to be nominated and placed on the ballot. It has been the custom to have the vice-presidents geographically located, so that each section of our membership would have a vice-president. For your information, the following are serving now and their terms will expire January 1st, 1922:

President ..... John B. Alcorn

1st Vice-President ... Warren C. Wootten

2nd Vice-President ... V. J. McMahon, Milwaukee

3rd Vice-President ... Vacant

4th Vice-President ... E. C. Campbell, Cleveland

5th Vice-President ... Floyd R. Smith, Kansas City

Executive Board ... Harry W. Lynch, Chairman ...

You will receive from President Alcorn, in due time, a letter outlining some of the problems we must solve at our annual meeting. The out-of-town members are as much interested as anyone else and in this way they will have an opportunity of knowing what these problems are, so that their opinions and suggestions may be received in ample time for the meeting.

All matters that must be submitted to a referendum of the entire membership must be submitted to the annual meeting, December 3rd. Chicago members can do so in person, others by mail, to Secretary McDaniel.

Please bear in mind that this will be an important meeting and that if you live in Chicago, you are expected to answer roll call on this day, at least. If you live outside of Chicago you can either be represented by submitting your propositions or nominations in writing, or having some friend in Chicago represent you. If you choose someone in Chicago to represent you, be sure to give him written authority, which he must present to the chairman.

Chicago members: Make no conflicting dates. Saturday, December 3rd, is one of the most important days in your life. You make your living working a broker job; your union is striving to make that job secure and better, therefore, all other things are subordinate.

THE $1.00 PER WEEK ASSESSMENT

A good many have misunderstood the circular announcing the assessment of $1.00 per week.

The delegates from the Western Broker Division asked the Toronto convention for assistance in carrying on the Bennett strike and possibly other trouble, which was in the air. We asked for a flat assessment of $1.00 on all C. T. U. A. members. Many of the better posted delegates advised us that, although everybody was glad to support such an assessment, the results would be very disappointing to the W. B. D.

Delegates representing leased wire telegraphers got together in a committee and decided that the fight that must be waged during this so-called readjustment period must be financed by leased wire telegraphers, which includes the press men and all broker men. This group not only represents a very large portion of the C. T. U. A., but is the one being attacked and the one that will continue to be attacked, if any attacking is to be done.

The leased wire operators are in closer touch with each other and what affects one portion of it is very likely to be reflected on the other. No one is able to foresee the extent of fluancial requirements to fight any employer trying to lower working conditions among the leased wire telegraphers, therefore the suggestion that all leased wire telegraphers contribute one dollar per week into a common treasury, primarily for the purpose of taking care of the Bennett strikers, but to be used by any division contributing to the fund, in case they were faced with similar circumstances, was generally accepted as the logical one.

The committee recommended to the convention that the leased wire telegraphers be assessed $1.00 per week until such a time as the International President considered it advisable to discontinue it. The International President was thereby made custodian of the fund. The assessment was made effective October 5th, but inasmuch as the delegates could not reach home until Oct. 10th, the assessment did not go into effect until Oct. 15th. This means that the first assessment of $1.00 was due Oct. 15th, not Oct. 22nd.

The W. B. D. already had inaugurated a Defense Fund assessment of one per cent of weekly salaries per week, which was also for the purpose of creating a fund to fight any attacks that might be made. This one per cent was used up as fast as it came in to finance the Bennett strike. A good many members had paid the one per cent assessment several weeks in advance, therefore, when the one per cent was suspended for the time being, they wrote us to apply what they had paid on the one per cent in advance to the $1.00 assessment. This meant that we would have to send the International the surplus paid on the one per cent to take care of the $1.00 weekly. The W. B. D. treasury had gone the limit in financing the Bennett strike and the Bennett strikers are now dependent on the Leased Wire Fund, created at Toronto, for their weekly benefits; therefore we were not in a position to transfer any money to the International, and, besides, the one per cent assessment had not been abolished; it has merely been suspended during the life of the $1.00 weekly assessment.

In a nutshell:

The General Assembly assessment of $1.00 per week went into effect October-15th and the first payment was due on that day.

Regardless of how much you have paid on the one per cent, you owe the $1.00 per week assessment.

When the $1.00 per week is discontinued, and if the membership decides to continue the one per cent, your credit on that fund will be computed from the time it began, with the addition of the number of weeks the $1.00 weekly was in effect.

Do not get behind on this assessment, please remit promptly to Secretary aniel. You know how easy it is to get behind and how hard it is to catch McDaniel. Do your part in helping to finance the work that is being done to prevent salary standards from being lowered.

Some complain that the union is costing too much. It is cheap at twice the part out your loss if you were reduced only $5.00 per week. If you want a general reduction in salaries to come, just neglect your union and it will come, as sure as night follows day.

Those of you who have misunderstood the assessment circular, please straighten it out, as we are very anxious to get our books in proper shape for the annual meeting.

THE UNION SPIRIT

THE UNION SPIRIT

The following letter from Brother Walker is about the best stimulator received in many a day. When your officials work night and day for the good of our union and 99% of them do so free of charge and in return receive little or no thanks and an abundance of brick bats, it is indeed inspiring and encouraging to receive such a letter. It makes us cell like working twice as hard. If we only had a few hundred of Brother Walker's type! Brother Walker has our heartfelt and sincere thanks. felt and sincere thanks.

Mr. R. H. McDaniel, Sec., 321 Imperial Bldg., Chicago, Ill. Dear Sir and Brother:

As per assessment of $1 weekly, I am sending money order for $11 which please credit eleven weeks, bringing me in good standing to the first of January, nineteen twenty-two.

twenty-two.

Permit me to say that I am heartly in favor of the adopted plan, and, in fact, with every resolution adopted by our leaders. They certainly proved that they have the welfare of the membership and organization at heart.

Sincerely and fraternally,

John C. Walker, Ctf. N. 876.

The time for "turning a new leaf" or for New Year's resolutions is fast approaching. It occurs to us that if EVERY member of the C. T. U. A. would send the International President at least one suggestion for the good of our union during 1922, he would be given some mighty fine ideas to assist him in carrying on next year. He, of course, would be at liberty to waste-basket any or all of them, but we venture to say that there would be SOME good ones. If he only found one good one, it would be worth the effort This writer has his all ready to send in. Remember, we are only advocating suggestions, not brick bats—they come without suggesting them

It happens in the best of regulated families—Secretary McDaniel is batching. He spent one week of his belated vacation getting the folks out of town, and it rained the second. You get one next year, you know.

At the last regular meeting in Chicago it was unanimously decided to hold our annual dance either the latter part of January or early in February. President Alcorn was instructed to set the machinery in motion. The Entertainment Committee is now being selected and will be announced later.

Secretary McDaniel made a detailed report at the last meeting of the picnic held at Brand's Park in September. Although we ran into some very bad weather, cutting gate receipts to a minimum, a profit of $158 was shown.

CLEVELAND SUB-DIVISION, No. 10

Brother E. J. Brewer, formerly manager for E. D. Dier & Co., Cleveland office, has been transferred to New York with the same concern. All the Cleveland members join in wishing you a heap o' good luck, Ernie. Keep 'em coming.

Several new members were added to Sub-Division 10 during August and September. They're coming to us nowadays.

Brother Robert B. J. Dillinger of E. D. Dier & Co. underwent an operation August 24, at which time he separated himself from his tonsils so that he could better enjoy his Hampie Ancofy. Sept. 16 "Dill" also underwent an operation on his nasal mechanism. Will advise later what he is going to have overhauled next.

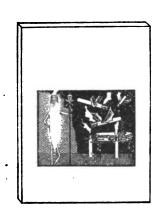

Brother Howard Lewton, formerly with Central News Ticker Service, has located with H. T. Andrews & Co., who recently opened offices in Cleveland's "Wall Street," in the Fidelity Mortgage Building. Andrews has a swell little office, sparing no expense in making it all that a 1921 office should be. Brother George Truitt, formerly of Pittsburgh, is with Andrews & Co., here, in the capacity of personal service man.

Brother Lewton was relieved on the ticker job by Brother "Jack" P. (presumably for Patrick) Hagerty Hagerty smiles and says "15."

Brother A. J Ward has returned from a month's relief work at Zanesville,, Ohio, for L. L. Winkleman & Co. Ward brings back some astounding (but not unbelieva-ble) tales of landing muskalonge from the Muskingum so large that their weight could only be estimated.

Brother John Grant Adams of Herrick & Co. is on sick leave, with Bro. O. R. Henson relieving him. Here's hoping it's of short duration, Jack!

we lost some mighty fine union associates Sept. 6, when the United Press moved their Cleveland relay to Columbus, Ohio. This necessitated Brother "Wally" J. Hill going to Columbus and Brother "Jim" C. Acles to Akron, Ohio. We miss these good-natured boys greatly and hope to see them around town ere long. Brother Ed. J. Mullen is the sole occupant of the spacious operating room since the change, and it is so lonesome that it is reported he brings his new Chevrolet to the office to keep company.

QUEBEC & DISTRICT NOTES.

Old-Timers will regret to hear of the passing of P. J. Colton, former light keeper at Bellisle and also radio operator on Government vessels. The deceased was widely known both in Shipping and Radio circles.

We thank and value Cert. 25's kind words as regards ourselves in the August issue but we would remind him it was Editor Paul Schnur and not ourselves who invited the U. S. Radio Association to join a real Union. At the same time if silence indicated consent we were right with him. indicated consent we were right with him. It might not be out of place now to relate that, last December we were invited to contribute to the "Radio Telegrapher," the Official organ of the U. R. T. ## GRINDSTONE GLITTERINGS.

The Acting Chairman is pleased to officially announce to the membership of the Eastern Canadian Sub-div. the appointment of a Grievance Committee consisting of W. J. McBride, Cape Sable, Chairman-Secretary, W. Mcore, S. S. Lord Strathcona (formerly Fame Point) and S. Hodder, North Sydney.

Reference was made in last issue to the case of Bro. MacGillivray in which the writer made it appear that your Executive was backward in bringing this matter to your attention after the facts of the case was before them. This is not the case. The first intimation the Executive had of this matter was when the meeting was held in Quebec this spring and immediately the Secretary was instructed to investigate the case which he did. Meanwhile, however, before the matter was brought to the attention of the Executive, a few irresponsible members decided to act without authority. It was this action that your Chairman condemned, for since you elect your officers to attend to your interests, you would properly condemn them if they permitted such irregularities to go unchallenged. Your officers are elected to attend to such matters, and it is your duty to bring these matters before them for their attention, since this is the only way your officers have of keeping in touch with what goes on outside of their immediate vicinity. In the case quoted it was the duty of the members at VCS to keep the Executive posted. This is not criticism, brothers, for perhaps these members did not realize their duty in this respect, but an explanation. Your outgoes not cease with the election of your officers, you must give them a chance to work intelligently by keeping them posted, and by communicating to them your epinions and suggestions, and by intelligent criticism of what they have done and are doing. We want to hear from everyone, and we welcome a letter from a member who thinks we have done wrong in certain cases if in the letter he states what, in his opinion, should have been done; only in this way can we find out what you really want us to do.

I suggest then as a beginning that you all write to the Chairman giving your individual opinions on the matter of the Grievance Committee just concluded, and embody in your letter any suggestions you have in mind for the general welfare, leaving out trivialities. Any little personal news you wish to enclose in those letters, written on a separate sheet of paper, will be very welcome. The number of letters received in answer to this request will be an indication of your interest in your brotherhood. Come across with something, Brothers, if it is only three words.

We are much interested in the items in the Journal from our junior organization Div. No. 65. These are well worth careful reading. The best of luck to you brothers of No. 65.

music is sent broadcast daily between the hours of noon and one p. m.

Energy of 6 amps is radiated from a local aerial suspended from the top of the King Edward sky-scraper to the Marconi roof.

Selections from amongst the best available talent in the city fill up the noon hour, rest periods being filled in with carefully selected gramaphone records of the most renowned artists.

The transmitter utilizes three half KW bulbs. One acts as a rectifier, one as a modulator, and one as an oscillator.

A wavelength of 1,200 metres is used. It should be known that the standard 1/2 KW Phonet can be adjusted so as to enable it to be used for either radiophone, (speech modulated C. W.), C. W., or buzzer modulated transmission. This knowledge will suffice as the reason why the transmitted voice signals can be heard on crystal sets.

The receiving apparatus in use is the Standard Marconi C. W., receiver in conjunction with Type 55A seven valve amplifier of radio frequency, the output of which is passed into four stages of audio-frequency amplification, the total output from there, is next passed into the six valve, power amplifier of the Magna Vox.

The resultant total volume of amplified νox.

The resultant total volume of amplified sound is then passed to five other Magna Vox, which are placed on the extreme top of the main band-stand in the Exhibition grounds.

A special platform accommodates this apparatus. The many hundreds of visitors who daily assemble on the lawn surrounding the band-stand, and who sit out the entire program, is evidence of the success which has attended the Canadian Marconi Radiophone demonstration for 1821 1921.

At any time during the Fair, the cosmopolitan make-up of the Exhibition crowds, and a study of the many types of people found therein, is equalled only by the varied comments of these same crowds, when discussing in their several, and the varied comments of these same crowds, when discussing in their several, and often highly amusing ways, the wonders of the Wireless Telephone.

Little wonder that, as stated in a paragraph of the August issue of the Journal, a lady passenger once asked the ship's captain how long he had to serve as captain before he got an operator's job.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT WIRELESS DIVISION, NUMBER 65.

The following memorandum, of which we published a summary last month, explains a proposal for the future organization of the radio membersip of the C. T. U. A. that was made at a meeting of the District Committee, British Columbia District On 19th August 1921 trict, on 24th August 1921:-

To the General Secretary-Treasurer of Division 65.

Dear Sir and Brother:

As requested by those present at the above meeting, who endorsed the plan as then briefly outlined, steps have been taken to give publicity to the said plan, and I have the honor to submit below a more detailed explanation of my proposal.

The proposal is that the present radio divisions of the C. T. U. A., viz.,

Canadian Marconi Division,
Canadian Government Wireless Div.,
Atlantic Radio Division, and Pacific Radio Division, and Pacific Radio Division, should be amalgamated into a new unit, to be called the Radio Division, and that all radio members of the C. T. U. A.— present and future—be assigned to that

THE OBJECT OF THE SUGGESTED ARRANGEMENT IS TO BRING ABOUT A MAXIMUM MEMBERSHIP OF RADIOTELEGRAPHERS IN NORTH AMERICA IN THE C. T. U. A.

The desirability of having every radio-telegrapher in Canada and the United States in our Union is apparent. It is al-most equally plain that, as at present organized, the attainment of this objective, if not impossible, presents very serious difficulties. The radio service of the United States is controlled by half-a-dozen difficulties. The radio service of the United States is controlled by half-a-dozen radio administrations of considerable size, and by a larger number of less importance. In Canada, in addition to the two administrations whose personnel is provided for by the only active radio divisions of one-station systems. Under present arrangements, if a radiotelegrapher in any part of North America who is not eligible to join one of the active divisions wishes to become a member of the C. T. U. A., he must either join one of the regional divisions (the Atlantic and Pacific Divisions) or else set about forming a new unit. The latter course, if adopted, would result in the formation of a multiplicity of small divisions, having a scattered membership and with an accompaniment of insuperable difficulties of organization. There is no need to stress the failure of regional divisions, beyond pointing out that no wages agreement or schedule can ever be satisfactory if it affects an administration's operations in only one locality, leaving other regions to look after themselves. Largely on account of this grave defect of partiality, the two regional divisions are already practically defunct.

There exists, then, no ready method by which the average non-member may become a member with an assurance that his membership will be useful to himself and to others. A United States radiotelegrapher cannot come to a Canadian division and say, "I want to join your unit;" his membership, if he were taken in, would be futile. To cite an instance within our own neighborhood, recently a non-member employed by a one-station concern on this coast approached our division with a view to becoming a member. We could not accept him: neither is he eligible to There exists, then, no ready method by this coast approached our division with a view to becoming a member. We could not accept him: neither is he eligible to join Division 59. This case is sufficient to show that our organization, at present, instead of encouraging new members, tends to exclude them.

The proposed Radio Division would provide a means of gathering in the odd radiotelegraphers employed by small concerns as well as those of the larger administrations. Built up from our present Canadian divisions, it would at once be an effective structure. United States radiotelegraphers joining it would do so without feeling that they were entering a purely Canadian unit, and the general accession of membership would provide most of the funds needed for systematic expansion, with absolutely no additional outlay by the present membership. While many minor problems involved by the formation of the Radio Division could only be solved after much deliberation, it is suggested that the present districts of the two Canadian divisions should retain their identity, as, for instance,

Canadian Marconi Great Lakes District

Canadian Marconi Atlantic District, Canadian Marconi Pacific District, etc., Canadian Government East Coast Dis-

Canadian Government British Columcanadian Government British Columbia District, and that district committees should be formed at such other places as the growth of membership rendered advisable. For a start, new members could be grouped in any existing district, afterwards being assigned to such sub-divisions as American Great Lakes District. American Pacific District, American Atlantic District.

American Atlantic District.

Later, these large districts could be divided (as regards either employer or locality) when their membership warranted this course. The district committees, as provided by our constitution, would have authority to deal with all local grievances, but all schedules would be handled by the Division Committee (which would eventually be an international body) or by its appointees. appointees.

Alternative methods of organizing all radiotelegraphers on the continent might be devised. I submit that upon examination it will be found that, in comparison with the formation of one Radio Division, these are open to the objections

(a) that they involve heavy expense for organizing, out of the pockets of our present members; and (b) that they can not completely for organizing, out of the pockets of our present members; and (b) that they can not completely cover the ground.

The Radio Division appears to me to be the necessary and logical step forward from the point to which our organization has now been brought. The sure ground work laid out by the pioneer trade unionists in radio, to whom we owe so much, would furnish the basis on which we should build. We have reached the stage where we can judiciously attempt to bring every radiotelegrapher in the United States and Canada into our Union, and we have the machinery ready to hand for their reception. There is no need to enlarge upon what we could do in the way of wages if that condition could be reached, but I would like to draw attention to a few of the directions in which the radio profession could be improved by the exercise of the power that is concomitant with complete organization. The Radio Division could

Radio Division could

1. Promote legislation designed to make radio a closed profession, on the same lines as now prevailing in such vocations as pharmacy, medicine, optometry, civil and steam engineering, etc. Check the enactment, and if necessary the enforcement, of legislation demanding higher technical requirements from radiotelegraphers, except where provision is made for a corresponding increase in emoluments.

2. Secure radiotelegraph representation on all national and international radio bodies, including examining boards.

ists, as in Australia, affiliations with such unions formed.

4. Prevent the indiscriminate teaching of radiotelegraphy. Close up the "ham factories" by placing an obstacle in the way of the potential scab, in the shape of a properly-controlled apprentice system, so well advocated by Brother S. J. Small.

5. Secure uniformity of schedules in all Canadian and United States private radio administrations, and the closed shop.

These are suggested only as ultimate aims, to illustrate the possibilities of our effort: their adoption would be dependent upon the majority's approval. But if any or all of these suggested objectives be considered desirable, is there any way whatever of achieving them other than that outlined? If our organization remains in its present form, we may still creep along, getting little improvements year after year, and making radio a good profession for the next generation. But if we amalgamated now we should surely put ourselves on the road to making radio the jeb it eaght to be in our own lifetime—within a year or two. Complete organization of the Radio Division would take some time, probably two years, and during that time no great strides could be made in improving our lot; we should be confined to our present place. But the movement would not at any moment be in danger of failure, because in every step it would be self-supporting. The cost of organizing would be small; there would be no need for subscription lists and appeals for funds.

If any considerable number of our brothers of Division 59 and of the East Coast of our own Division approve of the plan, the first steps necessary for its furtherance would be the taking of a plebiscite of the whole membership, with the consent of the International Officers, followed by meetings between the district committees of the two divisions on each coast to arrange details. We should then be ready to start work in earnest to round up every non-member. If not or ashore I be ready to start work in earnest to round up every non-member, affoat or ashore. I do not think we would need to expect any serious opposition from the outlaw organization in the United States, which has now been running for a year or two and has run itself to a standstill. That body might, however, be approached with a view to its absorption. I do not doubt that cooperation will be forthcoming from our Canadian Marconi brothers. They include in their number many men of marked ability, who are fully equal to the task of carrying out this project, and who are not likely to condemn it merely because it is far-reaching. far-reaching.

Its acceptance by the members of our own Division means the surrender to a slight extent of our individuality, but if our Marconi brothers, by their numerical preponderance, had a little more say than ourselves in the new division's affairs at the beginning, I am sure that our interests would be in no danger of being overlooked, with the degree of autonomy in local matters for which provision would be made. And to us Canadian radiotelegraphers the contingency that, by the success of the division, the majority power in this radio democracy might eventually rest south of the boundary, should be more excuse for hope than for apprehension. sion.

I believe that our pay-cheques would tell the story.

Yours sincerely and fraternally, W. T. BURFORD.

A draft of by-laws is being prepared by the General Secretary-Treasurer, and he would welcome any suggestions from the membership. He would particularly like to hear from the East Coast District in this connection, their opinion being desired on a number of points, such as the composition of the General Committee and the remuneration if any, for the various the remuneration, if any, for the various

The recently-elected District Committee held a preliminary meeting on the 22nd of August at the Strathcona Hotel, Victoria, with Brother W. J. Bowerman in the chair. The moderation of our demands called forth expressions of approval from Mr. Haughton, and the reasonable attitude of the superintendent on all points leads the delegates to believe that real progress was made at this meeting. A promise was given the Committee that a strong recommendation would be forwarded to headquarters that the 48-hour week be introduced immediately at all stations, the concession to be made retroactive to the date of that meeting. While not requesting any increase of the general scale of salaries, the Committee urged that the present minimum was much too low, and asked for an increase of $10 in the minimum selary. A $5 increase was approved by the superintendent. We have also good hopes of an increase of annual leave to thirty days, as recompense for the loss of public holidays.

In all, $2 grievances were discussed, and even adequate summary of these would be too lengthy for insertion here, but detailed reports are being sent to all stations of this District by the General Secretary. In connection with the request made for more frequent inspection of station accommodation, it may be well to state that the Committee made it clear that the staff will countenance no pussyfooting. One assistant engineer has already caused no little ill-feeling by his breaches of confidence in "confidential" reports.

The meeting held on the 24th, at which Brothers Tee and Wolfe were also present, was devoted to consideration of the report to be made on the previous day's sitting, and to the details of organization of this Division. Although not presuming to act for members outside the B. C. District, matters of general interest were discussed, and decisions made to be laid before our East Coast brothers when they have formed their own local committee. Brother W. L. Parkin, General Secretary of Division 65, gave an outline of the present state of the Division, which is very sound both financially and numerically. The meeting heard with particular appreciation of the financial and other assistance rendered by the International in the recent negotiations at Ottawa. At the conclusion of his statement, Brother Parkin was given a hearty vote of thanks for his strenuous labors in the last fifteen months, and the indebtedness of the Division to his persistency and his organizing for his strenuous labors in the last fifteen months, and the indebtedness of the Division to his persistency and his organizing ability was at least partially expressed. Warm thanks were also accorded Brother Thomas Taylor of Toronto for his work at Ottawa. It was the feeling of the meeting that the very evident respect in which the C. T. U. A. is held by the Department was due in large measure to Brother Taylor's management of our affairs at a critical period, while acting as Deputy International President.

Brothers S. E. Meiss and H. D. Tee were appointed to assume the duties of the Committee in all cases of grievance until the end of the year. It is requested that all grievances for which redress cannot be obtained locally be submitted to these Brothers, whose authority is officially recognized. The procedure laid down by the Constitution of the C. T. U. A. will, of course, be observed.

The General Secretary is requesting each station to appoint one member to act as local correspondent, whose business it will be to forward a monthly report of local news to Brother Parkin. He asks us also to request the two or three members whose subscriptions fall due about this time to be prompt in remitting. We are glad to hear that there are very few outstanding.

In considering the future organization of this Division, the suggestion was advanced that the District Committee should take steps to secure the amalgamation of all the radio divisions of the C. T. U. A. into one great Radio Division. The proposal was adopted with unanimity and enthusiasm, and as a first step we are instructed to give publicity to the plan and to invite expressions of opinion from our Eastern brothers and from Division 59.

As our Marconi brothers amply recognize, the interests of radio operators in Canada are inseparably linked with the interests of those who follow the same calling in the United States. If wages are high in radio to the south of the boundary, they cannot remain low to the north, and vice versa. It follows that wages cannot advance in either country so long as they remain low in the other. In the event of arbitration proceedings between radio men and their employers, it is easy for the conciliation board to point to the wages prevailing in the same profession on the other side of the border, and a convincing answer to this argument is hard to find. is hard to find.

and a convincing answer to this argument is hard to find.

If we are going to make wireless the job it ought to be we must have all Canadian and United States operators in the C. T. U. A. On that we are all agreed. The only question is how to proceed to achieve this desirable condition. One way would be to resuscitate the apparently defunct Pacific Radio Division and the Atlantic Radio Division, but this course is open to the objection that these two units include employees of the same firms. Radiotelegraphers are constantly passing from one ocean to the other, and geographical subdivisions of the C. T. U. A. are necessarily unsatisfactory in the case of radio. We might, as an alternative, form separate divisions for every radio company's employees, but this would necessitate a multiplicity of small divisions. Last month it was our idea that a Radio Corporation Division might be formed, but the objection to this is that it would only include employees of one large company, and the operators employed by smaller concerns would be left out in the cold unless we formed a division for each company controlling one or more coast or ship stations. Hence the plan which we now propose, and which has been endorsed by the B. C. District of Division 65, contemplates the formation of one Radio Division of the C. T. U. A. as the only practical means of organizing all radiotelegraphers in North America.

Its advantages are best seen by examing the alternatives in detail. Suppose e formed a Canadian Radio Division Its advantages are best seen by examining the alternatives in detail. Suppose we formed a Canadian Radio Division only, and attempted to organize the U. S. operators from the outside. There would be need for funds, and these would have to come out of the pockets of Canadians only. We should be in the same position then as the Press divisions are now in the regard to the Associated Press. Far be it from us to point the way for our senior brothers of the Press Divisions, but it looks to our untutored gaze as if they are proceeding a long way round. For them to erect an Associated Press Division that will stand on its own feet they will need all the engineering skill they can muster and all the funds they can command. It seems to us that they could dobetter by amalgamating the Press divisions, devoting all available funds towards organizing the A. P., letting the incoming new A. P. members pay their share towards the organizing. But, as we say, far be it from us. Only it is a case in point. Canadian radio operators would gladly raise the price of organizing their U. S. confrères if they could afford it, but they can't. They cannot even begin to afford it. But a Radio Division accepting a constantly increasing stream of new members could pay its way and would be in no danger of leaving the job half done. Every step it took, it would be self-supporting; it would go no further than it could support itself. And we are confident that the Radio Division would reach its objective of having all radiotelegraphers in North America in our fraternity. There is no need to elaborate on what that would mean; it is obvious that we could then nut wages where we wared ing the alternatives ... we formed a Canadian phers in North America in our fraternity. There is no need to elaborate on what that would mean; it is obvious that we could then put wages where we wanted them to be and hold them there. The Radio Division of the C. T. U. A. could talk to the employing companies on terms of more than equality; it could talk to governments.

or more than equality; it could talk to governments.

Names are nothing, and we of the west coast are willing to forego our privilege of being a part of Division 65 if we can become a small section of a larger and more useful unit. The eventual control of the Radio Division would be immaterial provided its success was inscribed on our pay-cheques in large figures.

We leave the suggestion for the consideration of our brothers of Division 59 and of the East Coast District of our own Division. We believe that if our Union is to succeed in the radio field the offensive must be continued; we cannot stand still. And the attainment of the ultimate objective must be the only consideration in our choice of method. Personalities and local sentiment must not stand in the way of a movement which should spread the prestige of the C. T. U. A. across two oceans.

Mrs. Kelk and Bro. Kelk at Alert Bay mrs. Reik and bro. Reik at Aiert Bay have our warm congratulations on the arrival of a bouncing baby boy. Little Edmund Gordon was born at the end of July, but so negligent are our local re-porters that we were unaware of the hap-py event until we received a Vancouver py event until we received a vancouver paper.

We are glad to have news this month from Digby Island, in the far north, where our 100% membership manages to keep its dues up to date in spite of haircuts costing six-bits a time. Brother Jackson has again settled down to work at the Digby Island Shipyards, Inc. The splendid lines of his new launch, the "Mayfloat," are now fully evident and have been much praised by the old salts of the "port" who visit those shores during the clam hunting season. We understand that a semi-Diesel has already been ordered, and that the various merits of teak and mahogany are being discussed as fittings. Another of our creative artists, though in a more wieldy medium, is Brother Busswood. He has just completed a strikingly beautiful canvas depicting the reception of the Deputy Minister and attendant dignitaries. A most august and solemn representation Deputy Minister and attendant dignitaries. A most august and solemn representation of this notable event in the history of the station. Brother Busswood shares with Brother Moses the distinction of producing super-specimens of the horticultural art. Brother Moses' cauliflowers have a periphery that would seem incredible in dimensional terms. As for his spuds, why, there's no getting them in the house without bisecting the monsters. Brother Busswood's specialty is sarden bouse without bisecting the monsters, Brother Busswood's specialty is garden peas and cucumbers; with the former he has been lucky enough to gain first prizes. He got the money, too.

The American navy recently visited Vancouver and sampled the liquid hospitality for which B. C. is famous. While in these waters both vessels caused the usual amount of QRM.

Brothers Harris, 'Mandale, McTavish, Turner, and Wolfe have had their leave. Lofty, with Mrs. Harris in the side-car of his bike, re-discovered the accessible part of Vancouver Island and succeeded in evading arrest. Bill Handale got in on the tail-end of the jam-making season at Mission City, B. C. (capital C for city, please), and had a good time watching the train come in and counting the milk cans. Brother Wolfe, adopting a practice which is fast becoming popular, spent part of his holidays in the dentist's chair. Well, there are all kinds of ways of enjoying a holiday. The rumor reached us, even, that Brother Turner intended to spend his at Estevan. Estevan.

Welcome, you East Coasters! Our congratulations on your first appearance, and on your evident determination to keep your end up. We shall look for you every month.

VISION OF AN A. W. E. DUPE By A. R. G.

(Apologies to Poe's ghost) Day by day with arms so weary
As I toil through work so dreary Taking telegrams from China, Syria and Hindustan,
Oft I hear a far off tapping,
Like the knock of chance come rapping,
Calling me to seats of power on the brightest thrones of man.

And I sometimes see before me As a sweet content comes o'er me, Lines of slaves and lackeys bow and scrape upon the floor.

And about me beauteous females,
Draped in smiles and scented veils, Sing me songs of blood and glory, such as ne'er were heard before.

And my spirits rise within me,
Slash and seethe and foam within me,
As I dream of gory battles fought in days of long ago.
O! for days of spear and broadsword,
And the crossbow on the greensward,
O for maids to save from ruin by a stern relentless foe!

But my dreams in air escaping,
I in turn am bowing, scraping,
As the "chief" in tones explosive, bids me to the grind once more.
And in words unheard I mumble,
For aloud I dare not grumble,
Not for Adubyuee, never more!

REVIEW OF THE MONTH
(By A. R. G.)
We fell for it, boys! Even the shrewdest of us. Those of us who had sworn never again to listen to propaganda in any form. What was it this time? Unemploy-

Many moons ago, with order books of the great industrial plants overflowing and new orders being refused, there crept into the news vague hints of coming hard times. The propaganda grew and grew. Under this pretext and that subterfuge, factory closed down with blare of trumpets and re-opened quietly a few months later. From coast to coast; from California to Maine—the same. Perfect unanimity!

While consumers clamored for goods, mills here, factories there, mines yonder, closed—for lack of "buying support." In the editorials of the anti-labor press there crept a note of gloating: "Labor will get it in the neck now." Unorganized workers suffered wage cut after wage cut. Every effort was made to provoke strikes. Where neither strike nor lockout availed, the plants simply closed. Gradually and unostentatiously, they re-opened—with wages much lowered.

Engineering this scheme, Big Business broke life-long regulations by making real sacrifices. By hook or crook, resumption of commercial relations with Russia and Germany were held up. Thus was avoided a "stampede of prosperity"—those nations requiring sufficient of our products to keep every wheel in America going at top speed for five years—until "Labor was again in hand."

Partial exposure of the scheme is made—albeit unwittingly—by Secretary of Labor Davis. Alarmists, says the secretary, howling that 5.400,000 are out of work, are juggling figures. They substract the present number of employed from the number employed during the peak of war activities and call the difference—5.400,000—the "unemployed." As a matter of fact, says the secretary, vast numbers of men, women and children were employed on "war work" during the peak of activity who had never before worked and may never again work, industrially.

Unemployment is bad enough. The jobless we will have with us always as long as the Earth is owned by a handful at whose whims men must come and go or starve. The belies of the master-class filled and their backs warmed, their babies niled and their backs warmed, their babies fat and rosy and more cash on hand than can ever be spent—what does a bit of "unemployment" mean to them? "Readjustment"—that's all. To working men, it means hungry babies, daughters going wrong, sons bound for the penitentiary and suicide for ourselves. Unemployment we have had before and will have with us always until—

The big point I wish to make is: "Hard times" started during Democratic administration and grew worse under Republican administration, precisely as they would have done under ANY administration pledged to the maintenance of "things as they are." Figs do not grow of thistes; nor does prosperity for Labor grow of the existing industrial order. But a couple of years from now and the Democratic politicians will come to "rescue" you from "Harding and Hard Times." And the question I wish to ask is: Will you continue to "fall for this bunk" as you have fallen before and your fathers before you? fallen before and your fathers before you?

One of the "slave block" victims at Boston, told the I. N. S. that had he known the suffering he was to find in America, he would have preferred not to leave the Western front in France; that he suffered more since coming back than he did at the front. A fine commentary; and this is the "democracy" and other bunk we fought for gave them this bunk to chew on, wear and gave them this bunk to chew on, wear and sleep under:

"There is nothing too good in America for its veteran defenders." "It is up to you to help solve the problems that have been thrust upon us by the enemy from within."

Ex-service men asked for (the right to earn) bread and were given a brick behind the ears. The American Legion hot about it? Not any more than the various chamb-ers of commerce and other employers' associations.

Ever notice the universal prevalence these days of "substitutes" and just-asgood? How extremely difficult it is to secure ANYTHING that is the genuine, simon-pure article you're looking for? Practically every article of "food" you get is worthless; not only worthless, but postitively harmful. Look at the "plastered on" smile of the merchant; the assumed "kindliness" of employers; the encarnidined cheeks that hopelessly try to ape the bloom of health—the myriad artificialities. Over all that is good and clean and sweet hovers the tubercular ghost of Commercialism. And you and I wear silly grins to prevent the world knowing how degraded and un-manly we are and feel.

Underneath the breasts of working men.

Underneath the breasts of working men, thoughtful citizens of all classes, there is the will to sweep saide the dead and rotting portions of our industrial system which no longer function. There is desperate effort to speak the truth, to compel the speaking truth, to force the abandonment of artificiality and the return to the genuine. Is your part in this one of paralyzed apathy, or do you stand on the firing line?

Recently private detectives so inflamed the minds of citizens of Elizabethtown. Ill., who are dependent upon the good will of coal operators that a mob violently deported from that community 150 miners. Probably this is the first intimation YOU ever had of "such doings." But—now, say, do you think there's enough red ink in the world to supply the press in case a mob of WORKING MEN in some town should rise up and deport the BUSINESS ELEMENT?

If all newspaper editors who condemn the West Virginia miners recently forcibly halted and shot up during their peaceable march to Mingo county. W. Va., to attend the trial of their comrades—if these editors had experienced the brutality and savage contempt for human rights exhibited to a number of correspondents of large newspapers and press associations by the West Virginia State Police (Cossacks) who shot them up—my, what fine editorials we'd read! There would be a revival of the art of Horace Greeley in America. Here we have, in the heart of America, a Dictatorship of the Junker class, and yet no one of our editors and public men can see it because of their palpitant fear of the Dictatorship of Labor in Russia!

Meantime, hundreds of thousands of school kiddles in America (not Russia, poor boob) will have no education this winter because of the shortage in space in our school buildings. This with lumber and brick in super-abundance and a drug on the market and with a million building trades workers out of jobs! That is what our industrial order produces. Is it pleasant fruit? Is such an industrial order worthy of salvage? If there can be no better one organised, is life worth living? Oh, the awful price we pay that Labor may be taught its place and the American (sic) plan replace our honest Americanism!

Let's unite on this: The ability of one man, or group of men, to say to another man or group of men, to say to another man or group of men, to say to another man or group of men, to say to another man or group of men, to say to another man or group of men, to say to another want of the order be obeyed, must stop! Slavery must end, once and for all. Lincoln's vision of the future has come true and we are ridden by a Capitalist Oligarchy. Have we the courage to end it by assertion and EXERCISE of ALL OF OUR RIGHTS and by intelligent use of the ballot? One of our rights is the right to join labor unions and bargain through them. That right is denied by certain telegraph and telephone companies in America. Suppose Labor ordered those corporations to withdraw from their business organisations and their officials to resign from their clubs and lodges? That would be "bolshevism." wouldn't it? And what is it we have now?

Meantime, the cost of living soars up

Meantime, the cost of living soars up and up! Food costs increased since last month an average of 5 to 8 percent, according to government statistics. August food costs were 50 to 52 percent higher than August, 1913. In 1913, the writer drew $20 a week—today it's $40. Sixty percent increase over $30 would have made it $48. And then, rents are up 100 to 500 percent. Think it over!

Let's see if the executive board won't give us a "working agreement" with the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the International Typographical Union.

"One thing which Wall street took extreme satisfaction in yesterday," says the Wall Street Journal, referring to a visit paid the Chief Executive by J. P. Morgan with a bunch of advice, "was the evident willingness of President Harding to learn." And we might add that J. P. Morgan is one grand little INSTRUCTOR and that his instructions are usually followed rigidly.

James Russell Lowell must have been speaking to Western Union telegraphers when he wrote:

"They are slaves who dare not be "In the right with two or three."

And he had in mind the emancipated telegraphers who believe in letting the enslaved members of the craft "go hang" when he wrote:

"They are slaves who fear to speak "For the fallen and the weak."

We feverishly await the phillipic editorial denunciation of the steel czars for cutting wages to 27 cents an hour, from the newspapers which so bitterly accused labor of trying to make wages meet increased costs during the war. My reply is: I merely point out the rotten beams, the falling pillars, the foundations of sand. Wiser men than I have given you the remedy and you betray your ignorance by asking it of a mere student and not a master, of economics. My hope is that, out of the materials I gather, some may dare, on their own initiative, to build: that some may dare, out of their own long-dormant brains, to conceive true remedies that will stand the acid test. Only when Labor learns to THINK — and think STRAIGHT—will Labor begin to approximate a condition of Freedom.

TORONTO SPEECH OF HENRY LYNCH

EXPLANATORY—The below address, of about 30 minutes duration, was prepared by me for delivery to the Toronto Convention, through the kind invitation of President Johnson. A slight misunderstanding occurred, after Temporary Chairman, Ex-President after Temporary Chairman, Ex-President Konenkamp introduced me, due to the Ex-President asking me to confine my talk to fifteen minutes. I tried to deliver it under this impression, but was forced to abruptly stop. Brother Konenkamp afterwards stated to me that he agreed to thirty minutes. My hearing being somewhat defective, no doubt the Ex-President's version is correct, as I feel bound to say, that in my experience in Conventions and Committees, with him as Chairman, he has always shown a liberal attitude, as regards freedom of speech and discussion.—H. Lynch.

Mr. Chairman, Sisters and Fellow-Work-

Mr. Chairman, Sisters and Fellow-Work-ers of the Telegraph Craft:—

I am quite aware that it is the custom at the average Craft Union convention to invite Capitalist Politicians, of various shades to address the delegates. These politicians who know nothing of the question of Labor or Working class politicians who know nothing of the question of Labor, or working-class aspirations, and care less, generally fill in by "cracking off" a few silly jokes, engage in the most fulsome flattery, anent the dignity of the workers, their intelligence, the beauty of the women, sometimes kiss the babies, dwell upon the brotherhood of Capital and Labor, but never fail to wind up upon the prime necessity of the workers selecting "Safe and Sane" Labor Leaders to fight their battles.

Now, Mr. Chairman, the sincere Socialist indulges in no such tom-foolery. His duty is never to compromise a principle to make a friend, nor withhold a blow at error lest he make an enemy.

Therefore, I take it, that because of the very fact your President has invited me, of revolutionary principles, to address you, the events of the past ten years has started you thinking seriously and soberly, and that accordingly you are making progress out of the woods.

For one to touch, even casually, upon

For one to touch, even casually, upon all phases of Marxian Political Economy, to which I subscribe, in a short address would be an impossible feat. If I can bring to your ears just a few points, that will enable you to grasp a firm hold of the cable of the Labor Movement, and which we think is absolutely necessary to know, before the working-class can move one inch forward in the right direction, I shall be satisfied. Accordingly, let us take up the question of

WHAT IS THE SOURCE OF WAGES AND PROFITS!

John Smith has $100,000, termed his "Original Accumulation." Smith's family John Smith has $100,000, termed his "Original Accumulation." Smith's family social requirements demand an expenditure of $10,000 per year. He wishes to live without work, and keep his "Original Investment" untouched. He goes to a broker, who has a list of all stock corporations, and seeks the most advantageous investment. He selects and buys stock in a certain Commercial Telegraph Corporation, places his stock under lock and key, and with his family takes a twelve months trip to Europe.

In the plants of the telegraph corporation, in which he now owns stock, are thousands of wage-workers, telegraph, and automatic operators, linemen, electricians, carpenters, clerks, the salaried supervision, etc., whose collective laborpower has produced for Smith, as his share, social wealth to the extent of $15,000. Out of this, Smith's portion to be paid back to the telegraph workers as wages is $5,000.

be paid back to the telegraph workers as wages is $5,000.

Now, Mr. Chairman, is there anyone with the reasoning powers of a child, who will contend that Smith, who knows nothing of the telegraph business, and who may never have been in one of the telegraph plants, had anything to do with the production of the $15,000 worth of new wealth?

And now Mr. Chairman the greatless of new wealth?

And now, Mr. Chairman the question of wages and profits immediately projects a further question,—one of sociological import: the question that is at the bottom of all the world's industrial unrest since the advent of Capitalism. That question is:

THE CLASS-STRUGGLE

That is to say as an illustration, if a workman produces $8.00 worth of wealth per day, and the capitalist keeps $6.00, there are only $2.00 left for the workman. Inversely, if the worker forces his wages from $2.00 to $4.00 the capitalist will get only $4.00, if he further forces it to $6.00 the capitalist will have to get along with $2.00, and finally, if the worker wakes up, and decides to take all he produces,—well, THE CAPITALIST WILL HAVE TO GO TO WORK.

This raging class-struggle in society is the cause of your presence here today in convention. It crops up everywhere, in lockouts and strikes, and is an irresistible conflict that will not down, and must end in the complete subjection or enthronement of the working class.

There is this other important factor, which the Labor Movement must consider, and that is:

THE DEVELOPED MACHINE

Have you considered the tremendous effect the inventive machine has played in all lines of industry? With its thousand-fold increased productive power; its displacing of skilled and unskilled labor, and the chreapening of the wages given back to the machine-attendant wage-slave? In your own industry, the telegraph, the introduction of the Multiplexes, the Morkrums, Barclays, Wheatstones, the application of the wireless on land, the development of the telephone have made tremendous inroads on the original Morse system.

And yet, when you schedule the new machine operative, you do not demand an equality of wage with that of the Morse, but allow the capitalist to pocket the reduction in wages, plus the increased surplus value, concomitant to the increased productivity of the machine. Have you Pressmen ever considered the intensity of your exploitation? Lets see. The scheduled maximum work required of the Commercial Telegraphers in Canada for a day's work is approximately fifty-six hundred words. Through the use of the Phillips Code, which serves the capitalist, as does the inventive machine, you handle in a day's work the press report, which will approximate ten or eleven thousand words, or twice as much. The Capitalist Political Economist grandiloquently asserts the workers are paid in accordance with the work preformed. Do you Pressmen get twice as much pay?

CORRECT AND EFFICIENT FORM OF WORKING-CLASS ORGANI-ZATION

must be identically the same towit, the ONE GREAT INDUSTRIAL UNION, on the Economic field, in co-related industrial unions, merging to an Executive Central unions, merging to an Executive Central unions, merging to an Executive Central unions, and the building up of a Political Party of the working class to constitutionally carry on educational work for the purpose of recouping the Industrial Union, and registering as a barometer at the hustings the rising intelligence of the workers. The Industrial Union to function as a formidable weapon to wrench concessions from the capitalist class, train the workers, and serve as the political and economic structure of future society, when Capitalism shall have run its course.

Accordingly, fellow-workers of the telegraph craft, at the present time, organization of the working class is not so much a matter of physical numbers, blind to their material interests, as it is organization in the head. Truth is one-fold, and unites; error is manifold, and scatters.

ONE BIG TELEGRAPH ORGANIZATION

The world is rapidly advancing by leaps and bounds. Those that do not advance are soon lost and forgotten.

New situations are continually arising and we must positively have intelligent leaders and effective organizations in order to get continual and positive leaders and executive results.

The O. R. T. (Order Railroad Telegraphers) has suddenly come to the front as one of the great labor organizations of the world, but the Commercial Telegraphers' Union has failed to cover the field intended. There are over 350,000 people working for commercial and private telegraph companies entirely unorganized and nothing being done. There are more than 500,000 people working for telephone and telegraph companies partly organized. If all telegraphers and electrical workers were welded into one grand union of over a million members, with capable, effective leaders, and efficiently handled, we would be the most wonderful labor organization in the world, and everyone happy.

Nothing was ever gained without intelligent effort and now that labor has encountered the most powerful and intelli-gent opposition and legal entanglements, it is all the more reason why everyone of us should ponder over the situation long and deeply in order to get results of a successful organization. As now constituted, we have too many different organizations within the field—not pulling together. Duplicate sets of officials, duplicate headquarters, duplicate omenia, duplicate neadquarters, duplicate journals, duplicate insurance organizations, duplicate organizers, etc., etc. This all eats up a lot of hard earned money and does not produce the result it should.

Take the organizers, for instance. If they were trained like up-to-date salesmen, with scientific pre-approach, the approach proper, the demonstration and the close, they would know how to approach prospects, interest and convince them and easily get them in. There is so little money involved and the benefits so great—all would come in and stay in if proparity handled. erly handled.

We could have our own locals, by-laws and autonomy, as at present, but yet pull-ing together, with wide-awake leaders that can get positive results.

All parts of the organization could be properly charted and weak parts looked after and strengthened in an intelligent way. In fact, the innumerable improvements that could be obtained are too numerous for a short article like this.

A SERIOUS AFFRONT.

Victoria, B. C., 10 November, 1921.

To the Editor,

"Commercial Telegraphers' Journal,"

Chicago.

Dear Sir and Brother:

If the Sinn Fein agitators who permeate it the sinn rein agitators who permeate the labor movement in this country did not completely succeed in their nefarious efforts at the C. T. U. A. convention, they may at least boast a partial success, for they have spread their mind-poisoning propaganda across the minutes.

If the delegates at the Convention did not know it, let me say here that the overwhelming majority of Canadians have no sentiment but contempt for the red-handed Irish rebels, and the publication in the convention report of a long resolution expressing sympathy with these savages—even though that resolution was not adopted—is an affront to the Canadian membership. It should be deleted from the record. It is unfortunate that no one seemed to have authority to limit discussion to matters of real interest to telegraphers. est to telegraphers.

I trust you will give this disclaimer the same publicity as the offending resolution, although there is no need to repeat the lavish use of capital letters. Admiral Sims was right. Since Roger Casement was caught trying to betray humanity from a German submarine there are many persons (some of them in the C. T. U. A.) who regard the Sinn Feiners as the scum of the earth. of the earth.

Yours fraternally. W. T. BURFORD (Division 65).

Editor's Note: Brother Burford is under the impression that the Convention indulged in discussion of the Irish resolution. To correct that impression your editor desires to state there was absolutely no discussion on this proposition on the Convention floor. One must bear in mind that such things happen at all conventions and it should be sufficient to state that the introducer of the resolution meant no discourtesy to Canadians.

DEMAND THE LABEL.

Today union men often spend $40 month to destroy unionism where they give $1 a month to build up unionism.

The union men of this country, as a body, spend no less than $1,500,000,000 a year to purchase the necessities of life.

Every dollar of that immense sum that is spent for non-union goods is spent to break down the unions.

When a strike is on, union men all over the country send their contributions to support the strike.

They do all in their power to support their brother unionists when they seem to be in trouble, but the little strike which you aid here or there by contributions is nothing compared with the evil your millions of dollars do in supporting non-union products.

The union label is the symbol of efficiency, of honest endeavor, of a square deal, of industrial peace in the life of the nation. It appeals to the potency of the purchasing power of the toilers, in the elimination of the sweat-shops, of child labor, of prison contract labor and underpaid labor in general. Some of you brothers who have your hip pockets bulging with scab-made tobacco, take heed. It is you I sm talking to. After you clean up and get rid of such trash go and buy yourself a better brand prepared and packed by workers who believe in the same thing that we all believe in, else we would not be discussing these intricacies of mere humanity in a trade union journal. Also put The union label is the symbol of effibe discussing these intricacies of mere manity in a trade union journal. Also put the wife wise to her end of your domestic requirements. Women, as a rule, purchase according to taste and color, regardless of manufacture and quality, but chase according to taste and color, regardless of manufacture and quality, but the blessed things can be corrected once the spirit of their better-half is brought to bear convincingly that it is utterly wrong to pay union dues with one hand and patronize scab labor prostitutes with the other. What we want is consistency. If the workers of this country could only visualize with reasonable horse sense the balance of power in their own hands, could they blame their masters for making honest men walk the streets and highways of a foolish world and beg for a job in even an open shop?

The lack of education, brothers, is our blood-thirsty enemy. We have amongst us those who can feel their needs in rags and tatters, but can see them not when us those who can feel their needs in rags and tatters, but can see them not when the price of three square meals would endow them with a union card, and when honest and sincere adherence to the principles represented by that card would drive every scab, every tramp, every open shop employer, and every renegade who defames America's sacred name by saying that the open shop plan is the American plan, into oblivion.

that the open shop plan is the American plan, into oblivion.

Let's figure this thing for ourselves. Our masters are using midnight oil to keep us from doing so. But Right is Might, and these twin brothers becken to you to come hither, forsake the foolish and fabulous things of life, and get an up-to-date nastehoard in your pocket, and grit and brains enough in your head to demand the union label on everything you buy: Insofar as you have done it unto the least of one of these; even so have ye also helped a scab if your suspenders have not the label. lahel.

The way is so plain, that even a fool need not err therein. But YOU, you poor simp, are willing to eat snow balls and let George do your bit for emancipation.

Respectfully,

UNITED PRESS

(New York State—Canada Circuit)

Vacations are over on the New York state wire. The operators all thoroughly enjoyed their annual rest and recreation and as a result feel greatly refreshed. By way of appreciation they expect to be able to continue the same efficient and capable service they have always rendered in the past.

Our expert and obliging sender, C. C. Smith, generally called "Smithy," was the last of the bunch to get his lay-off and made a visit to his old home in North Carolina. As this is written he very likely is roaming the woods or whipping the streams familiar to his childhood days, probably laying the groundwork for a good fish story when he returns to the city of Hights and shadows. C. W. Ackerman, the electrical engineer and telegrapher extraordinary, occupied Smithy's chair during his absence and did it in an excellent manner.

Jack Raleigh of Oswego did most of the relieving on the circuit.

Pete Brady of Sayre has been laid up with an attack of lumbago. We are all anxious to have him back and hope the report that he will return to duty next week will materialize. Ralph J. Young, recently of Jamestown, is copying the report at Sayre.

(Kansas City—Southwest)
With vacations about ended we are getting back to our regular personnel, with Bro. J. K. Dale wiggling and waggling at Salina, H. L. Clemons at Arkansas City, relieving L. E. Conrad who has been carrying the hod at the latter place for a month and a half. Bro. Blair is still at Blackwell and our old friend Jack Bradshaw continues in the chicken business at Tulsa watching developments of the K. K.

shaw continues in the chicken business at Tulsa watching developments of the K. K. K.

Bro. "Dan" Daniel is still with us at K. C. K. but you couldn't tell it if you didn't know it as he is still—looking for a house. Don't let them get you mixed with house prowlers, Dan. Brother Bill Young flew north again and has been so-journing at Sapulpa. Sapulpa may be alright, Bill, but I didn't think so when I got ditched there 22 years ago while trying to beat it back to papa.

There's a lot of the other boys I might humorous to say about them now and I know they will not feel slighted.

It is very interesting although not surprising to read about H. S. Muggeridge, erstwhile A. P. "whip," scabbing on the Bennett strikers. He impressed me as being capable of just that when I knew him as a "T. D. R." at Kansas City. I know several other "T. D. R.'s' who are just as bad if not worse.

There are plenty of operators connected with the A. P. whose sympathics with unionism are strong enough to overbalance the few who seem to have things their own way, if they would just brace up and make a fight of it. If they could only realise what a miserable situation exists with the A. P. continuing a place of refuge for the scabs who can not work with white men, I hardly think they could remain in their present state of indifference. ference..

If the A. P. operators won't do their duty, it behooves us to keep up our good performance in a way that will drive the A. P. off the map. They are slipping fast and all we need is a little more soap.

If our loyalty to the Union is what it should be, then we will also be loyal to those who recognize us as a Union. Working hand in hand to the limit of co-operation with our employers we will build up a prestige that will banish the opposition into insignificance and prove to the world that it pays to treat fair with Union operators.

Union operators.

We can do this because the operators of the A. P. who are indifferent to the Union are also indifferent to their employers' interests.

ployers' interests.

In this connection I want to point to Bro. W. E. Baugh of San Antonio as an example. He is one of our finest specimens of a real, genuine true blue union telegrapher, always one of the first to lend a hand in any move for the good of the order. All members of this circuit have witnessed his splendid work during the flood. His co-operation in this emergency did more to herald the banner of our system throughout the land than has been seen for many a day. We're sure proud of Bro. Baugh and would have more like him. like him.

"Attorney General" Daugherty is back on the job at K. P. after having spent a pleasant two weeks' vacation, part of which was enjoyed at Topeka during the "colored" Knights of Pythias conclave. "Ed." next time you go let's know and we'll have the Kansas City "colored jazz orchestra" accompany you.

Bro. "Clem," who has been relieving Bro. Dale at "SI." will report at "AK" Monday where he will relieve Conrad who has been filling in for Bro. Wright, Wright having taken a ninety day L. O. A.

The boys on the southwest circuit are

The boys on the southwest circuit are all interested in the Bennett strike. It seems that this strike is being prolonged just a little owing to the fact that the "scabs" are not all dead yet. We want it understood that the southwest circuit stands ready to back 100 percent any movement that our leaders wish to inaugurate in support of our brothers "in arms" in this critical situation.

We have "listened in" at the conversation recently with regard to the latest invention along the automatic line. It has been said the machine recently installed is an absolute success and that its possibilities as a supplanting medium for the "Morse" is generally accepted. Let's have some one acquainted with operation nave some one acquainted with operation of this mechanical phenomena explain through the columns of the journal just what the boys on the line may expect "sooner or later" from this instrument.

The final show down between the factions fighting for the "open shop" and those upholding the traditions of our forefathers for justice and equity for the producers is at hand; let's square our shoulders and be ready for the combat.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

(Ohio State-West)

The International's biggest and finest circuit has been split, both sides continuing in operation from Cleveland. On the East circuit, ten clients are served; on the West circuit, ten.

Al Finch, late of the Associated Press, formerly with the I. N. S. at Chicago, is the new sender at Cleveland. Finch also was appointed chief operator of the Cleveland circuits, relieving Brother H. R. Mc-Mahon, who continues as sender on the West wire.

West wire.

As a press sender, McMahon is the peer of any on this side of the pond. He has been a very important cog in the machine that has made the I. N. S. Ohio state report preferable to an increasing circle of important newspapers. No combination of circumstances ever caused him to indulge in an outbreak of temper or sulking; at all times, he has kept himself in condition to keep a continual, rapid, perfect stream of Morse flowing over the circuit. As the Ohio State circuit grew—with consequent increasing "drag" on the circuit, more wire trouble and additional trouble in maintaining a steady pace, McMahon continued to deliver the goods, the word count exceeding that on any other press circuit in Ohio, despite handicaps. He isn't dead yet, as these wild flowers would indicate, but he ought to be by all physical law.

With the Ohio circuit split, the daily

With the Ohio circuit split, the daily word count has increased and the trials of the senders vastly decreased. This means more and more clients for the I. N. S. in this territory. And in the big increase in "prosperity," the pioneers who made it possible—the telegraphers, bureau managers and correspondents—must not be forgotten.

bureau managers and correspondents—must not be forgotten.
On the East circuit are Canton, A. H. Wilhelm; Akron, J. M. Yankee; East Liverpool, Fred Lewton; Youngstown, W. R. Peck; Wheeling, Earl Schultheis; Steubenville, E. L. Keith; Ashland, Ky., Loy Allen; Ironton, E. F. Mulligan; Huntington, Fred Manchester; Marletta, Riches Graber

That Bro's, Finch and McMahon are pitching red-hot ball from "D. R." "Red-hot" is absolutely correct.

That a new face appeared at D. R. re-ntly—a Mr. Salisbury—ex broker, who transmitted to un'n's some.

That news is dad-bob scarce this month because we are all too busy to commit any crime or anything.

That I. N. S. had 'em all down and gaping on the Series handling.

That I. N. S. efficiency has reached that stage where praise bores us.

That I will see you in 80 days-if I'm out.

Although we have been silent for some time, there have been very few changes on the "Down Home" circuit.

We are gradually spreading out, having added Norfolk, Durham and Jacksonville to our list during the past few months.

With Brothers Carl Woolley and Milt Eglin on the sending side, the Washington-South lines up as follows: Watson, Richmond; Landers, Norfolk; MacManus, Roanoke; Jones, Durham; Artie Shields, Atlanta, and Cliff Landers, Jacksonville.

A certain young man, a mighty fine Yel-

A certain young man, a mighty fine fel-A certain young man, a mighty fine fellow, too, was let out recently by an open shop concern for being loyal to his personal friends. This boy was one of the "fortunates" to lose out when a bureau was "decooterized." He happened to have a few friends with the union shop concerns and immediately got in touch with one of them. Result—A job with a union shop concern. Why? Because he had a card at the time he was let out. Does it pay to belong to the Union?

We must not allow oursalves to let we must not allow ourselves to let down in the Associated Press organization campaign. Now the results of our latest meeting with the managements of the scheduled press associations are fresh in the minds of all leased wire telegraphers and most of them realize that if we had failed every operator in that field would have quickly suffered also. Our recent experience is an unanswerable argument for organization but we must not let it get cold. Go after them, now.

not let it get cold. Go after them, now. Not to be outdone by the press divisions of the C. T. U. A., the A. W. E., has won itself a brilliant victory. Meeting with Western Union officials recently, the company unanimously and enthusiastically agreed to abolition of the bonus. We tremble to think what might have happened to the poor old "company" had its desires gone centrary te those of the "committee."

To all scheduled operators: Sentiment is growing in favor of increasing the initiation fee in Universal Service, I. N. S., and U. P., divisions. Some members also favor increasing the dues.

I am in favor of increasing the initiation fee to a reasonable figure. As to increasing the dues, this is a question that should be debated from every angle. Ordinarily, an initiation fee is paid but once, but dues are paid every six months or every year, as the case may be. Eut the payment of dues is a constant financial obligation on a member. In my opinion-and I believe this opinion is generally concurred in by members—the dues should not be increased to the extent that they would be burdensome or unreasonable.

I have always been in favor of placing the initiation fee at such a figure anat a member would not be so eager to drop his membership after he left the service of a unionized concern, because if he desired to enter such a service again he would have to pay this initiation fee again. There are cases on record where operators have had no interest in the C. T. U. A., until they were confronted with the condition where they had to take out a card in order to obtain a position with a unionized news service. Then they were willing to get a card in order to get a job. Finally, they resign from a unionized service and go to work for a concern where they are not required to have a card. Then they lose all interest in the C. T. U. A., and drop their membership. These sort of men are not union men at heart. They are not willing to financially support the union of their craft until they are compelled to, in order to get a job. 1ob.

When operators of this character leave the employ of a unionized news service and drop their membership if they should ever again desire to enter the employ of a unionized service they should not only be made to pay another initiation fee but also all back dues.

also all back dues.

Operators who are sincere union men and are working for a unionized service support the union morally and financially right along. Therefore, an indifferent, unconcerned, uninterested slacker should not be allowed to go to work on a unionized job taking out a card at a bargain counter price simply for the purpose of getting the job and reap the benefits for which sincere union men have been expending their money year in and year out supporting the union and financing schedule committees, without being heavily penalized. penalized.

Another important subject that should be considered is in cases where operators who are members of the General Asembly go to work for a unionized news service. In instances of this kind General Assembly members should be required to pay the difference between the initiation fee and dues in the General Assembly and the initiation fee and dues in a unionized news service. news service.

In cases where an operator working in a division whose initiation fee and dues are lower than those in another division in which he may go to work he should be made to pay the difference. Initiation fee and dues in the A. P. division are the same as the rates in the General Assembly. Hence, if an A. P., operator who is a member of the union, should go to work in one of the unionized news service divisions, he should be made to pay the difference in initiation fee and dues.

Saturday night only operators should be required to join the General Assembly. As they work only one night a week this would be fair play to them. In addition to this they cannot be considered as regular employes. They come under the classification of extra employes. No operator who is not regularly employed six or seven nights a week should be allowed to become a member of a particular division. If an operator who only works one night a week is allowed to become a member of a particular division this makes him a full fledged member of that division and this gives him a voice and a vote in its affairs. I do not believe in giving this class of operators a voice and a vote in a division. It is a dangerous thing. He could vote for a strike, knowing that he already had a regular outside job, and that it would not make any very great difference with him no matter how won or lost he would still have his outside job. Job.

Neither do I believe in permitting an operator to belong to a division unless he is actually employed in that division as a regular operator. I know of one instance where an operator belonged to a unionized news service division in which he positively was not employed and had not been employed for several years. Such business as this is not only absurd but it is unconstitutional. When an operator leaves the employ of a particular division he should be required to transfer to the General Assembly or to any other division in which he might become employed. For instance, an operator belonging to a division in which he was not employed could vote for a strike, knowing that he would not be involved and that it would make no difference with him whether the strike was won or lost.

All of the particular points I have was won or lost.

All of the particular points I have made should be gone over thoroughly, intelligently discussed and after a decision is reached as to just what should be done, such decision should be incorporated in the by-laws of the various unionized press divisions and strictly enforced.

The "A. P. Local Notes" in the August Journal were certainly refreshing. Heretofore, they've been conspicuous by their absence. The boy who wrote the Pacific Coast notes is a genius; we'll call him a criminal if he fails to come back again.

And what's the idea, anyway, about neglecting to send in local notes? The A. P. membership is constantly growing. Every A. P. member should forget the habit of "letting George do it" and send in some notes to the Journal every month. That's one of the chief reasons for the Journal's existence. And when you feel good after reading the news from your home town or old circuit, think about the fellows scattered over the country who'd like to hear from YOUR circuit. Get busy.

We are glad to note that an afternoon daily in Havana is now taking the A. P. That looks encouraging. Time was when papers down there using the A. P. came out at night.

We received a copy of the wage and working schedules signed by the C. T. U. A. with the various press associations in the United States and Canada. Strange to say, out of all these associations, only the A. P. is non-union. Why? It certainly isn't the fault of the Associated Press.

WORTHY AIMS OF THE COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS UNION

The Commercial Telegraphers Union of America was organized, and is being maintained, for the promotion of the best social, economic and fraternal interests of commercial telegraphers.

Its membership considers it the only labor union capable of consistently representing the best interests of commercial telegraphers.

So believing, and basing such conviction upon its past achievements and need for future protection, it urges all telegraphers eligible for membership to investigate its record in the hope they will realize its merits and the advisability of becoming members of a labor union established for their special protection.

A FEW DON'TS

Don't condemn the labor movement because you know of "objectionable features." Every man and every human institution has some imperfections.

Don't "wait for others." Others are waiting for you. Some must be among the first—why not you?

Don't forget that the more bitterly the employer opposes labor unions, the more the employe should support them. There's a financial reason. Think it over.

Don't shirk the moral obligation to do all you can to uphold the dignity of our occupation—to elevate the standard of our living.

Don't be blind to your own interests; unionism helps all workingmen, all society, the home and state.

Don't let so-called "independence" prevent you from being unselfish. We are all dependent on someone or something. "No man stands alone." Let's get closer together.

Don't forget that bricklayers, plasterers, tinsmiths, stonecutters and in some places, hodcarriers, receive more pay than telegraphers, and don't forget the reason—strong organization.

Don't say "I got along without a union for 5 (or 55) years it is useless to me; unions can't accomplish their purpose." They do-Over seven million union men say so!

The Secrets of the Candler System Will Make YOU A MASTER Telegrapher

This world-famed system has helped thousands of men and women to become "Top-notchers" in the telegraphic profession. From every section of the United States and Canada, from England, Ireland, Wales, Scotland, Australia, Central and South America—in fact from all parts of the civilized world, come thousands of letters similar to this:

"Before taking the Candler System, telegraphing was a burden, now it is a pleasure. After 30 years, am a better operator than I ever was, and 50 per cent more efficient in every way. Would not take $1,000 for benefits received. I heartly recommend the system to everyone who desires efficiency and good health." W. A. Spriggs, Agent and Operator, C. M. & St. P., Woonsocket, S. D.

"I was telegraphing over 60 years ago. I have come in personal contact with some of the premier telegraphers of every decade. So far, I have seen nothing that approaches in point of efficiency to the telegrapher, the benefits which may be derived from The Candler System, which I have gone over carefully. Any operator will do well to look into its merits." J. B. Taltavall, Editor Tel. & Tel. Age., New York City.

Results Are Guaranteed

The Candler System is endorsed by Doctors, Managers, Dispatchers, Railroad, Press and Commercial Operators all over the world. It is the only system known to science that completely eliminates operator's paralysis and writer's cramp—making the arm stronger and faster than ever before. It enables you to receive faster, and turn out better copy with Pen or Mill with less effort. After you have taken the Candler System, the faster they "come at you" the better you'll like it. In addition to this, the system will make you strong, vigorous, energetic. It has never failed to do all this, and more. WE GUARANTEE it to do as we say.

We don't know which of these original features are responsible for the quick success of our CUSHION-KEY as opinions seem to be equally divided on the rubber cushion shock absorber, that prevents jolts and jars on the nerves; the adjustable lever, that affords a change of position, as the fingers commence to tire; the triple spring vibrator, with its great carrying capacity, or its compact and beautiful construction.

WAGE REDUCTIONS RESISTED BY C. T. U. A. IN 1921

Frank B. Powers

The year just closing, a dull and almost panicky period in the industrial history of the world, marks the successful resistance of all wage reductions by the C. T. U. A. Industrial barons have been in a feverish anxiety to see wage workers reduced to pre-war levels (of wages) and pre-historic levels of living standards. In many cases they have been successful, despite the infinitesimal reduction in the cost of living. They have not been successful with this organization.

On innumerable occasions during the past year the C. T. U. A. has faced onslaughts on our members, any one of which, if successful, would have meant not less than $5.00 per week sliced from every member's pay envelope.

While the brunt of the fight has been borne by the Western Broker Division, the immediate rally to their aid by all other divisions in the United States and Canada plainly showed that every member realized fully what it would mean to the entire membership if an entering wedge was inserted at any point in our defenses.

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that if ONE reduction had been accepted—whether in the Western Broker Division, the Press Divisions or in Canada—EVERY member, especially those working leased wires—would be out not less than $5.00 per week for from three to five months.

And yet there are some who complain about paying $8.00 in assessments for a defense fund! They have profited from $60.00 to $125.00—and have the profits in their jeans—yet they must be prodded to pay the $8.00!

What are we to say of the Associated Press non-members and broker nons who value to pay even one copper for their benefits?

LEASED WIRE ASSESSMENT TERMINATED

In Force Eight Weeks

The Leased Wire Assessment of $1.00 per week levied by the Toronto Convention, effective October 15th, has been terminated with the week ending December 3rd, after having been in force exactly eight weeks.

This assessment was levied against leased wire members only.

The Bennett strike situation remains unchanged. Bennett has suffered heavily in loss of business, but continues adamant in his unreasonable attitude. He will not relinquish his un-American position of challenging the right of his telegraphers to join a trades union. They must be his serfs or they cannot work for him. Our men, of course, refuse to be chattels and Bennett has had to recruit spineless "goofs" who were in some cases promised a membership on the Chicago Board of Trade as recompense for betraying their fellow workers. Naturally, these promises were not made in good faith and the hopeful recipients of glittering assurance of fame and fortune are counting over and over their pieces of silver and wondering if their manhood was not sold too cheaply.

Out of 43 men who went out on strike against Bennett August 24th, all but 10 have been placed in other positions. A strike benefit of $25.00 per week has been paid for over three months. THIS IS THE HIGHEST STRIKE BENEFIT EVER PAID FOR THIS LENGTH OF TIME BY ANY TRADES UNION.

The Bennett strike has done immeasurable good in stalling off aggression from other hostile sources. Bennett's severe punishment in dollars and cents has been carefully noted by broker employers.

We always punish our enemies when forced to fight and assist our friends who deal with us as men.

The following letter, terminating the assessment was sent all leased wire members on November 28th:

ALL LEASED WIRE MEMBERS. GREETING:

The $1.00 per week assessment, levied on all leased wire members for an indefinite period by the General Assembly at Toronto, is hereby ordered terminated as of December 3rd, 1921.

The assessment was effective October 15th (the first payment being due on that date) and its termination on December 3rd means that $8.00 is due from every leased wire member.

Many members have already paid up for the entire assessment period of eight weeks. Those members who have paid only in part or not all should now make it their imperative duty to discharge this obligation and keep in good standing.

REMIT TO YOUR GENERAL SECRETARY-TREASURER IMMEDIATELY.

A full accounting of receipts and disbursements will be printed as soon as the respective divisions report their collections have all been made.

The status of the Bennett strike remains unchanged. The strike roster has been relieved somewhat and a modified strike benefit can be paid the remaining strikers for some time to come, after all assessments have been collected.

A receipt in full will be mailed by your General Secretary-Treasurer as soon as you pay your $8.00.

PAY UP NOW AND HELP SAVE TIME AND POSTAGE!

Thanking you for prompt co-operation in this worthy work, we remain, Fraternally yours,

PAUL F. SCHNUR, Acting International President.

FRANK B. POWERS, International Secretary-Treasurer.

SOUTHERN BROKERS TO FORM DIVISION

With the active aid and encouragement of the Eastern Broker Division and the Western Broker Division, operators employed by Southern wire houses are engaged in organizing a new division. E. B. Whittlesey, manager of Rose & Son, a house with southern wires; A. E. Mackorell of the W. B. D., now with Sugarman & Co., Atlanta, and R. A. Markwalter of Charlotte, N. C., are the active spirits in getting things started on a solid foundation.

Much credit is due the two older broker divisions in whole-heartedly waiving jurisdiction in the South. General Secretary-Treasurer J. A. Hickey of New York expresses the views of both divisions aptly by saying that the Southerners have only to command and they will receive all the aid and co-operation they want. Both divisions have turned over all their members in the South to the new unit.

The wonderful progress made by the Eastern, Western and New England Broker Divisions will be an inspiring example for the Southerners to live up to, but with such experienced men in the game as Mackorell and Markwalter at the helm, things will be popping very shortly in the South.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON IMPROVED

International President Roscoe H. Johnson, who has been seriously ill with stomach trouble, has improved in health sufficiently to leave the Norwegian-American Hospital. He was confined there one month and narrowly scaped a series of operations. He has been ordered by his physician to continue the treatment at home for another two weeks and take a complete rest for at least a month. Friends may address him at his home, 1727 North Major Avenue, Chicago.

WAGES ARE LOWER THAN IN 1890

Wages have decreased in the past thirty years.

They have also decreased since 1915.

Rabid employers and their still more rabid hirelings—who rave about the necessity of wages coming down before anything else can come down—should give heed to the conclusions reached by Professor Paul H. Douglas, of the University of Chicago, and Frances Lamberson. These men have made a careful study of the question and published their findings in The American Economic Review for September.

Wages-real wages-consist of what the money wages will buy.

If you got $2.00 a day in 1890, and you get $4.00 a day now—and your $2.00 would buy more of the average necessities of life in 1890 than your $4.00 will buy now—then you were getting higher wages when you then got $2.00 than you are now when you get $4.00.

The rabid personages who write and spout about high wages conveniently ignore this fact. They proclaim that wages have increased in dollars and cents—which is true—and they try to put over the conclusion that wages have thereby increased in fact—which is false.

The investigators above mentioned have exposed this falsehood.

Their investigations cover the period from 1890 to 1918. In 1918, wages, as measured by the only true measure, their purchasing power—were lower than in 1890. They were also lower than in 1915. As even the money wages now are considerably lower than in 1918, whereas the cost of living has receded but little, it follows that the wages received by the workers in 1921 are lower than those received by the workers in 1890 and in 1915.

This means, of course, that a worker's family cannot live as well as it could in those former years. It cannot buy as large a quantity of the things needful.

Yet—as soon as they had bilked the farmers out of six billions of dollars by reducing the prices of farm products—the financial and industrial overlords of this country began to beat down wages—and let profits remain sky high.

It is outrageously unjust.

A WELCOME TO NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS

Our Constitution calls for annual election of officers by all subordinate units in the month of December. Perhaps by the time this Journal is received the new officers for 1922 will have been installed. It may be said that with their installation into office the responsibility of those elected really commences, and the responsibility of those who have elected them likewise commences, in that they should give their wholehearted support to the officers they have chosen, giving them help and encouragement in the carrying out of any program which may be mapped out by the newly elected officers for the further perpetuation of the objects of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

It has been said that an organization is made or unmade by the subordinate officers. The persistence and hard work of our local officers can never be extolled too highly. At the same time the membership must never forget that the responsibility is equally divided. Don't fail to back to the fullest extent your officers, whether newly elected or re-elected.

Fight against inertia, promote social gatherings, entertainments, etc. Start two organization "teams" out for non-members, with a suitable reward or prize for the best "team." Above all, let everyone set himself or herself the immediate task of bringing ONE non-member into the organization.

Be up and at 'em all the time. Organization never was so all-important as now.

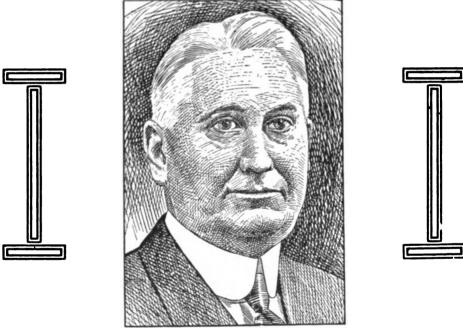

Make 1922 better than 1921—the year of the best convention we have ever had!

A NEW RICHMOND IN THE FINANCIAL FIELD

"Some succeed by great talent, some by high connections, some by miracle, but the majority by commencing without a shilling."

Two years ago the telegraph world was thrown into a paroxysm of wonderment by the meteoric rise to financial power of a former knight of the telegraph key—John F. MacMasters—and it is needless to say that the eyes of that world have been focused upon his sensational exploits in the great trading marts of the country ever since. His sudden flashing across the firmament of American finance came as a great surprise to his friends who, having lost sight of him for many years, were of the belief that he was a still struggling student in the University of Hard Knocks, an institution within whose confines languish many telegraphers and from which few matriculate.

John F. MacMasters

Jack MacMasters will always be remembered with appreciation by the boys in old "16" in New York for what he did for them in 1907. During those squally days and for years afterwards Jack could always be depended on to chip in for the rent, for a member out of luck, or for anything else that required sacrifice or good union fellowship.

"Jack," as he is fondly called, was born in Pennsylvania a trifle over half a century ago, and when he was three years of age the family, attracted by the pioneer atmosphere of the West and the greater freedom which the life afforded, migrated to a Wisconsin farm. However interesting it might be to delve into the visions and plans of the Badger State farmer boy before his entrance into the brokerage business over a quarter of a century ago, we must necessarily pass over these years briefly. "Jack," having mastered the intricacies of the telegraph on a Wisconsin railroad, with an indomitable spirit "hit the grit" and "swung under" as an itinerant journeyman telegrapher in his quest for the kaleseed. In his long swings about the telegraph circle MacMasters endeared himself to hosts of his contemporaries. In him they recognized a man of noble impulses, absolutely unselfish and true blue—withal a striking personality who was always willing to grant his fellows better than a 50-50 split on any proposition.

MacMasters proved a veritable "rolling stone" for many years, and it was not until he cast anchor in Wall Street that he really "found" himself. He was not long in realizing that he possessed a natural aptitude for finance and the activities of the stock market. Instead of leaving his previous broad and varied business experiences behind, to be gradually forgotten, Mr. MacMasters at once determined to utilize the lessons which he had learned in the U. of H. K., and applied them with ever-growing success to the brokerage business. In the more recent past he was either directly connected with or acted in the capacity of adviser in the organization and upbuilding of several large financial institutions, and his efforts have done much to place every phase of the business on a higher plane.

Finally—or, to be more specific, early in 1919, Mr. MacMasters felt the call to crystallize his ideas under his own direction. This resulted in the establishment of the firm of R. H. MacMasters & Co. in September, 1919, for, while the elder MacMasters took, and is now taking, an active interest in the broad policies of the business, he, possessing the characteristics of all far-sighted executives, has avoided the handicapping of those in whose hands he had placed the organization. Instead of becoming a partner, Roy H. MacMasters, his son, was selected as head of the business.

At present the firm is one of the most important on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. The writer is perfectly safe in saying that it pays as high a scale of wages to its telegraph staff as any firm in either Wall Street or La Salle Street.

The first office was naturally located in New York, but the MacMasters early realized the possibilities of Chicago, and a branch was opened in the Midwest metropolis in March, 1920. Before long the demands of the public were heeded by the opening of an office in Milwaukee, where "Jack" MacMasters is so well known. In rapid succession branches have been opened in New Haven, Hartford, Richmond, Petersburg and Pittsburgh, all of which are connected by a direct private wire system. The firm's activities, therefore, not only are not confined to New York, but extend through New England, the Middle West and the South.

MacMasters is noted among his intimates for his innate modesty. A user of vigorous rhetoric and a veritable lion when driving his arguments home to his associates in the Street, he is far more bashful than a school boy delivering his first essay when it comes to making addresses on convention floors. Asked to make a talk before a massmeeting of the W. B. D. he took refuge behind the fact that his reputation as a "speechless orator" would not admit of his appearance. J. F. believes in the more elaborate mode of speechifying that has to do with titillating the auditory canals of the ears of his employes by enunciating deft words of praise, and adding that next week's salary envelope will bear a token of his deep appreciation of their fealty to him.

Nine men out of every ten who have been transplanted from the telegraph fold to more lucrative fields of endeavor have lost all interest in their former fellows. Not so with MacMasters. "Jack" would wear the same size Stetson if he possessed the entire world. The more power to the gray matter that lies under the snow-white thatch of this new Richmond in the financial field. May his rosy physiognomy never lose its famed ruddiness nor its perennial smile.

WORLD'S LARGEST WIRELESS STATION

The world's largest and most powerful wireless station, designed and built by the Radio Corporation of America, was formally opened at Rocky Point, Long Island, N. Y., on November 5th.

The world's largest and most powers, wireless station, designed and built by the Radio Corporation of America, was formally opened at Rocky Point, Long Island, N. Y., on November 5th.

The new station is known as RADIO CENTRAL and has an operating radius that will reach all countries in the world. This super-station is situated at Rocky Point (seven miles east of Port Jefferson) on the northern shore of Long Island, seventy miles from New York City. The stations its covers 6,400 acres, or 10 square miles. The construction of Radio Central began July, 1920, and the first test signals were sent in October, 1921, or a little more than a year; record in itself, when one considers the great amount of work accomplished. Eighteen hundred tons of structural steel were used to erect the first twelve towers, each tower employing approximately 150 tons. Each tower is 410 feet in over-all height and the cross arm or bridge supporting the antenna wires at the top is 160 feet long. Eighty-two hundred tons of concrete were employed for the foundations of twelve towers, the base of each tower leg being sunk nine feet below the ground, with a total base area of 360 square feet.

The distance between two adjacent towers is 1,250 feet, or nearly three miles, from the first to the twelfth tower. Each antenna consists of sixteen silicon bronze cables 3/6 inch in diameter stretched horizontally from tower to tower. In all, fifty miles of this cable has been used for the first two antenna systems. The ground system for both antenna consist of 180 feet by 60 feet and accommodates two 200 K. W. high frequency transmitting anternators with auxiliaries and equipment. A sending speed of 100 words per minute is at present possible with the use of each transmitting unit at Radio Central to prove the set of 180 feet and accommodates two 200 K. W. high frequency transmitting capacity of 200 words per minute for the two completed units. The erection of additional antenna units forming the spokes of the huge wheel and further improvements, whic tuning coils, etc. were accomplished by the General Electric Company. The con-struction contract for Radio Central was executed by the J. G. White Engineering Corporation of New York, under the direction of the engineers of the Radio Corporation of America. The 23,000-volt transmission line was built from Port Jefporation of America. The $3,000-volt transmission line was built from Port Jefferson to the station, a distance of seven miles, by the Long Island Lighting Company; the electrical power being generated at that company's Northport plant. There are no radio operators at Radio Central; the actual transmission taking place by remote control from the Central Traffic Office at 64 Broad street, New York City. The receiving station working in conjunction with Radio Central is located at Riverhead, L. I., sixteen miles away. No operators are located here, for the distant signals are first received by radio, automatically transferred to wire lines and received at audible tones at the Central Traffic Office, New York City. The action is simultaneous from the time the New York. New York.

The final installation at Radio Central will comprise twelve antenna units supported by 72 towers, forming, so to speak, the spokes of a glant wheel nearly thrae miles in diameter. Ten high frequency alternators will be employed which in total will give a power output of 2,000 kilowatts, or 2,700 horsepower. The electrical force thus brought into play at Radio Central permits the realization of the vision of communication engineers to the vision of communication engineers to transmit messages to all points of the world from a single centrally located source.

HITTING THE KEYS

Which expends the greater amount of physical energy in the course of a day's work, coal heaver or typist? Here is the answer:

The man with bulging biceps during an eight-hour shift transfers from the bin to the firebox 4,000 pounds of coal, moving it a distance of eight feet. To this must be added the weight of his shovel, which travels 16 feet each round trip, or 200 times. To move the coal requires 32.000 foot-pounds of energy, and the handling of the shovel takes 12,800 foot-pounds, or a total of 44,800 foot-pounds of energy. energy.

Each time the typist strikes a key he or she exerts a force of about five ounces, moved one inch. With an average of five moved one inch. With an average of five letters to the word, therefore, he expends on each word written energy amounting to 25 ounce-inches, which totals, at his average working speed, 1,250 ounce-inches per minute for key-striking. On every tenth word the line spacer must be used, and the carriage returned, requiring two foot-pounds of force, or 10 foot-pounds per minute for carriage and line shifting, making a total of approximately 16 footmaking a total of approximately 16 foot-pounds of energy per minute for his work, or 960 foot-pounds per hour, or 7,680 foot-pounds of energy per day.

In other words, he expends only about one-sixth as much physical energy on his day's work as does the coal heaver, but his expenditure of nervous energy is his expenditure of nervous energy is much greater. His expenditure of physical energy would, however, considerably exceed that of many men engaged in the lighter manual occupations.

Editor's note: Some statistician figure out the foot-pounds of energy expended by a fast broker, press or commercial sender. -Exchange.

The Strong Right Arm

BY COURTERY OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATIONIST

A CHRISTMAS STORY, NOT QUITE SO MERRY

FROM THE AMERICAN FEDERATIONIST

It is written that once a great many centuries ago a powerful monarch refused to be convinced when there was written upon the wall of his banquet chamber words which meant: "Weighed in the balance and found wanting." The words were a warning, but Nebuchadnezzar failed to comprehend. History is filled with the records of monarchs who lacked the ability to heed the warning of rising resentment against oppression and cruelty.

These monarchs have passed away and most of the oppressions and cruelties for which they stood have passed with them.

The impounding of men and women in slavery has been abolished.

The right of barons to command the unpaid services of hordes of human beings has been abolished.

States no more make laws forbidding the increase of wages.

The right to organize is no longer denied by law.

The right of kings to enforce obedience to laws in the making of which there has been no popular voice has been abolished.

But though progress has been great, not all oppression and cruelty has been abolished.

One of the most amazing examples of arbitrary action remaining to mar the democracy of our day is the injunction.

The injunction is an order issued by a judge. It is the modern equivalent of the old royal command. The judge commands and he punishes for disobedience of the command. He lays down the law, fixes the punishment for its violation and then executes the sentence.

The principle that is involved when a judge issues an injunction is exactly the same principle that was involved when a king issued a decree.

It is almost possible to envision the war chariots, the fan-weaving court attendants, the mercenary soldiery of the ancient courts of medieval ages.

There is no difference in principle between the issuance of an injunction by a judge in a court room in New York or Washington or Indianapolis and the handing down of a decree in the now demolished courts of Solomon or Nero or Wilhelm.

In each case representative government is absent, absolutism is present and the people are ordered in their conduct by an unauthorized autocrat.

When the Clayton law was enacted it was believed the day of the injunction in industrial disputes was past. That law provided that no more such injunctions should be issued.

The president, in signing the act, declared in effect that certain judges had so conducted themselves in violation of then existing law that it was necessary for them again to be explicitly told where their powers ended and that he was glad to sign a bill that would tell them.

The Clayton Act told the judges where to stop, but they have manifested as little regard for the law of the land as autocrats customarily manifest.

Recently the business of issuing injunctions has been brisk. In the past two months some notably sweeping injunctions have been issued. Judges are getting more ruthless. They are coming to have a more sweeping disregard of the law.

The false position of the injunction judges is clear to all persons who understand the law, but it is proven doubly by the court system itself. Where one judge will grant an injunction another judge, acting in a similar case, will deny an injunction. There is no uniformity of court conduct. This proves that the issuance of an injunction in an industrial dispute is a matter of personal preference with the judge. If he hates labor, if he feels and thinks like an autocrat, if he is irritable, he issues an injunction. So it was with Nero. He had a blue evening and went out and burned Rome.

So flagrant has been the recent violation of law by judges that Artist Baer, the famous congressman-cartoonist, has been moved to express with his pen a very telling sermon on the subject for this Christmas edition.

The wolfish injunction judge, the social poison which the injunction represents and is, and the strong arm of the unions of the workers reaching out in protection of the workers. Mr. Baer has told the story. It isn't a pretty Christmas story, but where the facts of life are hard it is not the business of thoughtful men and women to see only roses and spangles.

The American Federation of Labor has declared that the unlawful injunction must be resisted. That is fundamental doctrine. Men who follow that doctrine will comport themselves in a manner fitting them to the company of the world's champions of freedom. Resistance to tyranny is ever a glorious business. Because of it we have freedom and democracy and opportunity. These things must not perish and to prevent that the injunction must go. The great, vibrant voice of freedom proclaims the death sentence of the unlawful writ of injunction. Judicial tyrants shall not destroy that which freedom's heroes have established!

THE OLD MANAGER SPEAKS

By Berton Braley.

I've handled a pick and a shovel,
I've sat at a bench in my time,
I've done heavy work in the heat and the murk,

I've known all the sweat and the grime;
And so, when some frosty-eyed expert
Talks "Labor" as if it was coal,
"A commodity"—well, I just choke for a spell

Before I regain my control.

Plague take all this dope economic
That plats human toil in its charts,
I tell you that "Labor's" your friends and your neighbors, It's Folks that have bodies and hearts It's fathers and brothers and husbands With mothers and sweethearts as and wives, Who love and who hate and who dream and who wait, It's real people living their lives.

Now maybe I'm moss-backed and rusty, But here's how it lines up to me; Statistics will aid in the plans you have made

They're useful to quite a degree,
But all of your lore scientific
Will fall down again and again,
Unless in your brain this one fact you retain,
That "Labor" means flesh-and-blood

In brief, it's a problem that's Human, No soulless "Commodity" stuff, And the very best plan I have happened to scan to scan

Is just to be human enough;
And when it is finally settled
(I fear I won't be here by then)
It won't be by art of a book or a chart,
But by Men dealing fairly with Men.

LOST-ONE WEE DOT

That much derided telegrapher who brought on himself the laughter of his guild by translating "Home, Sweet Home" into "Hog Swat Hog" in the copying of a loving husband's message to wifie has obviously found a place on the Cable staff. If not, he must have a double upon whom to fasten a bull that has shaken with gusty laughter not only the operators but the masses of England. A dot is such a baby—yet sometimes its loss makes a mountain of mischief! This time it dropped out of a press message filed at Brisbane for a London news agency. As copied at its destination, the skeletonized dispatch was in four words:

"Governor-general twins first son."

The news agency duly edited and extended the slip of flimsy and the paper received this result:

"Lady Kennedy, the wife of Sir Arthur Kennedy, governor-general of Queensland, yesterday gave birth at Government House, Brisbane, to twins, the first born being a son."

All save two of the London dallies and being a son."

All save two of the London dailers and all the provincial papers published the gladsome news without suspicion of error. gladsome news without suspicion of error.
Afterward came the deluge—a rain of inquiry, a torrent of contradiction, a storm of protest. Sir Arthur's friends pointed out that, he being a confirmed bachelor, there "must surely be some mistake."
There never had been a Lady Kennedy;
how could she possibly be the mother of twins?

Explanations were demanded—a repeat of the message asked for. Two hours later it came, but too late to undo the merry mischief:

"Correct message to read: 'Governor-general turns first sod.'"

The agency editors were supposed to know from their assignment book of the scheduled ceremonial inauguration of a railway extension northward to Charters

A judge of the Massachusetts Supreme Court recently issued an injunction prohibiting not alone "picketing," but also the payment of strike benefits.

Another well known federal judge, who has earned the monicker of "Czar" Anderson, recently enjoined the United Mine Workers from trying to organize the miners of West Virginia.

Last, but not least, we have with us Judge Van Siclen, of the New York Supreme Court, who, not many weeks ago, sprang into the arena with a wild snort and shouted to the world that the courts must stand at all times as the representatives of Capital.

How long will the workers tolerate such decisions from a judiciary that is functioning for the emolument of a few and the shameful degradation of the many?

To our members who are motion picture fans is imparted the information that all pictures produced by WM. FOX PRO-DUCTIONS, GOLDWYN PICTURES, UNI-VERSAL FILM MANUFACTURING COM-PANY and FAMOUS PLAYERS LASKY COMPANY are being made under scab conditions

The workers at these Los Angeles studios have been out since July and are putting up a brave and heroic fight to keep employers from establishing the non-union shop in the amusement industry.

The Los Angeles Central Labor Council, carrying the burden of this fight, requests all telegraph employes and their families to withhold patronage from any theater showing unfair pictures.

We urge our members to be consistent and help in every way possible our Los Angeles brothers and sisters in their Angeles brothers valiant struggle.

Federal reports show that employment gains equaling 2.5 per cent were made in the United States during the month of October. The government has refused to accept responsibility for our unemployment crisis. An unemployment conference called by the President was told to TRY its hand at alleviation of widespread unemployment. How about the government TRYING?

The Western Union, whose slogan is Accuracy First and Compensation Last, has very gracefully instituted the TENHOUR DAY in non-functional offices, beginning November 1.

Quoting from the order, a copy of which is before the writer, it is stated:

"This change was made solely for eco-nomical purposes and no increase, there-fore, in salary can be made to offset the loss in overtime."

Another "slight" change was made in the taking away of premium overtime for Sunday and holiday work.

Of course, the Western Union was easily able to prove to "officials" of the A. W. U. E. the necessity for these "slight" changes in wages and working conditions.

Company "unions" are always an asset -to the employers.

Harmony in a band requires each player to perform his part perfectly and respect the importance of every other musician. The structure collapses when discord is introduced. When discord pulls apart a brotherhood of instruments or a brotherhood of men-Hell's to pay.

Shoe manufacturers recently suggested an investigation of wages, hours and shop conditions in connection with a proposed wage decrease. Officers of the Shoe Workers' Union asked to have the inquiry extended to the manufacturers' books. Of course the bosses refused. Their enormous profits cannot endure the pittless spotlight of publicity. Wages must come down, but profits—nay, nay, Pauline.

Prior to the war, shoe workers received 60 cents for a $4.00 pair of shoes. Now the workers receive $1.00 for a $12.00 pair of shoes. It's the same pair of shoes. Pussle. Find the $7.60.

DEMAND T THE UNION LABEL

An inquiry into business conditions made by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York disclosed the fact that the output of each worker in the United States is now considerably greater than in 1920. Still the battle cry of rabid open shop employers is, "Labor is slacking." On a dollar value basis labor is receiving less wages now than before the war. However, "public sentiment" demands labor do twice as much work for half as much ever, "public sentiment" demands labor do twice as much work for half as much money.

An understanding of the Einstein theory is not necessary to comprehend the following simple lesson:

Last July the wages of railroad employes were reduced 12 1/2 per cent.

The railroads by their own admission effected a saving of $400.000.000 annually by this cut.

The railroads presented the public with a $50,000,000 reduction in rates and kept the remaining $350,000,000 taken from the wage earners.

Two weeks ago the U. S. Railroad Labor Board handed the railroads $50,000,000 by junking the working rules of the workers.

The railroads presented the public with what?

Press telegraphers of the United States and Canada should prepare NOW for an $8.00 per day minimum fight. To stand still is almost as bad as going backward. These skilled workers are selling their services too cheaply.

Postal Telegraph employes are observing with interest the bitter experience that is being acquired by their Western Union fellow workers. The lesson of the company union is a vivid one for the Postal employes. The A. W. U. E. hoax will never be put over on the Postal. They will profit from the misery of their coworkers. workers.

Wideawake Postal telegraphers are already preparing for an intensive organization campaign in the spring. The cureall for industrial unrest is legitimate trades unionism.

Work together or you will surely be worked separately. Co-operate!

BRO. McMAHON REPLIES TO BRO. BURFORD

Since publication of Bro. Burford's letter in the November Journal the editor has received enough copy on both sides of the Irish question to fill several pages. Now that an Irish Free State seems to be a reality, the editor is allowing Bro. McMahon to reply to a letter directed to him which is his right. With publication of that letter the debate on this question is hereby declared closed for the good of the organization.—Editor.

The Editor,

Commercial Telegraphers Journal:

In the November issue of The Journal appears what was evidently meant to be a caustic criticism of Resolution No. 51—"Recognition of the Irish Republic." On closer inspection, however, Bro. Burford's effusion reveals not one sound argument against the demands of that resolution, which were:

"That the citizens of the United States of America in this convention demand that the government of the U. S. A. vindicate its honor and its sacred word pledged to the world, that Liberty and justice should obtain in all nations, great or small as a result of the World War."

small as a result of the World War."

The flasco at Versailles was the answer. When this resolution was brought in, I was firmly of the belief that each member of our Union was in reality Union at heart and the opening sentence, setting forth the action at Denver of the American Federation of Labor, should have been sufficient guarantee that we were following the lead of the major Labor organization of the world if we did adopt the resolution; but out of consideration for the feelings of those who live under the flag of Canada, discussion of it was not allowed and final action was transferred to take place on the free soil of the United States of America.

For the benefit of Bro. Burford, or any

For the benefit of Bro. Burford, or any other who fancies affront in this matter, I state positively there was no politics nor religion in it, nor behind it. It is the critics who introduce that. We merely called on our own government to redeem its pledge.

I have always believed that the object of Labor Unions was to secure the abolition of slavish conditions in employment; to bring about economic liberty, and justice, and I believe also that political and religious liberty are equally worthy our staunch support. Let me ask these offended brothers—Can we be consistent Unionists and deny to others who are equally worthy, what we have, in great measure, secured for ourselves?

Abuse and vilification are the weakest

Abuse and vilification are the weakest forms of argument, for their employment denotes lack of comprehension, lack of broad humanitarian impulse, to say nothing of a mind warped by prejudice, which is, no doubt, the real reason why truth is so often attacked.

"Savages" and "scum of the earth," we admit, are now, and have been, too long in Ireland, but they were culled from the prisons of England, armed and sent across to demolish means of livelihood, to maim and kill the people and attempt to terrorize all. Wouldn't any red-blooded man resist that? Wouldn't YOU?

I have not one word of apology to offer for submitting that resolution because no one but those who were citizens of the U.S. A. were interested or asked to act on it, and the citizens of our neighboring state to the north need not feel that their patriotism or loyalty is in the least compromised.

In the interest of harmony in our Union we had best dismiss this subject and leave to Providence and to time the solution of it, for, as some poet has said, "Truth, crushed to earth, shall rise again triumphant While error, wounded, writhes in pain and dies 'mongst her worshippers."

Fraternally yours,

W. J. McMAHON, Western Broker Div., Milwaukee, Wis.

PERSONAL LIBERTY OF PRESS MIGN

Editor, The Journal:
I believe the day is not far distant when unionized press telegraphers will have other than wage questions with which to contend.

The question uppermost in my mind is the infringement by some newspaper edi-tors upon the constitutional rights of press telegraphers.

I recall an instance where a certain editor suggested to the operator: "If you press telegraphers.

I recall an instance where a certain editor suggested to the operator: "If you went to my church and voted the same ticket I do, you would fit into our organization much better."

Another editor, upon visiting a hotel, noticed the operator drinking beer with his dinner. The next day the editor said: "Young man, this paper is fighting the saloons and it is embarrassing to our organization for any one connected with the office to be seen drinking beer in public places." The operator immediately filed ten days' notice of his resignation with the association for which he worked. It happened that pressmen were scarce at that time and the operator who filed his resignation, without, of course, telling the chief operator why, has never been able to quite "square" himself with that particular chief.

The wife of a newspaper proprietor objected to one of our beau brummels putting vaseline on his hair at night; another editor notified the press association that while the operator was always on time, sober, obliging and turned out a good copy, he wanted another operator—he got one.

In another town on the "kerosene cir-one.

In another town on the "kerosene circuit" the operator happened to be interested in the local historical society and was appointed on a committee to call on the county supervisors and seek an appropriation—which was provided for by the state law—for the furtherance of the socity. The local county fair association in that particular city took exception to the operator's activity in seeking the appropriation as "the county fair needed it all"—$10,000 being allowed by law for such societies. The county fair people called on the editor, and the operator—moved. moved.

I daresay there are many other "floaters" due to the eccentricity or "kaiserism" of the editor which never come to light.

This condition may be due to the sharp competition and the close solicitation by the various press associations, or it may be due to the wave of "kaiserism"—"destroy those whom we cannot control"—that has swept the country since the

In any event it might be well for the unionized press operators to seek a protecting clause in their next contracts covering this ever-growing menace.

According to government statistics, the cost of a decent living for a family of five is $2,225 annually. The average wage of American railway employes is $1,700 annually. The union scale for press telegraphers is $2,080 per annum. The average wage for all telegraphers is about $1,000 annually.

Thomas De Witt Cuyler, director of 14 industrial, railway and financial institutions, is chairman of the Pennsylvania railroad's labor committee, in charge of wages and working conditions, and is president of the Association of Railway Executives. Testifying before the Railway Labor board last March, Cuyler said he was a lawyer by profession and director of the concerns mentioned; that he was not a practical railroad man. Two others of the five members of the Pennsylvania's committee, he said; were lawyers and the remaining two retired business men—not railroad men.

All history, says W. P. G. Harding, governor of the Federal Reserve board, shows that periods of prosperity and depression come in cycles, the rotation being about as follows: (1) Prosperity, (2) liquidation, (3) stagnation, and (4) revival. Are we now in the third or fourth stage?

President Obregon of Mexico has promulgated the new constitutional amendment providing health, accident, old age and death benefits for Mexican labor. All employers of labor, including the government, are required to pay into a fund 10 per cent of all wages paid. The amount credited to a worker may be withdrawn by him in case of permanent incapacity for work through accident or incurable illness; in case of disability due to old age or after the worker has passed the age of 60, or, in case of death, is paid to his family.

Probably the most advanced and modern educational system officially adopted in the Western hemisphere has just been made effective by the State of Yucatan, Mexico. The new educational law provides, among other things, that schools shall be equipped with shops for the various manual occupations, gardens, laboratories, farms and other equipment necessary for demonstrating practical application of theory. Grading of pupils will depend on "spontaneous development of their natural talents in the school work." rather than their ability to memorize rules and dates.

Ten thousand men are out of work in Kansas City alone, according to a survey there. Mayor Cowgill can see no better remedy than for employers to "divide a week among their regular employes and those out of work, giving each class three days work each week."

We pass that paragraph and come to this: The estate of Miss Caroline Ewen, valued at $60,000, is to be used in providing sanitariums, homes and societies for stray cats, with funds to carry on their work.

An odd coincidence: Harding was elected by 7,000,000 plurality. The army of unemployed, at its peak, was estimated at 7,000,000 workers.

Mr. Harding's international conference agrees to dismantle a lot of worthless (except as museum material) first-line battleships and the world applauds. Submarines are retained; poison gas and aircraft unlimited. It is to grin broadly. Does the leopard change his spots, or the shark draw his own teeth? Compare the present situation with the rejoicing over the discarding of shields, pikes, bows and arrows, when gunpowder was discovered as a means of more scientific killing! Compare the Hughes program with the motives of the father who, when asked for bread, produced a stone. Puzzle: State in what manner capital ships proved their usefulness during the World war.

A flying torpedo has been invented by the United States which is capable, according to the New York Tribune, of anihilating cities with incendiary explosives and poison gases, without the loss of one life to the attacking forces.

Due to strikes, labor lost $1,179,000,000 in wages during the first half of 1921, according to the Department of Labor. Well, we paid, in all, around $40,000,000,000 for the war against Prussianism—America alone. Can we afford to pay less to fight a more immediately dangerous and everpresent Prussianism at home?

Three Non-Partisan League state officials in North Dakota have been recalled by small majorities at the same election in which the people of that state gave 6,000 majority vote in favor of the Non-Partisan League's program. Dissension in the ranks is blamed for the temporary setback; it was not known until after election that huge sums had been spent by Wall Street through "private detectives" to cause such dissension. The new administration, however, holds office but a few months and the farmers and workers are preparing to stage a comeback. Internal dissension, caused by secret agents! We know 'em, too.

Cardinal O'Connell, in a recent pastoral

Cardinal O'Connell, in a recent pastoral letter, declared: "Until due recognition and help come to the worker from state or employer, he will be justified by self-defense in resorting to strikes. It is a natural right of man to give or withhold his labor. It is man's defense against injury and oppression."

Senator Tom Watson's charges of illegal executions of doughboys recalls the strenuous efforts of certain government officials during the war to have details of executions made public, without avail. In Australia soldiers condemned to be executed by courtmartial cannot be executed until such sentences have been confirmed by civil authorities.

Nice 11'1 joke on the American dyspeptics. The duty on raw sugar has been raised from 0.71 cents a pound to 1.16 cents a pound. Smokers are kidded by an increase of from $1.85 to $2.35 a pound.

Cheering news: The proportion of rented homes in America increased from 53.9 per cent to 54.4 per cent of all dwellings. Not to speak of folks who live in "lighthousekeepings" and never can hope to attain the dignity of a rented "home."

Germany would get more sympathy in her cry of poverty if she would cut off the Hohenzollern income. The ex-kaiser (we went to war to hang him!) has drawn over 70.000.000 marks from Germany since his exile to Holland. Wall Street pirates, having their day now, are exulting—on the brink of a precipice. "There is a man in the White House," says a letter from a private service to big business men, "who can be depended upon to hold tightly to conservatism all along the line, particularly preventing further governmental interference and devastating regulation."

So might a Burglars' Chamber of Commerce crow over having gained control of a police department!

Windon, Minn., has decided to use corn (selling at 25 cents a bushel) as fuel in the municipal power plant—while coal miners remain unemployed and coal remains unmined. The people need corn to eat and coal as fuel, but while middlemen, grafters and scientific robbers remain in control of production, "demand" will bear no relationship to "supply."

Experts estimated that by carrying into effect the Harding-Hughes naval "disarmament" plan, America will spend only 92 per cent of her income on wars, past, present and future, instead of 94 per cent, as at present!

Since January, 1916, workmen in Pennsylvania have lost 3,364 eyes in industrial accidents, according to the State Workmen's Compensation board. Peace—of the Pennsylvania steel, iron and coal variety—hath her horrors greater than war.

The first claim on a workman's income is his union dues and assessments, for it is by virtue of these payments he is allowed to work at a living wage. Workers who delay such payments rob themselves doubly selves doubly.

Facing Canada, our hands snap smartly to salute! The boys across the imaginary line are in no danger of growing fat and careless now that their own position seems secure. They select for their vice president Paul F. Schnur, a fighting man from a land where the sound of battle for elementary liberty is still in progress; one who knows that snakes sometimes go to sleep for many months, awakening unexpectedly with none of their venom lost. He will teach the Canadian boys to keep their powder dry; they will give him a vision of what may be done by men who rise from the "position prostrate" and walk on their own "hind legs."

EIGHTEEN MILLION CO-OPERATORS IN BRITAIN

The British Co-Operative Wholesale society has just released figures, based on the census returns for the United Kingdom, which show that out of a total population of 42,767,000 in England, Scotland and Wales, the co-operative societies are supplying the necessities of life for 18,000,000 co-operators. The 7,500,000 people in Greater London are served by 250 large stores with over 3,000 employes. The eight great co-operative societies in this area are growing so rapidly, according to the Wholesale Society's report, that "the figures of the next census should demonstrate the Rochdale plan of cooperation as the universal provider of London's household needs." One of these societies alone has increased its membership from 27,260 in 1911 to over 91,000 at the present time. What a wild scramble there would be among the "poor" middlemen of Greater New York, which vies with London as the world's largest city, if the co-operative germ should cross the Atlantic and gain the hold here that it has in the British metropolis.

Jack Flynn, proprietor of a popular refreshment establishment in St. Paul, is dead. Delegates to the C. T. U. C. T. U. A. 73!" and underneath it the emblem of the order.

His illness was short, and just before the end came Jack asked regarding a number of the delegates to that conven-He recalled many of their names and was particularly solicitous as to a Boston luminary, as well as those representing Chicago, New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Milwaukee and other places. He was a generous subscriber to the local's entertainment fund and said, "Call on me to help you out if you run short."

St. Paul papers paid high tribute to his conduct as a soldier and citizen, saying he was a "square shooter." At the time of the telegraphic unpleasantness of 1907, Jack had a standing invitation out to the boys to come to his place when in need of a meal.

Regulars from Fort Snelling fired the final tribute over his grave, and the Vet-erans of Foreign Wars and Spanish-Amer-ican Veterans conducted services at the grave.

A good friend of the telegraphers, who was not looking for their nickels and dimes, departed with the passing of Jack Flynn.

FACT, FICTION, AND-PROGNOSTI-CATION

Not long ago an individual whom we shall call Alec blew into Chicago, dead broke as usual. He wandered around to one of the telegraph companies and, as it happened to be "pay day," he took up a strategic position near the operators' exit from the building. exit from the building.

He had not long to wait before the operators began dribbling out one by one and in groups of two and three. Scrutinizing their faces closely he picked out a likely looking "softy" with a round, genial face as his victim.

"Say, old man, I'm up against it! Could you slip me enough for a meal?" mournfully asked Alec.

Before the genial-faced one could make a reply a man dressed in suit of the finest texture, with derby hat and spats to set it off, tapped Alec on the shoulder.

"Are you an operator?" he inquired.

"I sure am and a good one, too," replied Alec with a conceited grin.

"Ever work in a broker office?"

"Yep; that's meat for me."

"Do you belong to any union?"

"No. But what th-" began Alec.

"You're the man I'm looking for then," interrupted the well-dressed "gentleman." "Better come to lunch with me."

Needless to say, our friend Alec, the wise one, did not need a second invitation to eat.

They proceeded to a good restaurant not far away and during the meal one might have heard such scraps of their conversation as:

"Sure, I'll go to work right away, but are you sure there is no danger of—er—"
"Certainly not. That will be attended to. You will be in no—ah—danger whatever."

When do I start?" "All right then.

"Tomorrow morning. And, of course, you know where Bennett company's offices are?"

"Sure thing."

When the Bennett chieftains discovered his lack of ability, this scum of human life which we have named Alec suddenly found himself without a job.

However, this did not seem to worry him much, as he had been in the same predicament many times before. Unable to get a "sine" in the "Windy City." he went north to St. Paul and Minneapolis. Finding the "S. R. O." sign out in those two cities also, he decided to beat it still further north. further north.

In a certain Canadian city he managed to get a job with one of the commercial companies. All went well for a week, when the local chairman of the C. T. U. A. asked him if he wished his card transferred to that division.

"My card!" snorted the wise one. haven't one."

The chairman was agape for a moment; for it had been a long time since he had heard those words uttered in such a con-temptuous manner.

"Where did you work last?" he finally managed to articulate.

"Bennett company, Chicago," replied the wise bird with a cynical grin.

This was almost too much for the poor chairman. He clinched his fists at his sides, ground his teeth and finally forced himself to say pleasantly, "I see."

Fortunately this conversation between Alec and the chairman was overheard by some of the "ops" close by. And while the chairman held a conference with the "chief" the operators got their heads together.

At quitting time one of the boys approached Alec and affectionately took his arm, saying: "Say, how'd you like to come in on a little party tonight, sport?" "Sure thing," answered Alec.

It was dusk when five young men, with Alec. dropped off the street car nearly at the edge of town. They walked a block until they came to the railway tracks. One of the boys, turning suddenly upon Alec, said: "Did I hear you say this afternoon you'd just got through working for Bennett in Chicago?"

"I guess that's what I said, all right," answered Alec with some affectation of bravado.

"Are you sure?" asked another "op."

"Y-e-e-s-I-

"Well, you damned, sneaking scab!"

What followed can well be left to the imagination. Suffice to say that Alec, the wise bird, did not turn up for work the next morning or any subsequent morning, thereby showing very rare judgment.

Without a doubt he will receive similar treatment in his travels for many a long year. A branded man is hard to forget! A dirty, cringing, yellow scab is never forgotten!

THE ANNUAL CARD CLUB

The Annual Card Club of the C. T. U. A. is an established institution.

A limited number of annual cards for 1922 have been printed and are now ready. First come, first served, until the supply is exhausted.

With the steadily increasing membership 1922 annuals will be in greater demand than those of any previous year, thus modifying the original purpose of the Annual Card. When it was first inaugurated, the prospects for the future of our Union were rather gloomy, confidence in the ability of the organization to weather the storm was at a very low ebb and as a substantial testimonial of the individual member's determination to pull the Union through, he stood ready to put up his money for a year in advance. The card became popular and became a matter of convenience as well.

Thanks to the Annual Card Clubs of the past, our Union approaches 1922 with that sense of strength and security that only "men and money," dues and members can give. While not overwhelmed with prosperity, the financial pressure has been relieved sufficiently to permit our breathing easier, and as a matter of convenience instead of necessity the cards will be issued.

An Annual Card is still a token of loyalty to Union principles, standing as it does as a financial pledge for the year to come. To the hundreds of members who have helped in the past when their help was badly needed, as well as to the newcomers in our ranks, we extend the same invitation as of yore to GET AN ANNUAL CARD.

A Hero died, went up above, and knocked upon the gate.

St. Peter answered, said "Come in, I'm sure you're not too late,
What is your name, where are you from, with shoes so full of mud?"
"Why, I'm the Hero," said John Smith, "of the terrible Johnstown flood. I'd like to look around and see, before I can decide,
If I would care to permanently with you folks abide."

St. Peter waved him in and bowed and said, "I will agree
To send a guide around with you, so everything you'll see."

REPORT OF ANNUAL MEETING

Without a doubt one of the most interesting meetings ever held by the division convened at 3:00 p.m. in the Masonic Temple, Saturday, December 10.

President Alcorn, presiding, opened the annual meeting with a few appropriate remarks, introducing International Vice-President Newcomer, who made a very impressive talk, using "More Pep" as his theme. International Secretary-Treasurer Powers was next introduced. He made a short talk on the International situation, giving the membership some facts and figures on the $1.00 a week assessment. The Western Broker Division was placed at the bottom of the procession in the matter of paying the $1.00 assessment. His figures also showed our division with a much greater number of delinquents than any other division.

The next visitor to speak was the original war horse of Milwaukee, a man who needs no introduction, our second vice-president, W. J. McMahon. Brother McMahon made a strong appeal for co-operation and harmony. He was optimistic over the future and praised the work accomplished in the past.

The president's annual report was next read. The secretary-treasurer read his report next. The chairman of the general executive board was then called on for his report. Brother Lynch was not present and no one had been authorized to represent him, therefore his report is of necessity excluded.

The chair called on anyone present that wanted to be heard from. Brother Dal Jones was the first speaker and made a very interesting talk, as usual. The time being limited, a motion to proceed with the regular order of business and eliminate speeches, was carried.

Under the head of new business, Brother Newcomer introduced two amendments, one providing for a paid full-time secretary-treasurer and business agent, instead of the paid full-time president, as at present; another amendment provides for a reduction in dues. A resolution by Brother Newcomer provides that all standing rules and resolutions now in effect and passed prior to this regular meeting be declared null and void on and after January 1, 1922.

Second Vice-President McMahon of Milwaukee in the chair.

President Alcorn offered an amendment to the bylaws, to be placed on the ballot for a referendum vote, providing for the continuance of the full-time president, but requiring him to perform the clerical work now being done by the secretary-treasurer. The president to be under bond and turn over all monies to the secretary-treasurer. The amendment also provides that the full-time arrangement may be either discontinued or limited at the discretion of the executive board, to be governed by the financial condition after January 1st. amendment provides for annual dues of $2.50 a month in Chicago, payable monthly if desired, and $20.00 in the country, as at present. Brother Newcomer rose to a point of order on the ground that Brothern Alcorn's amendments were not being offered according to the bylaws. Brother Alcorn contended that a previous ruling by the chair had been to the effect that any legislation offered would be placed on the ballot for a referendum vote and the technicalities of the bylaws would be disregarded, so that the outside membership might have an opportunity to vote. The chair sustained Brother Alcorn's stand and the amendments will go on the ballot.

Alcorn in the chair.

The chair read letters from striking Bennett men, urging the membership of the Western Broker Division to take steps to add enough to the $10.00 weekly allowance from the Leased Wire Defense Fund to make their allowance $25.00 per week. Brother R. W. Goodale offered a resolution, to appear on the ballot, providing for the resumption of the 1% Defense Fund, as of December 8th, and to continue until repealed by the membership.

Second Vice-President McMahon offered a query to be placed on the ballot: "Does the membership, especially that of the far western territory, favor a new division, to be formed of the mountain states, now in W. B. D. territory?" President Alcorn explained that this was not necessary in order to form a division out there, citing the fact that a Southern Division was now in the process of formation and that the W. B. D. had waived its jurisdictional rights and would do the same if a Mountain Division were attempted, but that there was no harm in the query and it might be the means of enthusing the Pacific Coast telegraphers.

There being no further new business, the nomination of officers followed.

Brother Dal Jones in the chair.

Brother C. A. Warner nominated Brother E. L. Boole, making a very strong and impressive appeal for his election.

Brother Fowles nominated Brother Newcomer, who declined on the grounds that he was now an international officer.

Brother Fowles nominated Alcorn for re-election. Brother McMahon of Milwaukee here took the floor, saying that he had risen at the same time as Brother Fowles and for the same purpose, but would make his talk a seconding speech. He spoke very highly of President Alcorn, citing the fact that under his administration we had won three out of four victories and had put the first schedules in the street; that he knew personally of the untiring efforts of Brother Alcorn to hold and build up the division. "When we have a good man, let's keep him," were his closing remarks.

Brother Boole nominated Brother Aubrey Lyon of Milwaukee. Brother Boole eulogized Brother Lyon highly. He referred to the constant attendance at meetings while in Chicago and his unmistakable expressions of true unionism. He also referred to the splendid work done by him, as chapel chairman of the Van Ness system during the threatened trouble with that firm, and finally to his further display of unionism when he resigned the position with that firm, rather than accept the reduction from $60 to $50.

Brother Harry W. Lynch was nominated by Brother J. H. Gibson.

Brother George B. Miller was nominated by Brother Fowles.

For First Vice-President: Warren C. Wooten, R. H. McDaniel and Joseph M. Skelly.

For Second Vice-President: W. J. McMahon, Milwaukee. A signal honor was conferred upon our second vice-president when Brother Alcorn jumped to his feet as his name was mentioned and moved that the nominations be closed. The unanimous approval of those present could immediately be heard.

Third Vice-President: R. A. Richardson and A. M. Hall, Kansas City; P. A. Stephens, St. Louis.

Fourth Vice-President: G. E. Williams, Denver, and Floyd R. Smith, Kansas City.

Fifth Vice-President: E. C. Campbell and L. F. Solt, Cleveland.

Secretary-Treasurer: Brother Newcomer in nominating Brother Walter L. Bivins said that if his amendment providing for a full-time secretary-treasurer was adopted, a man would be required to fill the position who had the combined qualifications of a diplomat, organizer, executive, accountant and "in fact he must be a super-man." He believed Brother Bivins the man for the job.

John J. Sullivan, F. A. Davis and J. R. Friedman were also nominated.

General Executive Board: Geo. B. Miller, O. L. Newcomer, R. W. Goodale, Ora DeBord, G. W. Lawson, J. J. Murray, E. O'Grady and E. T. Belding.

Discussion for the good of the organization by Brothers Boole, Dal Jones, McMahon and Jim Eagan followed.

Brother D. T. Myler of Seattle was introduced. He offered the suggestion that the division investigate the feasibility of co-operating with other unions in time of trouble. He very ably presented the argument that if we were so allied with other organizations that the motto, "The injury to one is the concern of all," could be carried out in reality; there would be no strikes. If an employer knew that when a particular union was forced to strike, all other unions were in behind that union, he would not allow a strike to take place, said Brother Myler.

After all amendments had been offered, Brother Arthur Liessemer offered a motion to adjourn to one month hence, in order to first vote on the various amendments so that the membership could vote intelligently on the officers, especially the president and secretary. His argument was that if the amendment providing for a full-time secretary carried, a different man than an ordinary bookkeeper would have to be elected. The motion was lost, after much discussion. It was found necessary according to the constitution to elect officers in December.

Adjourned until 3 p. m., Wednesday, December 28th.

Note: The consent of all nominees to allow their names to appear on the ballot had not been secured at the time this was written.

The Relay contains nothing but the account of the Annual Meeting, as we feel that our quota of space has been taken up. In the January Journal, it is hoped that a full quota of notes from all sections will appear. All contributors please get your notes in to W. B. D. headquarters by January 5th.

ALL MEMBERS: Those of you who possibly can, will certainly be doing a good turn by paying your 1922 dues NOW. You, of course, know that our treasury has been hard hit and that our expenses continue. Many of you can pay your dues now as easy as later. It will certainly relieve your new officers of a lot of worry.

ANNUAL REPORT OF PRESIDENT ALCORN

In rendering to the membership of the Western Broker Division an account of my stewardship for the past 12 months and my recommendations for the next 12. I want to make it plain at the outset that it is not my purpose to criticise anyone in particular, but merely to relate facts as I find them, to the end that our organization may push forward with even more determination in 1922.

We began the year 1921 with many obstacles, which, I am happy to say, were overcome in a splendid manner. Chief among these was the fact that dues were doubled. Many of our members, who were slow enough in paying small dues, withdrew their moral and financial support altogether. A few of these have since paid the price for their negligence and others will pay it sooner or later.

It was only natural that the so-called readjustment process should affect our craft. Many of our members were thrown out of employment. The Employment Bureau did everything possible to assist them. Employment secured, which can be directly credited to the bureau, amounted to something over $7,000. Considering the competition from Postal, Western Union and A. T. and T. sources, as well as the obnoxious " canvassing" by our own members, we must conclude that the Employment Bureau is an established necessity. The "tipping off" of jobs, whether intentional or unintentional, by some of our members to friends in many cases not entitled to consideration, has also been an evil to be contended with. The majority of our membership deserve credit for their thorough co-operation with Employment Bureau.

In February the first attempt to reduce salaries was made by the firm of Gardiner B. VanNess & Co. At that time three men in Chicago were receiving $60 per week and 14 men outside of Chicago were receiving $40 per week. The firm proposed to immediately reduce salaries to $50 and $35 respectively. The system being fully organized, the matter was immediately placed in the hands of the union by the involved. Efforts by the through their spokesman, Brother Aubrey Lyon, acting according to our constitution, failed of a satisfactory settlement. vote, tantamount to a strike vote, was taken, which showed a large majority in favor of not accepting the reduction and resisting it according to Union principles. In a conference with Mr. VanNess, International President Johnson and I were able to convince him of the advisability of rescinding his reduction order insofar as the country men were affected, but inasmuch as two of the Chicago men had expressed to him their willingness to accept the proposed reduction, it was deemed best to settle on a basis of $50 in Chicago and $40 in the country, especially due to the fact that this is an exclusive grain house. Mr. VanNess expressed himself as pleased with the business-like manner in which the union handled this, our first skirmish, and I firmly believe that his feeling towards the union is friendlier than it was before. The union has since co-operated with VanNess and Co., and has furnished him some very good men. Although no written agreement was secured, the firm has lived up to its verbal agreement and is worthy of the fullest co-operation from our organization.

The next attempt was made by the firm of E. Lowitz & Co. The facts leading up to the Lowits strike are well known to you, having been published in full, but suffice it to say that the decision to call a strike on this firm was reached only after a series of broken verbal promises by the firm, indiscriminate discharging of so-called "agitators" and an attempt to reduce salaries by the sliding scale The strike was in effect one method. It was settled with a written week. agreement, protecting our men in salaries and working conditions. I attribute most of the trouble with this firm to a lack of understanding of our organization on the firm's part, rather than to a deliberate desire to antagonize us. I base this contention on the fact that since the agreement was entered into, a gradual spirit of friendliness between the firm and this organization developed, until at the present time there exists on both sides a genuine desire to co-operate. We at all times found the members of the firm and the chief operator willing to discuss any grievances and desirous of amicable conclusions since the agreement was entered into.

E. F. Leland & Co. were the next to announce a wage reduction of from 10 to The usual procedure was adopted and a committee, representing the men, composed of Chapel Chairman George B. Miller, Dwight Clark and Dave Twitchell were successful in convincing Mr. Signor, of that firm, that it was advisable to rescind his reduction order and sign an agreement protecting the men in their salaries and working conditions. It did not become necessary for your president to take any visible part in this matter, due largely to the able conduct of the committee and the broadmindness of Mr. committee and the broadmindless of Mr. Signor. It is not my policy nor intention to scatter unearned flattery, but I would not be doing justice, where justice is warranted, if I did not mention the fair attitude taken by this firm. I bespeak for them our fullest co-operation as long as they continue their fairness. In this consection I might add that we received the nection, I might add that we received the fullest co-operation from the Eastern Broker Division, in whose territory the Leland system extends, and authority was promptly granted by Chairman Dunn of the New York District and Chairman Patterson of the Pittsburgh District to represent them in the schedule negotiations. As a result the Eastern Broker Division is fully protected by the terms of the agreement. I cannot speak too highly of the co-operative spirit displayed by our Eastern brothers.

The next effort by our union to protect our rights, has turned out to be the grandest fight in the history of leased wire telegraphers, in some respects, although it was the means of unearthing some of the most dastardly scoundrels in the telegraph fraternity. The firm of J. E. Bennett & Co. early in April began to use tactics familiar to Western Union and Postal telegraphers. An arbitrary reduction was announced in the Kansas City office of that firm. The men affected promptly served notice that they would not accept it and the order was rescinded but retaliatory methods were adopted by Bennett and Co. through its chief henchmen. A series of antagonistic acts culminated in the summary discharge of but retaliatory methods were adopted by Bennett and Co. through its chief herchmen. A series of antagonistic acts culminated in the summary discharge of Chapel Chairman Richardson, Kansas City, and Chairman Friedley, Chicago. My efforts to reach an amicable settlement in the matter falled. It was plain to be seen that Bennett had deliberately laid plans to precipitate a strike. Our organization was backed up against the wall and one of two things was left.—fight or lay down like yellow dogs and jeopardize the interests of every other union man in the business. A strike was called on August 24th. FORTY-THREE out of a possible SIXTY went out and it is a matter of proud record that a very few of these ever went back. This strike has not been won due to the fact that a general business depression was sweeping the country at the time; that several Judases, which are to be found in the ranks of all labor organizations, were found to be assembled in the employ of this despotic employer and that this man would rather lose his fortune than be fair to the men he mistreated. He has lost FIVE large correspondents and much trade, but above all he has lost the friendship and incurred the everlasting enmity of all decent telegraphers. He must rely on scabs to man his system from now until the time he decides to deal fair. The Bennett strike found our treasury in the healthlest condition it had ever been in and newly enacted 1% Defense Fund Assessment in progress, but the large weekly benefit payroll, together with other expenses incident to the successful prosecution of the strike, soon exhausted our resources.

As soon as our plight became known to our resources.

As soon as our plight became known to the Eastern Broker Division, financial assistance in substantial sums were forthcoming every week. While it is true that our fight was their fight, be it said to their everlasting credit that they certainly proved themselves to be made of the stuff that it takes to produce real union men. The bonds of brotherhood have certainly been cemented between the two divisions. We will never overlook an opportunity to march hand-in-hand with our Eastern brothers, regardless of what the march is about.

In view of our financial condition, the delegates to the biennial convention at Toronto went determined to ask the General Assembly for relief. Our delegates, E. L. Boole and O. L. Newcomer, Chicago; W. J. McMahon, Milwaukee: W. L. McCauley, Kansas City; E. C. Campbell, Cleveland, and your president, ably presented our case to the convention. The expressed sentiment of the assembly was not only for granting our request, contained in a resolution, but to do better. It was unanimously decided that our request for a flat assessment of $1 per member would not provide the necessary relief. As a result a $1 per week assessment on all Leased Wire Telegraphers was levied, the fund to be kept in the International treasury for the use of any contributing division. With the assistance of the Eastern Broker Division and a number of newspaper men, prior to the assessment, and the assessment since, we assessment, and the assessment since, we have been able to keep up almost continuously the weekly $25 benefits.

At the time of writing this report, I have been officially notified by Acting International President Schnur that the $1 a week assessment has been discontinued, as of December $rd, and that benefits are reduced to $10 a week. The membership of the Western Broker Division will probably take steps at this meeting to prevent any suffering by the few remaining unemployed Bennett strikers.

As a whole, our organization stands today in a splendid position. The morale is good and 1922 will find us ever ready and able to protect ourselves against any onslaughts by cortain was a specific product of the contraints of th and able to protect ourselves against any onslaughts by certain unscrupulous employers. We are rapidly gaining friends among broad-minded employers and every day sees some worthy member given employment in preference to some renegade.

Any union is no stronger than its membership are willing to make it. There is much room for improvement in the interest individual members may display. I cannot urge too strongly a closer cooperation with the Employment Bureau; with all the officers and a sharp look-out for back-sliding telegraphers. It is the accumulation of little things that produce big things. It is the small displays of unionism that you may undertake that count up. Curb artists, who never attend meetings; self-imposed patriots and martyrs who are ever ready to sing their own praises and condemn everything that the man who really works night and day may do, are the men you want to shun. Take an inventory and you will easily locate the men who are always ready to champion the cause of unionism and fight for your interests, regardless of the consequences. To the brick slingers and character assassins propound this question: "What have YOU ever done to better the conditions of telegraphers?" They can give you no concrete evidence.

For the benefit of the members assembled here today. I have included a faw

For the benefit of the members assembled here today, I have included a few recommendations that my experience and judgment dictate.

The membership is well acquainted with our financial condition, as submitted by our secretary-treasurer. It is my opinion that the membership cannot at this time act intelligently on the matter of deciding whether the full-time president arrangement shall be continued. They cannot foretell the amount of revenue for 1922. I recommend that above all you continue the president on full time after January 1st, 1922, for at least a short period, leaving the matter in the hands of the general executive board to either continue permanently, or limit the full-time arrangement. The board will be in a position after January 1st to decide this question, being governed by our financial The membership is well acquainted with question, being governed by our financial condition, as it develops.

If the membership votes to accept my recommendation regarding the disposition of the full-time president, I also recommend that the president be required to perform all the office work, in connection with the handling of dues, which is now done by the secretary-treasurer. The secretary now receives a small salary of $5 per week for this work. It is an imposition on him and I venture to say that no man is anxious to take this position for the sake of the remuneration. The president could be bonded and turn over such monies as he collects to the secretary-treasurer. The secretary-treasurer would practically have no other duties such monies as ne conecus to the secretary-treasurer. The secretary-treasurer would practically have no other duties than to be the custodian of monies turned over to him. He would only be responsible for such amounts actually turned over to him and the president, being under bond, would be responsible for all monies collected and not turned over to the secretary-treasurer. There are some of our members who favor placing the secretary-treasurer on full time. I am unalterably opposed to this arrangement, because the same object can be accomplished, insofar as the work is concerned, by having the president do it and you have the added advantage of having the man in highest authority at headquarters at all times and arise. arise.

The "canvassing" for jobs practice is still a fertile producer of discord. We have reached the stage where union principles must be either practised, or the violator expelled from the union. I favor strict laws against this unfair practice. Underbidding, or "throat-cutting," is in the same category with scabbing, in my astimation yet some of our members have been guilty of the practice. The president has no plenary powers, but were there a law against it, he could enforce it.

law against it, he could enforce it.

Our bylaws are obsolete. They do not meet the requirements of an organization that has assumed the proportions ours has. I recommend that a BYLAWS COMMITTEE be either appointed by the president, or elected at the first meeting in January. I believe it wise to choose a representative from each wire system. In this manner the out-of-town members could be represented through the Chicago member. This committee would compile a set of bylaws adequate to our needs.

set of bylaws adequate to our needs.

I recommend and urge upon you to give the matter of choosing your 1922 executive board extreme care. This body is a very essential and important part of our organization. A well functioning executive board, composed of intelligent men, is the greatest asset we can have. Electmen that will be ready at all times to perform their duty and are big enough to think along constructive lines.

The matter of equalizing dues has been a subject for serious consideration for some time. As usual, the Eastern Broker Division has been willing to co-operate, but they find that $18 a year will be their maximum. The Canadian Broker Division, which is really only beginning to organize thoroughly and which will not require a headquarters, for the time being, will establish a $12 a year dues. The New no reply as to what their rate of dues will he England Broker Division has given me no reply as to what their rate of dues will be.

The Chicago membership, I believe, thoroughly realizes the necessity of efficiently conducting our Employment Bureau. By having our president on full time, he not only can conduct the bureau, but is there to handle the other business of the organization. It would be a serious setback if, for the sake of a few cents a week, we discontinued this arrangement. I recommend that Chicago members pay $2.50 a month dues and that provisions be made to pay dues monthly. This will make it much easier for them, although the clerical work will be increased at headquarters. I am sure that arrangements can be made to inaugurate such a system.

The membership in Michigan and Ohio cannot see the reason why their dues should be $20 a year, while men who work on the same wire with them, for the same firm, drawing the same salary, pay $12 a year in the Eastern Broker Division. Now that the dues will be made $18 in that division, I am sure the above mentioned members will be satisfied. The Eastern Broker Division has a much larger membership than ours; naturally they can operate on a smaller rate of dues. Our membership will see the necessity of making a little more sacrifice until such a time as our membership grows larger. larger.

such a time as our membership grows larger.

"External vigilance is the price of peace." Unless we keep up the strength and morale of our splendid organization you cannot blame anyone but ourselves for the consequences. The officials you have chosen to lead you during 1921 know the situation intimately. The handwriting on the wall is plain: EMPLOYERS ARE WATCHING NIGHT AND DAY FOR THE COPPORTUNITY TO SLASH WAGES! I would that it were within my power to strongly impress you today of the dangers that await you, unless you determine here and now to give the union your unselfish support and at all times be on the alert for its welfare. Your officials can do no more than you are willing they should. Make up your mind now whether you are going to be a passive member and see yourself and fellow workers reduced to unbearable salaries and working conditions, or whether you are going to support your union and profit as a result.

support your union and profit as a result.

In conclusion I want to extend to you my most sincere thanks for the co-operation you have shown and for the high honor you have given me. I want to thank my brother officials for the efficiency and readiness with which they have co-operated. The sub-division officials are deserving of a great deal of credit for the wonderful co-operation they have shown, which has made it possible to win THREE OUT OF FOUR contests with employers for the protection of our rights. We are always willing to meet the employer more than half way and give him unlimited co-operation, but he must not attempt to mistreat any of our members.

If I have been able to inspire you to bigger things for 1922, I will feel that I have accomplished a goodly portion of my life's work. My heart and soul is in this struggle for industrial independence and I want to assure you that you will always

I have never asked for an office; have never solicited so much as one single vote and have made not the slightest attempt at the establishment of a machine. My fight is for the rank and file of telegraphers. If I have represented them satisfactorily, I care little what the politicians and mud-slingers have to say. The dawn of a new era is here. Whether I bask in its rays as an official or a rank and file member makes no difference to me. I know that the rank and file will choose as its leaders men of an unimpeachable record; men whom you KNOW will serve you. WE ARE NOW RESOLVED INTO A COMMITTEE OF VIGILIANTES AS A WHOLE FOR 1922.

Regular monthly meetings at Headquarters, first Monday in the month.

NEW ENGLAND BROKER DIVISION NOTES

Brother William E. ("Pat") Henderson, after suffering for over a year, several months of which were spent in the hospital, had his right leg amputated at the Carney Hospital, South Boston, during the month of November, and is now on the road to recovery. Many of his friends throughout this country and Canada have expressed a desire to "do something" for him; hence this is to notify them that he can be reached direct at 611 East Seventh Street, South Boston, Mass., or in care of William E. Conry, 45 Forest Hills Street, Jamaica Plain, Mass.

"Pat" is one of the few heroes of three strikes, 1883, 1907 and 1919, was always strong for the C. T. U. A., and a real, true blue fellow in every way, deserving of all that his friends can do for him.

At the regular meeting on October 31 the matter of the assessment was the principal subject of debate. During the latter part of the session President Yetman took the floor and objected to the assessment, stating his belief that it was unconstitutional and wrong in policy. Inasmuch as President Yetman had to leave abruptly to keep an appointment, the meeting was adjourned to Saturday, November 5, this special session to discuss the assessment and nothing else.

At the meeting on November 7, President Yetman being unable to attend, Vice-President Herbert presided. After much debate the members voted that the assessment was constitutional and should be paid, and that we proceed to collect. Whereupon Recording Secretary Kinney read a letter from President Yetman tendering his resignation. A committee was appointed to wait upon Brother Yetman and ask him to reconsider.

At the regular meeting November 28, the bad storm and wire trouble prevented most of the officers from being present on time and the meeting was lightly attended. Secretary Kinney called the meeting to order and asked former President Conry to preside. A letter from Brother

Yetman to members of the committee was read, in which he reiterated his previous stand and upon being asked by the chairman if he still thought the assessment was unconstitutional and refused to pay

After much debate and various motions,
Brother Yetman moved as a substitute for the whole that his resignation be accepted. The first vote was a tie, as was also the second, several members present also the second, several members present refraining from voting either way. Brother J. F. Mullen, Jr., who was then in the chair, was asked to cast the deciding vote and voted for acceptance, stating that he did so in what he considered to be accordance with Brother Yetman's earnest and honest desire, as Yetman's earnest and honest desire, as well as for the benefit of the organiza-

Nominations for officers for the coming year then followed, with the following results:

For President or Chairman of the divi-sion, John F. Mullen, Senior; for Vice-President, E. A. Herbert; for Secretary-Treasurer, J. F. Mullen, Junior; for Treasurer, J. F. Mullen, Junior; for Recording Secretary, Leonard H. Kinney. A correspondent for the Journal will be

A correspondent for the Journal will be named later.

Vice-President Herbert declined what bade fair to be an unopposed nomination for president; Secretary Sullivan asked to be relieved of his duties, which he has fulfilled nobly for two years, owing to strenuous work and long hours of his present position; other members declined nominations as they were offered.

However, the ticket as named, all unopposed, bids fair to make a strong one and hold its own with any group of officers we could have. Both Mullens, father and son, are real Union men and always have been. Both are intelligent and aggressive, able to talk and fairminded. Vice-President Herbert needs no recommendation, everyone knows him and recommendation, everyone knows him and his worth. And Leonard Kinney, for a hustler, neat and accurate workman, and loyal member, cannot be surpassed by any member of the C. T. U. A.

loyal member, cannot be surpassed by any member of the C. T. U. A.

Our success with the assessment was agreeably surprising and we hope to make as good a showing as any division that is not working under closed shop conditions. It was merely a case of convincing the boys that it was for a real cause and a just obligation.

Secretary Sullivan reports several inquiries for applications from telegraphers at the commercial offices. Short time and quiries for applications from telegraphers at the commercial offices. Short time and "riding" conditions seem to have gotten a few of them again into a belligerent frame of mind. Men and women of upwards of five years' service are getting five hours a day and less, except for the interruption by the storm. Perhaps it will be just as well to let the A. W. U. E. take care of them for a while longer.

MARCONI WIRELESS NOTES Quebec and District

Due to various causes over which we had no control, there has been a break in continuity of this column of two issues. As a consequence copy has piled up, there has had to be vigorous slashing by the Journal Editor and besides, much of the matter, some of it controversial, is now out of date and no useful purpose would be served by rehashing old stuff. shall therefore devote this month to cleaning up outstanding matter and our correspondents will please excuse me for not being able to reproduce their copy and correspondence in its entirety and we will answer them as briefly and completely as possible at the foot of this column.

The results of the General Election of your officers are now known to all. There are a few corrections to be made before the final complete Executive slate is before you. Your late Secretary, Bro. Ross, allowed his name to be used as a nominee for 1922 and then decided he would not At the same time, by his removal to another Division, he automatically became disqualified. This caused considerable confusion for a time. Bro. Johnston's name was balloted upon without his consent and he was unable to act in a secretarial capacity. Other names were submitted with the same result. mitted with the same result. Finally, with the true Union spirit, Bro. W. J. McBride of Cape Sable said he was willing to act as Secretary-Treasurer to help us out of a hole providing there was no better man who would step forth. We therefore placed the matter in the hands of our General Chairman, Bro. F. C. Allen, who by virtue of his office and the power invested in him by the bylaws, has confirmed Bro. McBride as your Secretary-Treasurer for 1922. We feel sure he will do credit to the Office and we bespeak for him the active co-operation and assistance him the active co-operation and assistance of all brother members of the Eastern Canadian Subdivision.

I wish to thank those who honored me by their votes for the office of Chairman of the E. C. Subdivision. To all brother members I would say that whilst acting in that capacity for you my whole efforts will, to the best of my ability, be devoted to your interests as a whole. If a willingness to work is a guarantee of success, then I can confidently say you will not be disappointed. I welcome constructive criticism from any quarter and ask for your co-operation and assistance during my term of office.

Article 9 of our bylaws states that it is the duty of the Subdivision Chairman to submit the names of two members to act as a standing Subcommittee. I have sounded all the opinion I could get in touch with on this point and have decided to submit for you approval as Co-Executive the names of Brothers L. R. Johnstone, North Sydney, and H. G. Leslie, Grindstone. The former commands the respect and confidence of every man in Canadian Radio and the latter, whilst Acting Chairman of your section, proved himself to be an able and energetic executive. The collective experience of the above named, along with ourselves, embraces every section of our Division and we hope and trust that these names meet with unanimous approval. Both have consented, from a sense of duty, to act, and it is up to the membership to stand solidly behind them if they desire to have a real tive Executive. A new grievance committee will have to be submitted for your approval and the names submitted will, we trust, receive unanimous approval.

We feel that, on behalf of the whole of our membership, we cannot let the retiring Executives go out of office without a word of appreciation of their efforts. They were your first acting officers and they did the spade work of our organization. We ourselves have strenuously differed with various members on various proposed policies, just as we expect some to do with us, but nobody questions that each in his own manner, to the best of his ability, did what he could to try and raise the status of the radio operator where it belongs and you owe them, and we feel sure you will freely join with us in giving, hearty thanks for their efforts on our behalf.

What our section of the November issue lacked in quantity was made up in quality. We refer specifically to the memorandum placed before our readers by Bro. W. T. Burford of Division No. 65 and also to the writer of the British Columbia District notes. They were read with great interest by ourselves and we would ask our members to go over them carefully again as we may possibly have to vote on the issues raised at some future occasion. Far from condemning the project merely because it is far-reaching, we feel that it contains planks broad enough for all professional radio telegraphers to stand on, and that it is most emphatically a step in the right direction. We have held the opinion right along that, organized as at present, we are too parochial. Not that our present organization has not served us truly and well, but we are building for the future and require a broad foundation. The thanks of all Canadian Radio men are due Bro. Burford and his confreres for the thoughtful and able plan submitted for their consideration and good.

One of the first things your new Executive will be called upon to decide is that of increasing the levy for 1922 in order to meet the new obligations incurred. You all read in the October Journal that if our organ of publicity was to be kept up to the standard we have been used to, an increased levy was imperative. We think that everybody wants to see our section in the Journal kept up. Well, it costs money. A cheap Union is like a cheap suit of clothes, no good. Increasing a levy is always an unpopular thing, and those who have to decide on the same find it just as unpleasant as those who have to pay it. Don't forget you get in a Union just what you are willing to pay for. No more; no less.

In the matter of the loan of $500 to

In the matter of the loan of $500 to Local 65, it was with one exception decided by your General Executive to extend same until the next dues paying period. We have a letter here from President Johnson thanking the membership of Local 59 for their wholehearted action in this matter and stating that the action in this matter and stating that the Marcont boys have again demonstrated the real spirit of Unionism which pervades their ranks.

All the members of Locals 59 and 65, we are sure, join us in wishing for the speedy recovery of the International C. T. U. A. President, Roscoe Johnson.

Bro. Duschesne desires us to thank our members for the many kind expressions of sympathy received in his recent bereavement.

The members of Local 59 desire to express their great appreciation of the way some Eastern members of Local 65 in the vicinity of Cape Race chipped in with their subscriptions to the McGillivray Fund. Detailed acknowledgments of amounts received will doubtless be published by the Treasurer in a future issue. Such a spirit helps to keep up one's faith in his fellow man in these times of distress to the wage earner.

Mrs. Florence Hill sent a letter of deep appreciation to General Secretary Crew-son in acknowledgment of a cheque for $55, which was the total amount raised amongst our membership.

CAPE BRETON BOOMINGS

It serves some loafers right. All they do is grumble and find fault, eat and sleep most of the rest of the time and pretend to look pleasant between times. With the Charlie Chaplin moustache and spats they do not move either forward or backward. We noticed one from Louisberg who had to sacrifice his, as it accumulated to such an extent during the foggy season that he shaved it off to prevent suffocation. How they do travel!

Weather Forecast: For the rest of the year, as heretofore, it will be very dry. If in doubt consult "Volstead" or "Scott." Ed. Note.—Why don't you come and live in a real Province?

The above affects the States and most of Canada, but Quebec has light so and so, and why not dey smile?

We note from all accounts that Tanlac is a most wonderful medicine, but the wise heads say "leave it alone" if you wish to cut down the H. C. of L.

Our friend Bro. Bert Harris has signed with the Tropical Radio Corporation and sailed from New York some time ago for the fruit belt. If Bert should peg out it won't be on an empty stomach, as he loves fruit. (And ginger cake.)

The time has arrived when our future actions will be judged according to the value of ourselves and the sincerity to the movement of which we are a part. Ed. Note.—Whassa matter, John o. m.? Is the old conscience pricking?

In the early days of wireless it was the outstanding rule to exercise every care to avoid jamming, but of late, the tester, certain operators on boats passing incog. have no regard for rules or laws laid down by the International Conference, and furthermore, care less how often they block general public business. Bro. Clegg classes them as "Yahoos." This is too mild a term for them. What will be done to these gaspipe blowers who are continually breaking all rules, and how are you going to catch them when they are too cowardly to make known their identity? The ocean is full of them; they sleep very little and sit on their keys most of the time, and are, strictly speaking, a bunch of "Hams Fatters." We can safely say that these men are not members of the Union, as Union men are a little more civilized and have at least some respect for themselves, as well as others.

Ed. Note.—That's the way to hand it out.

Ed. Note.—That's the way to hand it out, brother, but whaddye mean by "little" more civilized? Isn't the Union man sitting on top of the world when it comes to being civilized?

We are informed that a great many of the old-timers of the early days of wireless intend subscribing to the McGillivray Fund. This is very appreciative; more so, as these men are old friends of Bro. McGillivray and they are much concerned in offering to do all they can to help out, and when they heard of the circumstances they volunteered themselves and are raising a subscription to be forwarded at an early date. These are the men who wish to come to the aid of an old time friend in distress and do not desire to be left out, and it is their wish to subscribe freely and willingly. Here's hoping that the total shall be a bumper one when finally closed and that Bro. McGillivray and his motherless little ones may be greatly benefited thereby.

To Brother Members. Greetings:

On page 467 of the November Journal there appears, over my name, a list of subscribers to the MacGillivray benefit fund. This list was not published by me, and I know nothing about its origin. Since it is incomplete and misleading I think it should be ignored altogether.

The list of subscribers given below with the one appearing on page 440 of the October Journal constitutes a complete statement of all funds received by me for this deserving cause. All cash has been forwarded to Brother MacGillivray, and it is hoped to publish his acknowledgment of same in January Journal.

The response to this appeal has been—all things considered—quite generous. Brother members on the Great Lakes have made a double response, assistance has been received from brother members of Division No. 65, especially at Cape Race Nfld, Wireless Operators and others out with Division No. 59, all of which has been gratifying to those who had the success of the appeal at heart.

I may state here that a further and very urgent appeal for further funds on behalf of Brother MacGillivray has been sent out. Executive of Division No. 59 is at present considering the giving of a grant from division funds immediately. Such will, no doubt, help Pete a little further along the way—to health and strength—we hope, but unfortunately it may be a good many months before he is able to be around again. Readers have had some idea of what Pete has come through. We have to decide now if we are to leave him to his own resources, broken in health, heavy medical and other expenses to meet, two little children to provide for, inadequate funds, which are ever growing less, in fact, the very end of them is in sight, or are we to do all we can to help him pull through. One way to premptly answer those questions is to skip over these notes and forget that you ever read them—if you can—and the other way is to stop for one minute and consider and, according as the inner man prompts you.

The case of Brother MacGillivray is the most serious and deserving that we know of since the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of Canada came into existence, around twenty years ago.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT WIRELESS DIVISION, No. 65

We must apologize for the historical flavor of these and of last month's notes, due to circumstances beyond our control. It may not be too late, however, to utter a word of commendation for the action of the Canadian delegates to the Toronto convention in choosing Brother Schnur as our Canadian vice-president. More power to his elbow!

A draft of by-laws is being prepared, as we have already mentioned, and suggestions should be sent to the General Secretary. On this and other matters it is particularly desirable that the members in the East Coast District should voice their views. Brother Parkin is still without word from the East, and it is no encouragement for him to have his frequent letters continually ignored.

The suggestion is made that Division 65 adopt a rule of issuing annual membership cards only, as is done by our friends of 59. What about it?

Congratulations are in order for the Point Grey (Vancouver) staff on the installation of plumbing at their station. It does not say much for those who are supposed to guide the destinies of this service that this station should, for so many years, have been completely without any sanitary convenience, and that it was necessary for our Union to push them more than once before they got results.

At one time we had a little regret that the radio of the C. G. M. M. boats was not placed under the control of this service, but now they have got such a name as "the hungry ships" that we are content to let our Marconi brothers keep them. All departments of the Canadian government seem to be tarred with the same brush. -Cert. 22.

British Columbia District

Nominations for the positions of District Chairman and District Secretary for British Columbia District are asked for and should be sent to the General Secretary at an early date. Although any member is, of course, eligible for nomination for either of these two offices, the duties of District Secretary have until now been performed by the General Secretary. Brother Parkin fulfilling the two functions with complete success, and it is not likely that any change in this direction will be desired. The nomination of District Secretary will, therefore, be mainly a matter of form. With regard to the District Chairmanship, it is suggested that it would be advantageous to appoint someone for this position who is conveniently located to confer with the District and General Secretary. But the nomination is free, and in mentioning these considerations it is not desired to impose any restrictions on the choice of candidates. Nominations for the other two members of the District Committee are also requested.

We hope our brothers on the East Coast will soon put their house in order, too, and arrange an early meeting between their District Committee and the local superintendent. There is a feeling at this end that we are not being helped by the East. A copy of the report of the meeting at Victoria has been sent to Barrington Passage, and this District will be glad to afford any further assistance possible.

The sympathy of their many friends in the B. C. District is extended to Mrs. Cole and Brother Lou Cole of Estevan Point on the death of Mrs. Cole's mother, while paying them a visit.

The site for the new power-house at Estevan is now cleared, and its resemblance to the shell-shocked fields of France is said to be very realistic. Good duck shooting on the site is anticipated during the winter. This will be especially useful as both "jitneys" will be too busy being repaired to be able to haul the bag from the other shooting grounds. Brother Emmerson's piano, having at last arrived at Estevan, and Hector Corriveau's brother Arthur having blown in for a visit, things have been humming out there. Arthur is a saxophonist of note, and endeared himself to all at the station. He sometimes carries a flask.

October the eighth and the tenth were fateful days. On the eighth, Brother C. W. Mellish and Miss Doris Bates, and on the tenth Brother Gordon Marwick and Miss Jean Fraser joined their fortunes for better or for worse. Congrats.

At the recent meeting of the District Committee and the local superintendent, one of the many matters discussed was the inadequacy of present accommodation for single men at isolated stations. Brother Jim Harker brought forth a unique suggestion. He proposed that a sort of hotel be built at these points, with a suitable staff, and proper means of recreation provided. On the provision of such accommodation all the delegates were agreed, but the selection of a name for the proposed building proved to be the bone of contention. Opinion was equally divided between "Harker's Hotel" and "Jim's Place" as appropriate appellations. In an effort to remove this deadlock, we are throwing the question open to public discussion, and invite expressions of opinion from all concerned. Also, to illustrate the idea, we shall be glad to receive drawings from our artistic brothers. These must completely picture such a building in actual use, and must include tennis courts, steam-heated swimming bath, billiard room, piano, phonograph, etc., and must show the hypothetical operators taking advantage of these appurtenances The best drawing will be published, if Editor Powers can find the space.

There's an application form under the tuner.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Most of the arguments put forward to show why wages must come down are written. I presume, by people whose wages or salaries are way above the common working man's. I dare say they are not written by workers situated like myself, a man who tries to live decently and provide so that the county need not have to bury us.

LABOR BANK AIDS FARMER CO-OPERATORS

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Co-Operative National bank of Cleveland recently made a loan of $50,000 to the Northwestern Wheat Growers' association, a farmers' co-operative organization, to enable it to market the wheat crop of its members at a fair price, rather than take what the market manipulators were offering.

While the amount of the loan is not large, it is exceedingly important because it marks the beginning of a very significant kind of co-operation between the organized workers and the organized farmers. It also demonstrates the purpose of the Engineers Co-Operative bank to use its large resources to aid producers rather than middlemen and speculators.

E. A. RANDALL SERIOUSLY ILL

The many friends of E. A. Randall, Detroit, will regret to learn that he has been seriously ill and unable to work for several weeks. "Peg" is laid up at his home, 1957 Brainard St., Detroit, for an indefinite time and would appreciate a line from his friends.

We sincerely trust that Bro. Randall will soon be able to get into harness again. In spite of his large family cares. "Peg" has always found time to devote a goodly portion of his time to those in trouble as well as to affairs of the organization.

UNITED PRESS

K. C.-Southwest

This Southwest circuit, we are glad to state, is still 100 per cent loyal to our organization and to each other. It is a great satisfaction to see the boys unanimously aid every good and worthy cause. Not only do they contribute their money to help in every necessary drive, but express by means of the ballot their desire to build up and strengthen our fraternity.

When the call came to assist the broker men on strike, contributions came rolling in and when the weekly assessment plan was announced they did not hesitate to do their duty. When our Bill Young's condition became known it only required a couple of days to see this circuit unanimous in his support mous in his support.

This spirit is so gratifying to any who has the affairs of our organization at heart that to withhold commendable comment would be negligent indeed.

We have experienced two serious incidents recently in our territory wherein the integrity of our Union and its intent and principles has been put to a severe test. In each case our organization has triumphed and so has the employer. In each instance a situation developed where the Union must replace an operator with another man or close the job and throw a man out of work and the company lose a client

In the one case, thanks to the loyalty of the operator who consented to a transfer, we saved a client for our employer and maintained a position for a Union man. In the other case we effected a compromise wherein we retained a client and also the operator's job.

Some of these small town clients are pretty hard fellows to deal with and once in a while they get it in their heads that when they buy the news service they are also buying the operator along with it. They have to be educated on these points. You can't force them to see all of their obligations right off the reel.

It is a fact that the management understands these little obstacles the boys are sometimes compelled to face in serving some of these tank town clients. They have demonstrated their willingness to stand back of us when we are in the right. But in return for this consideration kindly allow me to admonish you to be sure that you are in the right when a controversy arises wherein your Union is called upon to fight for you, lest embarrassing consequences follow.

If a client is not treating fair with

If a client is not treating fair with you do not jump up and kick him on the nose, but just remain after "30" and write a full account of conditions to your circuit chairman, general chairman, super-intendent of telegraph and chief operator. Let them in on the case and you will get a square deal.

Now I want to draw a contrast between our system and Sir Milton Garges' "empire." You all no doubt know Garges. He's the "czar" of the A. P. traffic department. He's supreme. He's the superintendent of telegraph, general chairman and circuit chairman combined. You see, it takes a pretty big man to hold all of those jobs. Let a client of the A. P. bring a charge against an operator and they don't send a company representative or a chairman to investigate the case. Garges' "stool pigeon," or what is generally known as a "T. D. R." is very likely to write a sarcastic letter to the poor down-trodden operator thusly: "What excuse have you to offer? No excuse whatever will be accepted." If he actually doesn't consider the defendant at fault or knows him to be friendly to the A. W. E., he may recommend clemency to His Majdoesn't consider the defendant at fault or knows him to be friendly to the A. W. E., he may recommend clemency to His Maj-esty, Sir Milton, and let him off with a severe reprimand. But if the defendant is known to carry a Union card, he is more than likely to be dismissed with-out an investigation.

So it's plain to see the advantage of having the Union back of you. The Union cannot always protect you against every imaginary wrong. It cannot always prevent you suffering from inconvenience, but you are always assured a just hearing and if necessary—if you are in the right—a fight to the finish in your behalf.

Let us all consider it our duty individually to continually do our utmost in the way of compaigning among the A. P. operators. We must have them next year and, by gosh, they must have us or they will pay the penalty for their indifference.

With the opening of Beaumont, Texas, W. E. Ellis is back with us again.
Since our last report the Fort Worth Press was welcomed to our family. Bill Young initiated them to our particular brand of service, but since Bill's leave on account of his unfortunate physical breakdown, W. L. McAuley, a worthy old war horse, is holding forth there.

R. C. Banner, who had been working extra for the A. P., agreed to cast his lot with us and is doing time at Blackwell.

Pat Hanley blew into K. C. recently and is connected with a news photo service. Incidentally he sat in for "Attorney-General" Daugherty while the latter underwent an operation for tusk extraction. Glad to see you, Pat.

We of this circuit were sorely grieved to hear of President Roscoe Johnson's ill-ness. Every one joins in extending to Bro. and Mrs. Johnson our sincere sympathy and hopes for a speedy recovery. Bro. Johnson is mighty well thought of in this territory and any suffering he must bear brings an equal amount of pain to the heart of each and every one along the line.

Atlanta-South

While recognized as the premier circuit of the South, one enterprising paper takes in more territory when using the United Press Atlanta-Southern group picture, recently printed in the Journal, under the head: "The Fastest Group of Telegraphers in the Country."

With Chief Operator Hip Thomas and E. P. Cox handling the sending end, there's no wonder the quality and quantity of copy on this line stands out so noticeably. For these two likeable and obliging chaps do everything but put it on the mill for the rest of the gang, making a neat copy an easy matter.

Thomas takes a fatherly interest in his boys. Among these "boys" are included H. G. Penrod. Nashville Tennessein, age 62, and "Bill" Neeley, New Orleans bureau, the Babe Ruth of the circuit, a 300-pounder.

The Knoxville News is the latest addition to our list of satisfied clients. The activities of the "midnight marauder" have increased noticeably since R. E. Fine started the report there. Bob is a Fine fellow.

E. J. McBride, Birmingham Post, and Fine are the only unmarried amongst us. Mac is keeping up a flivver, but we fail to find an excuse for Fine.

A. T. Maddux must own a wad of stock in the Anniston Star. He manages to ease out every Saturday p. m. long before the rest of us birds.

J. W. Willis has been seeing the country these past few months. Transferred from Chicago relay to Little Rock, he moved on to Birmingham when Fine went to Knoxville. Now he's "settling down" in East St. Louis.

In D. L. Aaron. Little Rock: "Red" Finnigan, Mobile Item, and W. A. Copeland, Memphis Press, the circuit boasts of an abundance of sunnylocks. The domes of these youths are adorned with enough red (hair) to make Lenin and Trotzky envious.

L. H. Lankford of Knoxville relieved Willis on the Birmingham Post. As our friend Cox puts it, "Lank, old boy, you are in mighty fast company, but durn good company."

CENTRAL NEWS NOTES

The Central News has extended its service to Syracuse and Buffalo, the Journal being the client at the former place and the Courier at the latter. The new circuit proved a hoodoo with regard to getting men; there were four changes at Buffalo alone. L. C. Dean is now there trying his hand at sampling our stuff. J. C. Jones is at Syracuse and S. Rosenfeld at New York.

At Cincinnati, on the West wire, Wm. Gelbel, the champion non, gave way to H. L. Harter.

Jake Bird, the famous linguist and inventor makes the lunch relief on the West wire, and when Jake lights on the wire all the men oil up their machines.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

(Ohio River Circuit)

Meet C. D. Hawkins and the Martins Ferry (Ohio) Times! "Hawk," formerly of Newark, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, opened up recently for the new client.

The boys on the "beautiful Ohio" stream came through with the buck-a-week assessment in fine shape and some even kicked when it was terminated. We want our powder kept dry.

Earl Schultheis, formerly on the Wheeling Telegraph, is the new acquisition on the Marietta Times, Rickes Graham taking over the Wheeling assignment.

C. B. Knickle, formerly of the U. P., is on the job at Ashland, Ky., vice E. F. Mulligan, gone to the "bright lights."

The vote over here was for the increased initiation and dues. The general sentiment expressed is that we don't want to ape A. P. boys who want something for nothing.

A reminder: We are obligated in the matter of furnishing first class union telegraphers to the I. N. S. Members knowing of expert union operators out of work, or desiring to change, should notify the chairman, giving full particulars. Do not recommend shoddy workmen—they reflect on the union. These names, with information, will be filed with proper authorities for use when vacancies occur.

A suggestion: Write to your circuit chief operator, giving your home address and phone number, adding addresses and phone numbers of competent substitutes in case of sudden illness. In an emergency this will save much time and worry on the part of the circuit chiefs.

An employer recently asked the writer: "Why is it that the most intelligent workers are the hardest workers and agitators for their unions?" He thought such workers should "do something for themselves." The answer is simple: Workers who agitate and toil for stronger and better unionism reveal (and develop) their own intelligence. They realize this great truth—that only liberties, privileges and advantages that are held in common are safe from destroying hands. In his hour of trial, no other business man concerns him self with the troubles of his erstwhile successful rival; only workmen have brains enough to do that—to realize that "tomorrow may be my day of distress."

And so we continue without abatement the campaign to organize and schedule the A. P. They need us today; tomorrow we may need them!

PRESS DIVISION DUES

United Press Div. 47 and International News Service Div. 61 dues for 1922 will be $18 for Morse and $15 for printer members. Universal Service Div. 97 members are now voting on the same proposition.

CANADIAN PACIFIC NOTES Montreal

It is a long time since Montreal has been heard from. Here we are again if the waste paper basket does not swallow this copy before it reaches the Journal. Although we are near Christmas and New Year's, and a general election fight now waging in the country, business is not what it should be. The axe has fallen on a few heads in our office, several brothers receiving their notices, amongst whom are Bros. A. Primeau, W. Turner, H. Turner; Sisters L. M. Vibert, I. Giguere, of the Morse, and Sister I. Sorkin of the printer staff.

As this will be my last correspondence let me thank some of our readers who have been kind enough to provide me with some items in the past, but as my time does not permit me to continue to write correspondence. I will leave the task for the Secretary in future.

Note by the Secretary: I am very sorry to see that "Irish" is relinquishing the work of correspondent, but in all justice I must say that through uncontrollable circumstances at Chicago for the last few months it was impossible to publish all notes from districts. I hope that any brother or sister having some news will kindly continue giving them to me until a new correspondent is found. I will do my best to fill the bill.

I take this opportunity to extend to all the best Christmas and New Year's wishes of the Eastern District.

WINNIPEG—The first of a series of dances was held in Odd Fellows Temple, Tuesday, Nov. 22d. The crowd was the largest and jolliest ever, and all who attended pronounced it the very best of the many dances we have given. Music by the Royal Alexandra Orchestra was of such a high order that it would be practically impossible to improve on it. There were in attendance 100 couples, which taxed the hall to capacity, and from a financial standpoint we are on the right side of the ledger with a surplus sufficient to assure the membership and friends that we will be able to carry out our schedule of dances for the winter.

The committee handling the affair was

The committee handling the affair was as follows: The Misses E. Hanson, M. Auld, L. Hiley, A. McLeod and Lillian Tomlinson; Messrs. W. Hughes, R. Gislason, C. E. Malette, F. S. Martin and W. J. Dayles. We must congratulate them for their hard and harmonious work.

Mr. W. G. Barber, general commercial superintendent of Toronto, had completed arrangements to hold a meeting of the commercial employes at Winnipeg the night of our dance, but, like a good sport, Mr. Barber postponed the meeting and attended the dance with the following:

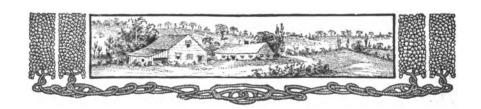

tended the dance with the rollowing:

B. S. Round, traffic superintendent; H.
C. Milne, chief operator; J. Sullivan, district commercial superintendent: George J. Jackson, commercial supervisor, and George A. McDonald, Winnipeg; George
H. Stead, commercial superintendent, Saskatoon; Roscoe W. Ball, commercial supervisor, Toronto, and Mr. F. C. Wells, manager, Port Arthur and Fort William.

ager, Fort Artnur and Fort William.

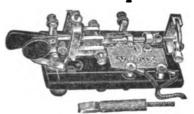

During intermission Mr. Barber made a nice little talk which was well received, and we are of the opinion that his remarks and the attendance of the officials will tend to create a good feeling all around. Flash—"Bucky" Goldovsky introduced the speaker and some declare they could almost see "Bucky" while Bill was on the platform delivering his speech.

A FEW DON'TS

Don't condemn the labor movement because you know of "objectionable features." Every man and every human institution has some imperfections.

Don't "wait for others." Others are waiting for you. Some must be among the first—why not you?

Don't forget that the more bitterly the employer opposes labor unions, the more the employe should support them. There's a financial reason. Think it over.

Don't shirk the moral obligation to do all you can to uphold the dignity of our occupation—to elevate the standard of our living.

Don't be blind to your own interests; unionism helps all workingmen, all society, the home and state.

Don't let so-called "independence" prevent you from being unselfish. We are all dependent on someone or something. "No man stands alone." Let's get closer together.

Don't forget that bricklayers, plasterers, tinsmiths, stonecutters and in some places, hodcarriers, receive more pay than telegraphers, and don't forget the reason—strong organization.

Don't say "I got along without a union for 5 (or 55) years it is useless to me; unions can't accomplish their purpose." They do-Over seven million union men say so!

We don't know which of these original features are responsible for the quick success of our CUSHION-KEY as opinions seem to be equally divided on the rubber cushion shock absorber, that prevents jolts and jars on the nerves; the adjustable lever, that affords a change of position, as the fingers commence to tire; the triple spring vibrator, with its great carrying capacity, or its compact and beautiful construction.

"COMPANY UNION" DRAGS SERFDOM FROM THE 16TH CENTURY CLOSET

Attempt of Industrial Barons to Renew Ancient Control over Workers Made Hopeless by Solidarity of Legitimate Trade Unions, Successful resistance by legitimate trade unions against attempts of greedy employers to break down hard-won living standards of the workers has given palsy to promoters of so-called "company unions." These evangelists of sixteenth-century feudalism know the bedrock principles upon which the "company union" rests are low wages, long hours of labor and absolute control by the company of working conditions, and complete mastery over the workers' lives.

"Company Union" Not Voluntary

They well understand that no man voluntarily and willingly accepts such rule. And they do not undervalue the moral effect upon the victimized workers of successful resistance to tyranny of other men of labor who are enrolled in the legitimate organizations of the working people. Hence they are fearful; hence in their fear they evangelize and exhort their laborers with blather on "loyalty to the company," "fealty to the company's interest," "fair treatment for the company."

They clear the factory floors for bi-monthly dances at which the president of the company and his wife are the guests of honor and receive the homage of the workers and their families. Then when they think the proper "loyal" sentiment has been aroused they cut wages or lengthen hours through a "company meeting," at which they are told, through their alleged "shop committee," that the company needs money to pay dividends, or to increase "capital investment," or to "extend invested functions," or "surplus for fixed charges," all of which is as Sanskrit to the "loyal" workers—just what it is intended to be.

Workers Always Lose

Still the workers realize, even though they do not grasp the riddle of terms, that it is a queer sort of union or partnership in which they always lose and the company always wins.

That single ray of mental light, that slight vision of unfair division, portends the breaking up of the "company union." And that is what is taking place now, because the "company union" is bound to go upon the rocks the moment it steers its course by the chart upon which it is organized—tearing down the living standard of the workers.

This purpose may be hidden for a time in insurance schemes, in profit-sharing devices that won't bear close inspection, in "friendly visiting" and welfare work (which, in many instances, is merely a clock for prying into the private affairs of the workers to obtain information as to their methods of life), in plastering the workroom walls with "golden rule" mottoes, in which the workers are urged to give the best that is in them as a proof of "loyalty" to the company. The policy of skinning labor is made a science in the "company union" and every suggestion to further that policy finds a ready sale and a liberal reward. The basic theory of that science is that the workers are there to give and the company to take.

More Power Than Feudal Lord

The "company unions" wield their greatest sway in times of industrial depression for the reason that the industrial baron exercises a greater power over the being of the worker than did the feudal baron. The serf of old could not be chased off the land to which he was attached. At least his sustenance was assured. The industrial serf has no land and he may be driven off the job whenever the industrial baron so wills it. Not only that, the fellow may be blacklisted with other industrial barons, boycotted, hounded and even jailed if his baron wishes to use all the industrial and legal resources he possesses as a baron.

Trade Union the Leash

There is only one restraining influence which holds him in leash.

That is the legitimate trade union, the form of which he copies and the principles of which he must finally adopt if he would have industrial peace and do justice both to the company and to the workers.

HOW "COMPANY UNIONS" STRIP THE WORKERS

Consitutions, by-laws and agreements of "company unions" are usually drafted by a corporation attorney, stressing with legal seriousness the hocus pocus of "workers' rights" and the elaborate method of electing representatives to consider industrial relations with the "president and officers of the company," and giving in minute detail directions for preparing the ballot and voting, to "insure absolute secrecy," as if to guard against the ridiculous contingency of the company "stuffing the box."

The hollow pretense of democratic government suggested by the regulations for voting is forcefully exposed when placed beside "the right to hire and discharge shall be vested exclusively in the company and shall not be abridged by anything contained herein." That section is the key to the economic door which locks out all the high-sounding blarney about workers' rights, fair elections for representatives and power to negotiate wage scales. Considered in conjunction with the usual provisions that the company shall bear all expenses of joint meetings, traveling expenses of workers' representatives and pay for time lost attending joint meetings, the sham is complete.

These are the outstanding facts in the "company union" which expose its victous hyprocrisy:

The company does the firing absolutely.

The company has equal representation with the workers in all steps leading to a change in the wage scale governing the workers, and no change can be made except upon the vote of at least one company man.

There is no defense fund and can be none.

The "company union," therefore, by defining the worker's "rights" and administering them, renders him economically helpless.

EDITORIALS

In a letter to members of his cabinet urging them to proceed with "repair and construction work" so as to afford relief to the unemployed, THE PRESIDENT the president says:

The response of employing interests throughout the country to the appeal for special efforts to afford employment to the greatest possible extent during the winter has produced highly gratifying results. Thanks to this fine co-operation, the situation has been much less difficult during the winter thus far than it might otherwise have been."

Wo do not know what the President may regard as "highly gratifying results," but it is a fact that there is more unemployment at this moment than there was the day the unemployment conference adjourned.

This tragic situation is due to the employing interests' flat refusal to indulge in the "fine co-operation" mentioned by the President.

For a few weeks following the unemployment conference there was a nation-wide drive to find work for the unemployed and tangible results were secured. Many employers co-operated in the most commendable fashion but the majority—and more especially the big employers like the commercial telegraph corporations, railroads, the coal operators and the steel combine—did nothing, or next to nothing. Instead of attempting to relieve the situation they took advantage of the workers' plight to beat down wages.

As a consequence, what promised to be a fine movement to render a great social service has slowed down almost to the stopping point.

Of course the President knows all this, but he is evidently more interested in pinning a distinguished service medal on the palpitating bosom of the "employing interests" than in finding jobs for the jobless or getting the facts to the people.

Why is "big business" so influential with the men who run the government?

Because "big business" is always on the job politically and supports its friends with dollars on election day.

Why is labor so lacking in influence with the men who run the government?

Because labor is not "always on the job," politically, and does not make proper use on election day of the millions of ballots it controls.

How can labor change this situation and control the men who run our government to treat it with the respect it deserves?

By using its ballots as intelligently as "big business" uses its dollars.

"Big business" spends millions of dollars on each election day. Labor wastes millions of ballots on election day.

Some of labor's ballots are never cast. Their owners even refuse to register. More of labor's ballots are thrown away on unworthy candidates.

"Big business" seldom wastes its dollars. It makes no mistakes in its candidates.

If labor is to be free it must learn to use its ballots. There is no time to be lost. We must do it now.

Every division of the C. T. U. A. between the Atlantic and the Pacific should see to it that all members register and vote.

That's the way to win the battle, and it's the only way.

Organization activity among Canadian telegraphers is more noticeable today than at any time in the past 20 years.

Men and women who heretofore have left it all to "George" are now taking a keen interest in the affairs of THEIR organization.

The recent abortive attempt to disrupt our ranks has had the gratifying tendency of making real Union members of us all. An intelligent membership, ever alert, gives us that sense of power not experienced by other organizations whose membership is not thoroughly awake.

Organization requires sacrifices of many sorts.

A man or woman in an organization relinquishes part of his or her individual rights and contributes much. We get it all back, however, in the direct power of the organization and indirectly in the sense it gives us of influence as individuals.

Economically the Union is an army and the rest of the workers are a mob; and the smallest army has a terrific advantage over the largest mob.

Don't worry; don't get excited; be unafraid and don't let anybody bluff you!

The Western Union Telegraph Company, an alien corporation, owns and operates telegraph lines from Moncton, New Brunswick, to North Sydney, Nova Scotia.

The Canadian National Telegraphs, owned by the people of Canada, operates commercial lines from Prince Rupert, British Columbia, to Campbellton, New Brunswick.

Is there any reason why the Canadian government should not take over the Western Union lines in Eastern Canada and thereby acquire a transcontinental line of communication?

tinental line of communication?

It is the honest belief of a large majority of our government telegraph employees that such a move would entirely do away with deficits in the governmental operation of telegraphs.

Why permit an alien corporation to squat on the choicest telegraph preserve in this country when we need that preserve to make governmental operation of telegraphs a financial success?

of telegraphs a financial success?
THE GOVERNMENT MIGHT WELL
CONSIDER THE APPOINTMENT OF

AN INTELLIGENT CANADIAN TELEGRAPHER TO THE CANADIAN NATIONAL TELEGRAPHS BOARD.

Our program for 1922 includes, among other things, a general tightening up of lines—co-ordination of divisions.

The first step along these lines should be the formation of District Councils in the larger centers. Joint meetings of the various divisions under a District Council roof once a month will get us away to a good start.

The second step will be affiliation of the District Councils with the local trades councils and assemblies.

These assemblies are entitled to our moral and financial backing and they in turn can be of invaluable assistance to us.

Propaganda to the contrary notwithstanding, we fail to notice any decline in the high cost of living.

Telegraphers, in common with other wage earners, are working for less money now than was received in dollar value wages seven years ago. Old Man Hy Cost is outdistancing us. Rents go up again in May.

The persons disseminating the decreased living cost propaganda know it to be nothing but twaddle. However, they have great faith in the continued gullibility of the common herd who are profit-producers but not profit-sharers.

Nowadays workers try to collect enough wages to enable their families to live in decency. Seldom are they successful.

Federal and municipal statistics continue to show it takes in the neighborhood of $2,500 a year to maintain a family of five in decency.

Telegraphers are expected to maintain themselves and families on $1,800, and more often less.

Summing up we find the telegraphers working for unskilled wages and less than a decent living wage.

AGITATE, EDUCATE, AND GO TO YOUR NEXT MEETING!

This writer apparently lost his rabbit's foot, with the result that twothirds of his family have been in the hospital for two weeks. Correspondence has been woefully neglected but we are happy to report the family well on the road to recovery and correspondence again has our attention.

Henry Ford has grown enormously wealthy through giving his workers a square deal. America's first (official) billionaire has now instituted the six-hour day for all Ford plant workers.

Illinois society has a new heroine—Miss Perene Prince, society girl—who lost three fingers while patriotically helping break a confectionery strike.

Lest we forget! In 1886 men went to the gallows for demanding the 8-hour day. In 1922 some telegraphers object to mere union-dues paying to maintain and shorten that period.

The Washington arms conference has barred gas from civilized warfare. But eight American city police departments have adopted it for use against strikers.

Wisconsin farmers, who gave Harding an immense plurality, are setting $7 a head, net, for their cattle. Your butcher bill dropped 1,000 percent?

Michigan farmers get $1 a bushel for their potatoes, which sell in Washington at $6. Why WORK for a living?

John McParland, president of the Typo-graphical Union, charges that employers who want to sign up with his union are prevented by pressure from "open shop" bankers.

Oklahoma City union printers were asked by the mayor to give up holding a street mass meeting because he feared it would provoke lawlessness on the part of the open shop elements. Well?

"Big Six" Typographical Union, of New York, through arbitration, retains its present wage scale of $50 a week, having demonstrated that the publishing business is in a "wholesome condition" and that the cost of living has not "materially decreased."

In its first year the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' Bank acquired resources of $10,000,000, paid 10 percent stock dividends and an additional depositors' dividend of 1 percent over the pledged 4 percent. So does Labor acquire brains and approach its Promised Land.

Eight political movements appeal especially to American labor for support, not counting the Demo-Republican Party. Divided, we hang separately, with open shop judges on the bench and open shop officers directing the militia just where to plant their bayonets.

"The people of America are mentally soft. They don't want to think, so they create for themselves a world of silly, facile optimism."—Prof. S. J. Hume, University of California.

Art Young perpetrated this one:

as he slumped into a kitchen chair.
"There you go!" shouted his spouse.
"Here I've been standing over a hot stove all day, while you've been working in a nice cool sewer!"

For the more "advanced" student-readers among the telegraphers, I earnestly recommend reading "Back to Methuselah," by George Bernard Shaw (Brentano's, New York). Here is the very best thing from the pen of one of the world's keenest, brainiest writers. Another good one is "The Book of Life," an entirely new sort of book, for working men, by Upton Sinclair (Appeal Pub. Co., Girard, Kan.).

There are now 22,373 publications all sorts in the United States. Two-thi all sorts in the United States. Two-tnirds of the daily newspapers are evening papers, with a combined morning and evening circulation of 12,000,000 a day. At one time, when the attacks of profiteers against the Hearst papers were at their height, the New York American sold a million copies in one day.

Much opposition to the "Agricultural Bloc" from the special interests. Do they propose disarmament—abolition of their own (industrial and financial) blocs? No—they see only the shadow of a "Labor Bloc" looming—a Farmer-Labor (producers') Bloc. And so they rave.

We elect a Wilson to keep us out of war—and plunge in. We elect a Harding to keep us out of the League of Nations —and we plunge into a new league minus the good points of the old. "Tis a topsy-turvy world, my masters."

What message would you give to the world if you were permitted universal publicity for one expression just before your death? Here's mine—
"Close your ears when men speak with words; concentrate with all the intensity your faculties are capable of upon their ACTIONS. Words are made to conceal men's thoughts—their actions speak in tones of thunder."

Tommie McAdams, new head of the American Bankers' Association, wants to cut wages to restore prosperity. He fails to show how it will work, however. Glowingly he pointed to the 23,000 banks associated with his organization to protect the banking game, while "viewing with alarm the power exercised by organized labor." The banks were never more prosperous than now—labor never worse off. The reason? The workers are only a tenth organized—ALL BANKS ARE ORGANIZED.

Arthur Brisbane, in his "Today" column, commenting on attempts to form "one big labor party," declares the attempt will fail because labor is not competent to govern, having demonstrated its inability to govern itself by not "sticking together." Those competent to govern, he declared, are "on the job" in this country, governing in their own interest. Brisbane is both right and wrong: Labor is incompetent to govern now because labor constantly has its mind poisoned by misinformation; its unity disrupted by highly paid, highly trained, secret agents of the enemy. Whether corruptionists now "on the job" of governing are competent may be determined at a glance: If the chief aim of government is production of wild disorders, myriad highway robberies, widespread unemployment, general suffering and starvation, universal graft and ing and starvation, universal graft and corruption, then by all means the pres-ent governing class is exceedingly well

"Money is just as important as it ever was. Without it, nothing can be done for anyone or for any country. Remarks from the lips of men, especially from those who know nothing concerning their subject, amount to comparatively little. Money talks louder and more effectively than anything else."—Judge E. H. Gary, ad-dressing the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Institute.
Yes—money talks louder than Truth,
Justice, Honesty, Christianity. It speaks —through the whine of kept news and editorial writers; through the staccato tones of machine guns; through the foul mouths of unfaithful Iscarlots in public office; through masked men at midnight.
And at its command Gardens of Eden are turned into Hells—like Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Colorado! Virginia and Colorado!

There are as many substitutes for justice as there are for genuine foods—and that's a lot. Rockefeller, Swift & Co., and the Western Union have tried fake unions for the genuine fraternal brother-hoods and have reaped their harvests of bitter fruit. Allen, the whippersnapper governor of Kansas, has tried his "industrial court" and ended by sending bayonets against the outraged womanhood of Kansas. The knell of Swift, Carlton, Rockefeller, Allen, Gary & Co. is sounding; the pity is they prefer to be wiped out rather than tolerate simple justice. No one can understand the psychology of these men any more than we understand the psychology of Napoleon, Kaiser Wilhelm, Czar Nicholas or Woodrow Wilson.

Within the past year more than 100 new

Within the past year more than 100 new magazines have appeared on the news-stands—and all are so much trash. The idea being to provide you with reading matter of the propaganda-worthless variety. since you have become disgusted with the S. E. Post and other trash, so that you will not discover the really constructive publications. Try reading these: The Nation, Labor, Hearst's International, Cosmopolitan, New Republic, Pearson's, Labor Age, Liberator, Good Morning. You won't always agree with them, but they'll all give you mental stimulation.

Personal responsibility: "Act well your part; therein the glory lies." You hear Personal responsibility: "Act well your part; therein the glory lies." You hear this call to assume your rightful share of responsibility, now from Wilse, now from Seefred; again from Powers and Schnur; from another angle, from Pinson and Boole. Who are these men? Ignorant boobs? Our enemies? No; these are the men we love and honor; whose opinions we deeply respect. Then why do we not heed? Why do we continue drifting idly, refusing to accept personal responsibility for the growth and strengthening of our organization? Why do we continue to permit our union to lag because of its cheapness, lack of aggressiveness, inablity to expand and control working conditions and wages in the craft? Why dowe continue to haggle and halt, hesitate and wobble when the pathway lies straight ahead: The Highroad of Personal Effort? Effort?

The day when a member of our union could continue in respectability and still confess ignorance of union affairs; spend income on frivolous things and stray behind in dues; "shoot the roll" on a spindle-legged horse and go on the war path because of an assessment; criticize action of the officials and take no part in their of the officials and take no part in their selection; find fault with the slow growth of the union, yet fear to ask a non-union "friend" (?) to join—that day has gone. The new order is sharp and clear: Show results—make a dent in the enemy lines—THEN tell us what a fine union man you are!

The questions of the hour: If a thing is true, why not speak it aloud? If the shoe fits, why deny ownership? If you cannot deceive your neighbors (and you can't), why try to deceive yourself? If you are not a real man, do you imagine even the blind can fail to perceive it? If you are spineless, weak-hearted and traitor-minded, do you imagine, O hollow headed one, that the fact is not written on your face for all to see? Why attempt with sophistries to justify your carelessness, shiftlessness, low selfishness, humiliating cowardice, mean secret actions, your iating cowardice, mean secret actions, your contemptible ignorance? Poor mental child that you are! All the world reads you aright and understands far better than you are capable of understanding yourself!

Appreciation of the stand by the Scripps-McRae newspapers in favor of organized labor and against the open shop movement was expressed in a resolution passed last week by the Toledo Central Labor Union and forwarded to the Toledo News Bee and the Scripps-McRae officers. The resolution, which urges that organized labor throughout the country should commend the attitude of the Scripps papers follows:

Journal of the Trades and Labor Congress Will Be Issued Monthly

MAGAZINE

Ottawa, Ontario.—Born—The Canadian Congress Journal, official magazine of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. The publication is the climax of resolutions adopted at the Winnipeg convention of the congress last August, which acted upon a recommendation of the executive council that "the time has arrived when the congress should have an official journal which could be placed in the hands of our membership and furnish them with necessary information to combat antiunion propaganda and also to acquaint them with developments taking place in other countries of benefit to the workers."

The policy of the official magazine will at all times be controlled by the executive council of the congress and will harmonize with the policies and declarations of the annual conventions of that body. It will be the endeavor of the council to make the Journal the medium through which the workers' legislative desires shall be given the greatest possible publistic. The congress primarily is inter-

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU IS FRISCO'S NEED

San Francisco is in need of an employment bureau to serve as headquarters for broker and press members on the coast. The writer has long been of the opinion that a little effort on the part of two or three would crystalize the recognized need of better co-operation.

In Chicago and New York the broker divisions have built their strong organizations around the headquarters employment bureau. It has been of inestimable value to the membership as well as to the employing broker houses and press asso-

With but little cost to the individual coast members, it would be possible to establish a similar division. The Western Broker Division has already gone on record as being willing to co-operate to the extent of allowing coast broker operators to establish a Rocky Mountain Broker Division Broker Division.

Why not go a step further and get the Why not go a step further and get the broker and press operators together and form a clearing house through which jobs may be cinched for union members? Let's get together. Call it the San Francisco District Council, or make it the Rocky Mountain Broker Division, whatever you prefer, but do something. A union member out of employment now is left high and dry and must rely on his individual efforts to get a job. No check is kept on vacancies that should be filled by union men.

The situation calls for action. Talk it over with your brother broker or press operator.

WIRELESS MARKET REPORTS USED BY MANY AGENCIES

The wireless is now being used by State and Federal agencies to broadcast national and local agricultural market reports throughout virtually the entire country. Reports on the national markets are dispatched daily by the United States Department of Agriculture from wireless stations of the Post Office Department at Cincinnati, Omaha, Washington, North Platte, Nebr.: Rock Springs, Wyo.: Elko, Nev., and Reno, Nev. National market reports are also received by state bureaus of markets and agricultural colleges, supplemented with local market reports, and relayed by wireless telegraphy and telephone to farmers, shipping associations, newspapers, banks, and other agricultural interests.

USED RADIOTELEPHONE TO SEND WEATHER FORECASTS AND WARNINGS

The air mail radio station in the Post Office Department at Washington is now broadcasting weather forecasts and warnings of the Weather Bureau, United States, Department of Agriculture, by radiotelephone instead of by radiotelegraph. These reports are sent out for the District of Columbia, Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia, eastern Pennsylvania, western Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Is sending out this information a wave length of 1,160 meters is used and all receiving instruments as far west as Ohio if properly keyed may be used to receive the reports, which are sent out at 10 a. m. and at 9:50 p. m.

MESSAGES OVER TROLLEY WIRES

Representatives of four big Eastern railroads and a party of radio experts and engineers at Schenectady, N. Y., recently participated in a test of a new communicating system for electric railroads by talking from a moving trolley on the Schenectady Railroad to a substation three miles away.

The trolley wire, carrying current to the electric engine or trolley car, is used as a carrier of telephone communication by means of another current of different frequency, which is superimposed on the wire and travels along it.—Telegraph and Telephone Age.

SHUN THE FLOATER

The operator who carries a C. T. U. A. card and goes to work for a news service or any other concern and deliberately lays down on the job, leaving the em-ployer in an embarrassing condition, is not fit to be a member of our union.

not fit to be a member of our union.

Whenever an operator who is a member of the C. T. U. A. is found guilty of this sort of low treachery he ought to be expelled from the union.

There are cases on record where "floaters" who are members of the union have deliberately and premeditatedly "laid down" on an important news service job. Such men are not only unfit to be members of our organization but they are not fit to associate with decent union men and they should be shunned and ostracized by all good union men.

Gustav Schultz, for many years manager of the Western Union at Galveston, Texas, and well known throughout the southwest, died suddenly in that city on the night of December 18th, aged 61. Burial was in Galveston the following day. Deceased is survived by several cousins in Galveston and Houston.

"Gus" Schultz, as he was familiarly known, had a wide acquaintance among telegraphers. He had been connected with the Western Union in Galveston ever since he was a boy. He started in as messenger, became chief clerk to the manager and finally manager. When J. C. Smith, who was manager at Galveston for a long time, was appointed manager of the Chicago office of the Western Union, Schultz succeeded him as manager at Galveston.

PERTINENT OBSERVATIONS

(By "Texan")

A press operator without a card is a bit short-sighted as to what progress is. He certainly fails to recognise the well known fact that it is the C. T. U. A. that keeps up wages.

The C. T. U. A. is twenty years old, having been organized in the spring of 1902. It has had many ups and downs but it is still doing business at the same old stand and

It has benefited the commercial telegraphers enormously.

Get an Annual Card. You might as well and get the card question off your mind for an entire year. Taking out an Annual Card also swells the amount in our treasury. We have two splendid executive officers at the head of the organization, so let's encourage them.

Every member of the union should try to get another member. If this plan is persistently adhered to we will soon double our membership. That is what we want to do. We have seen other labor unions increase their membership by leaps and bounds; why can't we do the same thing? Every member ought to get on the job of organizing and make 1922 a record year for new members.

Show your international officers that you appreciate them and have confidence in them by boosting the membership. I venture that every member can get at least one new member.

The grand old O. R. T. is way ahead of us numerically and financially. We ought to try to catch up with that splendid organization. The O. R. T., too, has had its ups and downs, but it's still on its way.

There should be no such thing as a broker operator without a card. Membership in the C. T. U. A. is like an accident insurance policy—it protects you in sunshine and rain.

The C. T. U. A. is an organization that has got to keep going forward. Therefore, it is the bounden duty of all members to keep it on the go. Judging the records of other labor unions, we ought to have one of the strongest unions, numerically and financially, in America.

Telegraphy is the highest technical science known to man. Therefore, all classes of telegraphers ought to be paid a scale of wages commensurate with their great skill. It is up to the commercial telegraphers as a body to make the C. T. U. A. what it ought to be.

Where there's a will there's a way and eternal vigilance is the price of human liberty. If you have the will to do you can build up the organization; if you value liberty you will jealously safeguard the interests of your union.

Persistency and consistency, thou art jewels! Many a battle hast thou won for workers and tollers. Thou knowest not a shirker or a slacker but to laugh them to scorn. Energy, enthusiasm, work keeps the world going. This trinity of human endeavor put to work on organization will bring results.

GENERAL LABOR NOTES

British airplane operators and mechanicians have formed a trade union to protect the interests and remedy the grievances of the aerial taxi drivers. The present pay of pilots is f12 a week.

The hotel maids of Sacramento, Cal., have nearly a 100 per cent union. Practically all the large hotels employ union maids.

The $400,000 labor temple dedicated to trade unionism in Portland, Ore., has been completed. It is said to be one of the finest structures of its kind in the country.

The 145,000 workers of the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania will quit work on April 1st, unless a satisfactory wage agreement has been reached with the coal operators by that date. This ultimatum to the operators was decided upon at the closing session of the wage convention held at Shamokin, Pa.

Organized labor will not submit to "this new snare for labor's despoilment," Samuel Gompers asserted in a statement issued through the State Federation of Labor of New York, attacking the proposal to introduce a bill in the legislature compelling the incorporation of trade unions.

Secretary Hoover announces that the government has been advising the storing of coal in preparation for a prospective strike on April 1st, and that the Interstate Commerce Commission has sent letters to industry and utility companies advising them to take the same step.

Roger W. Babson, economic statistician, said at a recent meeting of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, that "There will be no great revival of business until 1923."

Commissioner Coler of New York City told directors of the Welfare Bureau of New York City that the worst unemployment situation of the winter had descended upon New York. There are more than 200,000 unemployed in the city, among whom are 75,000 ex-service men.

The Dominion government approved sweeping measures for the relief of unemployment throughout Canada. The plan is to be financed through issuance of Federal Warrants and makes special provision for Canadian and British Warveterans and will be in force until March 31st. The new legislation binds the federal government to reimburse municipal authorities to the extent of one-half of their outlay for unemployment relief in the case of ex-soldiers, provincial authorities to assume the other half.

According to a report published, plans

According to a report published, plans for a coalition of all factors in public life friendly to labor have been instituted by heads of fifteen or sixteen railroad unions and invitations extended for a general conference to be held in Chicago on February 20th to perfect such an organization. The purpose of forming such an amalgamation, according to the report, is to further the interests of labor and to throw the support of labor to candidates for public office who are favorable to it, regardless of political party.

HE'S IN AGAIN (By Jack Martine)

We are glad to note the reception and acceptance of the application of "Eddie" Hodnett, of Keech & Co. "Eddie" is an ex-official of the alleged opposition, but that last speech of Chairman Mahan in December, where he stated that they would make up the difference of the salary accepted by one of their few members, for a day's work, out of the already meager treasury, to what one of our brothers received in the same house (a matter of $1.50), was too much for "Eddie." Brother Hodnett showed his appreciation at being taken into the fold by securing a regular job for one of our waiting list. "Atta boy, Ed.

The mid-winter vacation was never so popular as this year. What with Wagner, Dier, Sugarman, Walsh, Cohen (not W. W.), Andrews, and a few smaller fly "taking the gate" in January, the hotels at the Southern resorts were swamped with reservations—to say nothing of the Mills' hotels and Salvation Army lodging houses.

With four Sundays and two holidays this was the idealest month—except for the over-crowded waiting list.

The collapse of E. D. Dier & Co. came as a severe shock to the craft down the "street," throwing as it did some 50 giltedged telegraphers out of employment. Their only consolation was the satisfaction that they had worked for a "real white firm." We are gratified to know that nearly all of the N. Y. force has been placed, through the E. B. D., of course, as was the case with the Wagner boys. Among the number placed from Dier's are: Kelleher, Barrett, Sedgwick, Henshaw, Tate, Gallagher, McNaughton, Quinn and Coogan. "Jack" Hummell and "Bogey" Nelson have embarked in the brokerage business for themselves, securing a membership on the American Cotton Exchange. The saddest loser by the fallure was "Mickey, the Cave Man."

Walter Lynch, one of the "since organized"

Walter Lynch, one of the "since organized" members, made a desirable change from Laidlaw & Co. (where he had been 12 years) to Halle & Steiglitz.

Fred Gore "hooked in" on a regular job at H. B. Willis & Co., ousting a non-carder. This is as it should be.

We regret to say that some of the younger element, and also one or two of the elder members, are canvassing the houses down here, and leaving their names and addresses, notwithstanding the repeated warnings from H. Q. to refrain from this pernicious habit of the Middle Ages. This is no way to keep up the salaries some of the old gamecocks secured for you. After the first year on the block, you don't notice it, say I.

"Jack" Rutter has added his name to the Free Lances, after an extended sojourn at Ware & Trantor. He should worry, as he gets calls day and night for his super services. Harry Musser also severed his connection as c. o. with this firm on the first of the month. Good luck, Harry.

The New York Stock Exchange is just completing a fine large new addition of 22 floors on their Wall Street frontage.

The New York Cotton Exchange has contracted for a new 25-story building on the site of the present building.

The old outside curb market is now under cover in its fine new commodious building.

The mammoth new Cunard building, the big new Federal Reserve building and many other improvements all indicate a very busy future for the financial district.

Drastic reforms are under way in the New York Stock Exchange. Means of preventing illegal trading by members, so as to insure fair execution of buying and selling orders for securities, and the wiping out of bucket shops throughout the country were disclosed by Seymour L. Cromwell, president of the New York Stock Exchange, at the ninth annual dinner of the Association of Stock Exchange Firms at the Hotel Astor February 4th. Excerpts from his speech are as follows: as follows:

"The time has come when the members must collectively assure themselves of the condition of one another's affairs. I, for one, stand absolutely for such a regular examination of the condition of Stock Exchange firms.

"The Stock Exchange has waged a continuous war for years against the bucket shops. Recent experience has shown that ingenious minds have developed methods of bucketing that seem to come within the law, or at least in which it is difficult to invoke the law. Yet these methods are abhorrent morally and in contravention of the spirit of fair trading. Against this new peril the Stock Exchange has set its face. The stocks bucket for clients must be carried for clients. Stock Exchange has set its face. The stocks bought for clients must be carried for clients, not only by members of the Stock Exchange, but by all brokers who have the remotest connection with the Stock Exchange. No Stock Exchange can evade the responsibility for the names that are placed on its books.

"How can the Stock Exchange successfully repudiate the bucket shop on the outside when some Stock Exchange firms accept the accounts of houses doing this dishonest business? The excuse that they do not know, will not hold. They should know.

"I should like to suggest to officers of banks that they be extremely cautious in recommending some dealers in securities. This has been at times responsible for the distribution of securities of doubtful value."

The Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York is out with an announcement that it has tried to protect the public against bucket shops and irresponsible brokers. Also that it has taken an active part in assisting to frame legislation against bucket shops and has been instrumental in framing laws which subsequently have been used as models for similar legislation throughout the country. •

Whit is a prince of good fellows, has unusual ability and still greater success is sure to come. to come.

Many telegraphers get into a rut and make no effort to get out. Many of them have ability, but fall to successfully sell their services to the best advantage and fall to reap a just reward. I suggest that those of us who have ability and yearning for something better get together and form a Self-Help Club and see if we cannot devise ways and means of forging further to the front.

Seventeen years ago Henry Ford was unable to raise enough money to buy a chicken for Thanksgiving dinner, and no one would let him have one on credit.

Lo and behold, today he is the richest man in the world. America's miracle man!

Last year when the business depression was at its worst, certain powerful banking interests thought they had a strangle hold on Henry, but he broke their hold and threw them off so easily, it was laughable.

He ordered his immense stock of cars shipped to dealers and sold at auction and things were soon booming again.

Henry Ford was and is the quintessence of enthusiasm—as all the world knows. In the days of his difficulties and disappointments and discouragements, when he was wrestling with his balky engine—and wrestling likewise with poverty—only his inexhaustible enthusiasm saved him from defeat.

Come on, boys, let us generate a little of this enthusiasm stuff, and put the organization on a larger, stronger basis. We have it in us and can do it if we get away from this stolid old indifference. Each one can do his share, the results will be pleasing and easier to obtain than you think.

Don't delay. Get busy.

HERE AND THERE

On December 15th last the heavy hitting center fielder, Bill Conry, was sold by the Boston Americans to the New York Americans for $100,000 and is now in captivity here in New York. Bill says he is tired of Boston baked beans anyway and vows he is going to take it easy for a while, but Whit vows Bill is going to clean up with men on the bases or pass on to the minors. Bill should prove as heavy and consistent a slugger as Babe Ruth. There will be many opportunities to prove his worth and we need his help and assistance in carrying forward the good work we have now started.

C. H. Gessner has been sold to Savannah

C. H. Gessner has been sold to Savannah in the South Atlantic league and J. M. Fletcher has been banished to Charlotte. Manager Dunn says there are a lot more who are going to get the gate if they don't brace up and help things along.

The big leagues are now commencing to get ready for the coming season. Every one is figuring on the chances of his favorite team winning the pennant. He knows every member of the team must do his utmost all the time in order to help the team come out in front. He knows the weakness of any man on the team weakens the chances of the team just that much. team just that much.

So it is with us. Those of us who are indifferent are simply holding back the organisation, blocking our success, handicapping our work. Each one of us should brace up and help all he can. Voluntary work will put us to the front. ENTHUSIASM AND TEAM WORK by all members will soon show wonderful results. show wonderful results.

What are we waiting for? Why don't we go ahead?

When Paul Schnur was here last fall and made his celebrated "spell-binder" speech, one of the arguments he made on the union label should live long in our minds.

We like people to patronize our labor and we should reciprocate by insisting on the union label on everything we buy.

The union label is a positive indication of progressiveness, fair treatment, the best goods possible to make, and we are traitors to the cause if we do not insist on the union label

This indifference is not fair to our brother workers and the firms fair enough to employ them. Let us take this matter more seriously to heart and be more careful to look for the union label.

We have a few order clerks that would like to slip into a job. Will you do your share to get them in? Don't let any chance to get them in escape.

There are too many non-members around the street that are taking a sleigh ride behind the Union. Our good work has put thousands of dollars in their pockets and increased their importance wonderfully.

Why they are so devoid of principle, understanding and sentiment is hard to understand

Their living, their very existence, happiness and prosperity depends entirely on 'he amount of their earnings.

Each of our members should spot these non-members and get them to sign on the dotted line. Don't wait for someone else to do it. Do it yourself. dotted line. Don't wai do it. Do it yourself.

If you will lay for them pay day you will be surprised how easy it is to turn the trick.

Don't wait, get hot on their trail immediately.

On January 1st, an agreement between the Order of Railroad Telegraphers and the Pennsylvania System, covering all lines east and west, became effective.

Each region will have its own issue of the schedule contract in which will appear the rules covering the entire system and the wage scale affecting each position in that particular region.

The General Committee, the General Chairman, and President Manion, who assisted the committee with advice and counsel, are to be congratulated upon the successful conclusion of an agreement and the management is to be commended for the readiness displayed to recognize and negotiate.

Not many years ago the Santa Fe was intensely hostile to the O. R. T., but today it is 100 per cent organised there with a division of over 5,000 members.

This shows what organisation will do. Let us get busy and do likewise!

The spectacle of the railroad unions successfully bucking the government at Washington should be most encouraging and gratifying to all true Americans.

The way they got a raise from President Wilson and the way they have successfully staved off wage cuts, open shops, etc., in the face of the bitterest and strongest opposition imaginable shows what organized labor can do. Strikes and disorganization are seldom necessary and seldom successful. Tact and nerve will do the trick if intelligently handled.

But it takes 100 per cent organization. Big efforts and big results can come only from big organizations successfully handled by men of real ability. The many advantages, the increased income, the moral strengthening of each one of us by forming such a combination is so apparent that we should no longer delay the important event.

The coal miners are seeking a strong alliance with the big railroad unions. This would certainly prove a very strong combination. You can readily see the advantages of big combinations working together and the value of having a general that can get results. Attorney General Daugherty has intimated that the administration is in favor of open shop and that it will not allow the country to be tied up by railway strikes.

Arthur Brisbane in a recent editorial says:

"The present tendency and intention of capital and government apparently is to break down the power of unions, destroy them if possible, and put labor back to the old 'take what you get or starve' basis—tempered by the employer's generosity or sense of caution.

"Nothing could be more dangerous than to destroy unions, which are as necessary as capital in giving balance and stability to industry.

"But the majority of employers don't know that. And the unpleasant experiences that may come to the employers later will not help wives and children of men that find themselves out of work or irregularly employed to-day."

The above group is known as the Volstead Quartette. They attended the recent outing held at Point Pleasant, N. J. They are each and every one ardent adherents of the Eighteenth Amendment. Are they not? They are NOT.

From right to left they are:

"Hoke" Smith, an old timer from the Sunny State of Dear Ol' Georgia. He is a staunch Union man, universally popular, and his friends are legion from the financial section to the extreme limits of the Bronx. His favorite diversion is tampering with the "Shetlands."

The portly individual, immaculately clad in the Palm Beach scenery, is "Mistah" Lee Butterfield, who has been a Union man since Towser wux a pup. He figured in the first real strike of Union telegraphers, which occurred in 1883, and has participated in five other strikes since. He is not only universally popular in the frenxied financial district, but his territory covers Greater New York. His favorite diversion is the piscatorial art and he modestly holds the title of Championship Angler of Wall Street.

The gentleman next in line with the William Farnum pose needs no introduction. He is known from New Street to the wilds of Canada. Is a writer of note and the wit of the Street. After the ferry boat landed in Jersey from the outing he attempted to ride to Harlem in seclusion, but his hellish design was ruthlessly obstructed and he was compelled to buy when the cab arrived at 96th Street.

Last but not least, either in popularity or weight, is our good Brother, Frank Thompson. He is a soulful spirit and good to look upon. He is happy and congenial and his word is his bond. In the Shakespearean parlance, "He is e'en as just a man as e'er my conversation coped withal." Don't forget—the Volstead Quartette had about as much fun at the outing as any fellows in that joyous multitude.

Regular monthly meetings at Headquarters, last Monday in the month.

By J. F. Mullen, Jr.

As our wireless brothers might say, "The air is full of news." The dues are coming in in good shape. Prospects are very bright for the union this year. Our Division is getting some new members right along. The only drawback so far is the final rounding up of the leased wire assessment. It is a credit to our Division to say that a majority of the membership responded to the S. O. S. call from Chicago by coming across promptly. The rest are coming in slowly and keeping the secretary up nights trying to keep the books straight.

It is also a noticeable phenomenon that among the aforesaid few who are slow in payment are many members who have received the most benefit from the union. It is illuminating to talk to men who have received job after job from the union; men who have been in trouble in one office and rapidly transferred to another by the employment committee, start splitting hairs when it comes to the leased wire fund. It is also amusing to see a few who float in and out without a word about their assessment and thinking the thing is all over and nothing more will be said about it. Somewhat analogous to the ostrich who, when he hides his head, believes the rest of his body is out of sight. However, the leased wire assessment shall be collected regardless of any pother to the contrary and this shall be proved to the imminent satisfaction of all concerned within a reasonable time. That's that.

Bro. Henderson is doing nicely and as soon as the ice and snow is off the streets will be amongst us again. Flagg is at Bright's. Horgan at E. M. Fuller & Co. vice Bro. Frawley who is now a floor man at Kardos & Burke. Genial Hy Finn is here and there wherever the exigencies of the service requires. Hy, by the way, swings a mean hand at whist. Two men on the list and we hope to place them soon. The prospects are good, the broker business is beginning to show signs of activity. Bro. Neimant is going to write a book on "Whist As Is and As It Should Be Played." Ed Herbert vows he is going to cease being bashful and lead out his trumps hereafter.

The January meeting was well attended. Usual routine business was disposed of. All provisions of the by-laws regarding chapels and chapel chairmen were stricken out. It was voted to substitute an amendment to the by-laws to provide for a board of directors consisting of five members, this board to be the supreme governing body of the organization. Ed Herbert, O. B. Kinney, Dan Sullivan, Fred Feltus and Dick Fishhacker constitute the board. The board admitted T. F. Doherty to membership. Bro. L. F. Griffin was admitted to the general assembly.

THE N. E. B. D. IN 1922

The N. E. B. D. commenced the year in a rather happy mood, having all but two of its members employed and the prospects fair for them. Not in many cases are the salaries in this town what they should be, considering the service required. It should be remembered, however, that the Division is still young in its activities and that there are many yet outside the fold who are a menace to our work for better conditions. When a member is disposed to grumble at the inaction of the Division in matters of hours, wages, etc., let him ask himself this question: "What have I done for the Division?"

Remember the Division is an institution of which you are an integral part; its power is derived from you and it can go forward only so far as the strength you deliver will allow.

"Get our men off the block," has been the slogan up to this time and in this regard we have been quite successful. The method employed was democratic centralization; that is, by electing two trusted men to have charge of employment, giving them full power to fill the jobs according to union merit, requiring that every member notify these men of every vacancy that occurs. This rule is still in effect.

By this method we have partially done away with cut-throat competition. By a closer adherence to the rule on the part of all concerned we will have Boston well up with the divisions west of us.

The C. T. U. A. has survived the attacks of mighty foes, proving the need for its existence and that there are still telegraphers who will mould it into an effective organization.

THINK IT OVER, BOYS, THINK IT OVER!

Conducted by Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21 Meeting Date: Second Wednesday of Each Month at Union of Commerce Hall, 149 Berri St., Montreal.

-Organize---Co-operate-

It is the duty of every broker and leased wire telegrapher to join the organization of his craft, attend the meetings of his district, and take an active part in boosting the C. T. U. A.

By doing this, he will be helping to promote the best social and economic interests of his co-workers and be worthy of the sacred name of brother.

Mr. Non, do you know why you are being paid a living wage? Do you know why you are drawing more money than the commercial man? You may argue that you are worth more than he is. Perhaps you are. But, do you believe that your present salary would be what it is, had it not been for the efforts of the hardy little band who head the commercial telegraph workers?

The majority of broker men are paid a higher salary than commercial men, but our fellow workers in the telegraph companies were not satisfied with conditions, and realized that in order to better themselves, they would have to organize. Organize, they did, and the present schedules they enjoy are due, solely, to that organization

Now, Mr. Non, every time the commer-cial man was granted an increase, the way was paved for you. All you had to do was to approach your employer and tell him that the commercial company was paying as much as you were getting, and an increase was forthcoming.

What did this increase cost you? How do you feel about it? Don't you think you owe your fellow worker something? What does your wife or mother think of your taking money in this way? Talk it over with the folks at home, and you will realize that the lost you can do now its to ize that the least you can do now is to get in line and help to maintain the organization which has done so much for you.

The Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division is in a far better position at presrepresent than at any time since its inception. The boys in Montreal and Toronto are showing the way. The East is well organized, but Winnipeg is sadly out of line. Come on, you westerners, let's hear from you. Don't let the boys from the other towns beat you to it.

The general officers of the division are at all times ready to help and advise on any matters pertaining to the organization. Get in touch with them now. Send in your application, and be "one of the boys." Don't wait until next week. Do

Division Notes

At a meeting held on January 6th the following by-law was passed: Members transferring from other divisions shall pay the difference in initiation, in cases where the initiation fee of the division from which they are transferring is lower than that of the Canadian Broker & Leased Wire Division 21.

Attendance at the meetings is falling off. What's the matter? There is always something doing, and it is the duty of every member to show up and help us along. Come on boys, let's make March 8th a bumper gathering. Vice-President Schnur is here now and will always drop in on us. Come around and get acquainted with him in on us. with him.

Every one is going to the C. T. U. A. joint Euchre and Dance. The committee is working overtime to make it a success. Watch for the flashlight next month.

The local Stock Exchange firm of Fairbanks, Gosselin & Co., with offices in Montreal and Quebec, went into liquidation a few days ago. We would like to hear from our out-of-town members. Why not send a few notes to the secretary?

Gen'l Sec'y Gorman is very enthusiastic about the way the dues are coming in. The boys are coming across in fine style.

Round the Street

Bro. Geo. Gorman is back from his honeymoon, looking fit, and all smiles now. Bro. J. A. Lachance filled in at Hodgson & Son during Bro. Gorman's absence. Bro. Harry Schrader resumed duties after being on the sick list for a few days.

Sorry to hear that Bro. Don Blehr, who was recovering from a severe attack of rheumatic fever, has had a relapse. Keep Bob Dow, chief operator, Logan & Bryan, after waging a hard fight with the grim reaper, is back on the job.

Bro. J. A. Lachance has taken over the Times loop at the Gazette, vice Bro. Mc-

Carron.

Bro. Wheaton is bullish on "GST." How come. Frank?

What about that pool in "VAN," Mike, how much?

Our congratulations to Bro. Kibbee, recently appointed manager, E. H. Clarke &

Co.

We were secretly informed that Bro. T.

J. Clarke, the genial chairman of our Toronto district, is going to join the benedicts—details lacking. Come on, Tom, let's in on the date.

So far, no one has kicked in with any notes. It's hard to keep in touch with everyone in the "Street" without the help of the gang.

Don't forget the next meeting, Wednesday. March 8th. Keep the date open. Remember this is to be our banner year.

ORGANIZE—CO-OPERATE

It is your duty to yourself and your organization to help solidify the ranksvalue of membership in our organisation is what you make it. Make "No cards, no favors" your motto.

WESTERN BROKER DIVISION

C. T. U. A.

Headquarters and Employment Bureau, 315-331 Imperial Bidg., 313 South Clark St., Chicago, Ill. Phone Wahash 1436.

Regular meeting dates, First and Third Saturdays in each month in headquarters. Dues payable annually, January 1st, or semi-annually, January 1st and July 1st.

Delinquent dates September 1 and March 1.

The Western Broker division has entered the second month of the new year with standards flying high. Hard times have hurt us, it is true, but we are prepared for the good times just around the corner.

Unemployment caused by numerous failures has affected us less than might have been expected. In adversity as well as in prosperity the W. B. D. has been of invaluable assistance to its members.

At the present time there are less than half a dozen unplaced members. Jobs are scarce, however, and out-of-town members scarce, however, and out-of-town members should not give up what they have and come to Chicago for the present.

Looking back a few years and comparing former slack periods with the present, old timers have commented on the systematic manner in which the unemployed members have been placed. There has been some individual job hunting; yes, even two-job workers, but thank God, they are few and almighty conspicuous.

This division is fast reaching the strength when it should turn a frigid eye and a deaf ear towards the "in-and-outer." and a deaf ear towards the "in-and-outer."
We have been too lenient with the men who carry cards when they have to, and drop out when someone is not at their elbow to jog their uncertain memory.
This is the time to test the caliber of a few of these fair weather friends. We must make them pay dearly for their ingratitude if they fail to meet the test.
The increased initiation fee of the press divisions from $10 to $25 was a step in the right direction. We should follow their evample. It is human nature to regard right direction. We should follow their example. It is human nature to regard cheaply anything obtained cheaply or easilv

Let us impress on prospective members that a man is highly honored who receives an invitation to join our division. If he scorns that invitation, shun him when he needs a card. He will need one some day and need it badly.

A few of our good members have not yet paid for 1922 cards because they allowed their assessments to pile up and are unable to pay it all in one payment. Drop in and let us show how this can be paid in small weekly payments. It is a legitimate obligation, brothers. You have received the dividends but have not paid for the stock. You have been shown conclusively that the 1921 battles of the W.

B. D. saved you not less than $5 per week for three months. Salaries would have been reduced all around but for our fight. They were not reduced, so why should you forget the organisation that paid you the dividend?

Gee! that E. B. D. gang is a jealous gang. No more than do we get ready to crow over the fact that we have an International Veepee in our midst, when they invelgle Bill Conry to migrate to Wall St. Philosophical John says that the trouble with the critics is that they criticize everything that might have been, but don't hother themselves one hit over things that bother themselves one bit over things that

And whatever you do, don't let anybody try and make you believe that the country is flooded with broker men; 'tain't.

The World War veterans now have a good idea of how some of these broker operators feel a few days before Christ-to make good, they must have first class talent.

No. Gus, the reason more chief operators are patronizing the Employment Bureau is that they realize that in order for them to make good, they must have first class talent.

Of course, we never gloat over anybody's misfortune, but the rawhiding the Bennett scabs are recelving NOW does not give us much cause for sorrow. "I told you so!" Aubrey Lyon, lately with E. D. Dier and Co., Milwaukee, has migrated to Los Angeles, where we know he will connect. Whoever gets him gets a cracker-jack, whether it's a broker or Hollywood.

That Canadian Broker division is making some rapid strides. With Brother Lawson as skipper and Paul Schnur headquartering in the same town, we may as well get ready for a bull market.

President Alcorn, Secretary Sandall and Brother J. J. Murray, chief operator for G. F. Redmond and Co., plus wife, attended the Chicago O. R. T. dance at the Lexington Hotel on February 14th. We must hand it to the O. R. T. boys for knowing how to pull off a good dance and for their hospitality. We were made to feel at home every minute.

The last day in which to pay your dues before becoming delinquent will be March 1st. After that date, in accordance with the Constitution, your name will be taken off the mailing list. Pay your dues now. Chicago members, $10.00 semi-annually; out of town members, $9.00.

HAVE YOU PAID YOUR DUES?

HAVE YOU PAID YOUR DUES?

HAVE YOU PAID YOUR DUES? HAVE YOU PAID YOUR DUES? HAVE YOU PAID YOUR DUES?

Your union can function no better with-out money than any other institution. Are you seeing to it that your union functions, or are you lagging behind, letting the other fellow do it?

The fairweather birds seem to think that because they don't happen to like some individual in the union, they have reason enough to drop out. When they pay their dues they want you to make a speech of appreciation, for they feel that they have made you a personal contribution. They never stop to consider that our union should be next to a religion. That it is the principle, the cause of unionism we contribute our money to, and not the officers placed there by the majority of the membership to guide the affairs of our union. They never stop to consider that we are bound together in a union, not because of sentiment, not because anyone in particular is being done a favor, but because it is a business proposition. The stronger our union the better your own condition. The weaker our union the less money you are paid and the harder your job is made for you. guide.

Out of Town Members:

Do you appreciate reading the Journal as much as I do? It takes news to fill up the Journal. It takes all of us to supply the news of the entire field. The editor in Chicago does not know what is going on elsewhere, unless you tell him. The other fellow enjoys reading news from your neck of the woods as much as you enjoy reading his. Don't let George do it, do it yourself. Mail in notes of interest to your sub-division editor, or direct to these headquarters, if unattached. Copy must be in by the 8th of the month.— Editor Relay. First Veepee, Mickey McDaniel, has accepted the chalk artistship on G. F. Redmond and Co.'s board. "I'll say he does." We've all been reneging on news for this department, but from now on we guarantee to be represented.

MILWAUKEE

Wednesday evening, February 8th, marked another step forward for Sub-Division No. 2, W. B. D., when our big dance and social was held at Kenwood Lodge, No. 600 Hackett Ave.

The affair was well attended by both the telegraphers and their friends, notwithstanding the recent disruption caused by the two business suspensions, with which we are now familiar.

The success of the party is due in very large measure to the work of the Committees, vis.: Arrangement, Aubrey Lyon, Earl Driscoll, L. L. Chambers and J. L. Partington. Bro. Lyons going to California on January 31st caused the filling of his place by A. J. Callen. Floor, J. D. Bussey, chairman, assisted by L. L. Chambers and Leo Rank. The ice was soon broken by the introduction of novelties such as the "Tag" dance, etc., and formality went a-glimmering. Everyone got into step for a good time, and they had it. Ji is significant to note that several of our members were asked when there would be another party. It was contidently expected that some of our Chicago brethren would be in attendance, but we learned to our regret that either business or other matters prevented their coming.

other matters prevented their coming.

The absence of Bro. Lyon and his charming wife was also noted with regret, but we hope that the California sunshine may compensate in some measure for what they missed

Among noted persons who attended were Mr. Ritchie Mitchell and a party from

Election Result

Brother C. E. Sandall was declared elected General Secretary-Treasurer at the last regular meeting, Feb. 4th, having received a majority of votes.

Brother Sandall has been in the Western Broker Division for three years and has always conducted himself as a first class union man should, therefore this honor conferred upon him by the membership is well deserved.

The new secretary is employed by the firm of Howell and Wales.

Make all remittances either to him or to "The Western Broker Division, C. T. U. A."

Quebec and District Notes

We welcome to our columns this month a contributor from Port Arthur, who deals with the exhaustive memorandum submitted by Brother Burford in the November Journal. We ourselves in the December issue expressed our appreciation of Brother Burford's able memo, and recommended it to the earnest consideration of our membership. At the same time we would like to point out that Brother Burford's ideas are at the moment only theoretical. Although we grant the soundness of many of the arguments advanced both by Brother Burford and our esteemed Port Arthur contributor, we would submit that the present is no time for experimentation with new organizations. We do not believe in leaving the safe anchorage of a tried and proved organization for the uncharted waters of the unknown. Your executives were elected as officers of a division of the C. T. U. A. and it is their duty to do the best work they are capable of on the lines laid down by that body. We believe in looking forward and building for the future, but at the same time it is the present that demands our attention, and until that is properly attended to the future must wait. Let us attend to our present, perhaps imperfect, organization. We can assure you there is a plenty to do. Firstly, see that your own card is up to date, then tackle that "Non" friend of yours. Most likely he is all the good fellow you say he is and only wants to be shown. Get busy and SHOW him, and then we can all get together and widen our activities as, and not before, we are ready for such widening. Until we are shown differently, we believe the C. T. U. A. is going ahead. Let us do our share and go ahead with it.

We desire to correct an error which appeared in a circular we recently sent out. We stated that the International per capita had been increased from $8 to $11. This should have been $5 to $8.

Now that the new by-laws are in the hands of our membership, and the new scale of dues is known, your Great Lakes and Eastern District chairmen are hearing certain of the membership with regard to the increased dues, and they are kept busy giving out the why and wherefore. As far as we are concerned, with the facts as presented to us, we would not alter either a dollar of the dues or a word of the by-laws if we had to attend another conference tomorrow. We stand by both the three-way scale of dues, which are as fair as it is possible to make them, and the proposed sinking fund to alleviate cases of distress through unforessen sickness which is liable to fall to the lot of any of us. We had, before we left for Toronto, a practically unanimous opinion behind us for the establishment of such a fund. Now that the necessary finances are called for there is a disposition in some quarters to drop it. As far ishment of such a fund. Now that the necessary finances are called for there is a disposition in some quarters to drop it. As far as we are conceined we are not going to drop it. Some there are who desire both to keep their cake and eat it. We are getting a salary which is ample enough to provide the small sum necessary, and we think you ought to come through. If you don't, then that sentence in your obligation reading "That I will assist all destitute worthy members of the union who may apply to me for relief when in my power to do so" is, as far as you are concerned, only a scrap of paper. There are those who say it is too much of a burden for us to carry this year, so let us postpone such a measure until another year. If you postpone it this year you will do likewise next year, and so on ad infinitum. We were pledged to do all we could on this issue. We have done our best, and we intend to stand by our decisions. As to the dues in general, we feel that they are not too much. Don't forget we are paying them ourselves, just the same as you are, and perhaps our financial responsibilities are just as heavy as some of those who complain of the so-called heavy increase. We will close these few remarks by referring our readers to General Chairman Allen's notes on the dues question and by stating that we stand solidly behind him. You selected us to give you the best union possible. We are doing our best and we expect you to at least give us that much credit and back us up.

Now we've started in Twenty-two, Let's come across with the annual due; Face the future with a smile, And make our union well worth while, We know it's punk, brothers, but so long as you get the idea we are satisfied.

Cape Sable Jottings

Having given our Editor time to get clear of some of his surplus copy and eat his Xmas dinner, we make our debut for 1922 with all good wishes.

We are a little more fortunate than our contemporary scribe from VCN. Alas! like the bear, he has pulled the hole in behind him (Hobson's choice).

Bro. Ed Simpson now hibernates on VCT with OIC Bros. Walsh and Raddell.
Understand Bro. Geo. E. Cope, who returned to Camperdown with Bro. Williams from Sable Island, wears his most engaging smile these days. Great boy, Geo.!—some entertainer on the lvories. We miss him this WAV.

As we write, our latest Canadian success, the S. S. "Canadian Constructor," is now off Rockland doing her measured mile. We venture to say that "Johnny Canuck" will produce the goods as usual.

Old "Boreas" has been paying his usual seasonal compliments along with the ice man so, unlike the usual head of poetic spirits, I tarry not for spring. Here goes:

Great Lakes Notes

Congratulations to Brother and Mrs. Roy B. Booth of Port Burwell on the birth of a daughter (Muriel) December 13th.

The deepest sympathy of the membership is extended to Bro. Booth and to his relatives in the loss they have sustained by the death of Roy's mother, which occurred in Toronto on January 14th.

Toronto on January 14th.

The 1922 Local and Grievance Committee slates are still to be made up, and names in regard to same cannot consistently be mentioned until it has been learned just what is the attitude of the membership (outside those present at the Toronto meeting on January 2nd, plus certain others with whom we have been in touch) towards the amended by-laws, and increased dues.

Your local chairman has not yet been placed in such a position that he can sensibly comply with Art. 10, Clause B of the By-Laws. He is not yet in a position to approach those whom he has had in mind as likely to fill the bill, and whose names, following their own compliance with essentials, and an expression of willingness to act will lowing their own compliance with essentials, and an expression of willingness to act, will be placed before the local membership for approval. Why is it that no suggestions as to personnel on these committees are offered the local chairman so that the wishes and needs of the membership can be met? My choice might not be yours, and I am anxious only to suit the membership, and give them the best we have.

It has been claimed by ships' operators that their late representative did not fill the bill, in that his visits at the head of the lakes were not very frequent, and that his boat was of the "classy" type which kept operators from going aboard and seeing their control of the form appropriative does delegate. If the former representative does not suit, it is up to the ships' members to select someone who does, and so assist me in naming the 1922 sub-committee.

The C. T. U. A. is your Union just as much as it is that of your local chairman, and if members are not prepared to support the well-considered actions of those whom they have elected to function on their behalf, the least that can be expected is that that officers be so advised, and not left to continue their striving in the dark.

The C. T. U. A. is a business, and for you, a very big business. A man indifferent to his business will sooner or later see that business fail.

Your collapse will not put the C. T. U. A. into liquidation, but if you wish to see your own unit carry on and uphold the Radio end of the structure, the sooner the individual member shakes off his lethargy the better for him and the better for YOU.

The truth of this will be found out sooner or later. It is entirely up to you if it is

LATER.

The local chairman can proceed no further until he can clearly see just where and into what he is stepping, and he looks to the membership of the System-Division to supply the steps with which the 1922 route is to be paved. Until the material is on hand the road cannot be built, and we cannot move forward on shifting sands or uncertain foundations.

move forward on shifting sands or uncertain foundations.

Your officers therefore cannot but stand pat pending action and real live action by those most concerned. Pay your dues promptly, and give credit for a certain amount of good judgment and common sense to those of us who have spent many, many tedious hours, days, weeks, and even months endeavoring to reach figures and conclusions which in our best judgment and assisted by the brainy genius of our Canadian Vice-President have been arrived at, and are now before you for approval or rejection. As to dues, do not, I beg of you, be penny wise and pound foolish. You will be your own mourners at your own funeral if you permit the death of your unit. I am not persimistic by any means, but I will not permit a single member to live in a fool's paradise and it is your own attitude entirely that has forced me to commit myself thus far to the publicity of the Journal. Stand up! You have everything to hope for. Remain on your back and stay prone! I disclaim all responsibility for what may overtake you.

Cert. 1.

Port Arthur Notes

We owe many thanks to our brothers of Division 65 for their timely suggestions and plans for a United Radio Telegraphers' Unit of Canada and the United States. The plans outlined in Bro. W. T. Burford's letter in November issue of the Journal are worthy of our most serious consideration, and I herewith take advantage of the invitation extended to this division for 'comments on the suggestion. Our Union history has been need from the support of the supp one of growth and achievement, and for the one of growth and achievement, and for the past two years our attention and energies have been directed on improving the conditions of our own local divisions, and thanks to our efficient officers and enthusiasm of the members in general, our success has been almost phenomenal.

We are at a period in our Union affairs when efficiency of officers and the enthusiasm of every individual member was never more needed and if our successes are to be permanent we will have to pull down the walls of limitation and look beyond our own divisions. It has become our obligation that we should devise some means of keeping in touch with our fellow operators employed by commanies other than the Marconi Co. or we should devise some means of keeping in touch with our fellow operators employed by companies other than the Marconi Co. or Dominion Government. There is an evergrowing army of radio operators which tends to surpass numerically those of our brother brass pounders, and if such are left to drift unorganized they will always be a menace to organized labor. Another matter which we should not overlook: in this age of keen competition in business our employers will have a better chance to compete with other radio corporations if operating expenses are kept on a par. In this way we are protecting both our own and our employers' interests. In many cases the new operator is filling his first position and is therefore naturally unacquainted with the essentials of unionism. This is our opportunity to instill these principles in him, and our divisions and locals should be universal enough to take him locals should be universal enough to take him in. regardless of company or corporation which employs him. On account of the great similarity of working conditions in operating radio-telegraphy it would be an easy matter to arrange a working and remunerative to arrange a working schedule to embrace all.

We are either going ahead or going back: there is no standing still. Therefore, let us get out of the rut and broaden out. In unity there is strength proportional to the number.

Although Sydney Harbour is not yet closed it is expected that ice will soon put in its appearance. Shipping in and out is very dull at present. The Reid steamer "Sagona" was caught in the ice off Port Saunders, N. F., on January 12th, but succeeded in releasing herself from the slob ice and proceeded to Bonne Bay but was caught again. It is expected, however, that she will be successful in finally reaching Port aux Basques.

General

Through missing the mail last month we were not able to get in on the New Year's greetings, but, not to be outdone by Brother Clegg, here's wishing everybody a merry Christmas when it comes.

The annual report of our able General Secretary is not to hand at the time of writing, and, at the risk of starting an argument, we will say that we don't think it will show that tremendous progress has been made in the year it accounts for. We have solidified our ranks on the West coast and laid our grievances before the powers, but on the East coast little or nothing has been done and the whole Division has felt the effect of the apathy in that district. The trip to Ottawa made by Brother Parkin resulted only in promises of "consideration," and the Naval Service Department, true to its reputation for evading responsibility, laid the whole salary grievance at the door of the Civil Service Commission. Between the Department and the Commission we are not sure who employs us; all we know is that if we go to the headquarters of either one or the other with our troubles we are courteously informed that it's all the fault of that horrid fellow across the street. Organized as we are at present, in a small, iso-lated unit, and with the labor market as it we can only make requests, when we would like to make demands, and Brother Parkin could do little more than go to Ottawa and shake his finger, when we are sure he would dearly have loved to shake

There can be no doubt that the amiable officials who are "considering" us are aware of the weakness that lies within our own ranks. A union is strong only in proportion to the determination of its membership, and the prevailing disposition to "let George do it" is not an asset that we can be proud of. Together with the other hindrances from which we suffer, in common with radio men everywhere, this negligent attitude is giving the dictators of radio an increasing ascendancy over their telegraphers. The apathy of some members is the result of a mistaken belief that the payment of dues constitutes their sole obligation. Brothers, we must work, as well as pay. If we find a fellow member sliding back it is our duty to keep him in the fold. The times are lean; let us hold firmly to our Union for the times that are to come. If it costs, say, $60 to be a member of the Union for four years, what is that compared with what we shall get out of it in improved conditions? We may be mercenary, but we can still take the long ylew; so let us regard it, not as a one or a of it in improved conditions? We may be mercenary, but we can still take the long view; so let us regard it, not as a one or a two, but as a three or four years' task to make wireless a good job—the job it ought to be. And if we can achieve our object in three or four years the $45 or $60 we shall have paid will be repaid three or four times within a year, every year. The alternative, abandonment of the Union, is not a pleasant thought; it means helpless acceptance of every condition that our employers seek to impose upon us. So let's work, and if we all pull together for our collective interests a day will come in the not distant future when the Ottawa gentlemen will have to decide in a hurry which of them employs us.

decide in a hurry which of them employs us.

We have the information from a reliable source that before very long all Canadian radio certificates will be cancelled and that present holders must be re-examined if they wish to continue to work. The decision has been made in the usual high-handed manner, and although it involves probable loss of livelihood for many operators, the recognized organization of the radiotelegraphers—the C. T. U. A.—has never been consulted. What are we going to do about it? Must we admit our inability to deter our employers from demanding higher qualifications for we admit our inability to deter our employ-ers from demanding higher qualifications for the same price? If we can do nothing to avert what is tantamount to an audacious wage reduction, then let us apply for a char-ter in the A. W. U. E. or the W. C. T. U.; we are not trade unionists.

But we must not overlook the difficulties presented by a situation demanding concerted action among two or more divisions of the Union. The duplication of authority, the impossibility of complete organization of every radiotelegrapher in Canada, and the obstacles in the way of the formation of a definite policy based on the informed opinion of the whole radio membership—these are difficulties inherent to decentralization. For grievances that concern the amployees of grievances that concern the employees of only one radio administration, our present organization is often adequate to secure redress; but when we come to a grievance that closely concerns every radio man in the that closely concerns every radio man in the country, our sectional grouping affords us no weight. For the sake of the prestige it will bring us, for the force it will put into our hands, we must unite our efforts by combining our divisions into a unit that we combining our divisions into a unit that we shall all be proud to belong to.

In addition to the threat of the cancellation of our certificates that hangs over the heads of our Marconi brothers as well as our own, in the Canadian government service an arbitrary system of "Barrier" examinations has been inaugurated, so that members of this Division have an additional hardship to contend with. Instead of passing by annual increments to the maximum salary, our members are compelled to undergo examinations at various stages, the sole object of these tests being to hold back the increments. By a strange and certainly ill-considered majority vote, the District Committee of the B. C. District has gone on record as being in favor of this iniquitous system, but it is to be hoped that when the Division's General Committee is formed a further effort will be made to give expression to the well-established opinion of all our members. The writer has ample evidence to show that if there is any one subject on which the view of the majority is definite and solid it is that of barrier examinations. examinations.

By the time these notes appear the election of District Committees in the two dis-tricts, east and west, should have been completed. Under the tentative by-laws, the four members of each District Committee four members of each District Committee will be the first eight members of the General Committee. The nomination of the General Chairman and the General Secretary, who will be the other two members of the General Committee. Is now in order. Nominations should be sent to Brother Parkin forthwith. Whatever the ultimate decision on the amalgamation project may be it is important that members attend to this detail of our present organization. Canadian Vice-President Schnur has paid a visit to Ottawa recently in our interests, and we hope to hear some good news from him soon.

British Columbia District

We are grateful to Brother F. C. Allen, General Chairman of Division 59, for his untiring volunteer work on our behalf at the Convention, especially for placing the reorganization proposal of this District before the Committee on Subordinate Units, by which it was approved.

Brother Mandale has secured a concession for himself at Digby Island (Prince Rupert), and set a precedent for others, in being granted the living allowance while occupying his own little dwelling. This case certainly shows a disposition on the part of the least authorities to grant reasonable the local authorities to grant reasonable requests for the improvement of working conditions—by degrees.

Brother Busswood has now come down to Victoria, after a couple of years in the frozen north.

Brother Parkin, who is now the proud father of one of each kind with the arrival of William II, has declared a closed season.

There's an application form under the tuner.

LEASED WIRE OPERATORS

Are you a member of the C. T. U. A.? If not, why not?

Did you ever stop to study the question why your salaries are as good as they are?

If it had not been for the existence of the C. T. U. A. your salaries would be as low as wages of unorganized workers are today.

If it had not been for the C. T. U. A. neither would salaries in the Postal or Western Union be as good as they are Remember this: What affects one of us affects all of us.

The C. T. U. A. has been organized a little over twenty years and it has been a strong prop under the commercial telegraphers in their endeavors to improve working conditions and to push up salaries.

Commercial operators never have been properly paid for their highly skilled and highly intelligent work. Thorough organization will obviate low pay and bad working conditions.

Such a thing as a non-member working a leased wire ought to be a rare curiosity.

Of course, the Western Union and Postal operators have had a great many things to hamper them in their organization activity, in the past, but the leased wire men have had nothing to hamper them.

Ninety-nine commercial operators out of every hundred will say that the C. T. U. A. is a good thing. We ought to make it much better than it is. The leased wire men are in a fine position to help boost our membership. Those that do not belong should join and induce others to do likewise.

CANADIAN NATIONAL TELEGRAPHS

Central District Notes

One of the largest and most interesting meetings held in Central District in the past three years was held on Sunday, February 5, when the linemen held their meeting in the Daly House. There were in attendance over forty linemen from the district, and a wide field of business was covered.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the linemen gathered at the Prince George Hotel to attend the telegraphers' meeting, and when the meeting was called to order by Chairman Farrell one of the most interesting meetings in years was held.

Representative Lefebvre spoke on matters of interest both to linemen and the telegraphers.

Brother Taylor read some extracts from various letters written by C. W. Mitchell, during his term as chairman of Central District, to Brother McNaughton. Amongst the most interesting was his declaration that "the Canadian telegraphers were going to have a Moses, whether they wanted one or not and that the position should pay $6.000 per year, and that I am a candidate for that position."

As he was defeated in his attempts to be a "candidate" for that position, we all readily understand how the "National Union" was brought into being.

One thing that appears to be overlooked, although not intentionally, is that great arm of the service, the linemen. With the joint agreement of the O. R. T. and the C. T. U. A., which our linemen are working under, we seem to underestimate the power that is behind that branch of the service. What a remarkable feeling of confidence that the telegrapher should show when he realizes that behind him stands the lineman.

More power to you, Brother Lineman, and may we see you here often at our meetings, and take your part in the discussion as you did Sunday.

The official meeting day of Central District for 1922 will be the last Sunday of each month in room 169, Prince George Hotel, Toronto.

Verily the way of the transgressor is hard. The long arm reached out and got Berger a staggering wallop that was very nearly a complete knockout—14 being the actual count.

Who was the man who said that "he would hate to be in trouble and have to depend on the C. T. U. A. to get him out of it"? Did not the C. T. U. A. save his job in the recent guillotine act? How now, Matthews?

C. W. Mitchell, having gotten all the "National Union" as well as personal venom off his chest, has departed for parts unknown. No doubt he has left to follow his favorite hobby of comparing telegraphers to dock wallopers and coal heavers. Central District (or any other district) is well rid of him and his lik.

General Chairman Young and Chairman Farrell are in session with the general manager, and latest reports are that they are getting some valuable ground covered as well as long-standing grievances cleaned up. There are some very important matters to be disposed of, and they are clearing them up in a manner which will be satisfactory to all concerned.

Montreal

The annual January thaw has about reached its limit. This week finds our fair city enshrouded in a new white mantle with indications of a little more severe weather.

Vice-President Schnur has arrived back from the U. S. A., after a few weeks absence in the once fair land of the free. Brother Schnur's return to Montreal was marked with an unfortunate reverse, by the sudden illness of his wife who was stricken with acute appendicitis on the journey.

A successful operation was performed, and we are pleased to record Mrs. Schnur is well on the way to recovery. We wish Paul all the luck that can be expected in contending with the twin problems—that of finding a suitable apartment and a landlord with a conscience.

Lots of changes marked the coming of the new year which created anxiety in many minds. Looks as if the efficiency squad have been getting their heads together. We all remember the broad policy advanced by the present government before election. It's up to us, brothers and sisters, to see that a full measure of same is applied to the Canadian National Telegraph.

Someone's always taking the joy out of life. That's what some of our "Muxies" think, after the recent change of hours in their department. Cheer up, girls. The darkest half hour is before day.

Brother Beebe has stepped out of our class. He is now rubbing shoulders with the grain kings at the board of trade (CX) the greater part of the day, returning to "MO" at 5 till the termination of his trick.

Nothing better to brighten up the countenance of a MUX operator than a few days in the invigorating country clima. That's evidenced by some members of our automatic staff who have been sojourning at Morin Heights the past week.

Everything about ready for the Big Event at Palestre Nationale on February 15. Some place, too. Lots of room for fast steppers at this general display of the fantastic ability of the telegraph artists. Montreal puts on some social glamour, and this dance and euchre is going to head the list in all respects. Take a glance at the flashlight in the next Journal and be convinced.

Some of the staff have already started on vacations, thus helping to alleviate conditions arising from carrying an excessive staff during the dull period. Many of our members are at present on leave of absence. We shall all be happy when they are back again in our ranks.

C. H. GIBBS,

W. H. MASON, Auditors.

Write-ups for this local were conspicuous by their absence last year, but I hope to see us represented each month hereafter. Each district to take its turn.

This month I am going to deal with the various elections which are held in this local every year and those members who, obstinately or carelessly, but nevertheless consistently, refrain from voting, and who by their actions display a very selfish attitude-satisfied to pay their dues and let George do the rest. Of these members I want to ask two questions:

Do you not consider that your failure to return your ballots, even after they have been addressed and stamped for you, is extremely discouraging to the party who prepares them?

If every member adopted the same tactics, what would be the eventual result to your local?

I hope that the coming year will show a decided improvement in this matter and I am going to put a special plea to you. Don't disappoint us again. Show your secretary that you will, at least, lick an envelope and do your little bit in keeping the affairs of the local on the go. If you have a grouch or grudge against any nominee, vote against him, but, at any rate, let us have a vote from you. from you.

The affairs of two real old-timers in the press game will, perhaps, be interesting to some of their old colleagues.

Harry Davey, who for a long time has taken the night report for the Victoria Colonist, has unfortunately been on the sick list for the past two or three weeks, but at present is showing signs of improvement.

Harry's job has been ably covered by Brothers Humber and O'Brien. Humber is receiving his baptism in the press game and will be a regular soon. "Jack" could not resist the "call," however, and sits in part of the time, filling the bill as well as he did many years 250.

Vancouver, already well supplied with news service, is to receive another addition early in February. The Consolidated Press of Washington, D. C., will furnish their report to the Vancouver Province. This makes a total of six services entering Vancouver at the present time.

"Pvt." Cox, in Atlanta, alleges he's getting to be a second Fatty Arbuckle (in weight)—maybe that's the reason for the Saturday night "Ambish." The waitress in the hash foundry downstairs must have taken a liking to Hip Thomas' wavy hair—and shoves out an "extra" of beans every now and then to the boys.

Bob Fine, at Knoxville, is still mourning over the fact that some rall bird hollered "Hack" at one of these "fast ones" down at Havana—and he's still running.

Bill Neeley at New Orleans, and Penrod at Nashville, must be away ahead of the game. Think Pen uses the "Einstein Theory" on the bookies.

Bro. M. U. Caul is our recent neighbor at the Enid Daily News. He hails from San Antone.

San Antone.

Bro. Frank Miller from the railroad terminal at Wichita, holds down the Beacen job. He prefers "30" to any of the mysteries of the game.

Blackwell is a recent addition to our "purity squad" though they are served only by a drop copy excepting Saturday nights, when Bro. Banner "sines up" and tells us how they do it there on the Universal five nights. versal five nights.

versal five nights.

It is rumored that somebody get "Tokio" for "London" the other day, but there was a difference of opinion and the thing hasn't been fully threshed out. Anyway it was a pretty close guess in character, but not in mileage. The jury was hung.

With twelve men on the circuit now it should be called the "jury." Our verdicts are most always unanimous.

Our verdict next June will be to stand as ONE behind the man who presents our case, for it is just.

CERT. 492.

March 1 is the delinquent date. You would not think of letting your life insurance lapse. Treat your Union card as you would a life insurance policy. It is the only insurance against oppression and serfdom.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE

Chicago-South

Chicago-South circuit cast a solid vote for Robert E. Allen, Buffalo, N. Y., for general chairman, and Moulton B. Norton, Chicago, for secretary-treasurer. Judging by the ballots of other circuits, it is apparent that the vote of the entire division was unanimous for these two officers. We congratulate them.

Robert E. Allen, the new general chairman, is a native of Indiana. He served as an officer in the army during the great war. Allen was the first operator to man the Universal Service wire at San Antonio. Texas, when the service was installed in that city, five or six years

We all know Norton. He has been our

We all know Norton. He has been our faithful and conscientious secretary treasurer for over three years. It is highly gratifying to note his re-election. When the new year of 1922 dawned it found William Loughlin, David J. Duey, Moulton B. Norton and C. F. Faller still doing business at the same old standending on the Chicago-South and hammering out a 100 per cent report each night that they send.

The Chicago-South maintains a 100 per cent standard at all times.

We of the Chicago-South would like very much to see some news notes in the Journal from other Universal Service circuits. Will somebody on some other cuits. Will somebody on some other Universal circuit surprise and regale us with a few lines in the Journal?

Now that the C. T. U. A. convention has elected Frank B. Powers, former general chairman of United Press division and general chairman of Universal Service general chairman of Universal Service division at the time of his election, as international secretary-treasurer, all press men should do everything they consistently can to aid him in making his administration a success. Powers, as editor of the Journal, wants to continue the Journal as a high class union labor publication. It is, of course, the duty of all members to contribute their mite towards the praiseworthy endeavors of Editor Powers. Press operators, as a rule, are in a good position to pick up news items that are of interest to the fraternity, here and there. They should not overlook these bits of news that come their way. By all means they should send them to Editor Powers for publication.

Joseph B. Milgram, Central News, New York, holds his grip well as correspondent for the Journal. He always manages to give us a few interesting lines every month. More power to him.

The suggestion put forth in the Journal from time to time that members give their Journals away to nons every month and thereby keep C. T. U. A. propaganda constantly on the wing, is a good one. All members should do this very thing. What we need is more members. Let's try to get them. Constantly circulating the Journal among nons is a good way to bring in recruits.

A Fine Example

It is quite the ordinary thing for an old commercial operator to join the only organisation not controlled by the telegraph companies. After two or three years experience in the game he or she easily recognizes that one organization—the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America—affords the only hope for emancipation.

When a commercial operator applies for membership in the C. T. U. A. immediately after learning telegraphy, the occurrence is enough out of the ordinary to make it interesting. He or she must be of a high order of discernment or has been favored with a worthy instructor, or both. (She is, and has been.)

All of which is merely by way of welcoming to our midst Sister Alice M. Tripp of New Orleans, wife of Bro. Chas. K. Tripp of the Universal Service.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southwest Circuits-Okla.-Tex.

Following closely upon the heels of "printer" installation, all newspapers served by automatic service have begun twenty-four hour service and while it makes a few more jobs, salaries are cut from $2 to $10 on the part of those who had long-hour tricks before the new service was installed.

This brings most all former long tricks down to eight hours with no more, and in some cases less, salary than the regular union scale. Some who have remained out of the organization and given the excuse, "I get more salary than the organized men," now realize that if scheduled men worked as long hours as they did the scheduled position would have paid more than the one they had. For instance, 8½ hours constitute a night's work with $42.50 as the minimum, while the union scale is 8 hours' work for $46.50 minimum. See any difference?

Every week we get a little envelope which displays our names followed by the title "Esq."

Now what that means no one can say, unless we take Webster's definition of "Esquire," which means "having the rank of a gentleman."

If we are gentlemen, and most of us believe we are, we should get together and draft a "gentlemen's agreement" with Mr. Garges, whereby we can come to a definite understanding as to our working conditions. Surely we are entitled to that as American citizens and "gentlemen."

Salary questions are not the only things we have to contend with. There are many kicks, and unwarranted ones at that, that we must overcome, coming from editors who neither appreciate nor try to understand an operator's work. A general agreement would clearly regulate such matters as these and lay down definite rules to go by.

A. P. men, everywhere, should read a few pages daily of any authentic history of the Middle Ages and compare the times then obtaining with those at present, then ask themselves the question: "Are we any better off today?" We are better off to a certain extent, yes, but much room is yet left for improvement. Who are responsible for the progress made? Answer: Those who fought for their rights. As it was in the Middle Ages, good things were not accomplished in a day, neither can they be today, but we can at least better ourselves little by little, to pass on to posterity a better union between humanity and cold blooded business.

Get lined up, men ("Gentlemen," if you wish), and let's pull for our rights.

January 3rd the Associated Press discontinued its second day and night Morse wire service and installed the A. T. & T., printers instead, displacing six Morse line operators. The Morse operators were assigned to positions in other cities.

Following cities are served by the printers in day time: Joplin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, San Antonio, Houston, Galveston.

The same points are served by the printers at night, except Joplin.

The 24-hour service of the A. P. was inaugurated to Oklahoma City and Texas points on January 80th. Following cities receive this service: Oklahoma City, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Houston, Galveston.

Invariably there are bright, newsy items in the Journal from the I. N. S., U. P., Central News, and Universal Service divisions in the Journal. These divisions are represented in the Journal every month. Surely there ought to be at least a few energetic members in the A. P. Division who would be as industrious about sending correspondence to the Journal as the former divisions.

The year 1922 will be a memorable one for the C. T. U. A. from the standpoint of activity, increased membership and achievements.

Will the A. P. operators contribute their share of energy and enthusiasm towards bringing about these very worthy accomplishments?

WORTHY AIMS OF THE COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS UNION

The Commercial Telegraphers Union of America was organized, and is being maintained, for the promotion of the best social, economic and fraternal interests of commercial telegraphers.

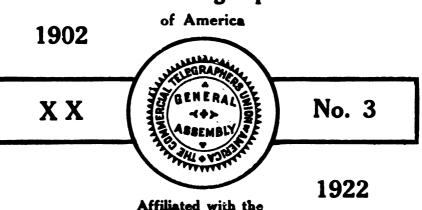

Its membership considers it the only labor union capable of consistently representing the best interests of commercial telegraphers.

So believing, and basing such conviction upon its past achievements and need for future protection, it urges all telegraphers eligible for membership to investigate its record in the hope they will realize its merits and the advisability of becoming members of a labor union established for their special protection.

We don't know which of these original features are responsible for the quick success of our CUSHION-KEY as opinions seem to be equally divided on the rubber cushion shock absorber, that prevents jolts and jars on the nerves; the adjustable lever, that affords a change of position, as the fingers commence to tire; the triple spring vibrator, with its great carrying capacity, or its compact and beautiful construction.

C. T. U. A. OBSERVING TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Wages Increased From Minimum of $6 per Week as a Result of Incessant Fighting Against Heavy Odds

The C. T. U. A. is now in the twentieth year of its existence. Twenty years ago the Commercial Telegraphers of the United States and Canada were aroused from their apathy by dangers that confronted them and, realizing that their only hope rested in organization, got together in various parts of the country under the banner of the Brotherhood of Commercial Telegraphers, the International Union of Commercial Telegraphers and various organized unattached bodies that were later amalgamated into the C. T. U. A.

The doubters and the skeptics of that day, like those of the present, looked askance at the movement and made many predictions that have never been fulfilled, such as declaring that the workers would not stick together and all the other stock phrases that are encouraged by the employers for the purpose of keeping the workers apart. Despite this fact, there were enough men and women with vision, with courage and confidence to start the Union movement and many of those who joined then are still members in good standing. Many of them now retired to other walks of life maintain an active interest in the Union and they of all others are best qualified to give testimony of the Union's success.

At the time the C. T. U. A. was formed, the top salary in the commercial offices ranged from $50 to $70 per month, and the minimum ran down almost to zero. The $6 per week operator was even more numerous than were the $70 per month class. Wages were on the decline, and the great bugaboo of all was the formal declaration of Col. R. C. Clowry, recently made president of the Western Union Telegraph Co., that he would soon have first class telegraphers reduced to a maximum wage of $50 per month.

Wages in Canada were extremely low; in fact, in cities like Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Boston and New York it was notorious that because of low wages in Canada, our fellow workers from across the border came over and cut under the miserably low wages already being paid. It was not that the Canadian was different from his American co-worker, except perhaps in some instances being a better telegrapher, but low wages at home influenced the traveler in seeking employment abroad. Organization at home reversed this entirely.

Broker telegraphers received from $10 to $18 per week, with a few getting a maximum of $25.

Press telegraphers were paid from $12 to $18 per week.

All telegraphers except brokers furnished their own typewriters; there were no vacations; the nine-hour day was general; conditions were disgraceful.

The only change that the average worker could hope for was to change from bad to worse. There was no such thing as promotion: the junior operator in order to move up from the $25 or $30 per month class had to leave home, go away to some strange city, and there get his rating, because the rules were against increasing wages in the various offices. So the youthful John Smith, when capable of working a first class wire, had to leave his home in New York, move on to Chicago, or St. Louis, or leave Montreal for Winnipeg, and vice versa, trust to getting employment in a strange office in order to get an increase in pay. Friendly chief operators would tip the promising youth to do

BOARD TO HEAR WISE CASE

An arbitration board to pass on the claim of Bro. R. F. Wise for reinstatement with pay for lost time against the International News Service will be in session in St. Louis within a few days. This will be the first time the arbitration clause in the press association contracts has been made use of in the 15 years of contractural relationship between the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America and the three press associations.

Bro. Wise was relieved without notice on December 12, 1921, the charge being drunkenness and unreliability. Formal appeal was immediately made to the District Chief Operator on the grounds that the discharge was without justification and requesting reinstatement. On December 14 Bro. Wise was notified by the District Chief Operator that the matter had been referred to the Superintendent of Telegraph, who saw no reason for modifying the previous decision.

An appeal in writing was then submitted to the Superintendent of Telegraph by Bro. Wise on December 17. An unfavorable reply was dated December 27, 1921.

At this point the International officers were requested to take up the case. Several communications passed between our International President and the management of the International News Service, which resulted in President Johnson going to New York on February 13, 1922. Three conferences with International News Service management failed to bring about an adjustment.

Believing that Bro. Wise has been grievously wronged, and all other means of adjustment having failed, the Divisional and International officers requested arbitration as provided for in the Union contract with the International News Service. The management accepted the proposal on March 2, 1922. Bro. S. J. Konenkamp was named as arbitrator by the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America and Jerome Wilsin of New York as arbitrator for the International News Service. The third member of the board had not been named at the time of this writing.

this, stay away for a year or two, and then come back so that he could pay the home boy what he deserved.

Youths in their early teens were thus compelled to beat it from city to city, live in cheap lodging houses, loaf in corner saloons and risk all the contaminating influences of poverty and squalor in a strange city in order that they might qualify for higher wages. Some resisted this demoralising influence; others succumbed, but the entire system was described by a cartoonist of the time carl-caturing a Western Union telegraph office with a sign above the door taken from Dante's inferno reading.

"Abandon all hope, ye who enter here."

Today conditions are changed. Despite all that may be said to the contrary it was the Union influence that brought about the change.

Press and broker telegraphers owe a debt to the Union they can never repay in increased wages and improved conditions. With the commercial telegraphers important gains have been made and in many cities the minimum wage is more than treble what it was twenty years ago. Where Union schedules have existed for a number of years there the gains are greatest. For example the City of Toronto, where the minimum of today is $110 per month as against $20 per month in the non-union days when the best telegrapher in the land could not hope for more than a top of $55 or $60.

The Union established the eight-hour day, obtained free typewriters, vacations, seniority rights and many other important concessions that go towards making life worth living.

It does not matter whether we refer to the G. N. W., the C. P. R., the U. P., Canadian Press, I. N. S., Western Union, Postal, A. P. or Brokers, the story remains the same. The average wage of the telegraphers has gone forward; their rights are respected, they are getting better treatment and conditions have improved in every respect.

And all of this has been done in the face of a steady effort on the part of hostile employers trying to keep the workers apart and succeeding to the extent that the Union workers of the telegraph are still in the minority, thus being compelled to combat the joint influence of their non-union fellow worker and the hostile employer as well.

As a minority group struggling against tremendous odds on the industrial field, the membership of the C. T. U. A. has every reason to be proud of its successful twenty-year struggle for a better world. We feel that we have shown our non-union brethren what can be done with a partial organization and then we might well ask him to join us in this thought:

"Just imagine what we are going to do when the telegraph industry becomes thoroughly organised."

PRESIDENT MANION ON THE EIGHT-HOUR QUESTION

Railroad Telegraphers' ('hief Shows Eight-Hour Day Has Increased Efficiency of Men

CHICAGO .- E. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers appearing before the Railroad Labor Board, entered a vigorous protest against any ruling that would eliminate the eight-hour day for this class of employes. The hearing, which was the last on rules and working conditions, involved a dispute between the railroad telegraphers and 68 railroads, the basic points in contention being pay for overtime and the split trick.

Under the eight-hour day, with a punitive provision for overtime, the telegraphers, said Mr. Manion, worked fewer hours while the railroads of the country were handling more ton miles of business. In 1919, with the eight-hour national agreement in effect, railroad telegraphers worked 27,375,657 hours less than in 1917 and 22,478,574 less hours in 1920 than in 1917. He presented a tabulation to show that the average compensation for overtime for a telegraph operator is only 1.9 per cent, hence no good purpose would be served by abolishing the eight-hour day.

Workers Are More Efficient

In presenting a chart showing the ton miles of freight and passenger miles for the years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920 (the figures compiled by the Interstate Commerce Commission not yet being available for 1921) and comparing this with the hours of service of telegraphers, Mr. Manion said:

"This indicates one of two things—either greatly increased efficiency of employes, as evidenced by the fact that a larger amount of business could be handled by our employes working a less number of aggregate hours, or inefficient and uneconomical operation prior to and during the first year of federal control that required a greater numfederal control that required a greater number of aggregate hours of service incident to the transportation of a smaller amount of tonnage. My study of the situation from actual conditions has completely and conclusively proven the truth of that which in the past has been argued theoretically, namely, that a greater amount of service and of better quality is secured from our class of employees working eight consecutive hours than in a longer period."

Pleads for Humane Rule

Mr. Manion asked the board members to Mr. Manion asked the board members to compare the various arguments of the railroads presented here, based on nothing logical, with the actual reports they have made to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which show the real results of the eighthour day.

"The rule requiring the payment of puni-tive overtime serves to deter minor officials from working our men long hours unneces-sarily," he said. "Our experience over a period of years has taught us that unless there is some penalty for overtime, unneces-sary service will be exacted of employes. A humane standard in the hours of service is the employes' right.

"Some managers, those looking into the future for the welfare of their roads, have witnessed the farce being enacted before this board, and the results which must follow, hence they are not here requesting any change in the present rates for overtime."

BIG TELEPHONE PROFITS

New York.—Last year's profits of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company were $54,002,703, according to a report just issued by the company.

TAFFY IS FED TO PUBLIC

Washington.—W. J. Burns, the "great detective," announces that he has chased the profiteers into their cyclone cellars. On the same day the bureau of labor statistics informed the world that food costs in the nation's capital—where Burns has his headquarters-increased the past month.

UNEMPLOYMENT HOLDS

Chicago.-In discussing unemployment conditions in this state on the first of February, the state department of labor says:

"Optimism was sounded in letters, which several manufacturers attached to their reseveral manufacturers attached to their ports, and the free employment service superintendents report better feeling in the cities in which offices are being operated. However, in which offices are being operated. However, this better feeling has not manifested itself to any great extent in an increase in industrial operations or the reduction of unemployment."

BERRY IS RE-ELECTED

Pressmen's Home, Tenn., March 15.—Official canvass of the referendum vote shows that George L. Berry has been re-elected President of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union. The referendum approved a per capita tax increases and increased death benefits. The 5 per cent assessment is to be continued until May 1 next.

HERE'S A LABOR SOLUTION

New York.—Colonel F. A. Molitor, styles himself a "consulting engineer," solution for railroad labor troubles. A. Molitor, suggests:

Reduction in wages; continuation of the 6 per cent guarantee to the railroads for the next two years; a law making it unlawful and a conspiracy for railroad employes to strike; incorporation of all trade unions and a compulsory filing by them of all financial reports.

WAGES INCREASE IN SPITE OF DEPRESSION

CHICAGO.—Announcements of wage cuts are "news" on a capitalist newspaper. Wage increases in this era of the "open shop" drive are crowded out for 'lack of space.'

The Labor Bureau, Inc., in arguing the case for an increase of wages for Franklin Union No. 4, International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union, before Ralph E. Heilman, arbitrator, prepared a list of unions which are still receiving the peak wage scale of 1920. The summary of the list prepared by the bureau:

Newspaper printers of Typographical Union No. 6 of New York maintained the scale of $55 a week for day shift of 45 hours; $58 for night shift, 44 hours; and $61 a week for the midshift of 42 hours.

Book and job printers of No. 6 will receive until Oct. 1, 1922, $50 per week for the day shift, $53 for the night shift, and $56 for the midnight shift.

Photo engravers have renewed their agreement for one year from Dec. 31, 1921, without a reduction in wages and continuing the 44-hour week.

Pittsburgh newspaper printers renewed their agreement for one year to Dec. 31, 1922, with a scale of $52 for day work and $55 for night work and a 45-hour week.

Chicago newspaper printers retain their minimum hourly rate of $1.15 for day work and $1.25 for night work.

Egg Inspectors Union, Chicago, retains minimum wage of $1 per hour for 44-hour week.

Dairy Employes' Union, Chicago, retain minimum wage rates of $35 and $37.

Milk wagon drivers, Chicago, receive a commission in addition to $41 for retail route men, $42.50 for wholesale drivers and $45 for auto truck drivers.

345 for auto truck drivers.
Journeymen Tailors' Union, Chicago, retains minimum wage for tailors of $40.80 per week and for bushelmen of $36. Ladles garment workers renewed their agreement after strike without cut.

Fur workers, Chicago, receive: Cutters, rur workers, Chicago, receive: Cutters, $50 and $40: operators, $45 and $35. Shoe workers in Florsheim shoe factory, Chicago, retain scale.

Commercial telegraphers resisted 20 per cent cut proposed by various news associa-tions and scale of $40 minimum for day operators and $45.50 for night operators stands.

Chicago Theatrical Protective Union, local

2. retains scale of $1 an hour for common labor, 8 a. m. to 5 p, m, Other hours $2 per hour. Mechanics receive $1.25 an hour

Bill posters, Chicago, with 44-hour week, will receive until Jan. 29, 1923, $50 and $45. Upholsterers and carpet layers, Chicago, retain $1 an hour scale.

International Brotherhood Steam International Brotherhood Steam Shovel and Dredge Men retain minimum $225 per month for engineers, $175 per month for cranemen and $140 per month for firemen. United Automobile, Aircraft and Vehicle Workers of America, local 174, Chicago, retains $1 an hour scale.

International Broom Makers' Union has recently renewed agreements with the Broom Manufacturers' Association providing for continuance of peak scale.

A list of increases in wages won by typographical unions in 131 cities since Jan. 1, 1921. and published in the Typographical Journal is part of the exhibit of the Labor Bureau.

JACK DEMPSEY ON LABOR

Of interest to all who believe in organized

Of interest to all who believe in organized labor is a recent statement made by Jack Dempsey, king pin of fighters in the heavy-weight division. Here is what our friend Jack got off his chest:

"When I look back to the days when I was a boy 'mucking' in the Colorado mines and think of all that organized labor has done to make the lives of the workers happier, I can not imagine how it would be possible for me to ever do anything that would hinder me to ever do anything that would hinder their progress in the least. I generally feel sorry for the fellows I knock out, but when I won the title of championship from Jess Wil-I won the title of championship from Jess Willard I was not only glad that I was world champion, but was tickled to know I had taken it away from a man who had helped to break the strike of the workers on the Illinois Central Railroad."

Continuing, the champion stated that he still retains his membership in two unions, the metal mine workers and the boilermakers. Concluding his speech he said:

"I would rather lose the championship a thousand times and take a good beating each time than lose the good will of the American workers, and any time I can help them in any manner I will be ready to do so."

manner I will be ready to do so.

W. U. CABLE TO GERMANY

Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union, a few weeks ago announced that negotiations for laying a cable to Germany have been completed. The negotiations were carried on between the Western Union, the German government and a group of German financiers.

The Western Union will lay the cable from the United States to the Azores, and the German syndicate will lay it from the Azores to Germany.

COMMERCIAL CABLE TO GERMANY

The Commercial Cable Company recently entered into a contract with the old German Cable Company and the German government for laying of a cable between New York and Emden.

According to present expectations of both the Western Union and the Commercial Cable Company cable communication with Germany will have been restored on two routes in about two years.

FORBIDDING STRIKES

Lincoln said he was glad that workmen had the right to strike "to better their condition." New York's legislature is considering two bills to forbid strikes, and dozens of judges issue injunctions to make strikes useless. That would astonish "Old Abe," probably.

The same New York state shows an increase in its prison population of 14,914 within a year. A bill forbidding strikes would quickly fill all prisons. Forbid strikes, discussion and persuasion and you get something worse. The world learns it, then forgets it.—Arthur Brisbane.

HAVE O. B. U. BUG

Denver, Colo.—The "one big union" wave has struck Colorado, and trade unionists are urged to join the war dance.

The trade unionists' claim that these wild men do not understand the American Federation of Labor is shown by this statement in the call issued by the O. B. U.'s:

"The A. F. of L., through its constitution, forbids workmen of various crafts and callings to go to the assistance of other crafts and callings through sympathy or general strike."

The above is a sample of the statements made by irresponsible men who would create the impression that the A. F. of L. assumes authority over its affiliates.

MAKING HAYS' SALARY BY WAGE REDUCTIONS

Moving picture magnates have been down on their bended knees pleading with Postmaster General Will H. Hays to please accept the $150,000 per year salary tendered him in exchange for some indefinite service he is to render, but their generosity does not reach as far as their ordinary employees.

The Goldwyn Film Corporation has announced a 10 to 20 per cent reduction in the wages of more than 3,000 employees in New York City and on the Pacific coast, and justifies itself with the plea that "everybody's doing it" in the moving-picture industry.

The saving resulting to the Goldwyn company will cover its pro rata of Mr. Hays' munificent salary and something more.—Labor.

$15 MELTS TO $8.25

A man had bought a pair of shoes for which he had paid $15. He had gone out in the snow with them and they had gone to pieces. They were obviously defective.

This man sent the shoes back to the manufacturer, who admitted his claim and sent him a check. It was for $3.25. This was the price the manufacturer had received for the shoes. The $11.75 had been accumulated on their journey to the consumer.

Yet, had that pair of shoes traveled from the factory in Massachusetts to the Pacific coast the freight paid on them would have amounted to but 11 cents.—William Atherton Dupuy, recounting story told by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Winthrop M. Daniels.

Wages vs. Prices

By Senator R. M. LaFollette (In the United States Senate)

The comparison (wage and living cost increase) is made with 100 as the base in 1913.

	· Union	Cost of
Year	Wage Rate	Living
1913	100	100
1914	102	103
1915	102	105.1
1916	106	118.3
1917	112	142.4
1918	130	174.4
1920	189	216.5

Wage advance lagged behind, and far behind, price advances throughout all this period of profiteering • • • Normal wages may be high, but the total earnings of a laborer at the end of the week—listen to this statement—will buy less food and clothing and fuel today than they would buy before the war. Real wages have actually declined.

THE TRUE AMERICAN PLAN

"I am glad that a system of labor prevails under which laborers can strike when they want to, where they are not obliged to work under all circumstances, and are not tied down to work whether you pay them for it or not.

"I like a system which lets a man 'quit' when he wants to, and I wish it might prevail everywhere.

"I want a man to have a chance to better his condition; that is the true system. I am not ashamed to confess that 25 years ago I was a hired laborer."—Abraham Lincoln.

MUST JOIN UNION TO STRIKE

NEW YORK—Ten days in the workhouse was the sentence meted out to David Slatnick, of No. 351 Madison street, and Max Scheinbloom, of No. 371 Alabama avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday. They had invited a boycott against Isidore Chaskin's barber shop at No. 70 Avenue D.

Neither of the prisoners is a union man, but when Slatnick was ousted from his job in Chaskin's shop he paraded in front of the store with Scheinbloom, each carrying a banner announcing that the barbers were on strike and asking prospective patrons not to patronize the shop.

Magistrate Hatting, in imposing sentence, told the prisoners if they wanted to go on strike they should first join a union.

WHAT UNIONS HAVE DONE

The next time some one asks you what you have unions for don't pity his ignorance, but take the uninformed gentleman in hand and enlighten his mind to the greatest force for good that the world's workers have ever known.

Compare the long workday of thirty years ago to that of today. Explain to him how at the beginning of the union labor movement all of the different mechanics of labor were working from 12 to 16 hours per day, and that now the eight-hour day is a fact in all of the organised callings, and that many of them are discussing the seven-hour day that they may enjoy to a greater degree the good things of life.

If the union's successful efforts in reducing

If the union's successful efforts in reducing the work day are not sufficient excuse for our existence, show your friend how the workers' agitation secured our free school system and its free school books. How we have raised wages and established a vast chain of benefits. How we have forced employers to safeguard life and limb. How shop conditions are bettered by workers standing together and protecting from the blacklist, the fellow who has gone to the front. Tell him that all of these gains have been made in the last fifty years. Before that time men were even denied the right to organize. Existing laws at that time declared that three workers gathered together in one place constituted conspiracy. But despite obstacles men united. They formed debating societies and established labor papers. Slowly but surely they one at a time topoled over old ideas maintained by lawmakers, professors, economists and students. Upward they have climbed out of slavery and bondage over 4,000,000 strong.

WAGES TODAY BUY LESS THAN THEY DID IN 1900

CLEVELAND—A statement issued today by Basil M. Manly, former joint Chairman, National War Labor Board with Chief Justice William Howard Taft, declared the wages received today by workers in manufacturing industries, coal mines, and the building trades throughout the country are less in purchasing value than wages for similar labor in 1800.

trades throughout the country are less in purchasing value than wages for similar labor in 1900.

Three standards for determining wages were laid down by Manly: Buying power, a sufficient wage to maintain an average family in health and reasonable comfort, and the workers' rightful share in the value of increased national productivity.

On this basis, Manly said the worker who made $2 a day in 1900 had to make $6 in 1920 to break even.

1920 to break even.

The real wages of almost every important group of workers, including building trades, coal mining, and the railway industry since 1913, with the exception of the lowest naid and most unskilled employes, have declined from 4 to 10 per cent in the last two decades, he said. He based the statement on figures compiled by the bureau of census and the department of labor.

"With the exception of a few isolated and exceptionally skilled trades, the wages of American workers are insufficient, without exceptionally skilled trades, the wages of American workers are insufficient, without supplement from other sources, to provide for the subsistence of a family consisting of husband, wife, and three minor children." Manly concluded, "much less maintain them in that condition of health and reasonable comfort, which every humane consideration demands.

demands "American labor has been consistently de-prived of its share in the ever-increasing productivity of the nation's industries. It is this ever-increasing inequity that is at the root of the nation's frequent industrial depressions."

GENERAL LABOR NEWS

"European union labor is no longer revolutionary; it seeks to raise production by wise administration." says Frank A. Vanderlip in an article published in the New York Herald.

Pursuing the policy instituted in 1920, the A. F. of L., through its Non-Partisan Political Campaign Committee, will enter the congressional primary at elections this fall with the object of obtaining the election of candidates favorable to organized labor.

The United States Employment Service joined with other government departments in predicting that better business conditions would be experienced in the next few months. Reports from 231 of the principal industrial centers with but few exceptions show a general improvement in employment conditions.

The First National School of the American Federation of Labor will be established in Cincinnati with the purpose of training labor leaders to cope with representatives of capital, according to Rev. Peter E. Dietz, who is to be director of the new school.

Because the mill operators in the Pawtucket valley attempted to cut the wages of eight thousand textile workers in the cotton mills these employees, who have for upwards of twenty-five years been unorganized, are today solidly united in the American Textile Workers Union of America and prepared for a long strike.

The textile industry of Rhode Island is in a state of siege; 20,000 workers striking against wage reductions and an increase in the hours of labor have surrounded the cotten will with heavy surrounded the cotten will make the cotten will strike the same surrounded. ton mills with heavy picket lines and have practically tied up the industry throughout the state. Rejecting arbitration and mediation, both sides have declared for a finish fight.

A controversy which has existed for twelve years between the publishers of New York daily newspapers and the union pressmen employed in operating their presses was decided on February 21, by Judge Martin Manton, the chosen arbitrator. The decision was one of the most important made in the history of labor controversies. The work-day one of the most important made in the most tory of labor controversies. The work-day is to be of eight hours' duration and overtime will be paid at time and one-half for the actual time worked above eight hours.

The one big union has lost control of the Monarch mine, in Drumheller, Canada, where 250 miners have again joined the United Mine Workers. This removes the last vestige of dualism from the Drumheller valley.

Akron, Ohio, stereotypers and newspaper managers have extended their old agreement for one year.

The labor union movement of Japan, which was insignificant before the war, has suddenly become so powerful, says the Kokusai agency in a Tokio report, that there is "a feeling of uneasiness that there are going to be serious developments before the expiration of the year, especially for the great landlords." lords.

Workers who give the subject a little thought must reach the conclusion that the so-called "welfare" plans of employers are not instituted for the benefit of the employes. A little investigation will show that these plans are brought into being for the sole benefit of the employers. The chief purpose being to prevent the workers from establishing and maintaining their own organizations for mutual protection.

Sick, disability and death benefits, pension payments, social entertainments, and the other methods such as are used by the Western Union, Postal and Associated Press were instituted for one purpose—to keep telegraphers out of the organization of their craft. Telegraphers who believed otherwise, and who became enthusiastic over these deceptive snares, are now paying dearly in the way of lower wages, longer hours and poorer working conditions.

It is obvious to the thinking person that it is less costly for an employer to contribute to pension funds and other so-called "welfare" features than to pay adequate wages and provide decent conditions of labor. No matter how much the employing corporations affect to contribute to these plans, it is a known fact that they save vast sums each year which should be included in the workers' pay envelopes.

The "welfare" club plan serves to divide the workers into little groups, officered by men selected by the corporations. Should any employe show a disposition to demand democratic methods he is immediately removed and his "welfare" benefits cease.

The pension funds which seem to hold an allurement for many telegraphers are merely promises to pay. They are contingent on remaining in continuous service a required number of years. The pensions are not guaranteed, and in most cases it is explicitly provided that no contractural right to a pension exists. The pension fund may be abolished at any time the employer so disposes. Under the "welfare" system an employe may be removed from service at any time and is powerless to prevent it.

The trade union is the only genuine protection the worker has. Through the trade union the worker establishes wage rates, working conditions and protection. The benefit features of the trade union may not appear as alluring as those promised under the "welfare" plans of the corporation, but they are stable as long as members maintain their union and these benefits are not secured through sacrificing wages and working conditions.

The workers who refuse to sacrifice their unions for the empty promises of employers in pension and other so-called benefits are the workers who will thrive most and enjoy the better conditions.

Statisticians estimate that the American dollar today is worth approximately PRESS, SMOKER seventy cents of the pre-war dollar in buying foodstuffs. In plain words the 1922 wage of $40 is actually a wage of $28 FHAN PRE-WAR in real pre-war money.

WAGES Due to increased property taxation throughout the country the worker is faced with an additional drain on his pocketbook this year in the way of higher rent.

The dollar paid to the landlord in pre-war days has shrunk to approximately forty-five cents in 1922.

Thus the wage increases in recent years are of only imaginary value, and the pay envelopes of press and broker telegraphers becomes lean as a pancake when pressed into actual service.

While we are living in this fictitious, dreamy atmosphere, the thinking telegrapher will watch his step. There is no assurance that the dollar will be worth a dollar for several years to come. The 1922 pay envelope may contain a little more than the worker was permitted to handle in 1914, but it doesn't mean anything!

"Unorganized labor has been the chief sufferer in the wage cutting," according UNORGANIZED HIT to a report recently issued dealing with the living cost sit-HARDEST BY OPEN uation, wages and prices.

SHOPPERS That statement contains the answer—so far as the worker is concerned—to the open shop.

The open shop movement—falsely styled the "American plan," is a blow at the very heart of labor organizations. It seeks to render the worker helpless to resist the heavy burden that unfair employers would put upon him.

In time of unemployment and industrial depression the open shop advovates put forth their hardest efforts. They call to their assistance hunger, privation, the anguish that accompanies the fear of losing a job, the misery that accompanies the inability to secure a job.

The plan is first to dilute organization and then to make it powerless. It behooves organized labor, therefore, to be more on guard than ever, careful and sane of policy and firm in sticking together. Otherwise gains made through years of bitter uphill struggle will be lost.

If there were no injustices crying aloud for redressing, if there were no greedy and grasping employers, if the employers were fair dealing, well meaning, humane men, there would be no reason for labor organizations.

Labor organizations came into existence as a protest against intolerable conditions that workers, single-handed, could not redress.

Today, when the world is overflowing with wrong, when the worker is being driven and goaded, when an effort is being made to force him to take the brunt of war's backwash, the worker must stand together as never before. He must not forget for one moment that the instrument that has been helpful to him in the past will continue to serve him if he remains steadfastly loyal to it.

The open shoppers seek to disrupt labor organizations.

The worker would, indeed, be short sighted if he gave any assistance to such a scheme.

Writing in the Annalist, well known financial magazine, Edward A. Bradford LABOR JOURNALS credits the labor press for the present attitude of railway MOLD OPINIONS workers toward the railroads. He says: "The several OF VOTERS Unions of the 2,000,000 railway workers publish papers resembling what are called 'house organs,' or trade papers or bank circulars. They have only a limited circulation, but they make votes that are reliable on election day, which is more than can be said for more widely circulated journals appealing to more variegated tastes and not able to control the suffrages of their leaders.

"If any one wishes to know why railway workers are so stubborn in their anti-railway views it is necessary to make some little journeys into their union publications."

While pleading for impossible compulsory powers for the enforcement of its COMPULSION findings, Chairman Ben Hooper of the United States Railway WON'T WORK Labor Board states one interesting fact.

Mr. Hooper says the railroads are the ones who do not abide by the board's findings. The unions abide much more readily by what the board finds.

Railroads flaunt the railroad labor board quite as easily as they would flaunt the advice of any busy-body.

There are two points of view from which to consider this statement. First, the unions unquestionably do follow the board's findings more faithfully than do the railroads, despite their fixed opposition to the whole principle underlying the board. Second, the railroads have a perfect right to fiaunt the decisions, because the law gives to the roads—and to the unions—that right.

Let this be said to Mr. Hooper: No matter how many roads, or unions, refuse to accept the board's decisions—there must be no compulsion. Compulsion is wrong in principle, indefensible and impossible in practice.

If decisions are flaunted, perhaps it is the fault of the institution over which Mr. Hooper presides. Perhaps the structure upon which he sits is wrong. Moreover, so far as railroads and telegraph corporations are concerned, they always resist anything that they do not like and have much skill in so doing.

The one way out is through joint negotiations—and withdrawal of service when employers seek to impose conditions to which workers cannot agree.

Mr. Hooper probably won't understand that, but perhaps it isn't necessary that he should.

Suppose the trade and labor unions of America could be crushed and driven out of existence by legislation and court decrees; what then? Is it not true that each worker would become an irresponsible man without association with his fellows, without opportunity for consultation, and without the restraining as well as the constructive influence which open and voluntary organization gives? Is such a condition desirable or tolerable to the normal, rational, intelligent, peaceful organizations of labor of our day?

The commercial telegraph employees of Canada as a body of trades unionists must begin to give thought to the proposition of mapping out a definite policy and program for our mutual advancement, both economically and appearance of the commercial program and appearance of the commerci ically and socially.

Those of us who do our own thinking realize full well that only by presenting a solid, united front can we hope to play any part in the shaping of our collective destiny as skilled workers.

Any little differences we have had amongst ourselves must be relegated to the background. By harboring them we but make it hard for ourselves and such a barbed wire entanglement will but serve our masters—those masters from whom we might well learn our lesson in solidarity. They have no differences. They have no "borers from within." They have no foolish members who refuse to play because the others will not play the way they want to. They have no delinquents and they never miss a meeting. We have an organization which is our or-

We have an organization which is our organization and not the International's. Many of our unthinking members have been deluded into thinking of the International as a loathesome thing entirely apart from the rank and file. This line of reasoning suits those who always profit as a result of it. We are all part of the International and we control it. Remember that.

The C. T. U. A. then, being our organization, it is our duty to make use of it and get the best possible good from it. This can be done by making the business of one division the business of all divisions. We are banded together to help each other both individually and as divisions. Let us then carry on the work for which we were united into one organization.

Let us keep foremost in our thoughts the simple principle that we are all brothers and sisters of the same organization. All too long have we played into the employers' hands by individual and divisional show of jealousy. For the sake of better outlining the writer's thoughts, we will take the two largest divisions in Canada for illustration purposes. Why should the C. P. R. man think himself better than the C. N. T. man, or vice versa? Why should one division be jealous of and hold itself aloof from the other? Why should one group criticize another for past mistakes? How much better it would be if we but remembered that the interests and troubles of one division are of the utmost concern to the other divisions. We will make little progress as a trades union organization unless we put such child's play behind us. This is the time to tidy up our house and conduct it as befits workers of a high degree of intelligence. We have this requisite. Let of intelligence. We have this requisite. us use it.

Automatic telegraph operators are raising their voices in a symphony which will soon rise to a crescendo.

For a number of years telegraph companies have denied them the same wage paid Morse telegraphers, always insisting that Automatic operators were far inferior in skill to the Morse operators. The schedule committees from year to year have fought hard for the Automatics but have been un-able to write the emancipation of this group into a wage schedule.

How much longer will the companies be able to tell the Automatic workers they are unskilled and inferior to the Morse workers?

Morse stands shoulder to shoulder with Automatic in this principle and we are united in our demand that Automatic operators should receive the same wage paid Morse operators. We are all telegraphers and must be recognized as such without any line of distinction in the way of skill and ability being drawn. being drawn.

The telegraph companies have long enough argued that Automatic telegraphers are in-ferior workers. We insist they are not and will maintain our contention.

Let us remain steadfast in our determina-tion to stand together on this principle!

We have with us the sneaking trouble-maker who, with or without the knowledge of our employers, is trying to build up a wall of rivalry, resentment and jealousy between the Automatic and Morse telegraphers. This campaign of mind poisoning must be for a purpose. We cannot believe our employers would sanction such a dastardly program and it would be well if the higher officials would call in and question their subordinates in this connection.

would call in and question their subordinates in this connection.

The campaign is not making any headway and it is becoming boresome for an Automatic telegrapher to listen to "guff" about Morse men not being interested in the advancement of Automatic operators' interests. The Automatic workers know better and refuse to "fall."

We hear a persistent rumor that wireless employers in the Dominion intend to erect an "efficiency" barrier, which might be the cause of letting out of employ men who have devoted years and years to the interests of their employer. their employer.

These older men are the highest paid and therein may lie the reason. New wireless operators, just out of school, are nowadays considered more efficient than the experienced operator of years' service. How foolish. If the kid just out of school with his "dome" full of continuous waves and new mechanical knowledge, but without any practical experience as a telegrapher, is to be entrusted with the safety of ships' passengers, etc., were be unto us. woe be unto us.

Expert wireless men will have no trouble learning and working with new mechanical instruments and they will demand that opportunity.

The Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division, headquarters at Montreal, will soon be able to make its power felt. Under the administration of able leaders, wise in trades union methods, broker and leased wire telegraphers from Halifax to Vancouver are being enrolled. More rower to them enrolled. More power to them.

Telegraph workers of Canada, stand to and do your duty by yourselves and your dear ones. Protection is a war club against subjection! Indifference has its reward and we all know what that reward is.

GO TO YOUR MEETINGS.

NEWS AND VIEWS (By A. R. G.)

I have just read "Three Soldiers" by John Dos Passos, who served in the A. E. F. during the late war. It is the first true picture of the real war by an American writer. Let every ex-service man read it and pass it on to the neighbors.

The City of Naples, Italy, has 250 paid physicians of the highest type, to handle all cases of sickness among the people, without fee, salaries being paid by the municipality.

Because of high freight rates—made imperative by watered railroad stock—the farmers of lowa are burning corn this year instead of coal, the I. C. C. is informed. Where's all this "genius of private management?" Let the nation own the railroads and telegraphs!

The public-owned railroads of New Zealand, having the cheapest transportation rates in the World, made a net profit last year of more than $9,000 per mile. Maybe that's where Henry Ford learned how to run trains! Nationalize the railroads and telegraphs!

"I rejoice at every effort working men make to organize. I hail the labor movement. It is my only hope for democracy. Organize and stand together. Let the nation hear a united demand from the laboring voice"—Wendell Phillips.

There is a monument to this man in Boston that the Western Union's secret sples have overlooked tearing down.

The C. B. & Q. Railroad has just paid a 20 per cent dividend of $34,000,000 after paying a 54 per cent dividend last year. Forget your sympathy for starving Russians and American unemployed and weep for the oppressed railroads!

American labor will never go back to pre-war conditions, says D. D. Vaughan, professor of psychology, Boston University. "Present day unrest is not the rumbling of empty stomachs, but that of ideals; men insisting on the truth," said the eminent pro-tion in America, pointing out the relative educational standing of the United States—ninth among civilized nations. This statement shows a remarkable improvement in the spirit of the Legion. Time was, when any criticism of "things as they are" in America, however constructive and truthful, would have been howled down as "un-American"

Sgt. Major Irwin Serrie, once second best shot in the A. E. F., veteran of six battle fronts in France, recently was a "guest" of the Union Mission, Wheeling, W. Va., in search of employment. Remember how the same persons who gushed over the "dawn of a new day for labor" also vowed eternal gratitude to "our boys" who were "offering their ail" on the "alter of freedom and democracy" on the Western Front, some three and a half years ago? We believed them then. They lied. We'll believe them again the next time. They'll be telling the same lies again. lies again.

Why is the "open shop" idea becoming popular with short-sighted employers?

They buy their raw materials—including labor—at as low a price as possible and sell their product at as high a price as possible.

Labor buys its raw materials—food, clothing, shelter, etc., at the lowest possible figure and sells the finished product—labor power—at the highest market price.

The Union Shop increases the immediate utlay of the employer. The Non-Union shop outlay of the employer. The Non-Union decreases the ultimate income of labor.

The conflict of interest is plain. Friction warfare—is inevitable.

Don't blame the Non-Union employer.

He'd be a fool to sell his product at less than cost. Labor is just as foolish when it sells its labor-power at less than cost. The employer ORGANIZES or goes under in the competitive struggle. Labor ORGANIZES or goes under in the same struggle. The employer who sells his product below cost ruins not only himself but his fellow business men. The worker who labors under non-union conditions is, in the eyes of intelligent workers, a dangerous lunatic. But when you sell a silver dollar for 50 cents don't blame the astonished buyer. And when you sell your labor under non-union conditions, don't blame the employer—even Gary. You thus become his Santa Claus.

A. P. MAN CANNED; NEEDS CARD
For years and years a certain A. P. Operator in the South has persistently and at times insolently rebuffed all invitations to join the C. T. U. A.—the organization that has put hundreds; yea, thousands of dollars into his pocketbook.

He was recently discharged on some grounds the A. P. thought was sufficient. By a strange coincidence this former A. P. Operator became converted to the cause of unionism at about the same time and the volley of appeals, demands and requests for an applica-tion blank would cause a visitor from Mars to think a Bill Haywood was a-borning.

For the benefit of other A. P. Operators, it just happens that the C. T. U. A. is not in the business of selling jobs.

If you are invited to join and do your share in scheduling the A. P., accept the invitation with thanks. Otherwise you may find yourself in the same predicament as this operator from the South who wants a Union press job, but cannot connect without a card.

READ THE JOURNAL

It takes a lot of our hard earned cash every month to get out this Journal. Incessant thought and effort are freely expended trying to get out a paper that will help build up the organization and keep the spirit of progress and enlightenment alive.

Many members deliberately nullify this money and effort by not reading it carefully.

Each month it carries a vital message for you. It should mean much to your welfare and the building up of the organization.

This money and this effort is lost if it does not accomplish the work intended to accomplish.

It should create interest, stir up enthusiasm, and make many new friends every month. We need this in order to grow and make permanent progress.

Will you kindly look at this important mat-ter in the right spirit and do what you can to help a worthy cause along?

THAT IS THE LAW

System is the law by which everything—every organism, business, character, nation, empire—is built. By adding cell to cell, department to department, thought to thought, law to law, and colony to colony in orderly sequence and classification, all things, concerns and institutions grow in magnitude and evolve to completeness.

We see how system simplifies that which is complex; how it makes easy that which was difficult; how it relates an infinite variety of details to one central law of order and so enables them to be dealt with and accounted for with perfect regularity and with an entire absence of confusion.

With this end in view our Constitution and By-Laws were written for our guidance and it is discouraging to find so many members that are not familiar with our by-laws and don't seem to care whether they are followed or not.

By the disarrangement of details organizations perish, and by the careless neglect of details the growth of any work or concern is prevented.

If we are to pull together and get greater results we must know our By-Laws and follow them.

An unsystematic mind is an untrained mind and can no more cope with well disci-plined minds in the race of life than an unplined minds in the race of life than an untrained athlete can successfully compete with a carefully trained athlete in athletic events. We should take this matter to heart more seriously and soon the E. B. D. will show more life and prosperity.

New members coming into the division should be made to realize the importance of knowing these By-Laws and there should be excesse whatever for old members not no excuse whatever for old members not knowing them.

ADVERSE LEGISLATION

On March the first the E. B. D. sent a delegate to the A. F. of L. conference at Albany to work against proposed anti-strike and compulsory arbitration legislation.

If labor unions are made to incorporate, if they are denied the right to strike, if they are compelled to accept compulsory arbitration, we will virtually be slaves again, tied hand and foot, with no power of redress whatever.

Labor has always been the under dog because it has failed to see the value of good strong organization work, able leadership and because it has failed to be thoroughly interested in its own welfare.

More powerful opposition than ever now confronts us and if we are not only going to improve our condition now as well as to make permanent progress as well, we must rely on our trade union efforts irrespective of any other loudly heralded agency, devised ostensibly to aid us, but which really are devised for our destruction and extinction.

Greedy capital can see only their side of the case. So long as they can get big dividends that is all they care for.

The laborer never fully realized the fact that he is selling his precious life plece meal, that he is selling his precious life piece meal, from week to week, month to month and year to year, until youth and vitality are gone forever and he falls like autumn leaves to sorever and he rails like autumn leaves to enrich our mother earth.

Strikes are used only as a last resort to bring about better conditions, and are not unjust at all. Most strikes have purpose behind them that the public and the strikers never see. Most strikes are strategic moves in a great battle that is far removed from the apparent matter at issue and is a right that cannot be denied the apparent matter at issue and is a right that cannot be denied.

If the two groups would take their eyes and minds off each other and turn them on the industry in question they would find a satisfactory solution.

There should be teamwork and mutual cooperation. Creative construction of both groups working together. It is on this industry that both groups depend for a living.

Henry Ford has obtained brilliant results and reaped untold millions in the face of the stiffest kind of competition, yet he has increased wages, shortened hours of work and given every employee a chance to better himself.

Ford takes great delight in the fact that he can take any man and make a better man of him. A drug addict, a criminal and jail bird or a mental cripple are all made over until they measure up to the highest pos-sible human efficiency.

Schwab likes to pay extra money for extra results, but is not particular as to how it is done or whether a man wrecks his health in getting results.

Better and more efficient management at the top will undoubtedly solve the problem. Strikes are nearly always brought about by mismanagement and misunderstanding.

Ford, Schwab, Patterson and many others get brilliant results and have no strikes or ill feeling. They see that each man has every possible opportunity of bettering himself. They get the best and pay the best, and they find that it pays and is the most satisfactory. They don't need any outside arbitration either, as a well managed concern will never need it. need it.

THE ERA OF MERGERS

The alliance formed last month in Chicago between the great Order of Railroad Telegraphers, The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Railroad Engineers, Conductors, Trainmen, Shopmen, etc., and the Coal Miners Union and the Longshoremen's Union is a mighty step forward in the labor world.

More than two million men are now practically one union and will form a mighty organisation that will be able to cope with the great difficulties that now confront them.

The United States Steel Corporation was made up of a lot of small concerns that were cutting one another's throats and getting nowhere. Poorly managed, working under terrible handicaps, unsatisfactory in every way, yet when they were merged and the proper man at the head everything worked out in wonderful perfection. Every department finely organized and composed of experts of proven ability that had to show continual results. Aggressive campaigns mapped out and enthusiastically and energetically followed up produced wonderful results.

As now constituted, telegraphers have too many organizations in the field and not pull-Duplicate sets of officials, dupliing together. cate headquarters, duplicate journals, duplicate insurance, duplicate organizers, etc., etc.,

Nearly all big lines of business see the value of one big organization that can handle big business in a big effective way. This cannot be attempted by a small organization, there-fore big results cannot be attained and big results realized.

We need such a CONSOLIDATION in order to cover the field properly and effectively. We will not get results until this is done. The sooner this is brought about the better off we will be. Let us get busy on this important event AT ONCE.

THE NON-MEMBER

Don't forget that pay day is an ideal day to get non-members to sign up. He feels good that day just because it is pay day. He feels better to think he got a raise that the Union got for him and he will feel still better when he gets in and finds out what Unionism really is and what he has missed in friendship, prestige and money by not coming in before.

He works for less than we do, but when we get advances in salaries he automatically gets something out of it, too. He does not get the full benefit, but he gets as much of it as he can

He might be called a camp follower, he does not belong to the Union army but he sticks around where the army is.

around where the army is.

The Secretary has plenty of nice new application blanks he will be glad to rush over to you and get the non to sign up. He will feel glad, you will feel glad, and we will all feel glad. Why delay?

TEAMWORK

Civilization is built on teamwork, IS teamwork, and the trend is towards greater and still greater teamwork.

Baseball teams, football teams, great banks d corporations all gain great success by intelligent, unflagging teamwork. W teamwork is lacking, success is lacking.

It is needless to say we have been lacking in teamwork and therefore have trailed along behind with mediocre success.

THIS ORGANIZATION WILL BE WHAT WE MAKE IT.

THE RESULTS WE GET WILL BE MEASURED BY WHAT WE DO TO GET RESULTS.

Initiative, enthusiasm and teamwork will work wonders and we will all be gainers and better off in every way.

Indifference means going back, ground and failure.

For three years the Allies had no teamwork and paid a terrible penalty. When they finally got together and made Foch generalissimo and agreed to work together, there was instant change. The Allies turned on the enemy and soon had them on the run.

Had not Lincoln been able to evolve teamwork from his brilliant but highstrung, erratic cabinet officers and insist on generals that would fight, the Civil War might not have ended when it did.

Gary. Ford and Schwab are such great

Gary, Ford and Schwab are such great successes because they have been able to inspire teamwork.

This organization as a whole is pitted against great organizations and great team-against great organizations and great teamwork and the only way we can make any headway is by intelligent teamwork.

Let us all get together and help our new organization committee get results. Every member should gladly lend a helping hand.

As we have no paid organizers we are entrely dependent on the mutual co-operation of all members to carry us along to success. Those that help out with the proper spirit give the organization its strength and success.

give the organization its strength and success. Those that are indifferent are a big liability and a source of weakness, a heavy load to carry and they help hold the organization back by their unsympathetic attitude.

Come on, boys, let us all get together and each one do his share. We are all friends and brothers and we should not lay down on the job; that is not the proper spirit, and won't gat its anywhere.

THINK IT OVER!

FINANCIAL SHIPWRECKS

"These are the times that try men's souls.
The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the services of his Union, but he that stands it NOW deserves the love and thanks of his brother members, etc." Thus spoke our inspired Thomas Paine.

patriot, Thomas Paine.
At this writing something like forty firms have been washed ashore and shipwrecked on the breakers, along the coast of the financial world. Naturally there is much gloom and consternation among those concerned. Shipwrecks and unemployment are temporarily embarrassing, but not fatal, and as the world is slowly but surely working toward a higher level, these things will probably be remedied in the course of time.

Time heals all wounds. Just the way we weather the storm shows what material we are made of. Don't let the rough places put us out of commission. There is always a larger and better goal ahead.

As Tennyson says:

"I can but trust that some how good, will be the final goal of ill."

EASY MONEY

The Federal Reserve Board, with all its power and prestige has made so much money it is having a hard time getting rid of it.

The new Federal Reserve building here in New York City has already laid out $25,000,000 just as a starter and Congress is all worked up over the orgy of spending, the architect alone getting one million dollars for his services.

Not content with loading down all their friends with money, they are helping themselves, too, while the helping is good.

Benjamin Strong's salary has been increased from $30,000 to $50,000 a year. Pierre Jay from $16,000 to $20,000. J. H. Case from $20,000 to $30,000. E. R. Kenzel from $4,000 to $25,000. L. F. Sailer from $7,000 to $25,000. G. L. Harrison $4.000 to $22,000. L. H. Hendrick from $6,000 to $18,000. Shepherd Morgan from $5,000 to $15,000, etc., etc., etc.

I very strongly urge that we send our executive committee to see them and find out how they work it.

Bogey Nelson and Bart Kearney would make ideal inquisitors and we would soon be rolling in money. What do you say?

GOOD NEWS FOR FISHERMEN

Tom Tarangeli used to break down all the doors, windows and partitions in his frantic efforts to get to Hq. first every afternoon. But, alas, the "poor fish" were not so easy and kept him broke.

As he cannot get the money that way he has bought a fine large boat from the Government and intends to run fishing excursions from Sheepshead Bay to Lewis' dock and hopes to get rich that way.

The service will start about April 1st and will be welcome news to all lovers of the sport.

Every one should wear a life preserver all the time so that if he falls overboard Tom will harpoon him with the anchor and yank him back on board.

Lee Butterfield has appointed himself captain and insists he is the only man in Wall Street that really knows how to catch fish.

Just to liven things up for the sporty boys a blockade running to and from the threemile limit may be attempted.

"Bob" King is around bright and early every morning with his morning market letter and seems to be getting quite a list of subscribers.

If "Bob" keeps on J. Arthur Joseph, Town Topics and all the other information bureaus will be forced to the wall with heavy liabilities and no assets. Give them a show, "Bob."

The good news comes of the elevation of Brother W. F. Ryan to the position of manager for Thomson & McKinnon on the floor of the Produce Exchange.

Bill insists he is growing younger every day. Andrew Carnegie and Bill showed Lincoln and Grant how to rip up the Con-

And just to show the people that the Three Musketeers were pikers, Bill, Dick Scales and Gene Lackens used to ride in from the Stock Yards on their cow ponies and shoot up the poor defenseless village of Chicago. But that was some years ago before Volstead got in his deadly work.

Bill is some orator, too, and could certainly help in a big way in our organization work.

Rod McKinnon better look out or Bill will be telling him to move on one of these days.

Meeting started at 5 p. m. Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved. There was no unfinished business. Financial report and report of employment committee read and approved. By unanimous vote article 5 of our by-laws has been changed to read "reports of committees and officers." It was voted to send the Carney Hospital $50 at once as a donation. They treated Brother Henderson and performed two operations on him, this together with medicine, ether, etc., etc., and it was deemed advisable that we show our gratitude in view of the fact that they did it all free. The matter had not been acted upon before owing to uncertainty as to treasury conditions during the process of changing the books from one administration to the other.

It was voted that we discontinue sending out meeting notices. Deemed that they are an unnecessary expense and that with proper co-operation of all the members, the tip can be passed around to jog the memories as to meeting dates.

Also moved that Secretary be instructed to notify all delinquents of the amount and items of their arrears, including dues and leased wire assessment, notifying them that the first money paid is applicable to the leased wire defense fund and to add the penalty for not paying dues.

The Chair, after a proper vote, appointed jovial Ed. Herbert and O. B. Kinney as a committee of two to take charge of the regulation of headquarters. Their official title is "Headquarters Committee."

The brokerage fallures are coming in with the regularity of clockwork. So far, Boston has had three men let out. One is working on a scoop which may close out at any moment. We have a few prospects and earnestly hope that they will materialize. News filters through that some of the affected firms will later pay up part of their indebtedness and, in fact, one or two will pay dollar for dollar if the creditors are willing to co-operate. Meantime the market acts like an old-fashioned bull market acts like an old-fashioned bull market acts. fashioned bull market and may indicate that new enterprise will take the place of those who went to the wall, thus affording employment.

While all the world is up in the air, it is up to good union men to pay up promptly and stick close to the union, be familiar with its activities and live up to its traditions.

STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER By "Pop"

Events that have occurred in the last two months impress me as to the effectiveness of the organization, considering the numerical strength and finances. To think of how strength and finances. To think of how much more could be accomplished if the remainder of the broker operators would come into the fold with a determination to maintain a higher standard of wages, etc.

The Chairman of the Employment Committee hit the nail on the head at the last meeting when he said: "Remember there isn't any one of us that is absolutely certain of holding down a permanent job." It is of holding down a permanent job." It is when the so-called permanent job is gone that a member appreciates his card; he knows that then the machinery of the organization is set to work in his behalf. He knows that not only the committee, but every member of the distributions that not only the committee, but every member of the division is on the lookout for Match this with the efforts of the individual scampering around the "Street" like a rat. And it is a fact that telegraphers not members of the union stoop so low in their efforts to secure jobs that they receive the contempt of those with whom they have sought employment. By their very cheapness they destroy themselves destroy themselves.

When a man knows a good pair of shoes is worth ten dollars he is naturally suspicious if he is offered a pair for twenty-five cents. So it is with the employer; when he knows a good telegrapher demands first class salary and working conditions, while he may, in emergency, avail himself of renegade talent, he loses no opportunity to heap abuse and contempt upon the second grade or disorganized telegrapher who would take a job "at any price" and under any sort of working conditions. conditions.

Now that we have seen the benefits derived from our organization. let us resolve to further strengthen the division numerically and financially, with a morale that will readily respond to all things Union.

THE SOUNDER

Conducted by Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21

Meeting Date: Second Wednesday of Each Month at Union of Commerce Hall, 140 Berri St., Montreal.

-Organize-Co-operate-

Since our last write-up, five brokerage houses in Montreal have closed their doors, letting out eight of our good members. Two of the boys have been placed, while the others are picking up the odd scoops around the "Street."

We would like to draw the attention of the telegraph workers, also the civic authorities of our fair city, to the fact that a telegrapher and his wife are both working leased wires, while married men, with families to support, are walking the streets trying to get a day's work here and there.

We would like to know what our Mayor, who we have every reason to believe is a fair minded man, striving to do everything in his power to alleviate the sufferings of the unemployed, thinks of this telegrapher.

We wonder if this telegrapher is aware of the plight of a number of his fellow craftsmen, worthy lads, vainly struggling to keep their homes together. If he does, and ignores it—nuff sed.

The special assessment of fifty cents per month, levied on all members of this division at a recent meeting, is slow in coming in. It is up to every member to see that this is forwarded to the General Secretary Treasurer at once.

So far, nothing has been heard from the boys in the west. What's the matter out there? We are here to stay boys, so you might as well come in out of the rain. How about it, Winnipeg?

It sure was encouraging to see a large turn-out at our last meeting, but we would like to have every member attend the meetings. The organization is what you make it. Come on boys, everyone on deck next month.

The Euchre and Dance was a success, thanks to the untiring efforts of the committee, which, as the 15th approached, had dwindled down to three or four active workers. However, we all had a good time. Bro. and Mrs. Schnur were our guests, and we trust they were both favorably impressed by the turnout of the Montreal membership.

Bros. Eddie Cohen and Buck Auger were there with bells on. When the music is jazzy these two boys can certainly shake a mean hoof.

Joe McKenna was there too, all dressed up and having the time of his life.

'Round the Street

Bro. McFadden is relieving Bro. Jawn Galey at E. & C. Randolph.

Bro. O'Donnell is relieving Mr. Marchand at J. M. Robinson & Sons for a few days.

Bro. Don Blehr, L. & B. is back on the job. Glad to see you around again, Cap., but what happened the "corporation?"

Bro. Auger has gone to Ottawa for the session of the Dominion Parliament. Don't forget the gang. Buck, now that you are mingling with the politicians and the 400 circle around "HU."

Bro. Culkin, late of Greenshields and Co., Toronto, was a welcome visitor at our last meeting. Come again Jim.

Bro. L. T. Bilodeau, late Fairbanks Goselin, Quebec, is at HU for the session.

March 1st was the deadline. A few of the boys have not paid their dues yet. Now is the time fellows, don't let it drag.

Don't forget the next meeting. Remember the date, April 12th. Bring someone with you. Bro. Schnur was out of town on business when our last meeting was held, but will be here next time. Remember this is to be our banner year. Are you going to do your share to make it so? And don't forget to kick in with a few notes for the next write-up.

COMMENT FROM CALGARY

Since the World's War but little news, observations or otherwise, have appeared in the western columns of the C. P. System. This is unfortunate. The West has been the mainstay of the organization for years, and used to carry along the East in thought, strategy and tactics, and some years ago, in membership. However, things change, and we find the West more like a hanger on to the East with practically no say in the "counsels" of the "high," and worse than that—all ambition or advanced thought smothered or kicked out of the membership. It is much like a smouldering volcano, though, and it is liable out of the memoership. It is much like a smouldering volcano, though, and it is liable to break out with more strength than ever. To those who wish to hold everything in mark, "Beware of the West."

The last Convention was held in Toronto in deference to the agitation of years of duration and the wishes of the Canadian membership. Why did we want the Convention there? Simply that we would be better able to afford a larger quota and better representation. But why should we bother about a large delegation of Canadians? Reable to allored a larger quota and better representation. But why should we bother about a large delegation of Canadians? Be-cause we wanted to have certain important legislation put into force to solidify the Canadian membership. But aren't we SOLID in Canada? Aren't we 100 per cent? Oh, yes, we are SOLID in "cards."

Canadian membership. But aren't we SOLID in Canada? Aren't we 100 per cent? Oh, yes, we are SOLID in "cards."

For a good many years we have discussed different plans for closer working arrangements with the two large system divisions, the C. P. R. and C. N. T. We have had to do this, because our brother telegraphers in Uncle Sam's domain will not even be card men. The International has promised to organize the W. U. and Postal for the last twelve years, that I know of, but we do not seem to get anywhere. And, you see, these are the only people who can be of any assistance to us if we were ever unfortunate enough to run up against any trouble in Canada. That is the whole and nothing but the whole use of the American International Labor Movement. At heart the A. F. of L. is purely a national organization with Canada "tagged on." It is good for Canada as it is good for the U. S. A., because our "crafts" are as one. But the mere fact that the A. F. of L. has seceded from the "Internationale" of Europe goes to prove that they are merely National in aspect. There are five "Internationales" in Europe, all having a different line of thought and strategy for the bettering of the common people in the world. You would think, then, that the only "craft unions" which claim the special privilege of calling themselves International organization to us is their kindred strength in an adjoining country. That is the short and long of it, all the roorbacks notwithstanding. The strength of our organization lies in the need of the C. P. R. and C. N. T., etc., in Canada to come closer together and the ability to organize the Postal and W. U. in the U. S. A. With this in mind our delegates went to Toronto "armed to the teeth' so that we would have some action along these lines. We wanted a closer federation of the Units in Canada, with one of our own men, who has a little of a record behind him as the "guide."

We want him to take a trip through the country once a year, so that we might all feel more of a "oneness" in the great cause we espouse. There were so many plans for a Federation of the Canadian Units submitted that the Convention couldn't extricate itself from the mass of "briefs" and "exhibits," we are told. That, of course, is bunk. Not a lesser piece of "bunk" was the fact that the Canadian delegates couldn't agree on a "Canadian Member" being elected Vice-President. It is quite evident twenty-eight delegates could not agree unanimously on any one gates could not agree unanimously on any one man. It is also quite clear that had names been submitted in ballot, the twenty-eight delegates would have eventually agreed on delegates would have eventually agreed on the man who was chosen by such a ballot. Why was this not done? Why were the different plans for federation not discussed and drafted so that the twenty-eight delegates could give us a federation? Why? That's it. Why? Who was the clairvoyant?

Another why? Is the East the only place where men of talent can be found to fill the different executive positions? Has it ever struck you that the West has absolutely no representation on any executive?

Bro. Duncan McNaughton used to have some weight with his circular letters at one some weight with his circular letters at one time. That has considerably lessened, since his actions at the Convention. If his ability to speak out at the right place was equal to that of writing a postmortem on his silence at that of writing a postmortem on his silence at Toronto, we should have had an interesting convention. However, there was no excuse for a man trying to use force to oust Duncan from the convention, because he had a difference with the International Headquarters. That was a matter for the credentials committee, not a self-styled sergeant-at-arms. H Pryde

To the Editor of the Journal:

In your editorial in the February Journal you state that "big business" is always on the job politically but labor is not and you advocate the use of the ballot by labor to remedy the condition. What's the use? Republican Party? Democratic Party? Socialist Party? Horrors! You're a dirty Bolshevik. Who told me? My boss said so; the bankers say so; Gary says so; that's how I know.

And that's the trouble. When you advocate the use of the ballot by labor, you do not say enough. To do any good, you must take a stand on one side of the fence and name your party. One man will think you refer to the Republican Party; another to the Democratic Party, and so on. Labor has allowed the bosses to coin a maxim: "Labor unions must stay out of politics." The same factory that manufactured this maxim manufactured these: "The common workers are wearing silk shirts:" "The worker is not giving a full day's work for a day's pay;" "The open-shop is the only true American plan;" "Wages must be reduced."

Why should labor unions stay out of politics."

duced."
Why should labor unions stay out of politics? Why shouldn't the workers after making all the silk shirts in the world be allowed to wear a few if he pleases? The crafty capitalists are placing these restrictions on the workers because they fear the workers will wander into their domain. They have used politics so successfully so long that they are afraid that the workers will discover a few of the tricks of the trade and perhaps make use of them.

Notice how all the tralls lead to one spot.
"Labor unions must stay out of politics."
What is it that is feared? Organisation!
"The open-shop (sop) is the only true American plan." What is it that is feared? Organisation!
So just on this account—just because the capitalists fear organisation, the workers should break their necks trying to get it.
But in our union, some of us are so placed that we can get a look at the boss perhaps a few times a day. That makes us ½ of 1 p. c. capitalists, and therefore we must be very conservative. Holy Mackerel! Up on Ludlow Street there's a whole jail full of them. them.

One thing is certain: We will grow only in proportion to the amount of spirit we show, and not in proportion to the lack of it. A few more like A. R. G. and we would have union, not a club.

Yours fraternally, Joseph B. Milgram.

PERTINENT OBSERVATIONS

By "TEXAN"

C. T. U. A. is twenty years old. The union has received a multitude of hard knocks, but survived them and came forth triumphant. A union that cannot stand a few hard knocks and survive them is not worthy the name.

The operators who had the backbone to support the union with their money, moral aid and enthusiasm while it was being buffeted about by treacherous corporation hirelings and stool pigeons, deserve to be called real

The battle-scarred O. R. T. is a good example of what persistent effort will do. The O. R. T. is an organization of which the railroad operators can justly feel proud. The O. R. T. received a whole lot of hard knocks before it went over the top. Since it went over the top it has stayed there.

The C. T. U. A. is an organization with a sonscience and a backbone. Its past record clearly shows this. Its president, Roscoe H. Johnson, is a man with a conscience and a backbone. His record proves this.

Editor Powers is producing a very commendable journal every month. If any member is not satisfied with it he ought to go to work on the job of sending the editor some contributions that would improve the publication.

A. P. operators ought to fall in line at a rapid pace. Who can tell when that "temporary allowance" will be taken away from them? What would A. P. operators be getting today if it had not been for the C. T. U. A.? Lower wages than they are getting now, of course.

Commercial telegraphers boast that they are a bright set of men and women. This being the case, why don't they join the C. T. U. A. in a body?

The broker divisions are moving along in their organization work at a rapid pace. Congratulations to them. The broker operators earn every dollar they receive for their labor. They ought to get better pay. Thorough organization will bring about this many desired result much desired result.

Join the union. Dues, $11 per year: months, $5.50; initiation fee, $2. Clenough!

A, P. DIRECTORS NOMINATED

The nominating committee of the Associated Press, meeting in Chicago, made the following nominations to succeed the five dironowing nominations to succeed the five directors whose terms expire in 1922: Elbert H. Baker. Cleveland Plain Dealer; Charles Hopkins Clark, Hartford Courant; Powell Glass, Lynchburg (Va.) Advance; Clark Howell, Atlanta Constitution; William J. Kline, Amsterdam (N. Y.) Recorder; J. R. Knowland, Oakland Tribune; Frank Knowland, Oakland Tribune; The Marchael Charles A. Rook, Pittsburgh Dispatch.

By the rules of the committee at least ten nominations were required. To fill the un-expired term of D. E. Town of the Louisville Herald, resigned, these two nominations were made: M. E. M. E. Foster, Houston (Tex.) Chronicle; Frank B. Shutts, Miami (Fla.) Herald. The election will be held at the annual meeting of the Associated Press in New York, April 25 and 26.

HOW ABOUT LABOR?

-"There has been York.thoughtless talk about class legislation on behalf of the farmer," said Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, in a speech in this

Secretary of Agriculture, in a special city.

"The fact is," he said, "that all the so-called farm legislation of the past year has been of just as much benefit to all classes of people as it is to the farmer. Any legislation which will help put farming back on to a fairly prosperous basis will be helpful to everybody. It is not a question of giving the farmer any special favors. He does not ask them. It is simply a question of putting shout 40 per cent of our people in a position about 40 per cent of our people in a position to help themselves."

Quebec and District Notes

It must be understood that the views expressed in the radio department by various correspondents do not necessarily reflect the official attitude of the organization.

We have been so busy lately catching the bouquets and ducking the bricks of a literary (?) stripe in connection with the increase of dues, amendments to by-laws, etc., that our column this month is going to be like the latest Palm Beach styles, strictly abbreviated.

latest Palm Beach styles, strictly abbreviated.

We trust that ere now our respected Vice-President's better two-thirds is entirely recovered and that the rabbit's foot is safely ensconced in the family vault, we mean the steel variety. We also hope that International President Johnson is fully recovered from his recent sickness and that International Secretary Powers has banished the flugerms to the Never, Never land.

Elsewhere in these columns our readers will find a circular from late Secretary Ross giving an account of his stewardship and also a letter of thanks from our first District Chairman "Pete" McGilliveray. We are sure all our readers will be glad to learn that he is now apparently on the road to complete recovery and we trust that the time will not be long ere he is again doing his daily stint amongst us.

piete recovery and we trust that the time will not be long ere he is again doing his daily stint amongst us.

The matter of the dues and by-laws for 1922 has now been finally settled. The Distress Fund has been dropped and we have our own opinion as to the wisdom of this. There is nothing to be gained by continuing the arguments pro and con so we will content ourselves by hoping that now the matter of the dues has been finally disposed the membership will make up for lost time by quickly falling into the ANNUAL lines.

There are numerous changes going on preparatory to the opening of navigation and we hope by the next issue to be in a position to advise you of some. The watchword for the coming season as we see it is Service, all capital letters. Let him who runneth wear his hornrimmed glasses a la Harold Lloyd and read.

After receiving various comments both individually and collectively signed, from varions sections of the Eastern Division your Sub-Division Chairman wrote a letter dated February 27th, to General Chairman F. Cuthbert Allen in which was embodied a revision of dues and proposal to drop the suggested dated March 1st, from the General Chairman in which he agreed unreservedly to the plan set forth. It has therefore been finally dein which he agreed unreservedly to the plan set forth. It has therefore been finally de-cided to adopt the following scale of dues:— $11.00 per annum for seasonally employed men.

$13.00 per annum for men employed the year round but who receive a cut to minimum schedule during winter months.
$15.00 per annum for those employed the year round on their scheduled salary rating.
The proposed Distress Fund has been dropped for good unless at some future time a majority of far-seeing members see the value of such a plan. It is now to be distinctly understood by the membership as a whole that should a man fall sick he can hope for neither help from the Union or pay from the employer. It therefore behooves each one of us who desire protection from the contingency of accident or sickness to adopt necessary precautions by taking out Accident and Sickness Insurance Policies.

As to the above dues, your Chairman is firmly convinced of the fairness of the three way dues and also as to the necessity for the amounts stated. It was decided that it would be unwise to extend the time for consideration of dues and by-laws until April 1st. It is considered very necessary to impress upon the membership the need for sending in their dues as soon as they can. G. E. C. Cert. 128.

The 1922 Dues

Due to a misunderstanding as to the writer's intentions, a letter from the General Chairman, addressed to the Membership of the System-Division, was not given publicity in the February issue of the Journal. The letter referred to appears in the present is-

In view of protests relative to increased dues, and following considerable correspondence as between members of the General Committee, in which all protests were considered, and the entire situation reviewed; it was ultimately decided that a Distress Sinking Fund was not desired by the membership at this time. Many approved of it and backed that approval by the necessary accompaniment. Many, while seemingly in favor of the Fund, failed to see the need of finances to establish it.

It should be clearly understood that the General Committee is not in agreement with certain of the membership in their attitude regarding this all-important piece of legislation.

The General Committee considers that the membership, by its apathy in regard to RENEWAL OF CARDS, are but showing disapproval of the Distress Sinking Fund and the increased dues.

It has therefore been decided to shelve the matter of the Fund until such time as the membership show a disposition to consider it favorably.

From correspondence received, it is clearly indicated that general satisfaction would be manifest were the dues classifications revised from $20.00: $16.00; and $12.00, to $15.00; $13.00, and $11.00.

$13.00, and $11.00.

A brother's suggestion for fixing the dues on a basis of 1% of Annual wages earned has received the fullest consideration, and in conjunction with our Vice-President, the question was gone into thoroughly by the writer. The impracticability of such a percentage plan will be apparent when it is remembered that on the Great Lakes alone the vast majority of members are in the seasonal class, and would be called upon, under a scheme such as that proposed, to pay somewhere in the neighborhood of but $5.00 per annum; which would fall far short of the minimum called for by the Constitution.

It has therefore been decided by the Executive that the Division will not be able to function on anything short of the latest revised figures. The 1922 dues have therefore been fixed at these rates. Cert. 1.

Toronto, Ont. February 3rd, 1922.

To the Membership of System-Division No. 59. C. T. U. A. Greetings :-

It is due the membership to state that the officers of the System-Division recognize in its fullest sense, the right of one and all to require a reason for anything and everything done in their name under authority of proxies, and most emphatically so in the matter of fixing the amount of Annual dues.

The membership can feel assured that in-sofar as it is possible these reasons will be given, but on occasion, when it is found im-possible to at once acquaint the entire mem-bership with every detail governing the ac-tions of officers or of committees, and when as a consequence of this impossibility, the membership are faced with a decision or a tentative decision arrived at by any officer or body of officers who have been chosen to represent and function for them, the mem-bership owe it to such representatives to at least credit them with that ability, judgment, foresight, and ordinary common sense which The membership can feel assured that inforesight, and ordinary common sense which it is presumed were either recognized or taken for granted when the votes were cast which placed these men in executive capacity.

Appreciation is hereby expressed of all courteously worded enquiries as to the reasons for the present dues, and the hint is given to those few whom it concerns, that the lack of courteey which signalizes some of the near inquisitorial demands is not considered in good taste.

The report of the biennial convention has een before you for some months. A study of this report is, to my mind, all-convincing as to the imperative need for increased dues, increased energy along proper lines, and a decided DECREASE in selfishness and egoism.

You, as individuals, saw without undue effort a hundred and one reasons why wages should be increased, and I have before me, from a member, a long list of reasons why wages should not be reduced.

The membership, at that time, saw many reasons for supporting the outfit which launched and carried on the campaign for increases.

You cannot but have seen, if you read the Report at all, the deficit suffered by your Organization at the close of a two-year period in its effort to give you a Journal worth while, and you were very well pleased when International, in spite of a mounting deficit, met our wishes and furnished the Canadian Radio membership at still further increased cost with their own enecial and generous section special and generous section.

Accumulated debts have to be liquidated; the Journal, to be of service, must be maintained at a certain standard of efficiency, and neither can be accomplished without money, or, in language nearer to ourselves, increased dues.

It has been said, and it may be repeated, that objection is not registered so much to increases as to the amount of the increases. In reply to this I would advise objectors that in deciding upon the amount of dues, the grading of the different classes, etc., the question was attacked from every possible angle, and the final solution is that put before you for approval or, if you so decide, rejection.

One can split hairs, if one wishes, but it is not guaranteed that just for the reason that a single hair will support a two-ounce weight, half of the same hair when split, will with certainty carry one ounce. A very significant feature in connection with the 1922 dues is that, without exception, those present at the Toronto meeting and all those with whom we have since come in contact on this matter, are unanimous in supporting the figures as now before you, and requests for some better scheme have always failed of reply. These brothers understand. derstand.

With two exceptions, the writer was left entirely on his own in his efforts to meet the required changes in by-laws including dues. Now, when everything is in order and approved by many not in touch but who are prepared to trust their elected officers, and approved by all who have heard the question debated along come the phiesters who seems debated, along come the objectors who seem ingly can see nothing in the entire amended by-laws but dues, dues, dues.

by-laws but dues, dues, dues.

You have, it is clear, been concentrating on figures. Let me ask you to consider a few more. All told, there are not 300 operators in the service. You have the Seniority list giving the actual number or in view of service cnanges, what may be regarded as the actual number. You have had lists of the 1921 membership. From these figures you can see what percentage of the total employees are card holders. We are not ashamed of the percentage, but it should be better.

Presuming that there are 200 employees.

Presuming that there are 300 employees, and that our membership was 100 per cent, would you still consider the present dues as too high?

I would not, and did you but understand the situation, you would not. It has been said that our dues should be on a par with C. P. R. or C. N. T. Again I ask you to consider figures. It costs as much for a Wireless Committee to function as it does for any other. On a basis of numerical strength, both C. P. R. and C. N. T. dues are far ahead of our own. Our entire membership, or for the matter of that, our entire operating staff, is no greater than some of their district membership.

Special consideration must be given. and of their district membership.

Special consideration must be given, and while I am in any way connected with the Radio Division, will be given the seasonal men and those who suffer a severe cut during the closed season. We cannot, and we shall not, require that these men continue to pay the same as those unaffected or practically unaffected by seasonal changes. The refusal of such consideration is diametrically opposed to all true unionism as I understand the word. These unfortunate members are in my estimation, worthy of our utmost consideration, and I have in mind their commendable attitude since 1919. These worthy brothers have in a year but little more, and some much less, than six months service, yet they hold that their own $12 is not unreasonable, and fail to see wherein lies the reason for objection in the other ratings.

If seasonal men consider their dues fair and reasonable, cannot those amongst us who are so much better off see the justice of the figures in our own case?

I do not believe that the membership are satisfied to remain in the aptly termed "piker class." I do not intend to remain in it, and I have no intention of working for anyone who is contented to so remain.

I attribute the present attitude of some to a simple pardonable ignorance along Labor Union lines. We think that we know, and that is where we fly off at a tangent.

Many of us have not had opportunity of meeting with the more advanced authorities on Labor questions, or making a study of this branch of economics, and it therefore behooves those who are so circumstanced, to take advantage of whatever is to be gleaned by those amongst us who have had and who have such opportunities.

and who have such opportunities.

Objection has also been registered to the establishment of a Distress Sinking Funo, which has been referred to by a member as unnecessary and a further increase in our "burthens." It was hoped that this scheme, the result of much thought and effort both east and west, would have merited the unanimous commendation of the entire membership, but whether it goes ahead or fails of its object, depends on the situation as found on March 1st. If by that time it is judged by the proposer as having met with disapproval, the further work called for in the final resolve will not be carried on. It did not pass the notice of the Company that, notwithstanding the increased wage, nothing had been done by ourselves towards the establishing of a sick benefit fund.

Taking my own past experience as a guide

Taking my own past experience as a guide in such matters, I contend that a Sick Benefit Fund properly so called and administered, could not succeed in our case. I have seen such a Fund, established with some 5,000 members paying 25c monthly, go out of business within twelve months due to causes likely to be met with in any such scheme.

likely to be met with in any such scheme. Such a scheme as that outlined in our Resolution could succeed, as it undertakes simply the alleviation, according to its treasury, of cases of distress only. Make no mistake in deciding upon the issue. It is not a wage-paying scheme, but is intended to allieviate any and all cases of genuine and urgent distress, samples of which are prominent in our membership today. The idea is to eliminate, if possible, the placing of levies on the membership or calls for voluntary subscriptions, having for their object the charitable assistance of needy members.

Fraternally yours,

F. Cuthbert Allen,

Genl. Chrman, Can. Mar. Wireless S. D. No. 59.

KASTERN SUB-DIVISION

To Brother Members, Eastern Sub-Division of No. 59. Greetings:

Since my term as your Secretary has expired with the old year, I would like to take this opportunity of giving my views on one or two matters, which are still, so to speak, outstanding.

As you know I have acted as Eastern Secretary for over two years. During the first year the scope of this office covered all Operators other than those on the Great all Operators other than those on the Great Lakes. I handled a large volume of correspondence, remittances, etc., from points all over the world. Several thousand dollars were received by mail in every conceivable form, Bank notes, Cheques, Express orders, Money and Postal orders, bills and coin. Delays in connection therewith certainly did occur, some in the mails, others were unavoidable, and I have accepted a fair share of others, but in no case was a remittance lost. One, from Halifax, was misplaced by me after receipt, but was adjusted a short time afterwards. time afterwards.

The formation of Newfoundland Sub-division some time ago lessened the work of my office somewhat. In June of this year the Atlantic Ship Subdivision was formed, which left only the operators on Canadian-owned Coast stations in the east under the jurisdiction of the Eastern Secretary. For some time after the latter had been formed remittances from ship operators were still coming to me, but these were promptly forwarded to the Secretary concerned.

On June 30th of last year the station at St. John, N. B., was closed and I was transferred to Point Edward, Ont. For several ferred to Point Edward, Ont. For several months thereafter there was considerable delay and confusion with regard to remittances sent by mail covering Union fees and subscriptions to the MacGilliveray benefit fund. A rumor got around that I had gone to Cape Sable, N. S. Some mail went there, some went to my old address, and a little to other points. I believe all of it was re-directed here in course, but in all cases where money orders were enclosed I was obliged to wait until the postoffice people could find their office duplicate of each order before payment was made. Duplicates addressed to St. Johns, N. B., were located at St. Johns, N'fid. Others were addressed to the postmaster at Partridge Island, Hawke Island, etc. Six or seven weeks were required to locate some of the duplicates, and in a couple of cases I ultimately secured payment without the duplicates having then been found.

To my knowledge at least four remittances

To my knowledge at least four remittances covering Union fees, and it is possible some remittances for the MacGilliveray benefit fund also have not been accounted for. Two of also have not been accounted for. Two of the former remittances are covered by one cheque, and it is claimed this cheque was duly cashed. It is possible these and the other remittances were cashed by me and afterwards mislaid, especially since I was without my receipt book for some time. It is just as possible that, since a most thorough search by me has failed to locate any trace of them, they may have gone astray before reaching me. Happenings of this nature are most annoying to all concerned in the transmost annoying to all concerned in the trans-action, and so far as I am concerned, I am anxious to have the cases cleared up as soon as possible, and to this end it seems only just as possible, and to this end it seems only just to ask the remitters to trace the cheques from their end, as there is nothing I know of that can be done here to trace them. If located, please forward to me, and provided the signature is mine, their value will be promptly

Remitters to the MacGilliveray benefit fund should find their name and amounts in Oc-tober Journal, page 440, December Journal, page 508, or in current Journal, as these con-stitute a list received by me, for this purpose.

From my experience in handling remittances by mail, I would strongly recommend all isolated wireless operators and others remitting fees, etc., in this way to use any of the following forms: First, Post Office Money order; second, Bank Money order; third, Express Money order. Hold your stub until a receint is returned. a receipt is returned.

To my first love, the Eastern Subdivision, and to Division No. 59 generally I wish every possible success and prosperity throughout the year we have entered into.

Fraternally yours.

D. Ross.

LETTER OF THANKS

To Brother Members:

I have just received (February 3) complete list of names from Brother Ross of those who subscribed to fund raised in my behalf and I desire to take this opportunity of expressing my sincere gratitude and thanks to all concerned.

It is difficult for me to properly express in writing my real feelings in the matter, but believe me when I say that the action of my friends in the telegraph field is something I can never forget—it has indeed been a source of great encouragement to me in the fight I am making to know I have so many good and true friends.

As it is impossible for me to write very much, permit me to say that the above re-marks are also applicable to my many friends, organized and unorganized, in both the wire-less and commercial field not attached to Division 59.

To those who have written me, either cards or letters and have not as yet had an acknowledgment, I would ask their kind indugence. Writing is hard work in my present condition and beauty and moderate in dulgence. Writing is hard work in my present condition and brevity and moderation in all mental exercises is imperative. However, I may in time catch up on my back date stuff, but not to any extent at least until warmer weather sets in.

My condition is now more encouraging than it was, say three months ago. Up to then it was a case of "see-sawing" and distinctly discouraging on many occasions. Since the death of my wife last June I transferred from Wilmot to Kentville, N. S., and since coming here there has been a gradual though year slow improvement with no serithough very slow improvement, with no serious setbacks thus far. My system is now in much better shape to continue the fight.

It certainly is the worst "roast" I have sat in on during my twenty years experience, and to say "they are coming my way" is put-ting it mildly. "Atmospheric conditions." and to say they are coming my way is put-ting it mildly. "Atmospheric conditions," "interference" and the worst jumble that ever came through on any second side of any quad circuit in existence would never jar me after this experience.

With best wishes and kind regards to all, I am

Yours fraternally,

P. P. MacGillivray.

WESTERNER SPEAKS OUT

The Editor, Radio Dept.:

It was with astonishment and concern that I read the circular from Toronto Headquarters dated December 19, 1921, and issued to the Canadian membership, wherein I noted that an effort had been made by one C. W. Mitchell to stampede the Canadian membership away from the main body of the C. T. U. A. On the other hand, I was overjoyed to read that our leaders had negatived this proposal, and barring six misguided, youthful members, this effort to sow disunion in our members, this effort to sow disunion in our ranks has for the present at least been negatived.

Surely the present state of unorganized labor in the North American continent, if not labor in the North American continent, it not throughout the world, should bring home to all telegraphists the paramount necessity of UNITY. The forces of Big Business are closely knit, both against the general public and employees, and well cover themselves through interests inside legislatures and by propagands in the hired press. Knowing propaganda in the hired press. Knowing this, it behooves us to present a united front, have faith in our elected leaders, and close up the ranks instead of opening up the way to disintegration.

The course of history and a knowledge of human nature should show that throughout all time, in any dispute, whether it has been of a national or social character, the representatives from the party known to be powerful and united have generally carried off the victory. Again defeat has generally been caused by defection and breaking up of the combination concerned, allowing the opposition to overcome each petty faction or state in detail.

Let us take the history of this continent of America, and its comparatively easy con-quest from its aboriginal inhabitants by the quest from its aboriginal inhabitants by the different European nations, with handfuls of troops (this was especially the case in the Spanish conquests of Peru and Mexico by Pizarro and Cortez). It was through the factional strife and disunity of the aboriginal races, who allowed themselves to be thus played off one against the other, instead of uniting to repel the invaders, that caused their downfall their downfall.

Let us therefore take a lesson from this and stand UNITED behind our brotherhood and its leaders elected by our votes.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT WIRE-LESS DIVISION, NUMBER 65

British Columbia District

Perhaps some day some professor will provide us with a treatise on the psychology of the scab, but when such a work is given to the world we are convinced that it will be found to deal with microscopical quantities. We are driven to reflect thus by perusal of a copy of a letter which we have received from one of our up-coast stations, where it arrived as a circular from the district superintendent. In this letter one John H. Walker of Brookline, Mass., who announces himself as an instructor in a "wireless college," offers the Canadian department of the naval service his valuable help to "recondition" the radio station at Triangle Island, and to work thereat as an operator. Having heard (we said it in the Journal ourselves) that the station was closed down on account of the difficulty of getting men to go there, because of the isolation and the lack of adequate compensation, this estimable gentleman offers the pensation, this estimable gentleman offers the services of himself and of others to the department "at any form of agreement that may be suggested." "Further than this," he continues, "we would not besteat a suggested." may be suggested. "Further than this," he continues, "we would not hesitate a minute if it came to the question of naturalization." In other words, not only will he work at any price at all, but he is willing to turn renegade to do it. Shades of Roger Casement!

In case some professor ever undertakes the task we have suggested, here is a further case for his consideration. The instructor at a for his consideration. The instructor at a ham factory in Victoria was lately, through scarcity of raw material, forced to take a short holiday from his lucrative position. Not content with the ignominy that attaches to his connection with such an institution, he seems to delight in descending to further depths, for no sooner had his job at the "college" run out than he stepped into another which the Marconi Company obligingly found for him, on one of the Dollar boats, thereby, of course, snatching away a chance from some of his own pupils. He took a trip around to New York and back, and by that time the pork market had sufficiently im-proved to enable him to return to the factory. He is now back at the old stand, and one of the good men who have been crowding the beach these days is back on the Dollar boat, holding the job down until the scab wants it again.

While we are on the subject, we must not forget to accord honorable mention to the German teacher at a school up the coast, who draws good pay in that occupation and doubles his earnings during the summer vacation by working as operator on a ferry boat. The strange thing is that such blacklegs can always land jobs, and that otherwise respectable corporations are willing to have their names on the payroll. The good name of the radio profession is besmirched by those who treat a wireless job as a hobby or as a fill-gap. As long as it is possible for an operator to get himself "written up" in a local newspaper, as one recently did in Victoria, as working at wireless not because he needed the money but in order to travel and collect curios, so long will radio be regarded by many as a thing of no account.

We must free our job from this association by many as a thing of no account.

We must free our job from this association with amateurs and dabblers if we want it ever to be a good one. And we can do this only by the creation of a well-defined line of demarcation between the professional operator and the hanger-on. We must organize all radiotelegraphers, not only in Canada but also in the smaller country to our south, for, as we have shown, the natural-born scab can change his nationality with chameleon-like rapidity. We need a radio division in the C. T. U. A., to embrace all radiotelegraphers, to raise the general scale of remuneration on both sides of the international border, and, both sides of the international border, and, by the universal closed shop, to keep the blackleg forever outside the pale. When the radio division is formed—as formed it ultimately must be—we believe it will no longer be possible for such instances to arise as those we have cited, of operators ready to cut their fellow workers' throats for their own shortsighted purposes, while honest men are clamoring for entrance to our Union and are unable to get in.

The annual report of General Secretary Parkin, which came to hand in February, shows that our affairs are in a very satisfactory condition. We are in debt, of course, to the amount of three hundred dollars to Division 59, and of half that amount to Division 43. The readiness with which our brother of these two divisions come to our sion 43. The readiness with which our brothers of these two divisions came to our financial assistance, at the request of the International, will always leave us indebted, even when the money itself is repaid, as we hope it will be at an early date.

Closely following the announcement of the increase secured by the Union for chief op-erators comes the statement in Brother Parkin's report that one of the beneficiaries, Jack Bowerman, has dropped out. No guts!

Bowerman, has dropped out. No guts!
Up to the time of writing, the first of March, we have heard nothing of any arrangements being made to hold the election of the District Committee. Both the District Committees for the two districts and the General Committee for the whole division should have been elected in December, and it is regrettable that this important detail of our organization should receive such tardy attention attention.

Come along, boys, with your fifteen bucks. Make it an "annual" this time.

Brother Wakeling is now at Alert Bay, and Brother Stephen is on the SS. Newington, having swapped stations. That little runt, Easson, signed up but never paid his dues. If any member runs across him, please collect. There's an application form under the tuner.

OPEN SHOP PLATFORM

The industrial research bureau of New York, a labor organization founded "to promote sound relationships in industry by consultation, fact studies and publicity," has just made known to the public twelve very interesting "planks" in the open shop advocates policy. The national open shop organizations, says the bureau, have placed themselves before the public in plain manner on their pet fore the public in plain manner on their pet theory, the demoralization of the industrial world. To accomplish their purpose they have adopted the following summarization as their program:

1. Propaganda declaring the tyranny of the unions under union shop rule, waste in the union shop from the inefficient workers, American ideas of government against union shop.

Expulsion of members of unions. Financial aid to employers who are in conflict with unions.

Refusal of credit and raw materials to employers who do not adopt anti-union

- 5. Bribing trade union leaders and then discrediting unionism before the people.
- 6. Using the blacklist against trade union "agitators.
- 7. Employing under-cover men in the plant to spy on those who are agitating for organization of the workers.
- 8. Under-cover men used in the union to gain confidential information regarding the moves to be made by the unions.
- Organization of strike breakers and counter-sluggers.
- 10. Organization of shop committees to counterbalance the trade union.
- 11. Organization of lobbies to influence
- anti-labor legislation.
  12. The use of company-paid public officials.

Montreal Telegraphers' Euchre and Dance

Over three hundred telegraphers and their friends, representative of Commercial, Press, Broker and Leased wire members, attended the joint dance and euchre party February 15, in the National A. A. A. hall in Montreal. Everyone present voted that the occasion was one of the most enjoyable they had ever attended.

A feature of the entertainment was sounders placed in the lobby, dining room and smoking rooms. The Ottawa hockey team, professional hockey champions of the world, were playing in Montreal, and Hamilton in Toronto on that night. Both rinks were blooped into the hall and a running story and score of both games was eagerly followed by the gathering.

FIRE TELEGRAPH DISPAT(HERS' CHAPEL No. 1

New York District No. 16

The city of New York maintains five Fire Alarm Telegraph Central Offices, one in each of the five boroughs—the greatest fire alarm telegraph system in the world. It is manned by forty-seven fire telegraph dispatchers. All the dispatchers in the service hold and prize their C. T. U. A. cards, the forty-seven men constituting what is known as "Chapel No. 1, New York District Council No. 16, C. T. U. A." Some title, I'll say!

The number of dispatchers in New York city will have to be increased to properly handle the vast number of circuits, as well as receiving and transmitting apparatus now being installed in the new buildings that are to house the new and extended systems under course of construction and nearing completion. A civil service examination will be held shortly to fill eight positions of fire telegraph dispatcher, these additional men being ecessary upon the opening of the new file alarm central office, located in the 79th street Transeverse Road, Central Park. This office is to serve the borough of Manhattan. Any information desired by any of our brothers as to these positions will be gl..dly furnished if they will communicate with any of the officers of Chapel No. 1, of which Mr. William A. Martin is chairman.

All the boys are very enthusiastic by reason of the advancement made in familiarising outsiders, who though interested in fire alarm telegraph work are sadly lacking in the understanding of its maintenance and operation. They all will admit the importance of it as an indispensable adjunct of the fire departments and the absolute requisite of telegraph accuracy.

Dispatcher Timothy S. Mahoney, in charge of the fire alarm telegraph, N. Y. F. D., borough of Queens, and executive member of that borough in Chapel No. 1, was also elected to the advisory board of New York District Council No. 16. "Tim" is also 'way up in the N. G. N. Y., being a captain in the 47th Brooklyn, and an instructor of note. No half ways in his purposes as the boys in Queens will tell you.

Now that "N. Y. F. D." is "Chapel No. 1," what city may we expect to start another fire alarm telegraph chapel? We extend the hand of friendship with an invitation to make it the hand of brotherhood. What say?

UNITED PRESS NOTES

Basil Capparell, sales manager of the New ork office, has been transferred to Chicago as general manager of the Central Division.

A. F. Harrison, who has had charge of sales for the Central Division, will succeed Mr. Capparell in New York.

A. J. Darrock, at one time with the San Diego Union and New York Herald, has become manager of the United Press Bureau in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The new office is located in the Times-Leader office.

News being very scarce in this neck of the woods there won't be much of anything in this column this month except to indicate that we are still on the map and still have a place under the head of LOCAL NOTES.

Brother U. G. Stroud is now in the News bureau office at Oklahoma City, the Leader having gone broke and McRae out of the service and in business for himself. Incidentally, Stroud is studying "Buggism" and seems to be making fine progress.

Our old friend, Jack Bradshaw, experienced a severe trial recently when Mrs. Bradshaw became suddenly ill and underwent an operation. Understand she is improved at this writing for which we join in thanks.

President John Lewis asserts that the people ought to realize that the mine operators are not honorable when they openly violate their agreement in not meeting with the miners. The people do know it and yet how few but what sympathize with the poor operators. What's gone wrong with "the people" anyway? Perhaps they are waiting for the public press to tell them all about it. But you don't notice many of the newspapers commenting upon the dishonor of the coal operators. Suppose we violated a written agreement, wouldn't we be crooked and dishonorable? It's a strange system whereby capitalists can go along pulling off dishonorable and crooked stunts with very little criticism while laboring men doing the same would be forever held up to public scorn. Yes, it's strange, but it was ever thus. And still the people sleep.

In Topeka, Kans., they have been investigating working and salary conditions for women. A working girl who is alleged to receive $50 a week thinks the rest of the girls ought to live on about $37.56 a year. We know an operator—(?)—in Topeka who has about the same distorted ideas concerning industrial affairs.

New York State-Canada

Newspapers in New York State are as progressive as those in any part of the United States. The latest indication of the truth of this statement was shown by the Middletown Herald, which on March 6th started taking the United Press day report, being added to the New York State-Canada circuit. Robert E. Haines, formerly with the United News at Utica, is the gilt-edged Morse manipulator who will show the Herald what a first class news report consists of. The Herald and Bob are very welcome additions to our happy family.

Tommy Cornell, at Albany, has been doing his share of "rolling 'em down" the line since the legislature opened, and "Smithy" says he sure do appreciate having the heavy work divided up.

Frank Lochner, who for years was the U. P. operator at Albany, is going strong as a politician, having recently been appointed to be a deputy United States Marshal.

Brother and Mrs. Zeigler of Binghamton have the sincere sympathy of all United Press operators in the recent death of their bright little four-year-old son.

CANADIAN PACIFIC NOTES

Montreal District

Spring is in the air and the sun is doing fine work. The snow is melting fast under its warm rays. We have had enough of winter and its hardshipe; we are welcoming spring with all our hearts.

On the 15th of February all the Ops. in Montreal assembled for their Annual Euchre and Ball. C. P. R., Eastern District, was well represented and every one when leaving the ball room was wishing we had another next month. It was a great move towards closer co-operation between the operators and it proved a real social as well as a financial success. Let us hope that the good work started will be kept going until even greater success is achieved.

Quite a few have been reported on the sick list in February. We wish March would be a little more lenient with us all.

Repairs are nearing completion in "RA" office and soon we will have no rivals as far as an up-to-date telegraph office. It will be up to US to keep it in TRIM; just a little GOOD-WILL and we shall all be satisfied. We all have been hollering for a clean up-to-date office; this we now have. Let every one do their bit to keep it so. No expense has been spared to make it the best money can buy. Show your appreciation by aiding to keep it CLEAN.

There are still a few, very few, who have not paid their DUES yet. What shall we call them? What are they and what do they mean? It is always the same ones, who have a hard luck story to tell you every pay-day, year in and year out, always ready to criticise but never there to co-operate with the others.

A few words from Old-Quebec by Nicolas: Sister Bertrand and Bro. McMahon have resumed work after a few days' illness.

The stork has visited the home of Bro. Poulin. They say it's a girl. The mother and baby are well. Congratulations, Eddy.

We are pleased to hear that Sister Bertrand's father, after a very serious illness, is recovering. Although weak, he is improving every day.

Bro. Doucet has had an attack of lagrippe but is now getting "Okay" again. What about a little "RED-CROSS" and lemon, Bro. Doucet. They say it's fine for a cold.

Bro. McMahon, manager of the C. P. R. Hockey Team, took his boys to Montreal on February the 5th. They played with "RA" office messengers. The game was nice, every player fought hard but the victory was for the Quebec boys who won by a score of 4 to 3.

The Montreal boys came to Quebec to take their revenge on February the 19th. The visitors were not more successful, our boys defeating them by a score of 6 to 3. Bro. Mike McMahon certainly deserves our congratulations as well as our hockey boys, for he knows how to lead them.

Bro. Freeman of "RA" was with the visitors. George is a great sportsman, but rumor says there is a girl in the game. We would not be surprised. Anyway we were Anyway we were glad to see you, George.

Sister Vibert from "RA" has arrived to accept a position in the Bank of Montreal. Welcome, Sister Vibert.

The new arrangement entails an increase of about 20 per cent in the wire mileage and will result in the employment of many additional operators. The double-track 24-hour wires of the As-

What is termed an "Express Wire" is now in operation between the three largest news centers of the country—New York, Washington and Chicago. This wire operates from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. The New York-Chicago second wire has been cut at Pittsburgh, with Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. second whe has been cut at ritioning, which philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington working from New York, and all other points, including Pittsburgh receiving service from Chicago. The first wire operating to all points remains intact.

Southwest Circuits

All of the "esquires" are still able to "sine up." but there's a few yet who haven't "signed on the dotted line for an up-to-date" which every one should think more seriously about

Hardly any changes are being made in personnel on the various circuits; everybody laying low.

No better time than now could be chosen to go up to New York and "sine up" with Chief Garges.

Press operators are not so plentiful as you would think. If you don't believe it, just try to get a sub for a week or two.

In fact, according to the "powers that be." operators capable of handling a press job are so scarce that it has become necessary to install automatics throughout the southwest to protect the service.

Let's go boys. 100 per cent by June and a schedule! Cert. 1018.

CONSOLIDATED PRESS NOTES

Hello, Milgram. Thanks for dragging us before the public eye.

"Kid" Maynard, the wild Canuck who migrated to America after the war, is handing out a good line of stuff these days. Must have located a new gin mill. Newton at the Toronto end says they don't work that fast in Canada and has requested the 'phone company to put in a set of "low speed" repeaters. Cheer up, Newt, you can go back to Jax when the weather gets warmer.

Bob Caldwell at Rochester, Pat Irey at Buffalo, and Sir Gazinkus Buffington at Syracuse constitute the New York state lineup. If those birds at Worcester, Springfield and Boston would come through with their real names, we might have an equally real write-up each month.

The one-night-a-week service for Sunday papers continues to grind out its quota of 14,000 to 15,000 words for 7 hours. Have two good senders at present, and with everybody anxious to get out early, the time flies by quickly. Also the 15,000.

CINCINNATI NOTES

Old Cincy, No. 17, back in the front line again boys, after the winter's sleep. Let's go.

Pat Slattery, taking good care of this end of Indpls, surprises all with his staying qualities, BUT there is a woman in it. Yes, Pat's married now. Good luck, Pat, you're the kind we need around here.

Tom Tully, right on the job as always, never says DIE, only thing against Tom is, he lives in Cumminsville.

8. B. Girton rays this is where he stope off for good.

E. A. Hale finds everything just fine except that he gets a cold supper every now and Mrs. Anna Parks is now with us, back to the old home town.

E. J. Kippenbrock, of course he is still with us. Any one doubting, ask Hippo.

"Curley". Brandhorst, the "VKS," was moved out of his corner. What for? Who knows?

Henry "Red" Tuckner, now a benedict. Yes, they all fall for it sooner or later.

Gledon Tucker, the "railbird," believes we can get them this spring. Don't weaken.

Lew Martin wanted a little action, so they put him on BM. He gets plenty of it now.

L. B. "Hibridge" Bridges, a Bluegrass product, says we did not need the MILISHA in Newport.

C. I. Copher says he won't be back with us if he knows anything about it. "I'm making a success of the salesmanship line now." We miss COF in old 17.

Things are getting better every day, and you will hear from us regularly from now on. A little pep, and let's get back into that 1921 stride.

George M. Eitemiller, one of the most famous operators in America, was retired by the Western Union at Kansas City a few weeks ago. On the day he was retired he co.id send sixty messages an hour with his beautiful and speedy Morse. For many years Eitemiller was employed by the Western Union at Pittsburgh, Pa. He was also formerly employed by the Associated Press in that city.

CENTRAL NEWS NOTES

It has been our sad work this month to "flash" the suspension of a large number of broker houses. When we sent out the "finis" of Gerson & Co., we knew that would hit Brother Goodis at Pittsburgh; when we announced the failure of Scott & Stump, we knew that meant Brother Jake Lieberman, who was secretary to the boss; when we told about E. E. Cohn & Co., that meant Charley Almes, all veterans of the last commercial strike in Philadelphia. And it looks as if the end is not yet in sight.

A card from Brother Meents to the "boss," says the Brother found Honolulu dry, and dead at night. The Brother must have forgotten Honolulu is in the United States of Volstead.

Brothers Dean (Buffalo) and Jones (Syracuse) are awarded the cast-iron eraser for their endurance on the N. Y. State wire. The Brothers sure are putting it down.

The service did not spread out this month, as per expectations, but when it does, card men will rule the roost.

Why not a few lines from the Ledger Service? They are spreading out continually, but no one would know it. And the Tribune Service.

We embarked on a short expedition and when we returned, we had the dues of Brother Horowitz, (N. Y. News Bureau), Brother Sayers, (N. Y. Evening Post) and Brother Joe Hockey, (Ledger Service, N. Y. Bureau), besides the Central News men here.

If some of the correspondents realized that many operators scan the pages of the Journal for some home news as eagerly as a boomer does the pages of his home-town newspaper, they wouldn't be so lax about devoting the ten or fifteen minutes necessary to write a few notes.

We read a good joke in the Journal and are going to try to sell it to "Life" or "Judge" for 50 cents. Let you know how we make out.

So we are taking the time to print a sign: "LET NOT A MONTH PASS THAT YOU DO NOT SEND IN SOME NOTES" and below it: "And at least twice a year make them bank notes."

-Jos. B. Milgram, New York

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, NOTES

James F. Marshall, chief operator of the Western Union, who was compelled to take a leave of absence for three months for a good rest that became necessary on account of an operation he underwent for bladder trouble, returned to his desk early in December. He has entirely recovered.

Charles E. Michaels, night chief operator of the Western Union, is confined at his home, suffering from rheumatism.

Telegraph news is scarce here. The Journal is always a welcome visitor to this city, and it is always read with great eagerness, interest and enthusiasm.

A. M. Howard, former president of San Antonio local of the C. T. U. A., who is now located at Houston as general salesman for the Detroit Auto Scale Company, recently paid San Antonio a hurried business visit. We are always glad to see him.

We would like to see more local notes in the JOURNAL from the larger cities, such as New York. Chicago, St. Louis, Birmingham. New Orleans, San Francisco and others too numerous to mention. Dallas is a big telegraph center, and we ought to have a nice budget of news from that city every month.

WORTHY AIMS OF THE COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS UNION

The Commercial Telegraphers Union of America was organized, and is being maintained, for the promotion of the best social, economic and fraternal interests of commercial telegraphers.

Its membership considers it the only labor union capable of consistently representing the best interests of commercial telegraphers.

So believing, and basing such conviction upon its past achievements and need for future protection, it urges all telegraphers eligible for membership to investigate its record in the hope they will realize its merits and the advisability of becoming members of a labor union established for their special protection.

WHY THE QUICK POPULARITY?

We don't know which of these original features are responsible for the quick success of our CUSHION-KEY as opinions seem to be equally divided on the rubber cushion shock absorber, that prevents jolts and jars on the nerves; the adjustable lever, that affords a change of position, as the fingers com-mence to tire; the triple spring vibrator, with its great carrying capacity, or its compact and beautiful construction.

Our booklet explains other advantages it has over every machine now on the market-and it costs you no more.

FUNERAL BENEFIT PLAN WOULD INSURE EVERY C. T. U. A. MEMBER; NO ADDITIONAL COSTS

General Executive Board Places Question of Inauguration of Funeral Benefit Department Before Membership for Action.

TO ALL MEMBERS OF THE C. T. U. A. GREETING:

In accordance with instructions of the Eleventh Regular and Eighth Biennial Convention, held in Toronto, Ontario, October 3-8, 1921, the General Executive Board herewith submits to the members of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America for acceptance or rejection by referendum vote, a plan for the establishment of a Funeral Benefit Department of the C. T. U. A.

This action is in compliance with instructions of the Toronto convention as contained in pages 407 and 408 of the official proceedings, October, 1921, issue of the Journal, the following portion of which is reprinted for your information and guidance.

REPORT OF INSURANCE COMMITTEE TO TORONTO CONVENTION

Your Committee on Insurance approves of the recommendation to abolish the Mutual Benefit Department. This department at the time of its inauguration in 1906 gave every promise of being a movement that would serve as a permanent anchor for our membership, and guarantee a permanent foundation for the entire organization.

If the vast majority of Commercial Telegraphers within our jurisdiction were free to organize into Labor Unions, or if they were permitted to exercise the normal rights of American citizens, we firmly believe that this Department would have met all expectation. But the anti-American attitude of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies have made it difficult to maintain this fund.

The fund itself is, and always has been, regarded by the officers and membership of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America as a trust fund that must be carefully conserved, and now that the sentiment is practically unanimous among the members of the Department to have it abolished, your committee recommends that the incoming International Secretary-Treasurer, by and with the consent of the General Executive Board, shall be authorized to abolish the department as of Nov. 1, 1921, or as soon thereafter as practicable, and that all moneys be refunded in accordance with the plan and made a part of this report.

Your Committee doubts the wisdom of this convention assuming the responsibility for establishing a death benefit fund without having further information upon the subject, both as to what could be done and how the membership at large would take to such a fund.

We, therefore, recommend that this convention appoint a special committee of three members to be known as the Insurance Committee, whose duty it shall be to prepare a plan for death benefits for submission to the membership, the same to be reported to the General Executive Board as soon as practical, and not later than March 1, 1922.

Upon receiving such report the General Executive Board shall submit the same to a referendum vots of the membership for acceptance or rejection as an amendment to the Constitution.

(Signed) THE INSURANCE COMMITTEE,
S. J. Konenkamp, Chairman.
R. F. Wise.
Frank B. Powers.
J. G. A. Decelles.

Every member should carefully read over the proposal in order that an intelligent vote may be cast, either for or against the plan which was drafted by a special insurance committee named by the Toronto convention. Roscoe H. Johnson, International President; Frank B. Powers, International Secretary-Treasurer and Ex-President S. J. Konenkamp, are the members of the special committee.

The residue of the abolished Mutual Benefit Department is to be used as the foundation for the Funeral Benefit Department, if such a department is ratified by a referendum vote of the entire membership. If ratified, the plan is effective on September 1, 1922, and commencing June 30, 1923, and thereafter there shall be taken out of the General Fund semi-annual proportion of each member's dues the sum of twenty-five cents, which amount shall be added to the residue left over from the Mutual Benefit Department and deposited in the name of the Funeral Benefit Department of the C. T. U. A. (Art. VIII.)

The advantage of the Funeral Benefit Department will at once be apparent to the membership. No extra cost to members is attached to the plan. The International proportion of each member's dues takes care of the department.

After reading over the proposed plan signify your desires in the matter by filling out the attached voting ballot which must be mailed to "Insurance Committee, Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, 113 South Ashland Boulevard, Chicago, Ill," on or before June 30, 1922.

THE GENERAL EXECUTIVE BOARD:

UNIONISM BENEFITS SOCIETY; UNORGANIZED DO NOTHING

Organized labor is "altogether responsible" for better work conditions and unorganized labor has done "absolutely nothing," declared Archbishop Michael J. Curley in an address before the convention of the Maryland State and District of Columbia Federation of Labor in Baltimore, Md.

The clergyman plainly indicated where he stood on the question of union labor, which he insisted was responsible for gains made by the workers. He also indicated that he had little regard for workers who enjoyed these benefits, but did not assist in maintaining them.

"Union labor," he said, "is absolutely responsible for the better conditions under which work is being done today. Union labor has brought about the reforms in regard to child and woman labor. Unions are true friends of humanity and no menace, as they have been called. They have rendered splendid and effective service for the betterment of mankind.

"What has unorganized labor done? Absolutely nothing.

"Speaking for myself, I believe that labor has the right to share in the profits of an enterprise when the profits are large enough to justify it, and I believe that in some cases, although it is a delicate matter to adjust, labor ought to be permitted to take part in the regulation of enterprise. By labor I mean union labor."

Archbishop Curley said that he recognized the "open shop" as a "closed shop." This was so, he said, "because if a union man enters an 'open shop,' although he has no trouble obtaining employment, he immediately becomes deunionized. He is denied the right to deal with his employer as a union man, denied the right of collective bargaining, an essential principle of unionism. To my mind, the purpose of the whole open shop movement, which has been gaining impetus during the last few years and must be backed by great wealth, is not to bring freedom to the working men of America, as the advocate of the movement would have you believe, but to kill unions.

"After a speech I made on this subject some time ago, two Catholic capitalists ventured to pass judgment on me. They called me a Socialist. Now, there are 110 kinds of Socialism in the world. But for all that number, radical Socialism will never bring happiness or prosperity to any one. I'm no Socialist. In fact, the Catholic Church and the American Federation of Labor are the strongest forces battling the spread of Socialism in America."

The Archbishop warned the laboring men against radical and foolish leaders, declaring that trouble-makers and agitators are the greatest danger to organized labor. He declared that within the past few years, in instances where he had observed that unions were in the wrong, the trouble had been with such leaders.

ONE MORE REASON FOR A CARD

What does the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America mean to you?

Do you look upon your organization as but the medium through which you get a raise now and then?

Is it merely an organization that makes you carry a card if you want a good job?

Or is it the protector of your economic liberties; the agency you turn to for help in times of industrial peace and industrial war; the conserver of the results of your labor?

The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America should mean no less than that to every member.

It gives us the welcoming handclasp of fraternity when we first enter the cold and brutal industrial world.

It keeps us informed of the progress being made in the labor movement and shows us how closely our interests are related with the welfare of workers in general.

Above all it teaches us how futile are our individual efforts; and how all-powerful are our collective efforts, when we try to correct a few of the injustices and wrongs of the industrial world.

But while the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America does all these things—perhaps touches our lives more intimately than does any other agency—it is lukewarm at a time when our families need help the most—when we ourselves are dead.

True it is we had a Mutual Benefit Department. But how many took advantage of it? It was not compulsory to join the M. B. D.

The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America was founded to serve and protect us. How better could it serve and protect us than by turning over a check for $50, $75 or $100 to our sorrowing family when we are removed from them by death? The amount may seem small but at a time like that it would be thrice welcome.

Every one of us receives protection and service from the Union every day of our lives. Extend that same protection and service one step beyond the grave and vote "Accept" on the Funeral Benefit Department plan.

THE LABOR SITUATION AND ITS CHALLENGE TO ORGANIZED RELIGION

EDITOR'S NOTE—The statement appearing on this page, issued by the Church League for Industrial Democracy, was first published as a paid advertisement in the Chicago Tribune March 29. The newspaper, it is reported, was reluctant to print the statement even as an advertisement although for months it had given space in its news columns to rumors, gossip and criticism against organized labor. The firm declaration of the church league in support of the trade union movement came as a surprise to the reactionaries. It is an indication of the silver lining behind the heavy storm clouds now hanging over the labor movement.

The Crimes of Labor

Daily and copiously the public is being fed with stories of "The Crimes of Labor." On Wednesday was chronicled the throwing of a bomb into a factory room. It was night and no one was in the building save the janitor who chanced to come into the room. The Tribune thus concludes the story (parentheses ours):

"Last Friday Mr. Patterson (the Superintendent of the Company) said Bromley (representing the union workers) called again and asked Mr. Edmunds (the President of the Company) if he would hold a conference with President Harry Jensen of the carpenters' union. Edmunds is said to have refused to meet Jensen. Saturday Mr. Edmunds left for California on his yearly vacation."

They go to spend their millions in the pleasure resorts of California, Florida, Atlantic City, Switzerland, while those without whose labor they could not be fed or clothed hunt in vain for work and, with their families, face starvation. Yet on all sides organized labor is being indicted for the occasional acts of men made desperate in the struggle for primary human rights.

There should be no condoning of violence. At the same time the whole of Labor should not be condemned for the violous acts of certain leaders.

Labor is not free from men who are bad and corrupt. But are there none such among those holding positions of security and wealth? It is a matter of common knowledge that there are. Why then are not "both sides" investigated in Chicago as they have been through Mr. Untermyer and the Lockwood Committee in New York?

The Situation At Large

Several million American workers stand deprived of the right to labor for the support of their families. Their need has been capitalized by powerful Forces of Selfishness, with their open boast that we "intend to have Labor eating out of our hands." Their power reaches from the latest lockout to the nation-wide "Open Shop Movement" which even Mr. Taft condemned as a "deceitful misuse of terms." Reactionary forces are in power. As an example, take the following excerpts from the Bulletins of the "Employing Printers of America":

"Let the men come back only when they decide to TEAR UP THEIR UNION CARDS and sign individual contracts.

"Under the American Plan the employer exercises his fundamental right of private contract, dealing with employes as individuals and declining to deal with them through the medium of any organization.

"The only way to keep a plant from becoming cankered with labor unionism is to operate an Independent American Shop where NO UNION MEMBERS ARE EM-PLOYED, and all workmen are engaged under the American Plan."

Other Testimony

Alone among all the Chambers of Commerce, the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce gives the following testimony in favor of Trade Unionism under the caption of "The Road of Anti-Union Coercion":

"Still others follow another road. Their vision is affected by abuses and imperfections of labor organizations and they do not see that there is much reason in the fundamental objects of organized labor and that a satisfaction of these objects is desirable for the sake of general contentment. They forbid their employes to organize, or interfere in various ways with their legitimate organizing activities and by various coercive means they combat the growth of unionism in their shops.

"This militant tendency seems to make a strong appeal to many employers at this time of business depression. A movement is now on foot which, misusing the name of 'Open Shop' and 'American Plan,' is smashing labor organization throughout the country by locking the unions out and foreibly deunionizing the workmen. Together with the abuses of unionism this movement is destroying the constructive substance of unionism and stifling the just democratic aspirations of the workmen.'

The Challenge

Here in America today heavy clouds and threatening storms hide the light of the New Day of greater freedom and larger opportunity for the average man. Everywhere men of liberal thought are moved with deep concern, from Anatole France to H. G. Wells, from Sherwood Eddy to Bishop Chas. D. Williams, from Frank Vanderlip and Roger Babson to Father Ryan and Bishop Francis J. McConnell.

The Church is called to meet the Challenge of today as her Founder met the challenge of His day. His mission cost Him His life and the Church must make ready to lose her very life in fearless and sacrificial service. There is no other way. The challenge of humanity and of present conditions to the Church of this generation is marked by a note of finality. There is no time for delay, no excuse for evasion.

BERNARD SHAW—A group of socialminded Christians requested Mr. Shaw to write a message to the Church in America. He declined in the following language: "I feel highly flattered that you should think the Church would listen to Bernard Shaw when it refuses to listen to Jesus Christ." Will the Christian Church ignore or disprove these words?

Progress

One after another of the great Christian bodies have officially indorsed and emphasized the Social Message and Mission of Christianity. They have also appointed commissions to enter the field of Fundamental Social Reconstruction. These commissions have spoken in unqualified condemnation of unjust social conditions and of the unethical system responsible for these conditions. Anglican and Baptist, Congregational and Roman Catholic, Disciple and Methodist, Presbyterian and Protestant Episcopal, Quaker and Unitarian—all have sent forth notable Social Pronouncements.

Urganized Uhristianity has entered the field of actual industrial conflict more than once. The most noteworthy example of this is found in that of the Inter-Church Committee on the Steel Strike.

An Organization At Work

Resolutions without action are valueless and meaningless. They must be emphasized by pulpits, upheld by corporate action, exemplified in the private and public relations of professing Christians. To this end, THE CHURCH LEAGUE FOR INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY has been organized. Supported entirely by voluntary contributions it is seeking to stand by what the Church stands for in the matter of Social Justice.

(By the Vice President)

The labor news of the day is the titanic struggle of the United Mine Workers of 'America—the largest and most powerful labor organization in America—against wage reductions and attempted extinction of the Union.

Regardless of the fact that miners are and always have been underpaid, the huge financial interests controlling the coal output are determined to reap even greater profits at the expense of workers who already find it impossible to properly feed and clothe their families.

We have in mind the fearless statement made two years ago by Wm. Gibbs McAdoo, U. S. Cabinet Officer, in which he stated on unimpeachable authority that mine operators were making as high as TWO THOUSAND per cent profit. If, in the light of such an amazing discovery, a long-suffering coal consuming public remains indifferent to its own interests together with the humanitarian needs of the coal producers, the public richly deserves being milked by rapacious capitalistic combines.

It is the duty of the public to demand a decent wage for the mine toilers and a reduction in coal prices at the same time!

If the natural resources of the Continent—resources belonging to all—are to be thus shamefully exploited for private gain, we may as well accept the appellation "them asses" instead of "The Masses."

Keep your eye on the coal and textile strikes. Those workers are bearing the brunt of a desperate effort on the part of the employing masters to kill unionism. If the masters are successful against our "shock" troops, the workers in all other industries may prepare themselves for the worst.

Employes of the Bell Telephone Company in Canada were introduced to Mr. "Further Economies" on April 1st.

The economies are in the shape of a return to the nine-hour day and wage reductions of 5 cents an hour. Five cents an hour doesn't sound as big as $12.00 a month.

Some time ago the workers of the Canadian Bell permitted themselves to be split up into dual organizations, which afforded the ever-watchful employers their golden opportunity to form a "company union." The reduction and nine-hour day is the sequel that was to be expected.

Employes of the Canadian National, beware of the "Ginger Jar!"

This company propaganda medium should bear the skull and cross-bones, for it is not conducted in the interests of the employes.

As a result of cleverly written propaganda in the "Jar," telegraphers are beguiled into speed competitions with the inevitable result that fellow workers are laid off and the speed artists get their reward in protracted sick leaves at their own expense.

Several instances have been brought to the writer's attention of Automatic Telegraphers collapsing at their instruments with nervous prostration.

Canadian National employes do not need a "Ginger Jar." They are already giving more than a fair day's work for much less than a fair day's pay.

Read your Commercial Telegraphers Journal. There is plenty of the right kind of ginger in it and no poison!

The Commercial Telegraph workers of Canada are vitally interested in a wage standardization that will give them an opportunity to earn a decent living.

The cornerstone of effort will be perfect liaison and co-operation between our various divisions.

The members and officers of the different units must meet together regularly and discuss aims and objects. The general committees must do likewise. The first step in unification will be the District Council in each center. Once the groundwork is laid, the various general committees will be formed into a Joint Council of Action. There will be no opposition to this plan if the principle of "United we stand, divided we fall" is strictly adhered to.

A District Council was formed in Quebec City on April 2nd. A council is now in the process of formation in Montreal. Ottawa already has a council. The West will welcome the plan for co-operation for it was there the idea was born.

Radio telegraphers in the Dominion will soon have an opportunity to show their mettle.

The Marconi members will do well to line up solidly behind their officers and show a united front. The ability to side-track petty dissension and give right of way to sane helpful action in time of trouble is the trade mark of a true unionist.

This writer hopes to be able to make a trip to the West this summer. Plenty of time will be given the various centers so that large representative joint meetings may be arranged.

Go to your meetings and assume your full share of responsibility!

At a meeting of C. T. U. A. members, presided over by Vice President for Canada Paul F. Schnur, held in the Private Bills Committee Room, Parliament Buildings, Quebec City, a District Council was formed during the month of April.

The following officers were elected: President, F. J. O'Brien.

Vice President, J. L. Doucet. Secretary-Treasurer, Miss M. T. Bertrand.

Toronto, Ontario, April 5.—Motormen and conductors employed by the Toronto Transportation Commission have renewed last year's agreement.

CANADA OWNS TWO CROSS-CONTINENTAL WIRES

Cross-continental commercial telegraph service over lines owned entirely by the Canadian Government is now an actuality, say the Electrical News. Speaking of the event, G. H. Daniels, manager at Vancouver for the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, now a Government line, and known as the Canadian National Telegraph, "Two commercial wires to Eastern Canada are now open, and while this is a big step, it is but one step toward unification of all Government-owned telegraph services Canada. Prior to the completion of the lines just put into regular service, the Government owned no commercial telegraph lines connecting British Columbia with Eastern Canada. Neither was there a direct connection with the system in South-Eastern British Columbia nor the Yukon telegraphs. both of which have been Government owned and operated services for many years. At the time the Canadian Northern Railway was purchased by the Dominion Government, the controlling interest in the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company was also acquired, as it was owned by the Mackensie and Mann interests. Only railway telegraph lines had been constructed by the Canadian Northern across Canada, and now the Government has completed the lines which have been opened.

"Both in Eastern and Western Canada the Government owns a number of telegraph lines covering more or less extensive areas. The addition of the Great Northwestern system considerably increased the Government holdings in Eastern Canada, and assisted to co-ordinate them to some extent. In British Columbia the Great Northwestern lines did not reach many points, the chief being Victoria, Vancouver, and New Westminster. In South-Eastern British Columbia, however, more than 200 points are served by the Government commercial telegraph lines which were controlled and superin-The Yukon Teletended from Kamloops. graphs, which reach across the Caribou and Northern British Columbia to the Yukon, ended at Ashcroft. In addition to those two systems, the Government, on acquiring the Grand Trunk Pacific, took over that company's commercial telegraph lines extending eastward from Prince Rupert.

"As the main line of the Canadian National Railway into Vancouver touches both Ashcroft and Kamloops, near Jasper Park, the new commercial lines now in commission along the Canadian National, link up all the Government telegraphs in British Columbia, and also connect them direct with Eastern Canada."

BEHIND THE SCENES

Under date of July 8th, 1911, a paper in Los Angeles, Calif., called the Peoples' Paper, reprinted an article from the Bankers' Magazine, which reads as follows:

"We must proceed with caution and guard well every move made for the lower orders, for the people are already showing signs of restless commotion. Prudence will, therefore, dictate a policy of apparently yielding to the popular will until all our plans are so far consummated that we can declare our designs without fear of any organized resistance. The Farmers' Alliance and Socialist organization in the United States should be carefully watched by our trusted men, and we must take immediate steps to control these organizations in our interest or disrupt them. At the coming Omaha Convention our men must attend and direct its movement, or else there will be set on foot such antagonism to our designs as may require force to overcome.

"This, at the present time, would be premature. We are not yet ready for such crisis; Capital must protect itself in every possible manner through combination and legislation.

"The courts must be called to our aid: debts must be collected; bonds and mortgages foreclosed as rapidly as possible.

"When, through the process of law, the common people have lost their homes, they will be more tractable and easily governed through the influence of the strong arm of government applied by a central power of imperial wealth under the control of leading financiers. A people without homes will not quarrel with their rulers.

"History repeats itself in regular cycles. This truth is well known among our principal men now engaged in forming an imperialism of capital to govern the world. While they are doing this the people must be kept in a condition of political antagonism.

"The question of tariff reform must be urged through the organization known as the Democratic party, and the question of protection with reciprocity must be forced to view through the Republican party.

"By thus dividing the voters we can get them to expend their energies in fighting over questions of no importance to us except as teachers to lead the common herd. Thus by direct action we can secure all that has been so generously planned, and successfully accomplished."

Draw just one lesson from this, brothers: Vote for the friends of organized labor.

UNFAIR MOVIES

Four moving picture studios, which locked out every union mechanic in their employ last July, when the latter refused to work a ten-hour day instead of eight and accept a cut in pay ranging from $1 to $3 per day are still unfair to organized labor. Letters from the Los Angeles Central Labor Council are being forwarded daily to Australia, New Zealand, England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, France, Italy, Russia, and Germany. These letters request that Trades Unionists and their friends refrain from patronizing any theatre displaying films produced by the following Los Angeles Studios: Goldwyn, Lasky-Famous Players, Realart, William Fox and Universal.

Following are the "stars" employed by the four unfair producers:

GOLDWYN STUDIOS: Mary Alden, Will Rogers, Helene Chadwick, Richard Dix, Colleen Moore, Pauline Fredricks, Tom Moore, James Kirkwood, Ralph Lewis, Howard Davy Cullen Landia

UNIVERSAL FILM CO.: Herbert Rawlinson, Priscilla Dean, Harry Carey, Art Acord, Hoot Gibson, Elleen Sedgwick, Gladys Walton, Marie Prevost, Frank Mayo, Miss DuPont.

FAMOUS PLAYERS LASKY-REALART CORP.: Wanda Hawley, Bebe Daniels, Mary Miles Minter, Constance Binney, Theodore Roberts, Monte Blue, Jack Holt, Walter Hires, Conrad Nagle, Lois Wilson, Mildred Harris, May McAvoy, Wallace Reid, Thomas Meighan, Gloria Swanson, Elliot Dexter, Dorothy Dalton, Betty Compson, Ethel Clayton, David Kirkwood, Agnes Ayres, Julia Faye, "Fatty" Arbuckle, Lila Lee.

WM. FOX PRODUCTIONS: Tom Mix. Barbara Bedford, Eileen Percy, Jack Gilbert, Buck Jones, Dustin Farnum, Wm. Russell, Shirley Mason, Chester Conklin, Al. St. John, Clyde Cook, Harry Debbs.

Every person who reads this article is requested to cut out the above list of producers and "stars" and to consult the list before entering a "movie" picture show. If any one of these names appear on the program in front of the theatre or on the handbills, the Los Angeles Trades Unionists ask that you do not spend your money on the enemies of Labor.

WE DON'T PATRONIZE

The Boston Allied Printing Trades reports that The Modern Priscilla, The Youth's Companion and The Book of Knowledge are published under UNFAIR conditions. Over a year ago the employing printers of Boston locked out all union employes regardless of whether their agreements expired or not.

CHAIRMAN DUNN'S ILLNESS

General Chairman J. W. Dunn, of the Eastern Broker Division, returned to his home on April 3rd, after being confined in St. Francis Hospital for three weeks recovering from an operation.

We all missed you, Jack, and especially so at the Ball on March 24th. It became necessary to appoint an "Explanation Committee" to answer the many inquiries for you from your friends and the reason for your absence.

While the boys enjoyed themselves as much as possible under the circumstances, it was quite noticeable that the absence of our "standard bearer" caused many of us at times to transfer our thoughts and conversations from the gayly dancing crowds to the little white cot in St. Francis Hospital where the "big boss" lay, no doubt thinking of us.

We pray that your recuperation will be rapid, Jack, and that you will soon again be with us to lead us on to bigger and better things for the Eastern Broker Division in 1922, as you have in the past.

RAPID GROWTH OF THE LABOR BUREAU, INC.

The Labor Bureau, Inc., an independent organization established in New York in May, 1920, to render research, statistical and other services to labor unions, increased its activities four-fold during the year 1921 and opened offices in four other cities—Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and San Francisco—according to the annual report of The Bureau for last year just made public. The Bureau has added to its facilities an accounting and an engineering department. Over sixty labor organizations including international and national as well as local unions, central bodies and district councils, availed themselves of The Bureau's services during the year.

The directors of The Labor Bureau during 1921 were Alfred L. Bernheim, Evans Clark, David J. Saposs and George Soule. The directors are all trained men with technical knowledge of economics and experience in labor research.

"C. O. L." ON UP-GRADE

The cost of living is going to rise again; the period of price decline that began more than a year ago is practically ended, in the judgment of the officials of those branches of the government who study economic causes and influences.

Rising wholesale prices supply the evidence upon which the officials base their judgment of what the next few months will bring to consumers throughout the entire country. Food, clothing and other necessities will cost more this summer than now.

NEW SERVICES INAUGURATED

A new financial and feature circuit was launched by the International News Service in March under the name of the Cosmopolitan News Service. Chicago, Detroit, Louisville, Baltimore, Washington, Minneapolis and San Francisco are a few of the points reached by the Service.

The United Press also inaugurated a similar financial service in April, reaching from New York to Kansas City with drops at Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Milwaukee and Minneapolis.

Reports indicate that the highest standard of skill is required to work these wires. Among other financial forms handled is the open, high, low and close of every stock and bond quoted on the New York Stock Exchange.

What amounts to a new circuit was started April 15 by the A. P. in the Southwest when fourteen Morse men replaced the automatic on day and night second wires.

A. P. TEMPORARY INCREASE

The temporary increase which the A. P. granted its operators, like Damocles' sword, is a presentiment of evil, because it is dangling by a single hair. If the hair broke, there would be a crash, followed by wailing and gnashing of teeth.

Of Damocles' sword, we read in history: "Dionysius the Elder, tyrant of Syracuse, invited his flatterer Damocles to a splendid feast, but—

"Hung over his head a sword dangling by a single hair."

WESTERN A. P. MAN.

A. P. OPERATORS, TAKE NOTICE

"Texan" in his "Pertinent Observations" said in March Journal:

"A. P. operators ought to fall in line at a rapid pace. Who can tell when that 'temporary allowance' will be taken away from them? What would A. P. operators be getting today if it had not been for the C. T. U. A.? Lower wages than they are getting now, of course."

"Texan," also said: "Join the union. Dues, $11 per year; six months, $5.50; initiation fee, $2. Cheap enough!"

I. C. S. LOCKS OUT PRINTERS

The International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa., has locked out its force of compositors, members of the International Typographical Union, and is trying to replace them with non-union printers. The correspondence school has a large number of members of organized labor among its students.

FEDERAL ARBITRATOR STINGS WEB PRESSMEN

Under the Award the Men Lose and the Publishers Save Not Less Than $6,500,000 a Year

New York newspaper pressmen have agreed to abide by Federal Judge Manton's award, and these workers are now conferring with the publishers and attempting to modify what is declared to be "the most unjust decision ever handed down in an arbitration award."

"Under the award the men lose and the publishers save not less than $6,500,000 a year," said David Simons, president of Newspaper Web Pressmen's Union No. 25. "This comes through taking away from the men conditions that have obtained for more than 30 years, the only conditions they have ever known.

"For example, for more years than most men can remember, the six-hour night law has been the rule in this city. That limit was fixed so far back no one I have ever met can remember when it was otherwise. Now it is fixed at eight hours. So far back as we can go the hours have been from 12 midnight to 6 in the morning. Now, under this rule, the hours are from 7 in the evening until 7 the next morning—that is to say, the time beginning work may be fixed at any time after 7."

The award reduces wages on an average of 20 per cent, the lunch time is taken out of the men's time, and pay for legal holidays is cut from double time to time and one-half. The question of manning the gigantic web presses is placed solely in the hands of the employers. Heretofore pressmen had a voice in the required number of men necessary. The new scheme permits speeding up the workers and takes an important element of democracy from the press room.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING SHOWS BIG INCREASE

CHICAGO. — National advertising campaigns in newspapers are sweeping the country, F. Guy Davis, western manager of the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, declared in a speech here.

"Business houses that never before used any extensive newspaper space are doubling and tripling their newspaper space appropriations for this year," he said. "This has grown, not from propaganda but from the necessities of the present day business situation.

"There was one firm in 1920 that started to use newspaper space for national advertising for the first time,

"Last year this firm, using space in 40 American newspapers, was enabled to declare a 7 per cent dividend and this year it is planning to advertise in 200 American cities.

"A magazine increased its circulation from 450,000 to 1,500,000 through this national newspaper advertising."

COAST MEN WIDE AWAKE

Press operators of San Francisco and environs held one of the largest meetings of commercial telegraphers in years on March 26th. The press situation and employment conditions were among the topics of discussion and the following resolution, with reproduction of signatures, would indicate that no cobwebs are allowed to cluster under Pacific Coast hats.

San Francisco, March 26, 1922.

Whereas, Press Telegraphers are not now receiving, and never have received, compensation commensurate with the class of work performed as compared with other skilled labor which goes to make up a daily newspaper, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That a campaign be inaugurated to ask all leased wire telegraphers to support a movement with a view to rectifying this condition,

That our various general committees be, and hereby are, instructed to submit tentative new agreements to the various managements embodying the following features:

A MINIMUM OF SIXTY DOLLARS ($60) PER WEEK OF 45 HOURS FOR ALL LEASED WIRE TELEGRAPHERS:

Time and one-half for overtime.

The following days to be recognized as holidays and time and one-half to be paid for all time worked on these days in addition to the regular wage: New Year's Day, Lincoln's Birthday, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas;

Sixty days' notice, or its equivalent, in pay, to be given on installation of automatic printers in any office;

The bidding clause to be reinstated in our contracts; be it further,

RESOLVED, That we instruct our various general committees to REFUSE ANY COM-PROMISE; that if these demands are not acceptable to the various managements, they be placed in arbitration forthwith—the arbitration award to be voted upon by all press circuits party to the negotiations; and, be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be mailed to every leased wire telegrapher in the United States and Canada, urging them to organize meetings, adopt similar resolutions and forward same to their general committees for action, and that the editor of The Journal of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America be asked to give this resolution special attention in the next issue.

UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED.

GENERAL LABOR NEWS

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor announced tonight that bills providing for the reclamation of desert and swamp lands in the West to meet the unemployment situation, will be introduced in Congress at the request of organized labor.

W. Jett Lauck, in a lengthy article in the Baltimore Sun, declares that the coal miners are seeking more work and not less, and furthermore that they must get what they are seeking. "The government," he declared, "must take a hand if the industry is to be saved."

Changes in industry so comprehensive that every man's work in a manufacturing plant will be affected, and so important that millions of dollars can be saved each year are expected to result from the program of standardization being worked out nationally by technical societies.

"Unemployment among the younger men of New York has undermined their physical efficiency to the point that approximately four out of every five who apply for enlistments in the United States Army are rejected." Col. W. W. Atkinson, in charge of the recruiting said yesterday.

A statement issued by the Cloak, Suit and Reefer Makers' Union shows that the recent ten weeks' walkout of 50,000 cloak makers in the New York market cost the union $1,046,531.

A resolution favoring the creation of a political party under the leadership and control of the A. F. of L., was adopted by members of the Boston Local No. 13, of the International Typographical Union recently.

Protesting their indignation at the "unfair treatment" accorded their members by the U. S. Railroad Labor Board, the Eastern Federation of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks sent to the Board copy of a resolution to petition President Harding to immediately abolish the Board.

Arthur Nash, President of the Nash Clothing Company of Cincinnati, announced that he was planning a further reduction in the working time of the women employed by his company to 35 hours a week.

Hartford, Connecticut. Alfred C. Fuller, speaking before the meeting of the New England district of the Rotary Club here, declared that "any man who tries to force men or women to work 54 hours a week is almost a criminal. He scored employers who attempted to settle industrial problems by conflict.

THE OPEN SHOP PLAN UNFOLDS

The frankest and clearest exposition of the so-called "open shop" that has been made by any of its advocates can be credited to Paul R. Ramp, foundry superintendent of the Advance-Rumly Company. Battle Creek, Mich. Mr. Ramp writes in the Iron Age, current issue. This magazine is circulated among business men, rather than Mr. Average Citizen, who is supposed to be scenery when anti-unionists stage their well-known drama, "Our Liberty Is Menaced by Organized Labor."

The Battle Creek man makes no attempt to fool himself or his readers. He tells business men that the "open shop" means no collective bargaining; that the employer is absolute dictator of wages and working conditions, and that it is never safe to employ a "considerable sprinkling of union men."

Iron founders are warned that the establishment of the anti-union shop is a costly venture, as it is necessary to "break in" unskilled workers, thereby implying that the Iron Molders Union has the skilled workers. Where a worker is dissatisfied with wages, Mr. Ramp suggests:

"He (the worker) needs your help at this time, just as much as he required it in the beginning, and you must use strenuous efforts to get him lined up, or you will be obliged to discharge him. Take him in the office and convince him that he is only in the primary department of the business, and that he is of no special value to you; that he needs you more than you need him.

"You can finally settle with him by giving him a certain task to do and agree that when he can do this task satisfactorily you will pay him more. You are losing nothing and are helping him to realize that he has a great deal more to learn; and as he goes at the work laid out for him his mental condition will gradually change and you have a good man who will give you no more trouble.

"An 'open shop' is never safe with a considerable sprinkling of union men in it. There is always the great danger of the shop being quietly organized."

Try this on your A. W. E. pianola.

A CODE MESSAGE

An old farmer visiting the city handed the clerk a telegram to be sent consisting of the address and eight vertical strokes. "But surely you are not going to send this," said the clerk.

"Now that's all right, miss," said the old fellow. "If them strokes come out the same at t'other end, my missus 'll know as I shall be home at 8 o'clock. Her can't read or write, but her can count, so just see as you puts the proper strokes in."

MORE WORK AND LESS WAR

By J. P. Farrell, Chairman, Central District, C. N. T.

For two generations a senseless, needless, wasteful warfare between employers and employes has robbed industry of its rewards, taken vast toll of invested capital, and laid immeasurable burdens upon all the people. Selfishness and ignorance, the prime causes of this conflict, are as old and as false as human nature. And if the struggle goes on it will be because these twin enemies of the human spirit still retain their power. There are other and nobler motives, of course, but they are and have been diluted and obscured by these primal infirmities which, since time began, have shadowed the individual intelligence and blocked the social progress of the race.

The main outlines of the story are plain. With the application of science to the laws and forces of nature the productive power of men increased greatly. Great aggregations of wealth meant great power and this power was directed toward the getting of more wealth rather than to the making of bigger and better men.

When the employer ceased to be an individual man and became an impersonal, absentee corporation, the old human relations between employer and employe faded away. The worker found himself reduced to the level of the machine with the difference that the machine was under the care of a skilled mechanic and received more care and thought than the man did.

The inevitable happened. Men are not machines. Industrial relations are and always must retain human relations. So the worker organized himself into an impersonal organization for the purpose of protecting the individual by mass action. Power lined up against power. The strike, which is a destructive weapon, was the instrument chosen of offense and defense. After a while, with the training of leaders and the accumulation of financial resources, other agencies, such as legislation, were employed.

And thus our wonderful industrial life broke up into two opposing camps, saturated with suspicion, devastated by violence. No more colossal failure was ever registered by intelligent men.

In spite of the fact that the employers and employe have worked so long with the sword in one hand and the trowel in the other, they have achieved amazing results in the production of wealth. But it is plain to the most superficial observer that if these two parties to industry had worked together, had pooled their interests, had kept a human touch with each other and with the community, the economic and social results would have been so much greater as to stagger the imagination.

Now in this period of economic depression we have reached a breathing spell. Labor leaders are working desperately to perpetuate and strengthen the organization. The organization has superceded the individual man in importance. Indeed, with all the good it has done, the union has certainly keyed industry to the poorest worker, and made the relations which are human and just.

Employers are now organizing to free themselves. So we see the two armies facing each other in preparation for a gigantic struggle which will be the most wasteful and wicked, because the most needless, in history.

There are enough sane, reasonable and just men on both sides to avert this calamity, if they will only permit themselves to get together. The red radical and the white reactionary are equally hopeless. But the every day manual man is square. The trouble is he does not know. He is not trained to think a problem through in terms of its relationship. He thinks only in the iron bound, air tight compartment of class and immediate self interest.

The open shop is a big issue. But it is only a symptom—a mere gateway into the main question. It will settle itself if the whole fabric of productive industry is placed upon a solid foundation of justice, confidence and co-operation.

The great truth is that industry is one. It can not be divided into warring sections permanently, any more than the hands and eyes can carry on apart from the brain or body. By co-operation both capital and labor will receive a much larger reward, more justly distributed and more honestly earned. And society, whose servant industry is, will profit by industrial peace to an extent hard to realize. Instead of destruction let us have production. Instead of wasteful warfare let us have constructive service. We must make our choice between these alternatives.

CHINAMEN WON'T SCAB

The Chinese coolie has far more brains more discernment—than many (enlightened) Americans can boast.

No Chinaman can be hired, nor coaxed, nor driven to "scab" on another Chinaman.

The Chinaman (NOT the American) knows the "scabbing" helps the employer to impose worse conditions and lower wages.

That is why a Chinese worker will NOT "scab" on his own countryman.

Alas and alack. Don't you wish that all the Americans who "scab" on their fellows were suddenly elevated to the intelligent stature of a Chinese coolie?—Seattle Union Record.

E. B. D. ENTERTAINMENT AND BALL PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

There was sounds of revelry by night,
And New York City had gathered then
Her beauty and her chivalry, and bright
The lamps shows o'er fair women and brave

A thousand hearts beat happily; and when Music arose with its voluptuous swell, Soft eyes look'd love to eyes which spake again

And all went merry as a marriage bell.

—Byron.

SOUNDS FROM THE BALL

Good old Jack Hummel was there with the big smile and glad hand.

Eddie Fraser leading the delegation from Winkelman & Co. had a good time meeting old friends.

The newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Worzel, were kept busy greeting friends.

L. E. Baker looked like the head waiter at the Rits. He showed us how they used to dance down in Dothan, Alabama.

Brother Dave Talmage, formerly manager for McMasters at Hartford, is back in town and took in the dance.

Our peerless orator, Denny Kelleher, and his colleen, as usual, graced the occasion with their genial presence.

Jack Welch, with the big smile, ably represented the Guaranty Trust.

If Max Liebman did not enjoy himself, nobody did.

Sam Schwinger did not stop laughing all night. He certainly felt good and looked it. Harry Green says old age is no handicap to dancing. He was there with bells on all evening.

Duckworth never stopped mopping the sweat from his feverish brow all evening. He said he was too fat and was dancing hard to take off weight.

Mr. Allen, Joe Bollon and others represented the order department of Jones and Baker. Turkey Grove, Texas, was not represented this year, much to our surprise.

Josh Jones was there with the big Georgia smile, and Jimmy Ross was there looking them over. Whenever there is a ball or outing, you can always find "Beckle."

"Rae" Siegel enjoyed herself immensely.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Long left the baby at home for the evening to meet some of their old friends from the Postal.

Bud Rupple's sister, Mrs. Joe de Stefano, and Miss Agnes McLaughlin came all the way from Philadelphia to attend the ball.

The Postal was well represented at the entertainment and dance. The girls numbered about twenty-five and say that it was one of the best affairs ever held.

Pat. Collins, chief operator at Clark, Dodge & Co. was around greeting old friends. Glad to see you, Pat. Come often, you will always be welcome.

Fire Commissioner Drennan could not attend, but sent a large delegation.

The dance was something of a Dave Sims night. He did wonderful work for us and the local heartily congratulates him for his spirit and energy. We need a lot of Dave's spirit, as there is much work to be done.

Ike Schwadron did so well handling the crowds at the ball that several Coney Island promoters are hot on his trail to act as head "barker" out there this summer.

Ike made several unsuccessful attempts to dance. He can quote the market and make speeches but when it comes to tripping the light fantastic Ike gets left at the post every time.

Frank Johnson and Jack Hunter from Hornblower and Weeks enjoyed themselves immensely.

Sam Schwinger, Johnny Custer, Ralph Johnson and Jack Gainer were part of the big delegation from Thomson and McKinnon.

The celebrated tragedian, James Patrick McCusker, was there and made several attempts to dance. He says he is more at nome playing the leading parts in King Lear, Macbeth, Othello and Hamlet. He expects to go on the road as leading man for Belasco this fall.

The delegation from our Fire Telegraph Chapel was composed of Wm. A. Martin, T. S. Mahoney, M. J. Shortell, F. J. Marshall and Patrick O'Brien and daughter. They are a distinguished looking lot of men of large affairs and it was agreed that they all had a good time.

Brother W. T. Abel of J. F. Clarke and Co. was ill but we hope he recovers in time for the Easter Parade.

Telegrams of regret for not being able to be present were received from Brother R. C. Patterson of Pittsburg, and also from Brothers Fred Towne and Roggero at Miami, Florida.

Marse Lee Butterfield and Dick Scales are anxiously awaiting the starting of Tom Trangely's fishing excursions from Lewis's dock at Sheepshead Bay to the fishing banks. The fish will certainly catch hell when our crowd gets there.

J. A. Reynolds was very much disappointed because Eddie Hodnett was not there to admire his dancing.

Arthur Demers and Jack Kiel represented Dunellen and C. G. Donahue represented Plainfield. All parts of the map were heard from

Many of the old familiar faces were missing. Don't lose interest, boys. We need the real live interest of all members in order to prosper and succeed. It is to your interest to be with us personally as well as in spirit. Think it over.

The Beau Brummell handicap was won by Dave Sims, T. S. Mahoney second, and Keener third. Roy Spear, Johnny Custer, and Chas. Josephson also ran.

Dave Sims also won the prize for selling the most tickets. The following is the list of winners:

David Sims 51, Harry Cook 45, B. F. Rupple 45, Arthur Morgan 37, F. W. Towne 27, Martin A. Moore 19, E. B. Whittlesey 19, F. J. Gore 17, G. M. McGuirk 17, A. D. Keefe 16, Ralph Johnson 12, C. G. Donahue 10, J. F. Campbell 10, J. B. Martin 8.

We want to thank these boys. It was fine and we want to assure them their good work was very much appreciated.

Mr. Austin Velle with Mrs. Velle occupied a box from which they watched the proceedings. We were very much pleased to have Mr. Velle with us.

Randolph Rose, Jr., helped make it a distinguished affair with his engaging presence. He is some swell dancer and enjoyed himself hugely. He treated his former telegraphers very fine. He expects the best and pays the best.

Every one was sorry Whit could not be with us, but he was indisposed and simply could not make the grade.

W. H. McKenna & Co. was represented in full force by Brother A. W. Brown, J. A. Pothoff, manager up-town office; A. A. Ball, manager down-town office, and A. J. Locker, manager Paterson office, with their wives. Brother Brown gave us the fine front page ad. on our program. The organization is 100 per cent and they are proud of it. No finer fellow lives than Archie Brown and it ought to be an encouragement and example to all of us that we can be successful if we will but get busy and branch out for ourselves.

F. M. McClintic was around renewing old acquaintances. Fred is still one of the bright lights of the profession and holds up wonderfully well. During the war he was one of the very first to volunteer, serving with the signal corps in the A. E. F.

Fred and the writer worked together in early days way out west on the mountain division of the old Union Pacific. Bogardus used to stop in for a touch regularly and "Kid" Chrisman used to show us what real fast sending was. Those were the happy exciting days away out on the old western frontier.

To Our Members and Many Friends:
We thank you most cordially for your untiring efforts and support in making of our Annual Dan-e and Entertainment the great success it was. To our Broker friends are we especially grateful for the liberal manner in which they contributed to our advertising columns.
D. V. NELSON, Chairman,

D. V. NELSON, Chairman, Entertainment Committee.

The entertainment before the dance was very fine and enjoyed by every one.

Al. Knapp led off with his black face funny comedian stuff. He made some sarcastic remarks about the bum cigars Jack Hickey slipped him that brought down the house.

Many other very fine features were enjoyed. The young daughter of Dave Sims favored us with some fine singing and dancing. When showered with roses she blushed like a real prima donna.

When the oriental dancers appeared on the scene Dick Scales, Frank O'Sullivan, Harry Green and all the old timers hastily dug their high-powered opera glasses and were very much interested. Joe Mallon said such things did not interest him any more.

Charley Josephson was at the entrance and welcomed every one to our happy home and also gave them "30" as they left. Charley insists he is an up-to-date jazz dancer, but the sarcastic guys say it looks more like the old fashioned wooden shoe German yodle dancing.

Brother Bill Freeman represented the Baltimore local and Chairman Ruberg represented the Philadelphia local. They made nice speeches of appreciation and encouragement at our regular meeting the day following.

Brother Wm. Edward Kane and his lady came in from Hartford to attend the dance and meet old friends.

Buck Ewing and his inseparable big chew of tobacco was around greeting old friends.

The flashlight picture of the dance is a marvel of clearness and scope. All the faces are unusually clear and plain and should be a pleasant memento of a fine crowd and the many friends that were gathered there that memorable night. Any one desiring one of the pictures can get them of Secretary Hickey for $1.

We thought we had the largest ball room in New York and yet it was packed tight during the dancing. Next year we will have to get the largest Convention hall in the East in order to accommodate the assembled multitudes. Let us keep the ball rolling now that we have a good start. As John McGraw says, "You may have been champions last year but this is another year," and we must get down and dig if we want to come out ahead again this year. Don't let up. Our outing is the next big thing on the program and we want to make it the greatest ever. Something that will make you happy and swell with pride. Lead us to it.

Bogey Nelson was some busy guy arranging matters and keeping things running smoothly. It was a big job, well handled, and not a single slip up in any way. Bogey deserves great credit for the able manner in which the affair was handled. It shows what we can do when we put our shoulders to the wheel and all pull together. These things put vigor and enthusiasm into our life and work and make things interesting. Come on, boys, warm up to the work more. IT IS NOT WHAT WE THINK BUT THE ACTION WE GET THAT COUNTS. Let us keep things moving and growing. Every member should become interested and do his full share of the work.

The management of the Pennsylvania Hotel is to be congratulated on the arrangements made and assistance given in connection with the evening's entertainment. It is a model hotel in every way and has the finest and largest ball room in the city, but may prove to be too small if our affairs get any larger. The dancing floor was crowded to the utmost with the big throng.

The Pennsylvania Hotel Orchestra was very fine and enjoyed by every one the entire evening. They certainly contributed much to the many pleasures of the delightful evening. Just before the close they delighted the many old timers present by faultless rendition of the songs of our youth. Songs of the masses that never cease to interest and entertain and as the wonderful evening came to a close, the following good old heart songs heightened the effect: "Comrades," "Sidewalks of New York," "Annie Rooney," "Rosie O'Grady," "After the Ball," and "Home, Sweet Home," and thus this evening, crowded with pleasure, came to a pleasant close.

TWO JOB MEN

I would like to call to the attention of all members, and especially those working two jobs the following from the CONSTITUTION, Article XXVIII, Section 3—"It shall be the duty of all members to discourage the working of overtime and bonus, which tends to reduce demand for telegraphers."

Section 4 of same Article reads: "Where a member puts in full time for a company or firm, he cannot work for another company or firm without the consent of the subordinate unit of which he is a member. Upon being convicted of the first offense, he shall be suspended for thirty days, and on the second offense he shall be expelled from the Union."

OUR TEAM

The following members have battled their way to the front and won a place on our team of workers for this year:

Dunn, C. F.; Nelson, S. S.; Towne, R. F.; Hickey, 2 B.; Campbell, 3 B.; F. A. O'Sullivan, L. F.; Schwadron, 1 B.; Rupple, C.; H. A. Green, C.; Donahue, P.; Worzel, P.; Mallon, Pinch Hitter; Whittlesey, Manager; Ben F. Shrimpton, President.

Any ambitious bush leaguer that wants to distinguish himself and cover himself with glory, will be given every opportunity in the world to make this team. The race is open to all. Do not be bashful at all, just wade in and show us results. None of these players will kick when they get "benched."

We don't want any wooden Indians or four-flushers. You must know the game (the constitution and by-laws) and be able to maul hell out of the ball (get results).

The W. B. D. and the Canadians have strong teams, so we will have to brace up and move lively.

BROTHER WELKER PASSES ON

Brother W. J. Welker, Ctf. No. 3717, passed on to the great beyond on March 24th.

It was a long hard fight for Brother Welker but he struggled bravely with life's greatest tragedy until he sank down exhausted by the wayside to rise no more.

This division contributed generously in a moral and financial way, as it should, to help along a distressed but worthy brother.

The need and worth of our organization cannot be too strongly impressed on the mind of every member. No one can tell what time he will be down and out and need a helping hand, and for that reason every member should labor long and unselfishly to make it a great and noble organization to be proud of.

WHY'S AT THE BALL

Why did Harry Cooke and Ike Schwadron hang around the screen near the stage before the last act?

Why did Bart Kearney parade around like a drill sergeant?

Why did Jack Martine and the rest of the Volstead enforcement committee stick so closely together?

Why did Bogey Nelson order a pitcher of ice water for his party?

Why did Jack Hummell and Buck Ewing hang around Bogey Nelson?

Why did the colored comedian remark about Jack Hickey's generosity?

Why did Worzel ask Jack Hickey for some of those C. O. D. (carry 'em out dead) cigars?

Why was Jim Campbell so shy of the ladies?

Why did Harry Green dawnce every dance? Why did "Pop" Velie wear that large smile? Because they all were very happy having a good time.

It was the best success ever. Not a word of criticism and those who were among the missing missed a great evening. Members of the E. B. D. can well be proud of their organization.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Bud Rupple is certainly a live wire and a big help in carrying forward the work of this organization. As Secretary-Treasurer of the local district council he keeps that alive and growing and finds plenty of time to help us out wonderfully in carrying forward our work, too.

We should show our appreciation and gratitude in no uncertain manner for his loyal work and untiring efforts,

The organization has to have a lot of faithful, unselfish work from each member in order to succeed and bring each one of us greater rewards.

Every member of this organization is enjoying many benefits the organization has gotten for him, slowly but surely. Each member should ginger up and take more interest. Come on, be a worker, not a slacker.

We should get busy now and start up a radio division. The independent concern is on its last legs and we should get busy and organize that field. Any one with any information on the subject let Secretary Hickey have it to work on.

If everybody stopped knocking everybody, how happy everybody would be.

The boys were literally taken off their feet at one of the February meetings, by the fiery eloquence of a hitherto undemonstrative member, one "Ike" Schwadron, who sure gave an interesting talk on Organization. He was the recipient of many congratulations when he concluded and we hope to hear him often. The only faux pas he made was the statement that we had stopped our members from peddling their labor around the "street." Were this and the "two-job" eradicated we would show wonderful results this Spring. Get onto yourselves, boys, and let up on that stuff. Ask the Secretary how many are on the "waiting list."

"Ed." Coogan has resumed his old position at Bennett & Company at their request. "Ed" is the boy who left the key at their Produce Exchange office at the first sign of trouble in Chicago. This is indeed a notable victory for C. T. U. A. principles.

They are to establish radio telephone sets in all first class cabins on the new Leviathan. This at the suggestion of Brother "Dick" Coogan, who is a great enthusiast on the radio thing. He is to receive a substantial remuneration for his thoughtful hint, i.x.u.

To show the size of the turn-out at one of the meetings in February, it was noted that two of the members gave up $1.50 for seats thereat, which were confiscated by the two Bennies (Lewis and Rosen). Lucky thing the rightful owners of said seats did not leave their "bennies" on the back of the chairs.

Another "young" member, "Jimmie" Billings, has deserted the waiting list, as a means of accumulating a fortune, and started on his own in the addressograph business. "Jimmie" is sure to make a success in this line, as he has a very persuasive manner and generally gets what he goes after. Another "lucky bird" in this line is our old friend Harry Gates, whose book knowledge of the game would put old man Hoyle in the discard.

The necessity for larger headquarters is becoming more urgent every day, especially since the advent of the fifty or more additions to the waiting list, by reason of the succession of failures down this way. You-all boys who contemplate a Northern trip this Spring to replenish your bank roll, had better have your palms read before making the jump.

See that A Plesiosaurus—or Plesiosaurus Dolichodeirus, if you want his full name—is working "regular" in Patogonia. What a relief to get that bird off the waiting list. He sure did block up the telephone, calling his name out.

Jack Martin says our Journal looks sick and needs a doctor and plenty good rich food. Jack will soon take a trip to Chicago and says there's going to be big fireworks when he gets there.

PHILADELPHIA DISTRICT NOTES

A headquarters for this district is badly needed. Too many reliefs are being filled by the Western Union and Postal. The companies have plenty of work for their own men and do not want to send men out to brokers.

There are a few good men on the block that would be glad to get the time, but we must be in a position to answer the call at once before we can make our appeals to the employer to depend on us.

The crying need then is a centrally located headquarters where men out of employment can be located instantly. In addition to the above, these headquarters can serve as a club room for members having spare time and seeking a social hour or two.

Give this idea a little thought and be prepared for it at the next meeting, because it will be brought up and we want to discuss it intelligently.

We have a list of non-members that we want to concentrate on with the object of convincing them of the benefits derived from joining the Eastern Broker Division. Our New York local will take up the matter from their end, too, and help the matter along.

There is a prize in store for the man who will bring one of these non-members in on an application blank the next meeting.

Recently a high-class man was on the sick list; when he came back to work he was found very blue in spirit, as the other non-union man who had subbed for him had offered to work the job for very much less money. There is a moral here—get a man to work for you who won't underbid you on the job.

PITTSBURGH NOTES

"Who's Next" seems to be the general greeting when the boys meet each other, since the numerous "blow-ups." A number of the boys have left town, some have been placed in other houses and some are putting ten on a line for the commercial companies and others working press jobs. Conditions in Pittsburgh could be a lot worse, although we advise the boys to keep away from here for the present. It has been brought to our attention that some of the new houses here are bringing their own telegraphers from other cities. This doesn't look good at this time when our own men who have families and are settled here are out of work. The boys seem to think-and they are right-that they can afford a little rest and still be ahead of a number of the "nons" who have been workfor the cheap houses. Brother Reits, our former Entertainment Chairman, has landed with an insurance company. Reits says there is lots of jack in that game and we all know "Hal" will "get his." Good luck to you, Reitz, show them you don't have to depend on a bug to live. Chairman Patterson says "Fine." It's the first time he has been out of a job in fifteen years and this gives him an opportunity to get around and see the boys at the other offices. We understand one of the traders asked Pat. what he was going to do if his firm blew up. Pat. said "Don't worry about what I will do-what are you going to do with your ten shares?" We look for a number of other houses starting up here within a few months and the boys should stick close to their cards and bear in mind that NOW is the time for them to stand firm and refuse to sell their services below the old minimum. Dont forget the next regular meeting April 15th. Drop around and see what's doin'.

WISE CASE STILL PENDING

No new developments have occurred thus far in the matter of arbitrating Bro. R. F. Wise's grievance against the International News Service. Arbitrators Konenkamp and Wilzin have been unable up to this time to agree on a third man.

PRESSMEN MAKE GAINS

Pressmen's Home, Tenn., April 15.—A large and interesting list of recent wage gains are recorded in American Pressmen, official magazine of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union.

FAVORS COMPANY UNION

Peace in industry is growing, according to Stephen A. Day of Chicago, president of the Lague of Industrial Justice. One advantage of these company "unions," according to Mr. Day, is the numerous instances last year of employes voting to reduce their own wages.

"JACK" NEVIN BECOMES EDITOR OF CONSOLIDATED PRESS

John Edwin Nevin, for years a correspondent of various newspapers and press associations, has joined the Washington staff of the Consolidated Press Association, as day editor.

As a member of various press associations, he has been a worker at every political national convention since 1896. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American War and the Philippine insurrection. Mr. Nevin accompanied President Wilson to Europe.

THE SOUNDER

Conducted by Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21

Meeting Date: Second Wednesday of Each Month at Union of Commerce Hall, 149 Berri St., Montreal.

-Organize-Co-operate-

We are living in an era of mergers. All corporations of note are awakening to the necessity of handling business through one big organization, going along hand in hand, protecting one another, and reading a rich harvest.

The C. T. U. A. is lacking in this respect. What we need is a district council in every large center throughout the Dominion, where the sub-units of the different divisions would get together and discuss ways and means of helping one another. Past grievances should be forgotten, and until we learn that "the injury to one is the concern of all," we will never accomplish anything worthy of note.

We are slowly but surely reaching the top of the ladder. Solidification of the ranks cannot be accomplished by a handful of members working alone. We have set the mark at 100% by the end of 1922. The goal will not be reached unless the individual member exerts himself, and does everything in his power to make the division what it should be. Pay-day is the day to go after the nons. They know full well that the Union is responsible for their present rating, and if approached in the proper manner, they will come into the fold. The zero hour is upon us. Let's all put a shoulder to the wheel, and go over the top.

Our last meeting was well attended. Cooperation is what is needed, and there is no better way of showing it than by coming to the meetings and taking an active part in the affairs of the division. We would like to see every member turn out. Remember the date and don't make any other appointment for that evening.

'ROUND THE STREET

Bro. John Gayley is back on the job at E. & C. Randolph.

Bro. Jim Culkin is on the new wire at the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

At an informal gathering of the clan at L. & B.'s, on the morning of the 17th of March, Bro. Michael McFadden was presented with a bug, suitably decorated with the war colors of the Irish Free State.

Sister Bergeron, Royal Bank, has returned to duty after a two-weeks' vacation.

Bro. Poulin, late of the Mining Exchange, is with Bryant Bros.

Sister Vance, Royal Bank, is on vacation. Flash—Bro. Cadorette is in the bond business. Wat you call dem t'ings dat hitch, Cad?

Bro. Tom Grady informs the street how Britain is going to retain her states. "The Prince of Wales is going to marry an Indian Princess." Are you Irish, Grady?

The boys on the block were somewhat cheered by the warm spell last week. It looked as if the summer garden would soon be opened up and the loop re-installed at "MC."

One or two of the boys are delinquent. Come on fellows, it's easier now than later on.

Remember the next meeting. Don't forget to be there. Get a member. It's not hard if you go about it in the proper way. And once again—for the love of Pete, send in a few notes.

Regular monthly meetings at Headquarters, last Monday in the month. By J. F. MULLEN, JR,

Our March meeting was fairly well attended. It seems we have formed into three classes: Those who attend every meeting; those who attend every now and then and those who never come. It is through the first two classes that we promulgate union propaganda in the hope that we may keep the third class awake. Of course, it is not to be expected that out-of-town members should appear at meetings, but we have our Journal for the purpose of keeping them informed.

It is a pleasure to report that, despite the many conditions we have been confronted with, the union is doing business as usual and we are in a fairly good condition, both as to finances and as to morale. The Leased Wire Defense Fund is practically all collected. Some dues are yet to be received.

In connection with dues-collecting it may be said that the over-worked secretary has been authorized by the members to post on the headquarters bulletin board the names of all members who have not yet paid their bills, but owing to the amount of work on hand, this has not been done so there is a chance for a few to hustle along the "necessary" and get under cover before the spotlight is thrown on the scene.

There are a certain few who have paid neither the leased wire assessment nor the dues for the first half. A survey of the personal history in each case shows that these few are men who made their debut into the broker field under union auspices; were transferred to better jobs by the union and have received everything they possess in the way of telegraphic knowledge through the union; have been coached and held up and helped by the union-and this is their contribution in the way of gratitude! Deserters from the leased wire fund when men went out and made a sacrifice that kept other brokerage houses from cutting wages and imposing obnoxious conditions, and deserters from their union duties at a time when every cent possible was needed in the treasury!

Even the "bomb-proof" jobs sometimes go up. Even those who gladly drop out of a union are sometimes just as glad to try and return. At that time the leased wire fund will be collected together with all other just and honorable debts accruing to the union. The passes on but the union, like the brook, goes on forever, and with the union goes the personal history of its members. This little personal history will pop up whether a Boston man attempts to rejoin in Kokomo or Zanzibar. It luckily happens to be the majority wish of the membership that this leased wire fund be collected and it shall be collected. Time nor space matters not. The brains of an organization is concentrated on this high purpose; the brains of a continuous, co-operative wave covering the entire country, so that the disconnected pother of a few who would benefit by a noble sacrifice cannot escape. Never shall a union man who is supposed to pay his leased wire commitment be a union man again until he has paid his measure of levy toward the Chicago fund.

May we be pardoned, in view of the above and knowing that we are but carrying out a lofty ideal, to say that we are on the lookout for a certain day about two months hence when the swift and expeditious hook shall be administered as we write off our leased wire account?

An amicable agreement not to purchase new furniture was reached when the question was talked over pro and con at the last meeting.

Brother Conry, over from New York, was present and addressed the meeting. As always, he was greeted enthusiastically. His advice and counsel was accepted in the spirit it was given. Brother Conry noted the spirit of co-operation evidenced by the membership and was pleased to see the organization functioning efficiently. It was gratifying to the officers to hear his remarks. It created a feeling that our labors had resulted in something tangible.

Spring is here, and with it comes the usual flock of applications for membership. Legitimate applications, where a desire to be a union man is involved, will be favorably passed upon. The card-and-job variety will, of course, go the way of such things. In other words they will be well iced and stored away.

Another indication of spring is the market letter. A spring market letter is a bullish sign. It speaks of the "wealth in the soil" and of the untold crops to come later in the year. One never knows spring is here until he digests his market paragraph on the wealth of the soil. Aside from the facetious—the market is going up. Nearly all of our men are working, some on scoops and some steady. We all feel bullish, especially with this "boiling" market.

Hustle the dues in and stay with us.

By POP

When the average telegrapher fills out his application blank, secures the three necessary endorsements, pays the initiation fee and dues, and goes through the jumps of "riding the goat," he feels then that he is a union man; that he has done his full duty and there cannot be much more required of him.

In truth when a telegrapher has done the foregoing he has only commenced to be a union man. Of course, it is admitted he has taken a necessary and important step forward.

It is yet to be determined whether he is animated by the spirit of craft consciousness or "job safety."

If moved by the former he will read the constitution of the C. T. U. A., the By-Laws of the Local organization and fit himself to be ready to do his bit when called upon to function for the organization in any of its manifold activities. He will be a close student of the Journal, in order to develop continuity of thought and action, to promote the Telegraphers' welfare.

Our brothers who live in towns remote from headquarters are prone to believe that they are handicapped in being of service to the union. By a little thought and study every one of them could prepare themselves to become propagandists for our cause and enroll their neighbor telegraphers in the organization. And by occasional grouping they could enlarge the intellectual union calibre in their immediate locality, which would surely give those at headquarters encouragement.

As it has often been said, a chain is no stronger than its weakest link.

UP AND AT IT BOYS, LET'S STRENGTHEN THE LINKS!

BRO. J. W. WALSH IS DEAD

Bro. James William Walsh, aged 48, United Press operator at Vancouver, B. C., and well known throughout the Pacific Northwest and Canada, died April 10th of pneumonia.

OBITUARY

Nathan B. Topping, Jr., 35 years old, a well-known press operator and newspaper man, son of N. B. Topping, Sr., a retired employe of the Western Union, died at his father's home at Plainfield, N. J., March 21st. For a long time the deceased had been a sufferer from nervous disorders. When stricken he was managing editor of the Brownsville, Texas, Sentinel. Prior to going to Brownsville about a year ago, Brother Topping had been operator on the Chicago Tribune News Service leased wire on the San Antonio, Texas, Express. He was a very fine operator and an exceptionally good writer. He had at various times worked for the I. N. S., and A. P., in the East. Before going to San Antonio he had been with the I. N. S., and W. U. at Tulsa, Okla. Later he was with the W. U. at Austin, Texas. From there he went to San Antonio. He was a native of Virginia. He was formerly a member of the C. T. U. A.

BIRTHS

Born to Bro. and Mrs. L. W. Owen of Morristown, Tenn., International News Service, March 25th, a ten-pound boy.

The Journal extends heartiest congratulations.

Quebec and District Notes

We are glad to be able to report this month that the controversy which ranged around the new dues and by-laws has now quieted down and after all explanations of same have been given the membership as a whole are coming across steadily with the 1922 Annuals, which is as it should be. When the stormy winds do blow let 'em blow but keep the old Annuals drifting in.

A vacancy has occurred in our official directory with the departure of ex-Chairman of the E. D. Grievance Committee J. W. McL. Bouteillier to another Division. I have pleasure in announcing that Bro. W. T. Bartlett. Marconi Station, Cape Bear, PEI, has taken over the duties of this position. The Eastern Sub-Division Grievance Committee is now complete and for the information of the membership is made up as follows:

Chairman, W. T. Bartlett, Cape Bear, PE1; Committeemen, S. Hodder, North Sydney, CB, and H. B. Taylor, Cape Sable, NS.

This Committee will also act for the Atlantic Ship Sub-Division until they have their own Committee formed.

We recently had occasion to circularize part of our Division in connection with the by-laws. Part of what we said then related to the Journal and as there appears to be a misapprehension as to just what the Journal costs us and some of our members wanted to see it placed on a subscription basis instead of being paid for in our dues, we make no apology for reproducing for the information and we hope benefit, of the whole of the membership of Division 59.

It has been stated that the Journal is costing us individually Three Dollars per year. This is not so. The Journal is the official organ of the C. T. U. A. representing roughly speaking 40,000 members. It is printed out of Union Dues and distributed to the membership in order to keep them fully posted upon all developments in the various Divisions. It has been in business twenty years on the "free-to-members" basis. This ensures every member in good standing getting a copy and, as the cost thereof is included in his dues he does not have to have a special circulation department run to remind him once a year that his sub, has run out. Now it is suggested that we are paying $3.00 a year more for the privilege of having the Journal. Not so brother members. The International per capita was increased $3.00 at the October Convention and amongst other reasons advanced for the increase it was shown that there was a conriderable deficit on the Journal. Our members were asked if they desired the Journal maintained at the usual size and there was an overwhelming demand made that it should. Accordingly our G. C., Brother Allen, went to the Convention and stood pat on having the Journal remain as it was. do not think that all of the $3.00 or even the greater part of it is to be devoted to the up-keep of the Journal. A full-time Canadian vice-president was named. I do not think it necessary for me to enlarge upon this matter. The facts speak for themselves so we will let it go at that.

We recently dug up a few platitudes on Service which we polished up to suit our own tastes with the following results:

Service is spontaneous, not forced. Active, not lazy. Putting on your best bib and tucker when the boss is floating around and polishing up the tuner isn't service, it's Servility.

There is nothing in your Union obligation which stands in the way of giving efficient service. The best man you have in your Division had 100% efficiency mark for the way he ran his station last year. The best talking point your Executive can have is to be able to say that the possession of an Annual is as good an argument for a man's efficiency as his certificate of proficiency. A man who is wide enough awake towards his own interests and shows it by keeping his card up to date isn't going to be the one who falls down on his job. It will very often be found that the don't care NON is the don't care employee. A man can't be bright on one side and dead on the otherhe's either well polished up and bright all over or dull and dead from the toenails up. GET THAT ANNUAL UP TO DATE.

If any guy asks you what is an efficiency barrier tell him as easy as possible to look in a mirror. If he gets you there's hope, if not g.n.

G. E. C. Cert. 128.

British Columbia District

The many expressions of approval of our project for a Radio Division of the C. T. U. A. are our greatest encouragement, coming as they do from members not only of our own division but of the Marconi Division as well. Not all of these find their way into the Journal, and the Port Arthur notes of Cert. 4 are among the most welcome, on account of the fact of publication and of the breadth of view shown by this brother. He realizes, with us, that it is high time we threw down the barriers that are keeping good men out of our Union and set about making the C. T. U. A. what its name implies-the Union of all telegraphers in North America, both line and radio.

There appear to be very few objections to our doing so. Indeed, nobody has yet openly disapproved of the idea, though a little cold water has been thrown on it on the stereotyped plea that "the time is not yet ripe." We certainly fail to see how any other time could be better than the present to increase our membership ten-fold.

It seems that our friends, the time-is-notyet-ripers and the stand-patters, overlook the fact that the interests of all radiotelegraphers everywhere are inseparably interlinked. If our own or any other radio unit of the C. T. U. A. attempts to secure an increase of salary for its members it is up against an overwhelming argument-the low general rate of pay in radio everywhere. Cert. 4 points out, it is unfair to ask one employer for any appreciable raise until we are in a position to demand equal treatment from all employers. At present our tendency is to penalize those who are fair to organized labor. We cannot expect radiotelegraphers in Canada to get a salary approaching that of press telegraphers as long as we leave our friends across the border unorganized. Let us ask ourselves the question: "Do we want the United States radio men in the C. T. U. A.?" and if we do let us see how we can get them in. The method proposed by us in the November Journal is one way; there may be others, and so long as the objective is reached we are not particular about the way to it. But whatever plan we adopt, we may be sure that we shall encounter difficulties. That is why we would like our proposal to be given ample study, for we believe that our simple plan of lumping our radio membership into one great Radio Division presents fewer difficulties than does any alternative way of organizing. But, first of all, let us make up our minds quite definitely as to whether we want the U. S. radiotelegraphers with us in the C. T. U. A. or not. If we decide that we do—if we think that unity among all radio men is worth while—then we will find a way to organize them. With our minds made up, the end will find the means.

At present we sit tight within our little sections and wait for the United States operators to come along and organize themselves. They can't join our Division; oh, no! They must go away and form divisions for themselves, and when they've got them formed they must be careful whom they admit. And with such encouragement we must not be surprised at the situation that exists. is an excellent situation for the radio administrations, but not a very desirable one from our own point of view. Our machinery has been good in its day, but its day is past. We have all, we hope, deep sentiment for our Union, but the details of organization within a democratic body are matters of expediency and not of principle, and we need have no more compunction in scrapping them when they have served their purpose than we would have in discarding a magnetic detector from our receiving gear and replacing it by something more modern. In the present instance we find that our expedients are actually in conflict with our principles, for while we aim to include all radiotelegraphers in our Union, our plan of organization is such that it tends to exclude nine-tenths of them. Radio engineering progresses at a relentless pace; radio as an industry has spread itself around the world and is filling in the corners; only as a profession does radio remain stationary, or nearly so. What are we going to do about it, brothers? The old world keeps on turning; let us get a move on, too. At least, it's worth putting to the vote.

Brother Stephens didn't go on the steamer "Newington" after all. What a drag he must have! The new man on the VDP is a likely recruit, however, so keep that application form handy. It's a good rule to have an application form in one's pocket always; one never knows when it might be needed. Those brothers who possess more than one suit of clothes can obtain extra forms from our Secretary, so as to have one for each suit. Brother Kelk, we suppose, will immediately send for seven.

Brother Mellish at Estevan hasn't forgotten the value of quatre sous. To hear him quoting QSJ's to Jap boats in centimes carries the mind back to the "Bucket of Blood" Estaminet at Hersin-Couplgny. He gave us an awful thirst the other night.

We shall be glad to see that new District Committee get on its feet and start work. One of its first jobs will be to "wish" the task of writing these notes on to one of its members, for we are anxious to be relieved.

Someone, who has evidently never read the C. T. U. A. Constitution, suggests the issuance of a local news-sheet in this District. Apart from the question of who would contribute sufficient drivel to fill it, such an idea is basely ungrateful to International headquarters, who have been extremely generous to us in the matter of space. Besides, the Constitution absolutely prohibits such publications, and that should be enough for If anyone wants more local notes, he knows how to get them-by writing them himself and sending them to the Secretary. This suggestion is about on a par with the idea of asking the International officers to override the decision of the General Assembly in the matter of dues. Such tomfoolery leads us nowhere. We have a good Union; let us abide by its rules, take advantage of our privileges, and remember our obligations,

ATLANTIC SUB-DIVISION, DIV. 65

As one of the juvenile members of the Division. I have thus far been reluctant to appear in print, but since waiting month after month and nothing appearing, I am to take the bull by the horns and forward a few lines to show that at least one of the members of the Atlantic sub-division has a little interest in his organization. We peruse with interest the articles from the B. C. sub-division, so ably set forth by Cert. 22, and wonder whether the ranks of the sister sub-division are so bare that it is not possible to produce a scribe of similar talents. The B. C. boys, we are told, are organized to a man, with possible exceptions perhaps of an occasional specimen who might be a man were he built differently; and here on the other coast there are operators galore who have not taken the trouble to join up. That's all it is brothers, not taking the trouble. The majority are real white men, whose spirit is fully in accord with the principles, but whose bodies are too darned lazy to make the necessary effort. Surely we cannot be so blind as not to be able to see our most advantageous course. Are we so negligent as to overlook the immense value of organization? The manifold hardships suffered by the pioneers of the Radio profession are not such ancient history as to be entirely erased from memory, and what has been is always liable to return, unless we ourselves prevent it. We hear from time to time of the efforts made by the present secretary and his staunch supporters out in the wilds of B. C., of their conferences with their superintendent, their meetings with each other, etc., and admire their persistency and absolute refusal to admit discouragement, in spite of rebuffs and many obstacles. and then remark to our neighbors that they must be a darned decent bunch out there. And that is where we allow it to end. No wonder progress is slow and obscure, to quote our optimistic secretary in his annual report. Every advantage gained by our west coast colleagues is negatived by the apathy and lack of enthusiasm from across country. and as long as this continues, just so long will progress be retarded, and we will be under the glorious satisfaction of reaping benefits which have been fought for and won by our sister sub-division off her own bat. Has any fellow in the east coast ever done anything to help the cause along, other than pay his dues, the very least he could do, and then growl like --- during this minor operation?

Come on fellows, get together-take a Let every one renew his card for tumble. the coming year, and all backsliders return to the fold, and shake off this slothful apathy which has overtaken us. Let us have our own local officials elected, and get down to a hard plan of campaign, and show our western brothers they are not carrying a burden, but have a real live enthusiastic sister subdivision to back them up. If we have no respect for ourselves, others will have little for us, and although by remaining outside the scope of our organization we may gain a slight commendation from the Departmental officials, at the same time we forfeit the respect and approval of these same officials, when after office hours they have reverted to private gentlemen.

Come on fellows, we've been slow starters but-let's go. The B. C. secretary will reintroduce us should this be necessary, and if his good offices are requested on our hehalf

I want to be on VBB, in the hungry Ops' paradise
An Angel's (?) voice I hear
I mean old Teddy dear
I'd give my soul if I could stroll
Up that winter trail again
For all the world would not be dreary then.
I wish that I could clear my hook,
To the tune of VBB, that's where I want

On the key at VBB.
So Georgie, Georgie, please hear my plea,
And make me what I want to be,
A wireless op just strolling back to my dear

Business has improved considerably. The members of the staff on leave have again punched in on the regular. We are happy to see our forces again increasing and the old members again answer the roll call. Everybody appears to be in the pink after the season's round of activities.

Montreal will soon open her gates to the world's ocean commerce. When another few weeks have passed the good ship Lady Grey will have rammed her last ice barrier and be sent on its journey to a watery grave.

This marks the advent of the ocean greyhounds that plod the scenic St. Lawrence during the navigation season, and brings joy to the heart of the "scooper" who feels his day for the O. T. harvest has again arrived.

Boomers thus far are wise and scarce. None have penetrated our area this year. Rambling is risky pastime during these times of guesswork.

Rebel Dodd of '19 fame was in town recently, the guest of Brother McCormick on Sunbrae Hill. "DD" was full of praises of his last tour through Canada and the Pacific states. We understand Doddie is applying for a Quebec license for his car, which means that "RA" is salting down a sine for him this summer. Brother Dodd is a former employee of CPR of this city and also of Canadian National.

All hockey meetings are not like the games with the express. So voted those who attended the sugar party of the CNT Hockey Club on Sunday, March 26th, at the peaceful little village of St. Clet. After 10 a. m. but little space was left on the main stem for the residents of the invaded hamlet. It was then that the taffy makers descended in a body on the sugar camp where a full course dinner was served.

Jazz stepping helped to shake down the fudge which proved too appetizing for those who couldn't resist taking an overdose. The party returned to Montreal filled with sweetness and delight at the winding up of the hockey season.

March has been very nice but Old Man Weather thought he would play one of his jokes on Montreal on April 1. A regular winter blizzard from the East blew all day, telegraph wires went down and were disorganized for a few days, in fact it was SOME "April Fool" which we will remember for a long time. We hope the Old Man will be more lenient for the rest of the month.

This unusual cold and snowy spell has not stopped "Little Cupid" from starting to do his work amongst the staff. Sister Dot French of the Printer staff has resigned. Her ideal is one of our Brothers of the Morse staff, Bro. H. Gorrell. To both we wish all the happiness and prosperity they may desire.

We hear "Cupid" has been throwing arrows right and left and if all the news that your correspondent has, is true, our printer staff has been hard-hit. We don't like to see you go Sisters—That "Matrimony" Union is certainly some drawing card.

What about the "Delinks?" Are we going to let them derive benefits and laugh at us much longer? What about giving them a little medicine of our own and show them their real colors? Let us wake up and not be the fish any longer.

With the opening of navigation, business will start anew and a very heavy season is anticipated; so let us not be down hearted and hope for the best.

Here is news from Old Quebec, by "Nicholas":

As "Batiste" said last month, spring is certainly in the air and I would add in the snow, for there is hardly any more left. With the exception of a few days this month it has been very nice.

April seems to bring an increase in the business which with the opening of navigation next month should bring a very high level. Ocean liners arrival and sailing lists are certainly crowded with names.

Bro. Poulin, who was in charge of the Parliament branch, has resumed his old position at "N" office now that the session is closed. Eddy says it's too bad that that Session did not last longer, it was fine business. Brothers A. Primeau and W. H. Turner who were helping him there have been transferred, the former to "RA" Montreal and the latter to "HU" Ottawa.

Sister Y. Giguere is relieving Sister E. Carbery at "CF" office, for the vacations, "Comment vous portez-vous "GY" enchantes de vous revoir."

Bro, McDermott went to Montreal on a short business trip. Some said he went to the "Sugar-Camp." Anyway Mac came back delighted with the result of his trip.

Quebec was honored by the visit of our Canadian Vice-President Bro. Paul Schnur, Sunday, April 2. He was accompanied by Brothers J. G. A. Decelles, member of the General Executive Board; Thomas Carrothers, General Chairman of the C. P. System Division No. 1, and E. J. Young, General Chairman of Canadian National System Division No. 43. Bro. Schnur presided at an enthusiastic meeting of all Quebec operators who decided to form a District Council for the welfare of the craft in the old city of Champlain. This is the best sign of co-operation among the various divisions in Canada and a sure sign of strength which will be the result of this co-operation among the membership. It is hoped that the other big centers will follow us in this lead and show to the world that the C. T. U. A. is a real organization doing business in a real business way and ready to accomplish its aims, the "PROMOTION OF THE BEST SOCIAL, ECONOMIC, AND FRATERNAL INTER-ESTS OF COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPH-ERS."

FIRE TELEGRAPH DISPATCHERS CHAPEL No. 1

C. T. U. A. District Council No. 16, N. Y.

In taking casual review of the efforts—and the defeats and disappointments—of the N. Y. F. D. dispatchers during the past several years it is amazing indeed that we have any appetite for any more knockdowns. We haven't, and we want no more knockdowns. The spirit of the men since the organization of Chapel No. 1 bespeaks that we have just begun to fight, and while there is a certain amount of humiliation in the knockdown, the glory is in getting on your feet again. At the present time we are on both feet.

Our big majority have come to realize that to accomplish something we must have strength behind us, and this is found in the present affiliation with our brothers of the C. T. U. A. To be exact, only three of our fellows are outside the fold. Why? I don't know. Do they know? Can't answer that either. Perhaps they hold a penny so close to their eyes that they wouldn't be able to see a $10 gold piece if held in front of them. Let's hope they're only wandering boys.

Apropos the story of a fellow in a tight place:

Man in forest when a terrible rain storm came up and no place of safety in sight. Seeing a hollow log he crawled into it and fitted snugly. But the rain swelled the wood so that he was caught fast and could not get out. He strained to free himself and finally gave up like a drowning man, and, of course, thoughts of his past life flew through his mind, one of the first being that he did not take out his Union card as he had promised and now it was too late; his wife and children the sufferers-he had not done his full duty toward them-he had shifted his personal burden to other faithful Terrible thought NOW! This members. made him feel so small that he was able to crawl out of the log without difficulty, but: Moral-There are other storms coming.

Success is only certain by co-ordinate team work. We have been preaching for years that our position is one of the most exacting in the Municipal service in point of responsibility and it is up to us to prove that we are the great classification we claim to be. We will prove—or disprove—it by the way we meet our obligations to our Chapel. United we must succeed, disorganized, well—"Nothing doing."

Dispatcher Brother W. H. Snyder, who has been in charge of maintenance Boroughs of Manhattan and Bronx, has had his responsibilities extended by being assigned also in charge of the maintenance of the new system for the Borough of Manhattan. His added duties now include the direction and supervision of the "throw-overs" into the new circuits and cutting out of the old system in the sections as they are being served with the new system cables terminating at the new Central Office in Central Park. first "throw-over" was accomplished without the flicker of an interruption-as, of course, it should be in fire telegraph work-and "Bill" did it. He's a busy man, I'll say, but take it from me, none of us has a "snap," especially these days of colossal fire alarm telegraph extension in these "burgs."

Manhattan Office (67th St.) was honored by a visit of our Fire Commissioner, Hon. Thomas J. Drennan, Saturday afternoon, April 1st. He was accompanied by Assistant Borough President of Brooklyn, David Germain and License Commissioner John Bracken. It is gratifying to relate that the Commissioner is very well versed in the operation of the Fire Alarm Central Offices and alive to the importance and responsibilities of dispatchers' work and he did not stint in expressing himself. It's a pleasure to be able to tell all the boys that he is a Union man all the way up—and some more, too.

The month of March, although carrying five pay days, was a hard one on the circuit, Ernie Cox and Bill Neeley each having a week's battle with the "flu," Penrod and Finnigan suffering early attacks of spring fever, while E. J. McBride gets pinched for speeding.

Bill Cooper, better known as a prominent citizen of Bulford, Ga., sat in at Anniston while Maddux treated the circuit to three weeks pretty sending. This boy Maddux made Cox and "Hip" Thomas look like pikers.

Penrod at "NV" hastened to explain he hadn't been in Birmingham after copying a Sobb story with 36 little Sobbs.

Neeley is gaining fame as a stock market prognosticator. Bill advises buying Mexican Petroleum and Pete took an immediate slump. Bill took another chance and slipped out a tip (confidential of course) to load up on German marks. Wish you'd concentrate on HCL Bill. Cox also took a flyer (or flivver) in the market. Ernest bought Lincoln Motors at $5 a share: Lincoln brings $1 now. The bank's not such a bad place for that extra dough after all, say we.

C. R. James, late of Athens (Georgia), relieved "Red" Finnigan at Mobile. Red is making them like it on the Birmingham News.

Bob Fine is introducing some "new stuff." That "old stuff" about it being too fast or rotten is too old for Fine, who has invented a "system" of his own.

Same old gang with the same old spirit and always ready to play the same old tune in the same old way.

While Brother "Mat" at Topeka keeps us informed on the old settlers dying off and moving away, Bro. Miller at Wichita with his "heavy gun" threatens yardmasters and dispatchers and the traffic is tied up and a feud is on which may lead to the yanking of the case into the Kansas industrial court—Let us hope it does not lead to that.

Oklahoma remains peaceful with Brother Schulze now and then telling us of the wild and woolly Tulsa, with Brother Caul at Enid, silent and serene. We have a Farmer-Labor Reconstruction League proposition in this state which may be worth looking into at next fall's election. They are the only ones so far that have espoused the cause of the proletaire and the farmer.

Down in Texas we have a wide awake bunch but they don't talk politics and what goes on behind the scenes (when "FX" cuts the wire) is a secret to the uninitiated. However, Mike and Ike look alike, they say (the two political hacks).

As it nears the time when we begin to think of getting our $8 per day minimum, activity in that direction is manifest and all hearts beat with the same stroke.

It takes all the joy out of life to work hard for our little stipends and have to pay it to the itching palm of the greedy landlord who is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and a leader in the open shop movement. He is so consistent (?).

How many of our dear friends who lead the open shop movement, enriched by capitalization of labor's toil, would like to sit in, if they could, on a fast press wire and handle the Mike and Ike propaganda to feed the hungry public with "news," with pains shooting from the liver to the shoulders and the sweat of blood trickling down their shaven chins, at six something per diem?

The Evening Public Ledger (Philadelphia), was put on a separate circuit during the past month, creating a job for another man. The place was filled by Brother Bernard Weisbein, formerly with the brokerage house of S. S. Ruskay and Co. This makes the number of card men who receive their salaries from the Central News, seven—not counting those paid by clients. Still 100 per cent up-to-date.

Brother Quinn, at Chicago, was relieved by Brother Meents, who returned from a trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

The Central News men welcome the Consolidated News Notes, though they all think Maynard wrote them.

The E. B. D. annual affair was a corker, especially the last hot-tamale dancer on the program.

Brother Phillips is holding the lines at Cleveland for Brother Haggerty, whereabouts unknown.

Judging from the "Local Notes" some towns have been asleep all winter, but here's hoping they awake in the spring like the trees.

W. B. D. OFFERS NEW PLAN OF ORGANIZATION

Setting Up of Three or More Broker Divisions or Districts in Western Territory Seen; Great Results Are Forecast.

Far-reaching plans for reorganization of the Western Broker Division, now having jurisdiction over thirty-four states, were drawn up and adopted at a special meeting of the Executive Board of that division on Saturday, May 13th, in Chicago.

The reorganization plans, which were unanimously endorsed by Chicago W. B. D. officials and approved by International officers, will immediately permit of:

- 1. The setting up of separate broker divisions in certain territories where telegraphers believe their interests may best be served.
- 2. The setting up of districts within the W. B. D., which will retain 25 per cent of the gross dues and initiations collected.

Present at the meeting were: John B. Alcorn, president, W. B. D.; R. H. McDaniel, first vice-president, W. B. D.; O. L. Newcomer, chairman of the executive board; George B. Miller, Royce W. Goodale, George W. Lawson, members W. B. D. Executive Board; C. E. Sandall, secretary-treasurer, W. B. D.; Roscoe H. Johnson, international president, and Frank B. Powers, international secretary-treasurer.

President Alcorn pointed out that the affairs of the Western Broker Division had developed to such a degree that the present form of organization—covering the enormous western territory—was inadequate and too cumbersome to properly function.

"The executive officers of this division," said President Alcorn, "sense the immediate necessity for broadening the work of organization among broker telegraphers west of the Alleghanies. As at present constituted, our division embraces a vast area, many sections of which it is impossible for us to handle properly from Chicago.

"For instance, we have known for some time that in the southwest alone there are over two hundred broker telegraphers who should be members of the C. T. U. A. The expense of organizing them from Chicago would involve a great deal of money. I believe that this work of organization may be accomplished if the Western Broker Division takes the same broad step in ceding territory to hard workers of the south and west as was taken two years ago by our hustling neighbors in the east—the Eastern Broker Division. At that time the New England states were included in the jurisdiction of the E. B. D. Believing that the New England territory could be more solidly organized through a separate organization to be known as the 'New England Broker Division,' the E. B. D. ceded that portion of its jurisdiction and requested that a separate charter be issued from international headquarters. The result of this action speaks volumes for the step taken. Organization work, directed from N. E. B. D. headquarters in Boston, has been stimulated to a point where at the present time a 'non' in the New England broker field is a rare specimen indeed.

"In offering a dual plan for the purpose of organizing broker telegraphers in the thirty-four states now included in this division's territory, I feel certain that the rank and file will welcome the opportunity to take hold in their various districts and not let up until every broker operator carries a C. T. U. A. pasteboard.

"We are broad enough to acknowledge the weak spots in our present form of organization in the broker field. If a group of men located in, let us say the Southwest or Michigan, desire an autonomous DIVISION of their own, or a DISTRICT arrangement, which will give them almost complete control of their own affairs, and WILL WORK FAITHFULLY TO ORGANIZE THAT FIELD, I shall recommend that the Western Broker Division cede such territory or set up a district. The same recommendation will be forthcoming in other districts which promise to bring about better results from an organization standpoint.

"I am frank to admit," continued Bro. Alcorn, "that I am most heartily in favor of the DISTRICT arrangement in preference to the DIVISION arrangement. While it is true our territory is vast, not all states in our territory harbor broker telegraphers. The bulk of broker telegraphers are situated within a radius of 500 miles from Chicago. The chief objection to our present system of organization has always been that the membership in the larger cities outside of Chicago protest to sending ALL their dues and initiations to Chicago and at the same time be held responsible for organization work, although no funds are provided for that purpose. The sub-unit officers also sense the handicap of limited authority in handling affairs particular to their own section of the country. Under the district plan, these

FUNERAL BENEFIT PLAN POLLING BIG VOTE

Keen Interest in C. T. U. A. Affairs Shown by Membership; Still Many Hundreds
To Be Heard From. June 30th "Dead Line" on Voting.

The Funeral Benefit plan submitted to C. T. U. A. membership in last month's Journal for acceptance or rejection by referendum vote has created much favorable comment.

During these times when everything seems to be "going out," the C. T. U. A. has struck a responsive chord by reversing that condition.

While the vote received up to this writing plainly indicates a deep interest in affairs of our organization, there are still many hundreds yet to be heard from.

Are you one of them? If so make use of the referendum ballot today. You owe it to your family, your dependents and to your friends. A two-cent stamp is all that is required to record your vote.

LOCAL SECRETARIES SHOULD TAKE UP THE FUNERAL BENEFIT PROPOSITION AT THE NEXT MEETING. SEE TO IT THAT YOUR MEMBERSHIP VOTES.

Fifty, seventy-five or one hundred dollars looks big in time of stress. How many times have you been asked to contribute to flower, burial and like funds during the past few years? If inaugurated, the Funeral Benefit Department of the C. T. U. A. will do away with necessity for such voluntary funds. Every member in good standing will be independent of voluntary and often charitable contributions.

Your pride should force you to vote for a plan, which, if ratified, will carry no assessments or other payments and yet will relieve your friends from "digging down" every few weeks to help defray expenses that can be provided for by your own organization.

Make inauguration of the Funeral Benefit Department unanimous. Vote today.

W. U. EMPLOYES UP IN ARMS AGAINST A. W. E.

C. T. U. A. Appealed to for Aid in Breaking Chains Welded by Fake Union.

Telegraph employes of the Western Union Telegraph company are realizing today after nearly three years that they have been the innocent victims of a fake union—the Association of Western Union Employes.

A flood of complaints has been received from Western Union employes during the past few weeks, appealing for aid in extricating themselves from the conditions brought about by the A. W. E.

After three years of experience with the A. W. E., telegraph employes of the Western Union find their wages reduced to levels in existence in 1914.

Morse operators have been reduced from $157 to $110.

Printer operators are being hired for $12 and $13. Minimum wage laws alone prevent lower wages than that.

Up to this time the A. W. E. has been entrusted to look out for the interests of the employes. The confidence has been misplaced.

The interests of the Western Union Telegraph company have been carefully looked out for—not those of the employes.

The Western Union Telegraph company in 1921 made $10,196,029. After all charges and dividends (and there are a-plenty) a surplus remained of $2,378,482.

The reduction "negotiated" and accepted a year ago by the A. W. E. was no more justified than was the reduction of unskilled steel laborers to 30 cents an hour by Gary.

However, the Western Union Telegraph company made a profit of over $10,000,000. What profit did Hayes and Hayes make?

No wonder a storm of protest is reaching these headquarters.

The capacity for punishment of a telegrapher has been shown to be great, but the limit has been reached.

In answer to those calling on the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America for aid, we extend the brotherly hand of fraternity. The C. T. U. A. is ready now, as it always has been, to lead commercial telegraph employes to better conditions.

larger cities would not only embrace territory in addition to their own respective city, but would retain 25% of the gross dues and initiations collected in their district treasury. The district officers would deal in all cases directly with their members in matters of grievances, employment, collection of dues, etc., in accordance with the constitution of the C. T. U. A. and the By-laws of the Western Broker Division. In this connection, I might add that we propose that a new set of By-laws be immediately drafted by a committee composed of a representative from each district, therefore the By-laws would be representative of the wishes of ALL. The district chairmen would also automatically become members of the General Executive Board and would have all matters passed on by that body submitted to them for vote. In other words the district plan offers a strictly democratic form of organization and has the added and important advantage of conserving combined strength for constructive and mass action.

"While I have stated my ideas in probably a biased manner for the district plan, I want it distinctly understood that broker telegraphers in the logical centers are given their choice of either a separate charter or the district plan."

In placing their stamp of approval upon the plan of reorganization submitted, members of the Western Broker Division Executive Board were unanimous in expressing belief that a solution was at hand which shortly would bring into the C. T. U. A. every telegrapher engaged in the brokerage field.

O. L. Newcomer, chairman, said: "This body today has taken a most forward and constructive step. There are literally hundreds of broker telegraphers who have remained cardless simply due to the fact that our Western Broker Division has covered too much territory. We have been unable to reach into the smaller nooks with our organizers and literature.

"I am convinced that workers in such pivotal telegraph centers as Kansas City, St. Louis, Cleveland, New Orleans, Detroit, etc., will soon have their fields thoroughly and effectively organized if given separate General Assembly charters and complete autonomy over their own affairs. I am heartily in favor of such a plan and it certainly is an inspiration to act as chairman of an Executive Board which views this subject so unselfishly and with such a keen sense of perspective."

The "Relay" section of this issue of the Journal carries the resolution adopted by the Executive Board of the Western Broker Division. Broker men the country over should read this document carefully. Petitions for charters should contain names of at least fifteen bonafide broker telegraphers in compliance with Article XXV of the Constitution.

To the International Typographical Union belongs great credit for its victory in estabwictory in a national 44-hour week among job printers without suffering a wage cut. The I. T. U. has paid out in strike benefits something like $8,000,000—a wonderful test of its splendid organized strength.

The news of the typos' success ought to sound good to commercial telegraphers who, likewise, would welcome the 44-hour week without a reduction in pay.

How did the printers do it? The answer is summed up in a few words. A ten per cent levy on all weekly earnings of every printer connected with that organization, both in job and newspaper work. If the weekly income of the printer was sixty dollars, ten per cent, or six dollars, went to the I. T. U. Strike Fund. This did not include regular dues.

Keep this in mind as you vision the victory of the printers: their strike assessment became effective over a year ago, and is still in force, having but recently been reduced to five per cent.

When the Strike Fund was inaugurated did the International Typographical Union hit the rocks? Did calamity howlers succeed in establishing an O. B. U. "savior?" Was there a grand exodus from the organization? Not on your tintype.

Why did the Employers' Union show signs of surrender shortly after rushing into the fight yelling "American Plan," "open shop for us," etc. Here is the answer:

A breastworks of $8,000,000 stood there as the great barrier to the open shop drive. Behind this shield stood a solid army of well disciplined men ready to sacrifice their all to win. To be sure, a few traitors, spies and would be union busters were active, but their work was insignificant. The union won out all along the line. Of 800 locals originally on strike, less than 200 are now out. Of a total of 75,000 members receiving strike benefits, less than 8,000 are on the strike payrolls now, with promising indications that this number will be reduced very rapidly.

What was the secret of this victory? First, a strong war chest and then grit, sacrifice and loyalty to the union of their craft.

The great achievement of the Typos stands as a monumental credit to the workers engaged in the printing industry.

The plan for a Funeral Benefit Department should receive immediate approval and endorsement at the hands of every C. T. U. A. member. If ratified by referendum vote which is now in progress, a paid-up death benefit policy will automatically be placed in the jeans of every C. T. U. A. card holder. No additional cost attaches to the plan, nor is there red tape to be unraveled.

Of course there are members who will not vote on this plan. They are the same who find little of interest in anything except it be a plan for disruption or dissension. Those who give credit where credit is due will see in the Funeral Benefit Department another constructive step in material protection of our membership.

Turn now to page 131, clip out the referendum ballot and vote.

Reactionary politicians have already turned to radio telephony as a means to spread their propaganda at Uncle Sam's expense. Some of our Senators are "het up" over the fact that Senator New, of Indiana, broad-casted a speech to his constituents, using government stations and wave lengths denied to amateurs. The Democrats, as well as the friends of Ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge, New's opponent, have strenuously objected to the partisan use of the government radio system.

However, the rapid growth of radio telephony means that the system will be used for political purposes. With it one man can talk to millions, but the advantages are with the millions, for they can listen or not as they please. A turn of the wrist and, presto! the tuning coil switches us from professional bunk-shooting to the sweet efforts of some school boy out in Podunk jamming the air with his newly found toy.

It's a gay life these days for real radio telegraphers who must transmit commercial messages through the ether.

Enemies of organized labor are constantly writing and talking about the staggering cost of the two constantly writing and talking about the staggering sums "wrung" from the workers by the American Federation of Labor. Men who call themselves statesmen have solemnly declared in the House and Senate that Samuel Compers has millions at his disposal which he expends in political as well as in industrial struggles.

We think it was that ever-babbling successor to Ananias, Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, who told a gathering of business men that there were 150,000 men and women on "Gomper's pay roll."

One is reminded of all this by the announcement that the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor is meeting for the purpose of formulating its report to the annual convention which meets in Cincinnati in June. That report will show that the American Federation of Labor costs each affiliated worker just one cent per month, or twelve cents a year. Out of that fund the Federation meets expenses incident to its many activities.

We question if any other institution in the country can show such results for such a modest charge per member.

"An army marches on its belly." Which is also true of our own little army of telegraph workers. Slip a monkey wrench into the machinery of the commissary department—the department charged with the provision of food and daily necessities—and that quick the whole outfit comes to a dead halt.

What the commissariat is for an army, funds are for an organization. No advance is possible if the organization cannot depend fully upon the regular and prompt payment of dues and assessments by the membership.

One of our divisions recently levied an assessment in order to carry on its work. A certain little group of members, no doubt inspired by insidious influences from the outside, decided not to pay the assessment.

A little negligence and remaining in arrears may appear as a trifle to the individual member or a small group of members. But the simple fact remains that such withdrawal of financial support from your division must necessarily undermine not only the commissary department but also the morale of committeemen as well.

The well organized employers are making incessant attacks upon the standards of the workers. Each division therefore must now, more than ever before, keep its ranks well organized and well disciplined. To be in good standing is the first duty of every member.

Paul F. Schnur Vice President for Canada

Have you sent in your ballot on the Funeral Benefit proposal?

This department, which will be operated on international per capita funds, adds but another milestone to the progressive march of the telegraph workers. The Insurance Committee is to be commended for its very able work on this highly important matter.

All things necessarily begin in a small way. A funeral benefit of one hundred dollars now is a beginning that should terminate in a larger sum at a succeeding convention.

A number of telegraphers have asked this writer why it is the telegraph workers cannot have a Telegraphers' Home patterned after the justly famed Printers' Home. Our answer was that telegraphers, too, can have a home or anything else they want if they are willing to pay for it. The membership of the International Typographical Union is perfectly willing to invest fifty dollars per annum in their organization, which makes possible all the good things this investment brings back to them.

The C. T. U. A. is no stronger, no more progressive than its membership. As its membership becomes wilking to assume a fuller share of individual responsibility in the working class movement so will the forward movement of the telegraph workers become more perceptible.

Our one big duty at the present time is to educate the membership to interest themselves in their own behalf. The lukewarm attitude of a large percentage of the members towards their organization will be reflected in the lukewarm benefits that will be derived from the organization.

The time has come when lukewarmness must be eliminated from our ranks.

THE MEMBER WHO PAYS HIS DUES AND CONSIDERS HIS OBLIGATION TO THE MOVEMENT DISCHARGED IS A MENACE TO ANY TRADES UNION!

The paying of dues is, of course, important, but only an incident to the real work that must follow. It is the imperative duty of every member of a trades union to attend meetings. There is where individual thought and expression merges into constructive and collective action.

Strict attention to one's own business is commendable, but the trade unionist should beware of carrying the rule so far as to refuse the attention he owes to the business of his fellow workers.

By establishing an adequate minimum wage the trade union lays a foundation from which all wages rise. Without that bedrock all wages must inevitably sink.

The application of this principle to the telegraph industry is one of major importance. Our minimum wage is inadequate and must be increased.

The minimum wage of telegraphers, both Morse and Automatic, must be raised to $125.00 per month. Concentration on this one objective will give us all the work we can do for the next few months.

Establishing an adequate minimum is the elementary work of all trade unions. We are organized for protection and the hand of protection must first of all be extended to the workers earning the least money. The wages of the higher skilled workers will take care of themselves once an adequate minimum is secured.

Using the C. P. R. minimum of $110.00 for a descriptive basis this writer wishes to draw attention to the fact that these minimum wage workers are being paid today only $67.10 per month in actual buying power wages. These figures have been secured from the government labor department and are therefore authentic.

. The top rating of $163.75 means only $99.89 in actual buying power.

The above figures are computed from the present worth of the Canadian dollar, which is 61 cents.

Don't let anyone tell you that telegraph workers are being paid enough to live on.

Go to your meetings and discuss this vital subject!

CAPPER BILL INVALID

Board of Trade Assumes Former Status; Secretary of Agriculture Retains Investigatorial Power.

The Board of Trade and other grain exchanges throughout the United States won a signal victory on May 15th when the Supreme Court of the United States held the most vital section of the Capper bill unenforceable.

Other sections of the bill, which never were objectionable to the exchanges, were held valid.

Section 4, which was held invalid, proposed a prohibitory tax of 20 per cent on future trading.

A tax of 2 cents a bushel upon bids and offers was held constitutional, but little concern is felt over this, as the traders had voluntarily abandoned this sort of trading last fall.

While the Secretary of Agriculture retains the power to investigate grain exchanges, it will not be necessary for any exchange to apply to him for permission to be classed as a "contract market." Exchanges will be required to submit statistical and other information, except confidential trade matters, to investigators for the Secretary of Agriculture and the publishing of these reports for public consumption is authorized.

Another significant victory for the Board of Trade was the sustaining of the injunction restraining co-operative concerns from coming into the exchanges. This restraining price was applied for by John Hill, Jr., of Cnicago, and several other members of the Board of Trade. It originally came up before Judge Landis, and was finally argued before the Supreme Court last fall. They contended that the section of the Capper bill forcing the exchanges to admit co-operative organizations to membership was confiscatory.

WHISTLE THAT STARTED THE 1868 STRIKE

The engraving herewith presented is an innocent-looking whistle. It, however, has great historical value, for the reason that it inaugurated the great 1882 telegraph strike when it was blown at noon July 19th, by Frank R. Phillips, an operator in the main office of the Western Union Telegraph Company at 195 Broadway, New York. The telegraph force throughout the country for many days previous had been expecting the signal to strike. Mr. Phillips arose at his desk at precisely noon on the day mentioned, opened his key and blew the whistle. Most every operator on the force at the time signaled over the wires that the strike was on, and immediately filed out of the office. whistle was given to John Mitchell, who headed the strikers, and it remained the property of Mr. Mitchell until he died in 1908. Mrs. M. S. Mitchell presented the whistle to the publisher of Telegraph and Telephone Age.

The whistle is of the bulldog type and bears a gold plate on which is inscribed the following:

"Blown by Frank R. Phillips, July 19th, 1883, at 12 M. Washington time, at 195 Broadway, New York."

Mr. Phillips has been a resident of Canada since 1882, and is now living at Kingston, Ontario.

In our issue dated July 19th, 1883, which was a special number, we printed the following: "At precisely 12:00 o'clock noon a whistle in the main office of the Western Union Telegraph Company announced a suspension of business. The notice was telegraphed throughout the entire country, and everywhere the operators quietly left their desks. Chicago reported a suspension of business minutes ahead of New York. At the different cable stations the men also promptly responded. As the lady operators left the main building they were vociferously cheered by citizens who congregated around the adjacent streets to 195 Broadway.

"As the operators passed through the main entrance they presented a fine appearance, a more intelligent body of men and women being seldom seen. The Baltimore and Ohio and American Rapid operators also left their places. There were only about a dozen persons left in the main office of the Western Union Telegraph Company when the strike was inaugurated, and they consisted mostly of chief operators.

"In the American Rapid office every operator left his post, leaving the office without a single person except the general super-intendent."—Telegraph and Telephone Age

DON'T SIDE STEP

Don't try to sidestep or evade an honest duty—paying your dues.

You can no more get away with it than did the colored grocer who wanted to avoid a positive guarantee.

A colored woman stopped in front of his store and asked:

"Is dese aigs fresh?"

He answered: "I ain't sayin' dey ain't."

The woman snapped: "I ain't axin' you is dey ain't. I'se axin' you is dey is. Is dey?"

CONFIDENCE

We must have confidence in our organizations. If we did not have it once upon a time we would not have joined. We can just as well continue that original belief in it.

"I have not a bit of faith in the organization," once declared a member.

He reminded one of the fussy old lady who thought she was ill and called for a doctor.

"Doctor," she said, "I have sent for you, but I have not a bit of faith in you or your profession."

"Oh, that makes no difference," said the doctor. "A mule has no faith in a veterinarian, but the veterinarian cures him just the same,"

CUBAN TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE

A strike of Cuban government telegraphers was inaugurated early in April last, continuing until the last week of the same month.

The decision on the part of the men to go out on strike was taken after every effort had been made to bring about a readjustment of salaries, their only cause of complaint.

Government telegraphers' salaries range from $58 to $87 per month, according to ability, salaries entirely inadequate to meet the high cost of living.

Considering that rents are higher than foodstuffs, it is easy to conceive many telegraphers are compelled to herd together under one roof, both single and married men, in some instances pooling their finances and living "en famille," in order to exist.

At the time of the calling of the strike approximately 700 men responded to the call, the lines, throughout the island, extending to six provinces, being out of commission and all telegrams being handled via the "mail route."

The government officials made every effort to break the strike, even going to the extent of intimidation of those on strike, claiming the telegraphers, as government employes, to be under the regulations of the military, therefore practically categorized as "deserters" for having left their keys. In many instances these intimidations were successful and men returned to work.

With the calling off of the strike the last of April approximately 100 men were declared "cesantes" (without work), but it is to be noted that some of these men have already secured better paying positions.

The complaint on the part of the telegraphers that they are paid an inadequate salary for the skill and technical knowledge required is well founded. In this country before a telegrapher can qualify for the government service he must possess the equivalent of a high school education, be well grounded in elementary electricity, and possess a mechanical knowledge of the apparatus in use. For all of which he may, in event of an appointment, earn almost as much as the janitors who care for the rooms wherein he works.

Cuba is and has been in the throes of a financial crisis for the past two years. Many of the governmental departments have not produced enough revenue to provide for the payment of salaries of employes, but it is an unfortunate commentary that "Communicaciones" or the Posts and Telegraphs department is perhaps the one governmental department which is proving profitable, yet the employes are treated with less consideration than any others in government service.

During the strike a prominent Cuban lawyer, Senor Pedro Herrero Sotolongo, rendered every assistance to the telegraphers and at least prevented abuses on the part of the officials. A letter addressed by Senor Sotolongo to the union leaders is more expressive of the situation than would be pages of description:

"I have taken all steps necessary to the re-establishment of normal telegraph service. • • • In spite of my interest, I have been convinced that the executive power is interested in maintaining ABNORMAL conditions to the grave prejudice of the public • ٠ As the authorities interests. charged with a solution of the strike show no interest in the matter, I recognize my work as having amounted to NIL, in presenting your noble cause before a group of insincere officials. If I can serve you further, I am unconditionally at your command."

The strike has accomplished good results! Many officials, among these the Director of Telegraphs, have been removed from office and the president promises to take measures looking toward correction of the salary injustice as practiced against telegraph employes.

THE COMPANY "UNION"

By Thomas H. West.

The company formed a "union"
And they met without delay,
And these simpletons concluded
They were getting too much pay.
So they voted a reduction
And the company O. K.'d
Every act of self-destruction
That these silly numskulls made.

They scoffed about eight hours
And declared they wanted ten;
The firm then told how proud they were
To have such loyal men.
Then they passed a resolution,
With a vigorous hooray,
That to please the company they'd live
On just one meal a day.

THREE MILLION DOLLARS ON DUMMY LOAN

Washington, D. C.—In open Senate, where newspapermen constantly are on watch, Senator Thomas Heflin made the sensational charge that a debtor bank in the federal reserve system made a dummy loan of $3,000,000 to a director of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, and that the total loans to this man amounted to $5,000,000.

Not a word was printed about this astounding charge. A decade ago such a charge would have made the press ring with headlines.

Twenty-two years ago the press exposed the fact that the State Trust Company of New York had made a much smaller dummy loan in the name of an office boy. Following exposure of the scandal the State Trust Company was liquidated.

Though Senator Heslin made his amazing charge in open Senate, not a word has been published.

In his statement in the Senate, Heffin named a man of great prominence, banker, politician, magnate, guiding star in the councils of his party, treasurer of the Republican campaign committee.

Said Senator Heffin:

"It looks as if this director, who was accumulating $5,000,000, and who was the treasurer of the Republican campaign committee, thought that his position was a private snap, not a public trust, at that time."

Continuing his arraignment and while alluding to a statement made by the governor of the Federal Reserve Board, Senator Heffin made the flat charge which once would have shaken the country, but which now passes in silence. Here are Senator Heffin's words:

"That was before he journeyed, not to Jericho, but to Marion, Ohio, in the fail of 1920, and that was before William Boyce Thompson, the treasurer of the Republican campaign committee, borrowed partly under a dummy note $5,000,000 through a member of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York."

Senator Heffin poured his startling charges into an abyss of silence so far as the press was concerned. Was it fear, fortune or favor that caused the silence?

No mere suppression of unimportant gossip here! Absolute silence about a direct charge of the gravest character involving a man of national reputation, then a director of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, treasurer of the Republican campaign committee, prominent figure in many enterprises, former representative of the Red Cross in Russia with Raymond Robins, apologist for Bolshevism, and millionaire in his own right!

GENERAL LABOR NEWS

A Bill, said to be designed to protect New England manufacturers and enable them to compete with southern competition, has been introduced into the Senate by Senator Moses of New Hampshire. The Bill limits to eight hours the labor service in any mine, quarry, mill, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment situated in the United States, and engaged in the production of wares which enter into interstate commerce.

With the annual convention of the A. F. of L., but a month distant, all indications seem to point to the re-election of President Gompers. No campaign for any other candidate has shown itself and President Gompers is apparently slated for his 41st term as head of organized labor.

Deputy Sheriffs, acting for the Pawtuxet Vailey mill owners, began serving ejection notices on families of strikers who occupy company houses. Tenseness throughout the district due to the approach of May was increased when news came of the action. National guardsmen on duty in the valley who have been ordered demobolized today remained on guard without prospects of relief.

Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, speaking last night to a crowd in Madison Square Garden, at a mass meeting called by the New York Branch of the Association, against the Prohibition Amendment, declared that labor must make the fight now and we will never stop fighting until the rights of the people have been restored them.

A pronounced increased activity was noted in many basic lines of industry throughout the country during April, according to the monthly review of general business and financial conditions issued yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board. The activity was particularly noticable in the metal industries.

The cost of living is again on the increase, reports of the Department of Labor show. Twenty-one of thirty principal cities reporting so far, show an increase ranging up to 2% and a decrease of 1% for March.

A general return to normal in industrial conditions is forecast generally in reports on unemployment gathered by the Associated Press from government officials, employers and labor leaders in all sections of the country. "Today we can say industrial conditions of the country are rested on a solid foundation," declared Secretary of Labor Davis.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, has issued a statement declaring that the recognition by the United States of the "Bolshevist tyranny" in Russia, would be a needless and base betrayal of civilization. Mr. Gompers further declared that American public life is being flooded with propaganda and that "predatory international finance has its appetite up and believes it sees loot in Russia."

The number of miners involved in strike in Pensylvania is estimated at 289,698, according to officers of the state department of labor and industry.

Newspaper publishers in Oakland and the typographical union have accepted the terms of agreement between San Francisco publishers and the typographical union of that city.

Railways Department of the A. F. of L. rejected the one big union idea.

DAUGHERTY AND DISLOYALTY

A veteran of three wars has been discharged for disloyalty. His "disloyalty" consisted in furnishing facts to ex-service men who are representatives of the people in Congress.

Major W. O. Watts, as special investigator for the Department of Justice, charged that the government had been looted of millions of dollars during wartime. For being disloyal to the looters he was summarily fired. His loyalty to country was not permitted for an instant to stand to his credit.

Loyalty to looters evidently counts for more with Attorney General Daugherty in his Department of Justice.

Replying to this member of the Cabinet's arbitrary order of dismissal, Major Watts said: "A combination of government officials and other common crooks have been assaulting and raiding the public treasury on a scale so gigantic as to be almost unbelievable. . . . Tens of thousands of people have sojourned in Washington long enough to know that the country is being strangled by an invisible government and a fight for righteous government has at last been forced into the open."

The public, together with organized labor, will be glad to join in the fight to bring out the facts. The people would like to know what became of all the money that was contributed for the war. Attorney General Daugherty will have to do some vigorous prosecuting of the war profiteers before the people will believe that he is as faithful as the discharged ex-soldier whom he stigmatizes as disloyal.

The San Francisco meeting, at which the initial steps were taken to obtain an adequate wage scale at the expiration of the present contract, was an unqualified success. both from the standpoint of attendance and enthusiasm displayed by the members. That meeting was followed by gatherings in Los Angeles, Portland, and Seattle. Men came hundreds of miles from outlying towns to get into the meetings.

It is planned to hold other gatherings from time to time and keep the old spirit going. The advantage of personal contact in gatherings of this sort cannot be overestimated. We plan to have the broker men with us next time and not confine our meetings to the press men alone. Plans to have a leased wire clearing house in San Francisco and other Pacific Coast cities have received wide endorsement and it is believed soon will be in operation.

Business in the telegraph game is booming out this way. New wires are opening up everywhere and it looks like one of the greatest years in the history of the dot and dash. There is not one press or broker man out of work and it is with great difficulty that one can find a "sub" when relief is necessary. Yet we are working cheaper than any other class of skilled labor. What's the rea-Apathy-the plague of the telegraph operator; failure to value his services at what they are worth.

SIXTY DOLLARS A WEEK is what we are after out here and we will be satisfied with nothing else. We are not going to be content with a "living wage." That doesn't mean anything but a bare existence, and is "stone-age stuff."

Sentiment out here is for a wage scale that will permit us to set something aside for the "rainy day" when we are no longer able to stand the strain of performing the most difficult work in a newspaper plantbarring no trade or profession. We don't want to be objects of charity after we have worn our bodies out at the most exacting and nerve-wracking work that goes to make up a newspaper. A scale of $60 a week is none too big.

Think it over and reason it out! Aren't you fearfully underpaid compared with the other talent in the newspaper plant where you are "doing your stuff"? We don't want to "rob" our employers; they know that we are worth $60 a week, and will give it to us if we only stand firm. When we win the $60 scale, we will win their respect. #### OHIOANS OUT FOR $60 MINIMUM

By Art. Rickes Graham

Meeting at the New Southern Hotel, Columbus, Ohio, Sunday, April 23, nineteen representative telegraphers from the United Press, International News Service, Universal Service and similar organizations, voted 15 to 3 to end their present hand-to-mouth style of existence and join the general movement for a living wage to be paid to Morse and printer press telegraphers. The three dissenting votes were cast for a somewhat smaller increase than that demanded by the majority.

Every angle of the existing situation was thoroughly canvassed by speakers, the principal orators being D. K. Stevenson and C. J. McTiernan, veteran United Press men; W. C. Estabrook, Universal Service, and A. R. Graham, International News Service.

Speakers developed these facts:

Telegraphers in the press game are not, and never have, enjoyed the wage to which they are, by reason of superior skill and education, normally entitled. In demonstration, comparative wage scales of other crafts were cited and family budgets quoted from.

Business generally is getting better; in the big industrial centers unemployment is disappearing and normal production being resumed. The daily newspaper business is entering upon a new era of prosperity, attaining wider circulation, increased revenue from advertising and a more important place in the business world of America.

Cost of living is again advancing. Practically every man present who rents a home reported receiving notice that rents will advance this spring—advances ranging from $5 to $20 a month. Clothing and food, despite drops in cost of certain "luxury items"—which telegraphers do not use—are advancing in price. Telegraphers who have no outside source of revenue or overtime, are beginning to feel the pinch uncomfortably.

What about the Associated Press? Will it meet the scale increase? This question came from the floor several times.

The answer was that the A. P. is under obligations to pay its men the same scale paid by other press associations in the same territory; that the A. P. will either meet any wage increase that may be established, or lose its best men. Deploring the fact that the A. P. is not sufficiently organized to permit of their sending a committee to New York with those of the other associations, speakers declared this situation should be a lesson to both A. P. and unionized telegraphers. The A. P. must be organized and scheduled, both for the benefit of unionized and A. P. telegraphers and in the interest of A. P. and unionized associations as well. The scale, it was pointed out, must be and will be standardized in order that all news associations may be placed on an equal footing in quoting rates to publishers. It was the sentiment generally that should the A. P. fail to meet such wage increase as may be obtained, steps should be taken to aid the A. P. men in securing such increases.

Difficulties of the news associations were brought out. Competition between independent organizations is keen, it was shown. In line with long-established policy, the telegraphers recognised it as their duty to aid the unionized associations in every way possible. The most highly skilled telegraphers, preferring employment under union conditions, must remain in the service and improve it. rather than leave because of low wages and objectionable features of service, leaving the service at the mercy of inexperienced men. Hearty co-operation between news associations and telegraphers in betterment of service to publishers was stressed. Improved service makes for more clients for unionized associations and more jobs for union telegraphers. Bad service by the A. P., both in news and telegraph branches, are tending to draw publishers to the unionized and bettermanned associations. In the interest of the whole industry, the press telegraphers must be solidly organized and employed under union conditions; wage scales and working conditions standardized; efficiency promoted. The heavy cost entailed by constant "labor turnover," due to low wages, must be, in the interest of both telegrapher and association, eliminated. The industry must be stabilized.

Discrimination Against Leaders

Friction between press divisions and associations, caused by alleged discrimination against certain active union leaders, was discussed in executive session. The sense of meeting being that the union give no support to telegraphers clearly shown to be guilty of flagrant offenses, but charges must be proved before unbiased boards-no picking off of union leaders and requiring them to prove innocence; the burden of proof, under common law and American ideals being placed upon the accuser. Conference members keenly deplored increasing number of such points of friction, complete ignorance as to the underlying motive back of such cases being generally expressed.

Extreme shortage of experienced press telegraphers prevented a larger attendance, the majority of "Saturday night" men being unable to procure acceptable substitutes. This shortage, it was claimed, is due to low wages paid by press associations; unattractive features of the work, such as inability to get off in case of illness; abolition of the seniority bidding privilege, making advancement to preferred positions difficult; resentment at treatment of certain union leaders in the service; rumors that wages are to be cut, or that "open shop" conditions may be inaugurated; cutting off of "source of supply" by installation of automatic machines by the commercial companies.

Dosens of vacancies exist for competent men and cannot be filled; inexperienced men being employed, causing slowing up of service, were general reports. Competent men, securing employment in other lines at better pay, refuse to return to press work unless at better pay and conditions.

Necessity for instructing committees in detail, by majority decision, and then standing back of them as a unit was urged. Once membership reaches decision by majority vote, all members, even those dissenting, are morally and legally bound. With committee in New York, membership must stand firmly and undividedly back of it; no attempts by radicals to stampede with rash actions and advice, and no yellow flag display by weaklings to be tolerated. Reflection of Americanism and democratic institutions: Speak out with all your might during campaigns and then abide by result when decision is made by the majority. Do your own thinking; rank and file must close ears to both "reds" and "yellows" and reach its own common-sense decisions. No shirking of responsibilities upon the shoulders of drafted committee members: rank and file lose or benefit by whatever decisions made and actions taken; rank and file must think and give clear expression to wishes. Committees desire to execute will of membership, not their own. That will must be expressed to committees and through them to management, and in no other way. Membership must look upon committee members and other officers as "attorneys"—not as "leaders." Membership must issue orders-not merely follow.

In explaining their votes against the $60 minimum, the three dissenters believed committees should be given "irreducible minimum" demands to place before management to "take or leave." Others, however, expressed conviction whole matter would go to arbitration anyway and that members should state their case honestly and fully: demanding not simply what they expect to get without argument but the value they actually place upon their services.

Hold Meetings Annually

With adoption of scale and contract resolution, conference voted to hold similar meetings annually. Arrangements for holding of next year's meeting, to include banquet, dance and addresses, placed upon Alvin Wolford, Columbus bureau, I. N. S. At next year's meeting, all telegraphers, wives and sweethearts in middle west to be in attendance from all news associations. Notice to be given sufficiently in advance to get out full membership.

Those attending the conference included:
C. J. McTiernan, Eastern Committeeman,
U. P., Little Falls, N. Y.; D. K. Stevenson,
"Commercial," Cleveland, O.; W. J. Hill,
U. P., Columbus; Richard Turner, U. P.,

Following resolution was adopted:

Resolution adopted by representative telegraphers of the various press associations, Ohio circuits, in conference at New Southern Hotel, Columbus, Ohio, April 22rd, 1922:

"Whereas, Morse and Automatic Telegraphers serving news associations are receiving wages shown to be below the minimum required to maintain themselves and families in reasonable comfort and security, and,

Whereas, The existing minimum scale is far below that of skilled workers of other crafts, and,

Whereas, It is our belief that our craft calls for as high, if not higher degree of skill and intelligence than other better-paid professions call for, and,

Whereas, It is our firm contention that telegraphers' wages should be sufficient to provide for the necessities, reasonable comports, sickness contingencies, old age security and other benefits accruing to those who follow other callings; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this conference, participated in by representative telegraphers from various press associations in this territory that the committee representing the various press divisions of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, be instructed to present as a tentative basis of negotiations with the management for new wage scale and working agreement, the following:

1—A minimum scale for Morse day telegraphers, of $80 per week of $5 hours, with proportionate increases for printer-telegraphers, night work and bureau operators.

2—Time and one-half for overtime.

3—Observance of the following days as holidays, time and one-half to be paid for work performed on such days, in addition to the regular scale: New Year's Day, Lincoln's Birthday; Washington's Birthday; Memorial Day; Fourth of July; Labor Day; Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas.

#—Sixty days' notice or its equivalent in pay to be given on installation of automatic printers in any office.

5—Bidding privilege to be reinstated in our contracts.

RELAY MEN WANT $60 MINIMUM

Relay press operators have let it be known in no uncertain manner that they are behind the movement for more money this year.

Press operators from every press concern in Chicago gathered at a meeting in Western Broker Division headquarters, Sunday, April 30, to meet with and advise their committeemen.

General Chairman Charles E. Shea of the United Press committee; Robert F. Wise of the International News Service committee and Moulton B. Norton of the Universal Service committee were present and addressed the meeting.

A resolution calling for a relay minimum of $60 was adopted.

Among out-of-town members present were Robert M. Pollock, I. N. S., Fort Wayne, Ind., and Frank Raydl of Appleton, Wis.

International President Roscoe H. Johnson and International Secretary-Treasurer Frank B. Powers made use of the opportunity to greet friends and give the benefit of their advice.

Bro. Hagerty ably presented the grievances of men working the new Hearst financial wires.

The meeting was opened by Bro. Wise with a brief outline of what press operators in other cities have been doing. He urged all those present to make their committemen acquainted with their desires, and how much support they would give their committeemen.

Bro. Shea made the principal address of the meeting, outlining the problems to be solved, explaining technical questions concerning the present contract and pointing out ways and means by which the members can assist the committees.

Following is the resolution adopted:

RESOLVED, that the relay men of these combined press associations—the International News Service, United Press and Universal Services—hereby declare for a day relay minimum of SIXTY DOLLARS ($60) and hereby authorize their respective committees to present same demand to the managements of these press associations at their annual meeting in New York, June 30th, as a ROCK BOTTOM figure. Be it further,

RESOLVED, that the relay operators are prepared to back these demands to the utmost limit, even to a cessation of work.

$60 MINIMUM; 45-HOUR WEEK AIM OF TEXANS

Assens Themselves to Organise in Unorganised Field.

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 16.—At a meeting held in this city on Sunday, April 16, attended by telegraphers employed by the various press associations having clients in Fort Worth and Dallas, and other leased wire telegraphers, at which a general discussion took place pertaining to local and national business conditions, and the necessity for completing the organization of all leased wire telegraphers, i. e., press, broker, pipe line, packers, etc., and many other subjects, the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, The General Committees of the now scheduled press associations will soon meet the managements to negotiate new contracts, and believing as we do that the press telegrapher has always been underpaid, considering the exacting nature of duties performed, etc., and in view of the well known fact that there exists at this time no surplus of telegraphers capable of manning press wires, and

WHEREAS, The business slump, as evidenced in articles by leading authorities, statisticians, etc., has reached the bottom and present indications are for a decidedly prosperous coming year, and

WHEREAS. While we are well satisfied with our present organized strength so far as the scheduled press systems are concerned, and have no fear of the outcome of any endeavors of our committeemen, we do believe that organization work among telegraphers on systems not now scheduled should be actively proceeded with, therefore be it

RESOLVED. That it is the consensus of opinion of those present at this meeting that our committeemen should use every effort to secure, in their negotiations with the various managements, a minimum wage scale of $60 per week of $6 hours; all overtime to be computed at time and one-half; so-called legal holidays (specified) to be recognized as such, and if telegrapher is required to work on such holidays, time thus employed to be computed on over-time basis, in addition to the regular day's pay; and that the bulletining of vacancies and new positions, and the bidding privilege be restored in our contract, and be it further

RESOLVED. That in furtherance of organization work among telegraphers on unscheduled systems, we favor an assessment of leased wire telegraphers to the end that paid organizers, devoting all their time to such duties, may be employed, and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the members of the General Committee of the scheduled press associations, not for the purpose of tying their hands, because we have implicit confidence in their ability and integrity, but as an expression of the views of those present at this meeting (and of those who may hereafter endorse this resolution), for their information and guidance, and that the Editor of the Journal be furnished with a copy of this resolution.

PORTLAND DEMANDS SOO MINIMUM

Earn It; Need It; Want It; and Going to Get It.

At a meeting of press telegraphers held in Portland, Oregon, recently it was unanimously agreed to support the San Francisco resolution in favor of a $60 minimum. The following signed the resolution: D. Whyte, F. T. Bowness, C. W. Lamar, Frank Silva, and D. C. Sullivan.

(Note: Resolution received too late for April Journal.—Editor.)

It was also unanimously agreed that minimum points should receive the largest increase in view of the fact that in almost every relay city there are possibilities of extra work, thereby adding to the higher relay salaries, whereas at smaller points there is no way of augmenting the small $40 minimum.

The Chicago relay resolution appears very self centered to us.

It is impossible to start at the top and build down successfully.

Let's take care of the small town minimum salary points and the larger cities, bureau and relay points will automatically take care of themselves.

Let us agree on a scale that is fair and satisfactory to all and then get behind our committeemen and help them put it over. We have long trailed the labor procession; let's get out in front and lead from now on.

We earn sixty; need sixty; want sixty, and are going to have sixty.

HEARST IN PORTLAND

Portland, Ore.—With William R. Hearst established in the newspaper field in every important Pacific Coast city except Portland there are persistent rumors that he is seeking an entrance here. On apparently reliable authority it is known that Mr. Hearst has made advances to purchase two of the three evening papers, the Oregon Journal and the Portland Telegram. Both have declined to sell, or at least to negotiate on the terms that have been suggested.

According to local gossip Mr. Hearst's representatives have been conferring with the Portland Telegram for publication of a Sunday morning newspaper. The Telegram at present does not issue on Sunday. The proposal, it is said, is for the Telegram to print a Sunday news section which would be combined with feature sections that would be shipped to Portland from Seattle where Hearst is publishing the Post-Intelligencer. It is not known authoritatively that these are the exact details of the scheme, but there appears to be no doubt that some plan for cooperative publication by Hearst and the Telegram of a Sunday newspaper is under consideration. It is proposed to call it the Portland American.

Pacific Coast

Wake up, boys! Wake up!

There are bright things ahead for us for a big boost after the coming all-important gettogether this summer. The union press men are sure to reap their big reward this year, after years of fighting. They are standing grimly for a scale of not less than $8.00 per diem, and a maximum of $60-worth every cent and more, too. All of us agree to that, and have a long time ago. Reports have it that the press men all over the country are holding numerous meetings, preparing the old war chest, which, rumors have it, has been replenished and added to on more than one occasion; passing stiff resolutions that show a 100 per cent unanimity and all in all displaying a determination to fight to the bitter end this year. Forty dollars for skilled leased wire operators is an evil that should never have been agreed to. Such an inadequate salary is in itself a detriment to the coming into the craft of men who would be a credit to it. That salary MUST be thrown overboard and nothing less than $48 given consideration.

The A. P. boys on the coast are thoroughly awake to the new movement, and an undercurrent of keen apprehension pervades all along the route. The boys are quietly turning to the Union banner at last with an interest that comes direct from the conscience. The far better working conditions of the organized press circuits, the freer atmosphere, the absence of incompetent chief operators and their mean, low-down, petty, and actually dirty mode of handling of their men are some of the foremost promptings of this dissatisfaction. All of us inwardly are pulling hard for a big victory on July 1st. The time is drifting around when the card men will predominate in the A. P. ranks and then it will never again require a half dozen round robins circulated to stem the ridiculous antics and rulings of irresponsible to-be-chief operators. Need it be said that we refer directly to the San Francisco chief, whose ideas and comics are as repulsive as his name would imply-Young. Far different is Beatty, the night chief, one whom the boys all respect for his level-headed and masterly diplomatic way of getting results. The coast men are not the same since Young was jumped into his fall-guy job. The old timers are growing tired of him, the work is harder and uninteresting; he has been responsible for a juggling of their positions until no one feels safe in his old place where years of the steady grind has made him feel he is a fixture. At one time there was a feeling of pride in the personnel of the South circuit, every man being a credit to any profession. Today how do they feel? Well, just ask them the reason why? Y-O-U-N-G.

TO MILTON GARGES (From an "Esq.)

Oh, the ole bonus. Well, come on Milt, let's have it over with. Take yer ole five bones, we ain't worrying. We can get on with a real outfit then. Jobs on the coast, lots of 'em in your own outlay, return us a net $40 a week—that includes your much flouted five bones. Take your five from that and it leaves (as one press official once paid us the compliment) "the poor drunken operator" a weekly pay of just $35. That's below the union scale, Milt. From those facts-and they are facts. Milt. old dear-we deduce the further fact that you gotta do something. We wonder how it is that the boys don't wake up and see the crudeness of this salary difference, all hours being the same, the records showing it thusly.

We are not going to use that old, muchlyabused adage, "More power," etc. It's: we have more power now, and the time has arrived when we're going to use it. Your printing machines are never again to be taken into consideration if we judge the mind of the newspaper editors with whom we come into such close personal contact. It's generally known what has been done in the southwest-simply this: that the editors rose up in a body and DEMANDED their displacement. And you KNOW why. The old bludgeon is gone, and now it is up to The Associated Press to once and for all recognize the worth of their telegraph operators, pay them their full worth, improve their conditions and take steps to improve their morale and welfare by displacing a few incompetent infantile circuit chiefs with experienced and capable men who have the well wishes and high regard of the men who work with them. Your operators are the most valuable asset in the make-up of your organization, yet they are regarded as hardly a commodity. If you are going to rely upon their skill entirely in the handling of the wires hereafter, Mr. Garges, we ask you to make improvements in The operator's salary several directions. must be not less than $48 per week for eight hours work; his place of work must be made satisfactory; he should not have to submit to whimsical, hand-picked kid chief operators who know practically nothing about handling circuits nor men of years' experience in your organization-men who were working for the A. P. long before chiefs of this type ever heard of the telegraph. It has come to where your men are being displaced and transferred on little or no actual pretext—a trumped up cause being held in reserve should a comeback be received.

Mr. Garges, these are not fanciful illusions, but cold, plain facts. On the Coast recently you had an example. That is the incident we refer to. We know of one operator, a gentleman if ever there was one, and a first class press man, whom you well know that the A. P. should feel indebted to for his long and loyal services, that for months had to bow his head and submit to one insult after another on your wires in the presence of other operators. Being a true gentleman he withstood this abuse until it became unbearable. It was a scheme to "get" this operator by the chief in San Francisco that resulted in the latter and his master, E. F. Wilson, being placed on the carpet for explanations. Both the San Francisco chief operator and the one that appointed him should have been severely dealt with. The first named by all means. We hear he did receive a stiff reprimand, but if that has had the desired effect we are not so sure. It is sure to come about some day, that if this "horse play" continues to be adhered to by your chiefs you are going to encounter a revolt that will have a farreaching effect.

After the July conference, Mr. Garges, if not before—before being the usual time the A. P. comes through to meet the expected increases of their competitors—we hope you will use your influence and power to grant us a $48 minimum, stop the differentiating of salaries where the subject of larger cities become involved, the cost of living being many times higher in small towns than in large cities, and never let the salaries go below this figure at any time.

Ontario-Quebee District

Members of Montreal District met Sunday, April 30, and were addressed by Vice-President Schnur. It was voted to affiliate with the District Council, now being formed here. C. F. Castleman was elected delegate and J. Marchand, alternate. It is felt that much good can be accomplished by joint council meetings.

W. C. Kew, Toronto, and W. H. Blackwell, Ottawa, have resigned to accept broker jobs in Montreal. We cannot fathom out why they did it, as that house where they are oning is known as a "sweat shop" with a "hard-boiled egg" as chief operator.

Circuit Chairman Tom Murray of Ottawa bid in the day job vacated by Kew at Toronto. C. McCarthy of Toronto bid in Ottawa nights, replacing Blackwell. Anderson of the House of Commons has bid for Murray's job; Bro. Hoare of the Mail & Empire, Toronto, bidding for McCarthy's job.

Brother Gordon Shaw of Toronto, the star pitcher on the supplementary wire, has resumed work after three weeks on the farm. He says he gained ten pounds. Some record! Port Colburne must be "the spot."

INTERNATIONAL NEWS NOTES

Pacific Coast

Everybody up and at 'em. Keep that stiff upper lip, don't crack a smile and let's fight it to a dead finish.

July 1 will be here pretty soon, and that date is ever before our optics. We have taken our stand, announced our determination, AND, FURTHERMORE, we are going to see those declarations realised or hold someone strictly to account. Sixty dollars a week is our aim and ambition on the Coast. Where the East gets this talk of $48 is beyond our fondest imagination. Even $60 is hardly enough to make amends for our shortage of the past five years in comparison to the upward trend of living costs, and the salaries of other crafts who are far below our line in every phase and feature. We say: Where does the East get that stuff?

Again, we say, when the time comes to back the committeemen, Mr. East, where are you going to be found this year? Do you remember that you have been the woeful, doleful weak sisters of the past? Whether you do or not, the West remembers that very thing. If the East continues this year with that weakening attitude in the crisis, the West will very likely insist on a separate scale.

WE WANT SUPPORT, ONE HUNDRED PER CENT SUPPORT, FROM THE EAST.

The I. N. S. coast men can truly be called a model union outlay. Every man is an oldtimer in the union, as well as the press game. They work with that harmony that spells co-operation of service. If the A. P. had this spirit they would realize what a union circuit means to their service. Let a proposition pertaining to union affairs come up and the said problem is disposed of quickly and with mature wisdom. We have a chief in Ed Kocke that fills the bill in every respect. The gang holds him in high respect, and always put forth their best efforts for him. Not a slave-driver, not a company man, but just "one of the gang," who keeps the boys in fine spirits and at the same time puts 'em over in high class style. Ed has a good word for all, and not once have we heard a "ball out" given to anyone, nor even an unkind word handed out.

She's harmony all the way from Seattle to San Diego on the I. N. S. string, and a better set of fellows are to be found nowhere.

All talk centers on the coming schedule meeting July 1. We have expressed our wishes and demands. Having done so we are going to see that those demands are carried out. We are not radical in any degree, but merely want our just dues, meaning we are frowning at anything less than $60.

Louie Kluge is shooting 'em over as sidekick to Chief Kocke at San Francisco these windy mornings. Louie recently hiked down from Portland, taking Ed Sullivan's place, the latter hanging on with the Consolidated Press in the Oregon metro. Louie's one of the old gang of yonder days, and the boys like him fine.

The I. N. S. financial wire (Cosmopolitan), a runner-up for the Consolidated, is being handled in San Francisco by no other than the "cutest" of all little fellows—Mr. Hughie Timothy Evans. Over in Oakland little Nemo Shanks holds full sway.

The Cosmo boys have had the line out for more consideration in the way of increased salaries, and at last reports the outlook seems very encouraging for a settlement without resorting to forced means. The way the Cosmo punishes their operators is on a par with the broker wires, the latter having the advantage of far better pay—that's the big rub. Things must take on a different turn in the salary line or there's bound to be fireworks, though we hope nothing that Roscoe will frown upon will be undertaken.

Ohio River Circuit

This circuit was represented at the Columbus "get-together" conference by McMahon of Cleveland, and Graham of Wheeling. It was a big occasion, and will be repeated next year with a larger attendance.

New acquisition for the month: The Logan (W. Va.) Telegram, the new job going to Bro. R. W. Nichols of Charleston, W. Va.

K. C. Wilde, former Western Union and A. P. man, "consented to accept the lucrative position of importance" made vacant by the departure of Bro. Braden H. Duncan from the Martin's Ferry (Ohio) Times, for the Pacific Coast, United Press assignment. Duncan will make vacations on the Coast for the Scripps outfit while conducting a careful search for new specimens to adorn his harem.

"Red" White, a homeless waif, sat in for a few weeks at Huntington (W. Va.) to allow Fred Manchester to get out and visit cities on the Great Lakes, under the mistaken apprehension that spring had arrived.

Vacations begin May 1, but who's gonna make 'em? Not even an abandoned wreck of an operator in sight at this writing.

Telegraphers on this circuit, who have been busy trying to line up A. P. men as members of the union, report the A. P. men disgusted with the existing wage scale. Well, there's only one way to change that, boys—organize and demand a living wage. An A. P. nonmember looks rather foolish when he criticizes the union for not getting him more money. Enough of them are beginning to see this to make the prospects for A. P. men much brighter in these parts.

Kansas City-South

Bro. Studehalter, Fort Worth, was marooned two days during the recent flood in that city. He was surrounded by water and though he could get in telephonic communication with downtown, he could not get to work. Bro. Kasmark of the Consolidated and Mr. Kelley of the A. T. & T. covered the job. They happened to be away from the flooded districts.

Bro. Frank Miller took a week's trip to New Orleans with the Wichita Chamber of Commerce recently, being relieved by O. L. Battin.

Bro. Schultze, Tulsa, off for 90 days, is being relieved by Bro. Charles Collins of Joplin.

Bro. Jack Schmidt is making vacation reliefs on the string, making his debut at Houston, while Bro. "Dave" goes fishing in the bayou.

An A. T. & T. friend, anxious and willing to co-operate with us, suggests when he says, "af it" he does not mean "a fit," and that the persons who ring should stage one every time the wire goes on the rocks. Ok "QE" is all we have to say.

When the Associated Press took out their printers—by request of various managing editors—and put the printer wires into Morse, they cleaned up every available press man who cared for a job with them, and are now breaking in men from the commercial offices.

Understand that a certain official of the Southwestern Bell Telephone recently said his company had spent about $2,000,000 "perfecting" the printers, and that the fallure of said printers in the Kansas City Southern would probably mean the last effort to put them in on "main line" circuits.

A. P. DISCARDS PRINTERS

On April 16th the Associated Press discontinued the use of automatic printers on its second day wire and second night wire of the Oklahoma-Texas circuit. The printers were installed on Jan. 17, 1922, and were in operation three months. About twenty Morse operators were employed to supplant the printers. The report on both the second day and second night wire is sent direct from Chicago.

The points affected by the change from printers to Morse operators and the number of operators employed at each place follows:

Chicago, two operators; Peoria, two operators; St. Louis, two operators; Kansas City, two operators; Oklahoma City, two operators; Dallas, two operators; Fort Worth, two operators; San Antonio, two operators; Houston, two operators; Galveston, one operator, days only.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE NOTES

Chicago-South

The resolution adopted by the union press operators at a representative mass meeting at San Francisco was sent to all members on the Chicago-South.

A Saturday night operator, writing to the circuit chairman who had requested him to take out a card, wrote as follows:

"I have forwarded check for my eard. You are perfectly right; I would not want to reap the benefits of an organization and fail to do my part to keep it moving. I believe in organization and went through the W. U. strike. I regard press work as a highly specialized work which requires more ability than the average telegrapher has. Besides ability, there is necessary a certain amount of world-knowledge and judgment if one is to do the best work."

This Saturday night operator has the right spirit as regards what a man ought to do who is working on a union wire. He did not hesitate for one moment about taking out a card. He also has the right idea about press work.

All Saturday night operators on the Chicago-South are members of the C. T. U. A.

Union press telegraphers in the United States have been lagging behind the union press men of Canada for a year. In Canada the day minimum is $45 per week and the night minimum is $46. In the United States the day minimum is $40 per week and the night minimum $45.50. This discrepancy has been called to the attention of Journal readers on several occasions.

There are several valuable and beneficial clauses in the contract with Canadian Press Limited that should be incorporated in the American contracts. Canadian C. T. U. A. members invariably "put one over" on us Americans.

What's the matter with the Americans "putting one over" on the Canadians for one time, at least?

Unionized press operators received the news with pleasure that William Randolph Hearst and the United Press, respectively, had organized and put in operation new leased wire services, which specialize on financial news and features. Saying that the unionized press operators wish these new concerns unbounded success is speaking mildly. Hearst and the United Press blazed the way for competition in news-gathering in the United States.

Whenever a union operator can speak a good word for the U. P., I. N. S., Universal Service and Canadian Press Limited, he never fails to do so. The unionized news services have gotten new clients in a great many instances through the press agent work of a union operator.

Roscoe Johnson and Frank B. Powers continue to run the business of the C. T. U. A. in a highly satisfactory and praiseworthy manner. However, Messrs. Johnson and Powers are not the only cogs in the machinery of our organization. The main cogs are the members, and it is to the members that our international officers look to for the proper sort of support and encouragement.

Reader, have you gotten at least one new member during the present year, or have you been circulating your Journal among the nons? Give your Journal away—give it away to a non. Let's try to get some more new members.

Other Universal Service circuits continue to be unrepresented in the Journal. Why so? Typewriters are plentiful and it only takes fifteen or twenty minutes to write a few paragraphs of interesting news.

Consolidated Press, Ledger News Service, Chicago Tribune News Service also continue to be unrepresented. Can we expect to hear from the Cosmopolitan News Service and the U. P.'s financial news service?

A. P. NOTES NOT COVERED BY "A. P. SERVICE BULLETIN"

By Cert. 319,

One more reason why The Associated Press operators should affiliate with the C. T. U. A.:

According to reliable information, A. P. operators taking their annual two weeks' vacation (with pay?) will suffer a reduction in their pay checks of $10.00 weekly.

The only reason for this move is to attribute the happy thought to some division traffic chief who, imbued with frenzied finance ideas, has evolved a scheme to defray the railroad fare of the relief operator without cost to the association.

But what can the A. P. men expect in their present unorganized state!

Another instance of Associated Press "square dealing" towards its telegraphers:

Mr. —, an Associated Press telegrapher, after surviving the inconveniences of the tropics for a year, in order to comply with agreement exacted by The Associated Press, is being transferred to a southern city. (Do not misunderstand! He pays his own railway fare.)

Having completed a year's service, this operator, after considerable mental effort reached the conclusion he was entitled to $150 vacation money. But woe unto somebody! He was informed by the New York "chief" that he could not be granted his two weeks' vacation until after arrival at his new point of service. The new position is a shorthour-trick and will pay $30 per week.

L'envoi: How comes J. P. Morgan & Co. have not secured the services of some of the A. P. figure-jugglers?

San Francisco—South

The meeting of the southern California leased wire men in the Labor Temple, Los Angeles, the first Sunday in April, at which the San Francisco resolution for a $60 per week minimum was unanimously adopted, was an exceedingly harmonious and satisfying one. If the spirit which prevailed at that meeting could only be universally inculcated, what a wonderful organization we would have. I have never seen such interest, spirit of co-operation, harmony and determination surpassed. The boys on the coast are out for that $60 minimum — ABSOLUTELY NOTHING LESS.

-WE WANT $60 (THIS YEAR)-

Frankie Murphy, who wiggles a wicked bug out of SX, announced recently that he will answer the question: "Why did the manufacturers of Eskimo Pie change the name?" by mail. Stamped envelope required.

-WE WANT $60 (THIS YEAR)-

Messrs. Duncan and Witt, having duly passed the examination of our exalted chairman—(M. J. Mergens, at "Q")—will compose the vacation relief team. Percy Wark, of Pasadena Star-News, and Drew Moffett of the Santa Ana Register, are the first to go.

-WE WANT $60 (THIS YEAR)-

F. L. Hohensinner, formerly of Logan's, San Francisco, went to El Centro, relieving C. C. Nickels, who went to the San Bernardino Telegram—a new leased wire subscriber.

- WE WANT $60 (THIS YEAR)-

William LeR. Bain, alias "Fat," our congenial chief op. at San Francisco, has been co-operating to the fullest extent with Chairman Mergens in keeping the vacancies filled with card men. Before a man is hired he must pass muster, etc., and by the time "Merg" and "Fat" get through with him it's a ten to one shot he's "lily pure."

-WE WANT $60 (THIS YEAR)-

We are glad to learn that Mrs. John Fendrich, wife of "Our own Jon" at SX, is recovering from a serious operation which she underwent at St. Luke's Hospital, San Francisco.

-WE WANT $60 (THIS YEAR)-

Fred Hubbard, who feeds the tube at "TB" Oakland, watches the "second window, third floor up" and copies report 'tween times, will challenge Bill Tilden after he succeeds in beating Mrs. H. at tennis.

-WE WANT $60 (THIS YEAR)-

The sympathy of the fraternity goes out to "Tom" Lewis, former western committeeman, whose mother passed away in Santa Ana, April 22nd.

Mrs. Lewis was 82 years of age and had been ill for some time.

Tom is now engaged as special writer on the Santa Ana Register.

-WE WANT $60 (THIS YEAR)-

The Fresno Bee, Fresno, Calif., which will start publication in September, has signed up for the United Press leased wire.

-WE WANT $60 (THIS YEAR)-

The sudden death of "Jim" Walsh at Vancouver, April 12, cast gloom over the Pacific coast U. P. Jim was a great favorite among the men on this circuit and will be greatly missed.

The feeling of the circuit was exemplified when Frank Murphy, who was sending, said "Let's all take off our hats and think of poor old Jim Walsh for a few minutes. They're burying him now. Jim was a pretty good old plug."

I knew Jim well—palled with him in the lean days in San Francisco, and it may be that the above remark hit a stronger cord here. May he rest in peace.

Washington-South

The New York-South circuit of the United Press, formerly worked through to Jackson-ville via Washington and Atlanta, was cut at Washington, March 1, and a permanent relay established.

Leased wire service to Winter Park, Fla., was started Feb. 13, a temporary relay being in effect at Atlanta from then until the permanent cut at Washington two weeks later.

Maddux, who had joined the Atlanta force as third man, returned to Anniston.

With the shift of the relay to Washington, MacCormac was placed in charge of the circuit, with Gus Tarry as his side partner, and McCarthy doing the subbing.

"Hip" Thomas still bosses the New Orleans end.

"Excuse Me" Cox of the limber arm, who is reported to have taught Walter Phillips the code, had to suspend demonstration work for a few days when the flu handed him a near-k. o. He's about recovered now, and classes have been resumed.

C. R. James has been transferred from Athens to Mobile, R. Q. Motherlode relieving him.

"Aaron" Burr, of Jacksonville, live-wire correspondent, poultry fancier, agriculturist, real estate operator, etc., who recently bought a new mule, announces that he has completed a house on his farm and moved out where he can watch the mule work.

Bill Truitt, filling the new job at Winter Park, says Florida is a great country—for millionaires. There are 33 of 'em in Winter Park, a mere village, and probably the smallest place in the country with a leased wire press report.

Kaneas City-Southwest

The members of this circuit are in favor of an organisation drive in an effort to bring all press operators into our fold to the extent that in a test vote we unanimously endorsed an assessment from each member of the press divisions of $10 for the purpose of sending out paid organisers to bring in the A. P. and other non-union men. This is not the first time this move has been tried, but it proved that we could not raise the money by volunteer subscription. Now, while we are talking of our desires for better pay, etc., let's get busy and back our International in the only real way that will enable us to realize our uitimate goal.

I have received reminders from members that our column had seemingly relented in its bombardment of the A. P., Sir Milton Garges and underlings for their attitude towards emancipation.

No truce has been declared, let me assure you. If we are not fighting them through our Journal, we are, nevertheless, fighting them and shall continue to fight them in every way known to he-men who love to fight skunks.

One of the latest outrages on the part of that "open shop" institution was a letter we had the privilege of seeing addressed to a certain newspaper reminding said paper that it was a violation of the A. P. by-laws to allow operators of the opposition to enter and spend time in the editorial room of a paper receiving the A. P. service.

Can you beat that for stupid, brazen effrontry? It is needless to say that when the A. P. can put over anything like that in this neck of the woods, the Kaiser will again be in command of his U-boats tellin' the U. S. where and when to sail our ships on the dark blue sea. Furthermore, we operators of the "opposition" are representatives of our respective companies and whenever we have business with our clients we shall continue to call upon them in our usual way and if the A. P. gets in our road we shall run right over "him."

Meanwhile we would suggest that those "officials" of the A. P. get busy and post up on the Sherman anti-trust law.

Brother Clements put over a big surprise when he took a month's leave. His only explanation is that he's been married for several years. How do you do it, Clen?

Brothers T. J. Allen and J. H. Boyle traded jobs and Boyle is now holding forth at Chickasha, a new addition to the line.

Can't make out whether our old friend, Jack Bradshaw, has quit the chicken business or whether he is exploiting his radio stuff in conjunction with his incubators, Executive Cox, the "tireless transmitter," assumed enough authority the other day to put H. Ford to work. Henry's title was U. P. S. C.

The gray-haired man also slipped us the info that Hippy pulled a George Harvey during the Metropolitan Opera season in Atlanta. Swallow tail coat, silk hat and—we want to know if he wore abbreviated trousers.

The G. O. M. at Nashville, Penrod, is planning his annual pilgrimage to Louisville, Derby Day.

Chairman Copeland says get your questionnaires in. You didn't have to worry, Red, we all did our duty.

We're sorry to hear of Cope's enforced early vacation on account of the illness of his wife and baby. Hope they're better now, Red.

"Slim" Mac at Birmingham had his boat varnished up. He looks more like a bootlegger now than a laboring man. How do you do it, Mac?

The "red trio" is again hitting on all three. Aaron at Little Rock returned on May Day after a two months' absence. Glad to see you back, Red.

All the boys on the vine have a vacation due this summer. Where are we going to get the subs? The still hunt is on.

NOTES FROM OTHER NEWS SERVICES

I never see any notes in the Journal from the Consolidated Press Associations and Chicago Tribune News Service. It is very seldom that I see any from the Ledger News Service.

In my humble opinion, members of the C. T. U. A., working for these news services should muster up a little energy and send some news notes to the Journal.

Correspondents in the I. N. S., U. P., and Universal Service divisions invariably have interesting columns in the Journal.

Another news service which is not represented in the Journal as it should be is the Associated Press. Yet the A. P. is the most extensive news-gathering organization in the United States, and, of course, employs more telegraphers than any of the other news services. C. T. U. A. members employed by the A. P. would do well to muster up a little energy and send some news to the editor.

We all know that the C. T. U. A. is the instrument that has kept up salaries in all news services. Therefore, its beneficiaries, press operators, ought to be willing to lend a helping hand in every consistent and reasonable way.

ANNUAL CARDHOLDER,
Philadelphia, Pa.

THE A. P. OPERATORS

The A. P. operator who does not appreciate the value and importance of organized effort has strayed far away from the high ideals which the C. T. U. A. has sponsored and stood for the past twenty years.

No commercial telegrapher who has the proper respect for his reasoning powers can deny that the C. T. U. A. has accomplished innumerable beneficial things for the commercial telegraphers of the United States and Canada during its twenty years of existence. That it has not accomplished more is the fault of the rank and file of the fraternity. It requires numerical and financial strength for any labor organization to map out and carry an elaborate program to a successful conclusion. So long as we have not got the proper numerical and financial strength, where is the man who is so dull and stupid to expect our organization to lay out and carry an elaborate program to a successful conclusion?

It has been pointed out in the Journal with persistent regularity that the unionized committees of the I. N. S., Universal Service, and United Press negotiate new contracts every year with increased rates of pay and that the A. P., always immediately raises its rate of pay to the union scale, and that a certain portion of the A. P. operators who do not belong to and support the union financially and morally, reap the benefits gained by the union committees. Plainer still, the union committees expend a large amount of money, put forth strenuous efforts and consume a large amount of time in their commendable endeavors to improve salaries and working conditions. The A. P. operators do none of these things, yet they get their salaries increased, pocket the extra money and do not give the union committees or the C. T. U. A., a thought.

If the A. P. operators as a class were to show the right spirit and appreciation they would join the C. T. U. A., in a body and not straggle in, here and there, as they have been doing the past few years.

The time was when the A. P. membership in the C. T. U. A. was pretty near 100 per cent strong. It ought to be that strong to-day. If any A. P. operator thinks he has found any faults with the C. T. U. A. and that it is not run according to his notions and at the same time pretends to believe in unionism, he ought to join it and show us some of his superior wisdom. That's just what we are looking for—wisdom and superior wisdom, too, if we can run across any of it.

I am employed by the A. P., and I have always carried a card. Saying that my conscience is clear, is speaking mildly.

A. P. OPERATOR.

THE PRESS OPERATOR

A press operator is a specialist in telegraphy; and he has to be specially trained to become a specialist. Above all other things he has to be a gilt-edge operator at the outset. This, of course, means he has to be endowed with superior talents of co-ordination. In bringing his powers of co-ordination into play, he has to co-ordinate such faculties as talent, mind, muscular flexibility, dexterity, memorizing, physical durability. He has to be an expert at using a typewriter. Invariably he has to copy behind. This is when he has to make use of his faculty of memorizing.

This sort of skill is certainly classed as superior skilled labor. Superior skilled labor is supposed to be rewarded with a higher wage than unskilled labor. If one will take the time to gather statistics on the wages of various lines of labor he will find that a tremendously large number of unskilled workers get more money for their unskilled labor than the highly skilled press operators receive for their highly skilled labor.

From a union standpoint the press operators are not as thoroughly organized as they should be. It is true that the United Press. I. S. N. and Universal Service telegraphers are organized with a 100 per cent strength and have been carrying on negotiations with the managers of these news services for many years; but the Associated Press operators have not so far reached this standard of strength. There is no reason why they should not, however. All they have to do is to join the union of their craft and give the president of the C. T. U. A. to understand that they are ready for business and they will succeed in getting a contract. The A. P. men should not rest content to have the men in the unionized press divisions carry their own burdens as well as those of the A. P. men.

A correspondent said in the Journal: "Commercial telegraphers boast that they are a bright set of men and women. This being the case, why don't they join the C. T. U. A. in a body?

I have talked to a great many A. P. operators, and they all freely and unhesitatingly admit that the C. T. U. A. has been their salvation; that it has been a strong prop under their salaries; that if it had not been for the C. T. U. A., their salaries would not be what they are today; that the C. T. U. A. was a live, awake organization and had done great work during its twenty years of existence, etc. This being the case, why should there be any hesitation on the part of an A. P. operator who has any union sentiments at all about joining the union that has done so much for him?

Press salaries are not high enough. They never have been high enough. It is up to the press operators to get together and put salaries up to the figures that would be commensurate with their highly skilled labor.

A. P. QUESTIONNAIRE

If an A. P. operator who is not a member of the C. T. U. A., desires to resign and go to some other city to work for a unionized news service, how does he figure he can do this when he has no card?

If an A. P. operator who has persisted in being a non suddenly loses his job with the A. P. and then steps across the street to talk to a union operator working for a unionized news service about getting a job with that service, how does he figure that the union man will lend him a helping hand? The union man will always figure that he has been supporting the union with his money and that the A. P. operator, who has persisted in remaining a non, is a little off of his "beat" when he asks him to help him get a job with a unionized concern.

There are a good many cases on record where A. P. men, who were nons, suddenly lost their jobs with the A. P., then applied to a unionized service for a job and got turned down when they had to admit that they had no card.

Membership in the C. T. U. A. is protection against a rainy day. The operator who persists in remaining a non is going to have to do a while without a job some of these days, when he needs a job badly, simply because he has lacked foresight to provide against a rainy day.

Why should an A. P. operator hesitate about joining the union? Mr. Frederick Roy Martin, general manager of the A. P., practically invited the A. P. operators to send a committee to see him about two years ago. He told Roscoe Johnson, president of the C. T. U. A.

He would be glad to receive a committee of exclusive A. P. employes at any time.

If my memory serves me right, Mr. Martin's letter was published in the July Journal of 1920. And copies of this particular Journal were sent to all A. P. operators. In all probability they all read Mr. Martin's letter. If any of them did not read it they can get full particulars by addressing President Roscoe H. Johnson, Machinists Building, 113 S. Ashland Boulevard, Chicago, Ill. FAIR PLAY.

CENTRAL NEWS NOTES

The commercial companies are taking on men, it is reported, and business seems to be improving somewhat.

This correspondent notes with a great deal of pleasure the action being taken toward forming a Funeral Benefit Department. Every operator who carries a C. T. U. A. card should not fail to fill out his ballot marked "accept," and send it in. Too often unfortunate operators have been broke at the last "30" and their decent burial has devolved upon those brothers whose sympathies were the softest. But that is not enough. There should be a Sick Benefit Department whose purpose would be to assist the ailing brother in time of need, and the payments for its up-keep should be voluntary, and in addition to the dues.

With this issue, this correspondent leaves the telegraph for other fields. Brother Jackson of Canada has taken his place. It is hard to leave just when better things seem in sight in the telegraph; when some of the brothers have awakened to the need of securing for the operator rumuneration commensurate with his high ability, worthy of his years of apprenticeship and training. The telegraph still remains the one craft from which the members are always anxious to escape; the one vocation which offers hardly more at the end than it does at the beginning of a life time of service; and in the commercial end of the game, the older one gets, the more experienced one becomes, the less he is worth to the company.

Not all the fault of this lies with the companies. The members of the broker divisions have proved that the men, banded together, can do something toward improvement.

This correspondent hopes he does not have to return to the business, but he will always keep his card up-to-date and will always do everything possible to help the work of those men who are striving for that better day when an operator's work and experience will receive its full value; when he will command a better standing in the community than he he does at present.

Let the motto always be: "No cards, no favors."

PLAN FOR REORGANIZATION OF W. B. D.

Adopted by Executive Board, Approved by International Officers at Special Meeting, May 13th

Whereas, the Western Broker Division territory was originally and still is composed of thirty-four states west of Pittsburgh, and,

Whereas, the General Executive Board of the Western Broker Division, profiting from experience, believes that for organization purposes, this vast territory should be rearranged and subdivided with a view to placing responsibility and initiative in the various broker centers of this territory, therefore, be it

Resolved, that the General Executive Board of the Western Broker Division authorises the rearrangement of territory under one of the following two plans:

1—Complete separation from the Western Broker Division, i. e., sections of W. B. D. territory petitioning for separate and autonomous divisions will be released from W. B. D. jurisdiction and granted separate charters by the International.

2—District arrangement: The sections of this territory not desiring to lose direct affiliation with the Western Broker Division, but desiring to assume more responsibility and create more initiative among their membership than exists under the present arrangement, may form a DISTRICT. Each district will be allotted certain adjacent territory, for which it will be responsible in the collection of dues, organization, securing employment for their unemployed, etc. Each district will have its District Officers, consisting of District Chairman, District Secretary-Treasurer and District Correspondent. Each District Chairman automatically becomes a member of the General Executive Board and will have all matters affecting the entire W. B. D. membership put to him in writing for a vote. All such DISTRICTS shall be amenable to the By-laws of the Western Broker Division, but a new set of By-laws is to be immediately drawn up and each District will be represented in their making, thereby making the By-laws representative of the wishes of all Districts.

EACH DISTRICT MAY RETAIN 25% OF THE GROSS DUES AND INITIATIONS COLLECTED, the division treasury paying the International per capita out of the remaining 75%.

Adoption of either of the above plans is dependent upon proper presentation of petition signed by fifteen (15) or more broker telegraphers directly affected in any particular district.

A MALICIOUS LIE

For some time, especially after the annual elections, some one has maliciously circulated the report that I, although receiving a salary from the Western Broker Division, and although the waiting room was filled with unemployed, had worked broker jobs at a good salary. The unscrupulous person or persons named R. H. MacMasters & Co. and J. S. Bache & Co., in particular, as the firms I had worked for at salaries of $90 and $60 a week, respectively, and received $65 a week at the same time from the Western Broker Division.

I want to brand these reports as damnable, malicious lies; circulated with no good interests of our union in mind, but on the contrary with a traitorous intent. I have never worked as much as FIVE MINUTES for either of these firms in my life, much less while on a salary with the union, and I never worked as much as FIVE MINUTES for pay for any broker, or any other employer of telegraphers while receiving a salary from the Western Broker Division.

Any man having proof of any wrong-doing of mine, be he member or not, is hereby invited to attend a meeting and disclose his proof. Not only that, but I will send a circular to every member and delinquent announcing the meeting, so that his proof may be heard by all interested parties.

Although aware of the above and other perfidious gossip for some time, I have hesitated taking any notice of them, having the firm belief that broker telegraphers were too intelligent a class of men to even consider the idle wagging of the tongues of these slander-mongers, but it seems their incessant destructive ideas, spread on the street in the form of innuendo, as well as direct charges, has had some effect.

Most every man believes in fair play. All I ask, not so much for my benefit, but for the sake of our union, is that the next time you hear any of this sort of insidious propaganda, ask them to be men enough to face the one they accuse and make their statement, or to put it in writing and submit it before a special and well-advertised meeting of all telegraphers.

These men, if you listen to them, will break up our union if you give them time. If our union is disrupted who suffers? YOU! Your chances for not having your salary cut would not be worth a nickel. Therefore, take your choice: Listen to the curb-stone artists, whom I have no doubt are paid by our enemies to do what they are doing, and haven't the moral stamina to come out in the open with their slander, or listen to the friends of unionism, who have no more to gain than you by solidifying the ranks of broker telegraphers and who, on the other hand, can lose no more than you.

LET'S PLAY THE GAME ACCORDING TO HOYLE!

J. B. ALCORN.

LELAND CHAPEL NOTES

Arthur Maloney returned from a furlough spent in Burlington, Iowa, but remained only four days and left to accept a position with Harris Winthrop & Co.

- C. C. Arnall, a late arrival, transferred to Chicago from Omaha, relieved at Omaha by C. F. Sharpnack, formerly with E. W. Wagner & Co. at Omaha.
- R. D. Martin, who left us for a short sojourn with Jackson Bros., is back in our midst once more. Couldn't stand to leave the crowd.
- G. M. Eskerson has been with us for some time—still wearing the same old derby.
- F. E. Grawe has just returned from a part of his vacation.

- H. E. Bender leaves May 20th for a three weeks' vacation in Los Angeles. Better watch the John R. Thompson while you are gone Harry
- H. E. Grawe is driving a new Dodge sedan, Dave Ellington a new Oakland sport. We have a regular gasoline alley of our own now. It is also rumored that George Miller has the fever.
- A. J. Goyke continues to invite reprimand for the amount of noise he makes. He sounds not like a pianist, but rather like a whole hand.

You can look for us regular from now on in these columns.

The C. T. U. A. is to be congratulated on the Funeral Benefit Plan. Vote—Page 181.

A DEBT OF HONOR

By John B. Alcorn

When a MAN agrees to a certain thing he usually makes at least an honest effort to fulfill his obligation.

In September, 1921, a ballot was sent to the entire membership for the purpose of accepting or rejecting a weekly assessment of 1 per cent to be used as a DEFENSE FUND. This proposition carried almost unanimously; thereby every member of the Western Broker Division obligated themselves to the extent of 1 per cent a week of their salary, at least those who voted and those who believe in majority rule.

In August, 1921, it became necessary to call a strike against the firm of J. E. Bennett & Co. This strike was duly authorized by the membership of that firm and by our International President, in accordance with the constitution.

The Bennett strikers received added enthusiasm when they learned that this assessment had been passed. They relied on their brother workers keeping their word. What happened? Many of their brother workers did not keep their word. The Eastern Broker Division came to our rescue in splendid shape. We will never forget that. The Toronto convention answered the plea of our delegates and passed an assessment on all leased wire telegraphers of $1.00 per week, which ran 8 weeks. The Bennett strikers received almost $4,000 from this fund. Did the Western Broker Division members comply with the assessment levied by the supreme body of the C. T. U. A., the convention, or General Assembly? NO! THIRTY PER CENT of W. B. D. members have paid the assessment in full, and about 15 per cent have paid it in part.

We have always had faith in our membership. We have always believed that they were men of their word and fighters from the word go. Other units of the C. T. U. A. have admired the Western Broker Division and complimented us time after time.

It must be a source of pride to know that you are held in high esteem by others. It should be our most zealous desire to maintain that esteem. On the other hand, it must give one a guilty conscience to know that he has been instrumental in forcing the division to lose some of its traditional standing.

We still have confidence in broker telegraphers in this division, and believe they will realize individually that they owe an honest debt; we believe their pride in this division will cause them to bring the standing of the division up to where it should be; we believe that they will act the part of MEN.

Those of you who are proud of our division and of the esteem in which we are held by other divisions, and are desirous of maintaining our good standing, will do well to find out from headquarters how other men in your office stand.

You would not want your reputation, either socially or financially, to be marred. You do not want your reputation, as it affects our division, marred. Let's start a little activity.

LOWITZ CHAPEL NOTES

There has been very few changes here since our last line-up was sent in. Gibson was let out the first of the year, but has since been reinstated, due to increased stock business. He and O'Brien are "doing their stuff" on the New York wires; Gregory, Wagner's former chief operator, is marking time on the Toronto-Pittsburgh string: Brother Baldwin still on the grain board; Brother Jimmy Browner putting 'em over on the New York Produce.

Brother Bert Thornton quoting to South Bend and cussin' these big markets, and Brother Goodale on Omaha-Kansas City.

Lowitz & Co. recently took over Lamson's Kansas City office, and were very fortunate in securing Brother Torrington of that place. John is working hard and making it tough for the other K. C. houses to get any business.

All the boys are planning their vacation trips now, and looks like we will have to listen to lots of fish stories later on.

Our former chairman, B. A. Benson, has recently caught on at Lamson's after trying the real estate game for the past year. Glad to see you among us again, Benny.

Let's all get in the boat again, boys, and let's have a few notes from the rest of the houses on the street.

73'S RED.

HEADQUARTERS GOSSIP

Something must be done to put a stop to Pacific Coast chief operators abducting our star performers. First they grab John "Silent" Kelly, then through some underground methods they entice Aubrey Lyon and, as if our wrath were not to the boiling point, they nab B. D. L. Bert Acton. We have only one consolation left: May the Pacific Coast broker telegraphers learn a few things.

Mistah Jack Miller, the boy who is always ready to render assistance to a brother telegrapher, has been confined to his bed for almost a month with some kind of rheumatic trouble. Although practically helpless, in so far as physical effort is concerned, Jack seemed to be improving at the time of going to press. He is receiving wonderful attention. In addition to the ladies of the house, who vie with each other for the opportunity of waiting on him, he has the expert heavy work assistance of Bros. Sandall, Frank Myers, Otto Cantwell, Don Shepherd and John Alcorn, all inmates of the same boarding house. He would be only too glad to receive a card or letter from his friends. Address him, 4157 Ellis Ave., Chicago. We wish you a speedy recovery, Jack.

G. F. Redmond and Co., as the result of their rapidly increasing business, found it necessary to put on another board marker. They wanted a good one, so headquarters was called upon by Chief Operator Murray, who is a union man through and through. Bob Mauck, one of the last remaining Bennett strikers, was the man entitled to the job. Bob marks a beautiful board. He hasn't much to say, but what he says means something and his work speaks for itself.

One of the busiest men in the street is Mr. Adrian Truxell, Western representative and resident manager for G. F. Redmond and Co. If you don't believe it, try and see him. We know, we've tried. It is no wonder Redmond and Co. are doing a good business. They have first class men in their service.

We are glad to see one of the old timers back with us, after trying Los Angeles and New York for a while. Andy Cook, you better stay in a good town this time.

Frank McCloskey, recently of Lewiston, Mont., is with us. He is putting Logan and Bryan on their feet. Glad to have you with us. Frank.

Brother H. E. Kirk, lately with Rose & Co. "down yondah," blew in our midst. He relieved Jack Surface at the Journal of Commerce. Brother Surface has accepted a job with C. F. Childs & Company. Jack says he's glad to work days.

Mickey McDaniel put his straw lid on ahead of time and got away with it.

Owing to the fact that President Alcorn is not being allotted full time at headquarters at the present time, he was compelled to seek employment in the telegraph field, and is at present covering the Governor Small trial at Waukegan, Ill., for The International News Service.

We feel as though an apology is due the staunch supporters of our monthly Journal and our division for not being represented in the last two issues of the great little book. We will try and be on deck in the future, and keep you enlightened as much as possible as to the general situation.

Delinquents continue to be delinquents. I am at a loss to understand some who profess to be Union men but fail to show it. You cannot get very far professing one thing and being another.

Brother Eimer Aliman recently captured a thousand dollar prize in the Scenario contest conducted by The Daily News. We are all glad to know that we were represented in this contest by a regular fellow and a dues payer. More power to you, Eimer, and may you continue to cop the bucks.

Barney Quinn has been placed at Shearson-Hammill. They are fortunate to secure a regular fellow such as Barney.

Frank Quirk is with Blythe Witter. Ditto for him also.

Harry Albaugh still sings base.

The basic principle of the Nons seems to be "get something for nothing."

The cost of unpreparedness is dear. Still the ones that have most to win are the slowest to heed.

We are all hoping that our esteemed friend, Jack Dunn, skipper of the Eastern Broker Division, is fully recovered and back among his admiring constituents.

MRS. MERRILL PASSES ON

At the time of going to press we hear the sad news of the death of Sister Rose Merrill, wife of Brother Amos Merrill.

Mrs. Merrill had been ill only a short time at the time of her death, Saturday, May 13th.

Sister Merrill was an old-time telegrapher on the street, and had helped fight every battle the telegraphers have had; had been a member of the union for many years, and at the time of her death was a member of the Western Broker Division.

We offer Brother Merrill our most sincere condolence in his hour of grief.

Quebec and District Notes

We had a serious debate with ourselves this month as to whether there would be any notes under above heading, but we finally decided it would be a shame to break a continuity of over tw., years.

As usual we found our friend Cert. 22 interesting in the April Journal. Whilst we quite agree with him as to the necessity of having all professional radio men, both in Canada and the U.S. in the C.T.U.A., we do not see what is to be gained by disrupting present organisation to start over again and form a new and exclusive body of radiotelegraphists. As far as the Marconi Company men are concerned we feel sure the majority are satisfied with the C. T. U. A. division form of organization. As for the United States radio men-the door is wide open. Let them get together and form their own divisions and be autonomous within the C. T. U. A. There is nothing at all to prevent any radio man, no matter for whom he is employed, from taking out a C. T. U. A. card. We feel that for the present, as a matter of expediency the present form of organization fills the bill and that it would be a mistake to disrupt the division as they stand and form an association of radio men the country wide which would be unwieldy and be made up of different sections with conflicting interests.

We are in receipt of a circular addressed to "All Telegraphers" from Shames, B. C., signed by R. Gooding, Acting Chairman, Government division No. 2, C. T. W. U. C. Shames is right! The whole circular is a shame to place before others as propaganda. The C. T. W. U. C. will get nowhere with that kind of appeal. We have had an open mind on the matter of a distinctly Canadian National Union, but what you have to offer leaves us cold. If your body wishes to make any headway at all it would seem to us to be a sound policy to place the writing of its propaganda in other hands. Anyhow for a dying body the C. T. U. A. has lots of kick.

Well, the Gulf and River St. Lawrence section of the Eastern Division are well off on another season of navigation. As our readers know, our experience on the River St. Lawrence Service goes back quite a few years and we can confidently say that we never remember when all hands got off to such a good start. From "VCA" to "VCG" all the boys were on their toes and ready when the beli rang and at present writing we are well under way and running like a well oiled machine. It sure looks as if 1922 was going to be the banner year to date. All we have to do is to maintain the pace set and we should worry about efficiency or any other kind of barrier. In order that everybody may know where everybody is this year we have pleasure in giving the staffs from "VCA" to "VCG."

Montreal, Duchesne, Winter and Croysdill, Quebec, Clegg, Heath and Beauchemin. Grosse Isle, Cloutier, Masson and Hottote, Father Point, Hickmott, Desrosiers and Chevron, Clarke City, Gosse, Ferland and Renaud, Frame Point, Moore, Soares and Sundstrom.

Did you ever run across the three element lad? He who wouldn't mind a $10 day job but who is worth about $3.93 where he is and $1.97 in the open market. There's a few of 'em and they certainly add to the gaiety of nations.

We culled the following from the Montreal Gazette of April 24th. It speaks for itself: SUBSIDY WAS INCREASED Marconi Wireless Contract Not to Be Rescinded.

Ottawa, April 24.—The late Conservative Government made a supplementary contract with the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, which altered the old contract principally in regard to subsidy and payment for Government messages. Under the old contract the subsidy was an average of $2.081 per station per annum, and this rate is raised to $5,500 for a period of five years from April 1, 1921. Under the old contract Government messages were carried free; the supplementary contract, which was signed December 15 last, provides that Government messages should pay half commercial rates. This statement was made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Hon. E. Lapointe, minister of the naval service, in answer to H. Deslauriers, Liberal, St. Mary's, Montreal. Mr. Lapointe added that the rescinding of the supplementary contract has not been considered by the present Government.

Such a change, Oh, such a change has come o'er VCC,

The fire escape phone leads have drifted off to sea,

The cupboard where the washbowl was, is filled with useful gear,

And from the distant canteen floats the fragrant smell of beer.

Great Lakes Notes

The SS. Dalhousie City, with Bro. Beale aboard, opened the 1922 season between Toronto and Port Dalhousie on March 27th, Capt. Maddicks receiving the historic silk tile annually presented to the first ship of the season.

Welcome is extended to Bro. Blackburn of VBC on his return from the old country.

Bro. Boutillier, late of VCC, has been transferred to the Soo, and Bro. Tetley leaves the pathless woods for VBD.

All should see to it that the G. S. T. has at all times your correct HOME address, as for obvious reasons, seasonal addresses are not sufficient. Disregard in this matter has been the cause of undelivered Journals, and the non-receipt of much Union matter in the shape of important letters which it is most imperative should be in the possession of every member. This applies not alone to the Great Lakes, but to every individual card holder in the System-Division.

Who, we wonder, is responsible for crediting Cert. 72 with being the "Westerner who speaks out" in the March issue? Cert. 72 is an "Old Sodger" in Eastern local, while the writer of the interesting and instructive item is known to be Cert. 215 of Atl. Ship.

Cert. 193 has the measure of the determined non down pat. There are altogether too many of this stripe to be found in the Marconi Service and no process of synthesis has yet been found that will make a silken purse from a sow's ear. With the transference to salt water, some considerable time ago, of a particularly craven specimen of the determined non, who never held a card, and who never will, but who will continue to draw the Union wage; the Great Lakes can boast of freedom from this species of parasite. We have an occasional temporary non, but none of the parasitic breed.

It is hoped and expected that long before the May issue appears, the several communications sent up the Lakes for routine passing and return will have reached the "Office of Origin," and that the local chairman will then have some data upon which to work in connection with the selection of the Local and Grievance Committees. He had hoped to have been in a position to have announced, in the April issue, the personnel of the firstnamed body, but he is not picking at random and the members' choice, not his own, must obtain.

The need for your committee is felt right at the moment, and the imperative need of its good offices will of a certainty be found in the near future, and possibly before you read this write-up.

The all-important question of the wages in the floating service is agitating the membership at the moment, and the chairmen of the several sub-divisions require the assistance of their local committees to enable them to communicate intelligently with the General Chairman, whose duty it is to express to the management the views of the membership.

Circular matter broadcasted over the system-division has been productive of many comments which, without exception, indicate that any attempt at reduction of the existing scale will be objected to, but an important feature in this connection has with a few exceptions been neglected. It is, that stated reasons should be given why the present scale for the sea-going operator should not be amended downwards.

Many such reasons are known to the executive, but it is desirable that the views of the membership of the floating service be supplied and supplied at once to your local chairman, so that these officers, as members of the general committee, can meet the needs of the occasion and present to our employers solid and good arguments in favor of the retention in its present shape of the wage scale of the ships' telegrapher.

A point to bear in mind in the above connection is one that has been intimated to the writer by an authority qualified to speak or write on the issue. It is, that in the event of ships' operators not agreeing to a reduction in wages, the alternative MIGHT be lack of employment, especially as many equipped ships in Canada could legally dispense with radio.

It is a question of principle with us, whether we are determined to sustain the existing wage scale for ships' operators, at the risk of the chance of unemployment of some amongst us, due to possible retrenchment by certain shipping interests; or whether we are willing to accept a reduced scale in the uncertain hope that as a result of such acceptance, the shipping interests would continue to make use of Radio on ships not legally bound to carry wireless.

It is felt that the shipping interests do not carry wireless for the sake of furnishing a room or trimming their ships with a smart looking aerial, but for the reason that they have found, and still find it a profitable investment, and this consideration may outweigh the more noble one of the safety of their crews.

When we can demonstrate to those concerned that the ships' operators are worth their present wages (and it can be so demonstrated if you, as a ship's man, give us your contentions), and when aboard, ships' operators, members of C. T. U. A., by their deportment and good work, give proof of their contentions; it is debatable whether or not the shipping concerns would forfeit their radio advantages (and they are many), for the sake of the few dollars' difference in wages paid on account of the operator.

The System-Division acknowledges with sincere thanks the action of International in having presented our distressed brother McGillivray with a complimentary 1922 Annual. Bro. McGillivray writes asking that his grateful thanks be conveyed to Vice President and Brother Schnur for the action taken by him in this connection.

Bros. W. H. Allen, C. Baldwin, G. Snider and W. White have been successful at the recent examinations held in Toronto and have secured certificates for 5.5 KW Coast station equipment in addition to other qualifications previously held. All certificates are First Class.

The Great Lakes Coast stations can almost boast 100 per cent C. T. U. A. annual card holders. Temporary financial reasons prevent two from paying in full, but both have given evidence of their good will and intention, by depositing a respectable proportion of the necessary annual dues. Opr. G. H. Gurney is the only outstanding delinquent on Great Lakes stations. He dropped off last year, not holding 1921 card, but it is understood that he expressed his intention of taking an annual for 1922, and of squaring up for 1921. Has he lost all interest in the Union which before becoming welded into C. T. U. A., he was so eager to see started, and when started, to support. You might need your alma mater yet, Cert. 14.

NORTH SYDNEY NOTES

We appreciate that it takes considerable cash to get out The Journal each month, but apart from that we must also consider that credit is due it in building up the organization we represent. Some of our brothers were under the impression that we were paying out at least three or four dollars per year for it. This was incorrect, but if our brothers stop to consider that The Journal each month carries a very important message for every member, the amount, whatever it is, should not be begrudged even if the largest proportion went for that cause.

The Journal is a means of keeping ourselves together and every member, in order to keep up with progress, should read it carefully. It should create interest, especially among the new members. We certainly do need it to assist in growth as well as progress and to make it permanent in building up the entire organisation.

Brother members will have to look at it in the right spirit in order that the cause it represents be an overwhelming success.

We are pleased to note that some of the operators laid off during the winter months are returning to work and if their intentions are carried out we expect to see new names on the list very soon.

The old sealing ship "Diana" got jammed in the ice of "Fogo" early in April. She was crushed badly. The crew set her afire and abandoned her to sink with about 7,000 pelts aboard. The crew was rescued by the "Sagina" and landed at Harbor Grace.

The government ice-breaker "Stanley" was stuck in the ice off Port Hood on her way to Picton to pick up mails for the Magdalen islands. Bro. Harris has lots of grub aboard, so he is not worried.

The Reid steamer "Kyle" arrived at North Sydney, April 9. This was her first trip since the closing of navigation to this port. The "Kyle" was recently fitted with an up-to-date cabinet set and also with D. F. apparatus by Engineer Payne of HO.

Bro. Fred Hughes, who was spending a brief holiday at VCO, left early in April for Halifax to join the Canadian "Seigneu."

Bro. Joe Young also left for St. John to join the Canadian "Runne."

Bro. H. M. Moffatt is still on sick leave, but is reported as greatly improved and expects to resume duty by the time this appears in print.

Riggers will start shortly to dismantle the mast and rigging at Cape Rap, which will be moved elsewhere.

CAPE SABLE NOTES

Eastern S. D. Secretary wishes to thank those of our brothers for the prompt manner in which they have responded to the call for 1922. There seems to be some misunderstanding as to the issuance of cards. For general information, dues are forwarded as promptly as possible after receipt by the Eastern Secretary to the General Secretary, who then informs International Headquarters, from whom cards are issued directly on receipt of this information.

This involves a little time and hence I would ask members to exercise a little patience consistent with the distance traveled.

Some members have also complained of non-receipt of cards and Journal for 1921 although fully paid up. It will not be the fault of the present holder of office if any such discrepancies arise this season, and in order that this end may be accomplished you are requested to notify our G. S. T. of any change of address, or better still, the Journal editor at Chicago. This is essentially a matter for the individual member to adjust, and it will help materially.

Cape Sable is not very noisy, but still we have the "pep" here, so get busy, one for all.

Cert. 193.

CAPE BRETON BOOMINGS

The ice is backing up into the harbor again and we have it both sides from the lakes to the east, weather keeps cool with snow and sleet storms. The Reid ship "Kyle" entertained the passengers to a daily radio concert in her last trip to Louisburg, while jammed in the ice off Scatari for four days. The Kyle has a new set and the whole program was immensely enjoyed.

The government icebreaker Montcalm is at "V. C. O." for bunker and repairs, and to take in an operator.

The C. P. S. Stanley reports landing the mails at Grindstone and is returning to Pictou. Brother Harris is the "radio wizard" and also looks after the mail and cargo between meals.

Brother James Holmes, chairman of the Eastern Ship Division, was a recent visitor at V. C. O. By the way, our "K" boat friends are coming nearer as spring approaches and we can hear that lovely "press of the key." Dashes are free by the yard or in fathom lengths—take your choice.

We had the (Prohibition) patrol, now comes the ice, mackerel and fish protectory patrol, what you need is something to exterminate the fog.

All the movie theaters are now installing wireless telephone receiving sets to treat the public to a regular 15 minute program of Radio music at each performance. Nothing will be so secret as the old ladies' loving circle in ages to come.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT WIRE-LESS DIVISION, No. 65

British Columbia District

We are glad to see that our brothers of the East Coast District are showing signs of life, as befits the season, and bursting forth into print. Cert. 71 has, as he puts it, taken the bull by the horns, and we trust that his brilliant control of that quadruped will not be a mere sporadic effort, but will become a continuous performance. Good luck, to you, 71. We don't know who you are, but we like your spirit.

It is high time that a Radio District Council was formed in B. C. District Councils, we believe, are far from being the solution of our organization problem, but they are the means provided by our Constitution for enrolling scattered members, and (as we pointed out as long ago as October), it is incumbent on us to take advantage of this provision, if only as a temporary measure. There are half a dozen privately owned commercial stations on this coast, each under a separate management, and several of the operators at these stations have already applied for admission to our Division, which our charter, of course, does not permit. Also, there are a few steamship lines with several operators each, such as the Union SS. Co. and the G. T. P. SS. Co., not covered by the jurisdiction of either Div. 65 or Div. 59. The formation of a District Council in B. C., is the only way of enrolling these operators in the C. T. U. A.; and, Brothers, it's up to us.

It is the peculiarity of radio that one station may constitute a complete radiotelegraph system. In line telegraphy, this tendency to small administrations is not nearly so pronounced, but where it does occur, as in the brokerage business, Group Divisions of the C. T. U. A. meet the need. Still, there is an obvious difference between the membership of a Broker Division, confined to a comparatively crowded locality, and that of any radio unit that would embrace a territory of similar size. but of sparse population. With only the territory of a broker division to work in. a radio unit might only boast a handful of members, and in any case the overlapping of jurisdiction, with ship stations. would be a serious handicap. Look in the official list of radio stations in the United States. Glance down the column headed "Operated by," and you will see that about one station in every four or five is "operated by owner." Then look in the "Owner" column, and observe the hundreds of little outfits that control ship radio stations in the United States.

Imagine forming a unit of the C. T. U. A. for each little "administration," or even a group unit for several of them. In the latter case, we would need a score of new divisions in the C. T. U. A., to accomplish anything like adequate organisation. We can see but one antisfactory alternative: the Radio Division, to include us all.

We must have every radio-telegrapher in North America in the C. T. U. A., if we are permanently to benefit our position. The proposal for a Radio Division, endorsed by the B. C. District Committee of Division 65, and approved by the Committee on Subordinate Units at the Toronto Convention, is the most urgent issue before our members, and we hope to see it the subject of an early plebiscite.

The Civil Service bonus, which is part of our stipend, has not been issued for April, at the time of writing, but it has not yet been officially cancelled; so we are hoping for the best-and expecting the worst. Our present unfortunate position of being paid part of our salary "on sufferance," as it were, is the result of the weak-kneed attitude of civil servants generally in the past. Disdaining to form a real union among themselves, they have been content with lukewarm "associations" that would elsewhere be known as company unions; and being but a drop in the bucket ourselves in comparison with their great number, we have hitherto been compelled to share the punishment which they so richly merit. However, we firmly believe that a day is coming soon when we shall be able to disentangle ourselves from that mob of semi-skilled clerks, and occupy the special position in the civil service to which the nature of our work entitles us. We shall get everything we want, within reason, when we can DEMAND it, not before.

We have often felt the need for some sort of signal by which radio operators could recognize a fellow member of the Union, with whom they happened to be working. To send the full initials of the C. T. U. A., would be too conspicuous a demonstration, besides being liable to get the sender into trouble for the transmission of "superfluous" signals. But the first two letters, C. T., can be easily and safely formed by making a slight pause before the final dash of the dah-di-dah-di-dah commencing sign. Try it on your neighbors.

Answer to Correspondent: Yes, Eric; the letters C. I. D. on the valve detector cases stand for Criminal Investigation Department.

Said someone at Ottawa: "Who's that b. f. at Cape Laso, who keeps writing me personal letters?" Said W. P.: "You've said it; that's what he is. He's not a member."

There's an application form under the tuner.

Cert. 22.

A WORD TO CANADIAN SHIPOWNERS Gentlemen:

Some of you are pressing the Seagoing Wireless Officers to accept a reduction in pay, and basing your arguments on a comparison with American ships. Is this fair? Would you compare your management of ships, or the ability of their personnel, to that of the famous U. S. B., or would the masters of your vessels desire the inefficient wireless service supplied to the bulk of American ships by inexperienced operators? Therefore, make the fairer comparison with British vessels, which sail under similar laws and conditions.

British Wireless Telegraphists rise to a maximum of £28 per month. Compare the proportional increase of a Canadian deck officer's pay with that of the British deck officer, in ships of the same tonnage, and you will see that we are not beyond a similar rate, less, in fact.

The introduction of Wireless Direction Finding for the merchant marine, during the last few years, has increased the responsibility of the wireless personnel. Do you realize that an inefficient operator might cause you the loss of a vessel and cargo, and that you save delay and consequent expense, as your ships can now approach the land, notwithstanding fog?

Ask the masters of your vessels what they think of W/T Direction Finding. Ice reports, danger to navigation and similar reports save you risk and money, by enabling the master to early divert his course to avoid the risk.

To render this valuable service more efficiently, you must have skilled men in the wireless cabin, and you cannot expect to obtain them if you reduce wages till they no longer attract the right class of men.

British law calls for, and Canadian law may shortly call for, one year sea service before a man can go in charge of the installation of the smallest vessel, and three years for Class One vessels. The latter is expected to be raised to five years in the near future. Prior to sea service, he has to attend school for at least six months to become proficient enough to pass his examination, the standard of which has been recently raised.

Equip your vessels with a Gyroscopic Compass, modern Wireless Telegraphy and Direction Finding Gear, and you would be able to supesede the man with the sextant, by one who knows the rule of the road.

The wireless telegraph branch has no coal money, shippers, shipchandlers, and stevedore's gratuity to add to his pay. These still exist in the merchant marine for other branches.

You naturally desire the best possible service and we ever find it growing more difficult and calling for more skill to provide it, owing to the great increase in radio communication.

Wireless is advancing rapidly and it is to your best interest to attract and keep the best type of man in this service. Wages and conditions aboard are a very important factor if you desire to obtain the benefits of the science.

You will be aware that the law calls for 56 stated hours of wireless watch-keeping aboard a one man ship, but I would point out that time signals, necessary to rate your chronometers, many weather, ice and other dangers to navigation reports are not sent through these times. Have we failed you and have we been incessantly clamoring for overtime?

Inquire of the master of vessels, whether they obtain any advantage from wireless, and I think you will realize that wireless telegraphy plays an important part in modern navigation and that it is a good business proposition as well as a wonderful aid to saving life at sea.

Who gets the salvage jobs at sea—the ship with wireless direction finding apparatus. When you divert a ship by wireless how many tons of COAL do you save?

If you examine the facts, you will not want to depreciate its value and you will do so if you reduce its attractiveness as a profession.

A Seafaring Wireless Officer, who learned Telegraphy in 1902.

"PUBLIC OWNERSHIP," A MONTHLY MAGAZINE

The Public Ownership League of America announces the publication, henceforth, of a regular monthly magazine devoted to "public utility problems and social progress."

The magazine will contain in successive numbers, the addresses that were delivered at the Public Ownership Conference held in Chicago last fall. These addresses were by the leading utility experts, managers and superintendents of the greatest and most successful publicly owned utilities and leading students of these problems in America.

Municipal water works, including the great $376,000,000 of New York City; municipal electric light and power plants, including the truly remarkable Hydro-Electric System of Ontario, now the largest electric generating and distributing system in the world; municipal gas plants, successful municipal street ar lines—in short, all phases of municipal ownership will be covered most thoroughly.

In the field of state and national utilities, the railroad problem and the question of the nationalization of the mines, were both presented by the ablest men representing respectively the Railroad Brotherhoods and the United Mine Workers. Glenn E. Plumb spoke for the railroad organizations and John Brophy, President of District No. 2 and others, spoke for the miners.

The church was also ably represented at the Conference, Rev. John A. Ryan of the Catholic University of America, giving an address on "The Attitude of the Church towards Public Ownership," and Samuel Z. Batten of the Baptist Church and Alva W. Taylor of the Disciples Church, spoke on "The Social Service Program of the Church."

"Public Ownership" is the only magazine in America devoted particularly to this field. There are a score or more of high priced magazines devoted to public utility problems from the standpoint of private ownership and special interests. "Public Ownership" is the only one that deals with these problems from the standpoint of the public interest and the general welfare. The price is $2.00 per year and comes free with membership in the Public Ownership League. Sample copies and full particulars may be had by addressing, "Public Ownership," 127 N. Dearborn Street, Room 1439, Chicago, Ill.

FIRE TELEGRAPH DISPATCHERS' NOTES

Chapel No. 1, New York District Council

On May 1st, Dispatcher Brother Reuben Bouton was retired on an annual pension of $1,128.98 after a fire alarm telegraph service of 37 years and three months. Not a voluntary retirement, but a forced one under the Boylan Retirement Law affecting civil employes of the City of New York, in that he has reached the 70th milestone—the age limit under this law. The meagre amount of the pension speaks volumes; a magnanimous award after thirty-seven years' faithful service.

Only another instance of the lack of recognition of the Fire Telegraph Dispatcher in the New York service. While other cities have acknowledged their fire dispatchers and placed them where they rightfully belong—as members of the fire exting ishment branch of their departments—New York City dispatchers are about where the telegraph operators were in the Civil War—unrecognizedbut what would Grant have done without them? Today the Signal Corps is part of the Army—and an indispensable part. That's our position and the recognition has got to come. Patience and honest effort and perseverance is going to do it.

Our best wishes to "Rube," we'll miss him; and the city is losing a capable, efficient and able fire alarm man—his seventy years to the contrary notwithstanding. Listen to the "EVENING WORLD" of May 1, in concluding a fine "write up" of Rube's services:

"The public in general knows little or nothing of the service the fire alarm dispatchers render-if indeed their existence is known at all-for after all the general lay impression seems to be that a fire alarm signal goes direct from the alarm box on the street to the fire engine house. In one day, Dec. 30, 1917, while Bouton was in charge of the Manhattan fire alarm telegraph central operating bureau, the despatchers on duty that day received and transmitted 350 alarm signals, involving the movement of 273 engines, 136 hook and ladder trucks, 129 Chiefs of Battalion, nine hose companies, seven water towers, two rescue squads and one fuel wagon. The day following, $57 alarms were received and transmitted, involving the movement of 707 pieces of apparatus.

"This extraordinary test of the worthiness of the fire alarm bureau and the part it plays in the Signal Corps of the fire-fighting army, provoked a very unusual testimonial from Chief Kenion, who wrote to the chief of the telegraph bureau: 'Say to the fire alarm dispatchers that I appreciate very fully the highly intelligent manner in which they have performed their most exacting duties during the recent severe weather.'"

And this—from "THE CHIEF," the Civil Service journal, April issue:

"The Commissioner took a stroll through Manhattan and Bronx last Saturday and stopped to look over the 67th street platform of the Fire Telegraph Bureau. The Commissioner is an interested student of the fire telegraph bureau. Like most others who are uninitiated he wants to learn more and more about that all important branch of the service—the nerve system of the fire game. It has often been said that the public little know what the fire telegraph operators do and what their true responsibilities are. Indeed the men in the department do not know very much more about what actually goes on in the telegraph bureau. It is an arm of the service that has been unfortunately underestimated, mainly because its functions are noiseless and hidden from the public view. The work of the operators at headquarters does not smack of heroic theatricals for the gallery and perhaps that is why so little is really known of what the dispatchers actually do and what an all important, yet silent, role they play in the theatre of the fire drama. They are truly the scene shifters and without their skillful knowledge the stage setting for fire extinguishment might often flop. The fire alarm dispatchers are the pulse of the service—and if firemen generally knew more about the dispatcher's duties, a better appreciation of their responsibilities could be obtained and the whole fire service that much better off."

A wonderful tribute was paid to our Chief of Department, John Kenlon, on the eve of his departure for Europe to study fire prevention and extinguishment methods "over there" (as if they could teach us anything in these arts!), at a testimonial banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria on the evening of April 22nd.

Ex-governor "Al" Smith, as New Yorkers affectionately know him, presided as toast-master, sitting at the Chief's left, and the Most Reverend Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes at the right. Both paid glowing compliments to the Chief on his qualifications as a fire-man and Christian gentleman; and the confidence that he has in his Chief of Department, Commissioner Brennan told the twelve hundred diners in a way that must be among the Chief's pleasant thoughts as he travels abroad. Mr. William P. Larkin, who so ably guided the K. of C. activities overseas during the war, delivered an oration seldom equaled.

The Fire Telegraph Dispatchers were represented by Brothers W. H. Snyder, W. A. Martin, M. J. Shortall, J. F. Nolan, J. J. Bresnan, T. S. Mahoney and J. F. Seymour.

THE SOUNDER

Conducted by Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21

Meeting Date: Second Wednesday of Each Month at Union of Commerce Hall, 149 Berri St., Montreal.

---Organize----Co-operate---

SOUNDER

Following is the up-to date list of officers of the Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division:

General Chairman, L. H. Des Lauriers, 2526A Esplanade Ave., Montreal, Quebec.

General Secretary-Treasurer, G. C. Gorman, 2020 Cartier St., Montreal, Quebec.

District Officers: Chairman, Toronto, T. J. Clarke, 27 Armadale Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Chairman, Montreal, W. H. Hartley, 1640 St. Urbain St., Montreal, Quebec; Local Secretary, M. J. McFadden, 2038 Esplanade Ave., Montreal, Quebec.

Beginning with the June issue of the Journal, Bro. M. J. McFadden will have charge of the Sounder notes. Send in your news.

Among the malicious lies contained in a circular dated Shames, B. C., was one stating that Vice-President for Canada, Paul F. Schnur, has been working a broker job in Montreal.

Bro. Schnur has never worked a broker job or any other telegraph position in Montreal.

To the Members,

Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21.

Greetings:

I thank you most heartily for the honor you have bestowed upon me, and the confidence that you have shown in me, by electing me to serve you as your general chairman for the current year, and I assure you that I will endeavor to carry out the duties of the office to the very best of my humble ability.

In assuming the duties involved in the general chairmanship of this division, I wish to impress upon the membership the urgent need of co-operation. If we want to rank high in the trades' union movement, every member will have to put his shoulder to the wheel. There is a lot of work to be done, which cannot be accomplished by the officers, without the aid of the rank and file. Every member should take stock of himself, and check up on his "actions for the good of the organization." I am afraid the majority would find that, with the exception of possessing an up-to-date card, they have done nothing whatever to help the organization along. Opportunities arise every day, and by being right on the job, and taking advantage of them, we can accomplish no end of good for the union of our craft.

Our motto should be: "The trouble of one is the concern of all," and by strictly adhering to this, we will ultimately reach the goal.

It has come to my notice in one or two cases, where members of the organization have not played the game squarely with their employers. Remember, this organization is out to show all employers that we, at all times, are ready and willing to give them an even break. Our duties and obligations should be performed to the best of our ability, and our personal conduct should be, at all times, beyond reproach.

I trust that the future shall be a profitable one for this division. If we all play the game together, the work will be easy and the duties of your officers a pleasure. Bear in mind, that the organization is what you make it. Attend your meeting religiously and take an active part in the administration of your district.

Again I thank you in anticipation of receiving the hearty co-operation of every member.

With best wishes to all, I remain, Yours fraternally,

L. H. DES LAURIERS, General Chairman.

It is indeed encouraging to the officers of this division, and it should be likewise to all members of the C. T. U. A., to pick up the last Journal and notice the hearty co-operation shown by all the different divisions, simply by the interesting notes and correspondence from each one.

This is exactly what it should be, and we sincerely hope it will continue.

Every member should read his or her Journal as thoroughly as they would their daily newspaper or any of their favorite books. In this way it would be so much easier for everyone to work together and by so doing, we should easily achieve our mark of 100% by the end of the year.

It also should increase the attendance at our monthly meetings, as there could be no alibi as to "not knowing when our last meeting was held, etc.," also what a great deal of work it would take off the shoulders of your officers, by not having to send out notices of meetings, which by the way, don't help our treasury any, as can be easily understood.

Fortunately we have a goodly number of members who do not need this suggestion, but there are still a large number who seem to think by merely paying their dues, they have done enough. This should not be, and let us hope from now on, we will see bumper attendances and let everybody join in the discussions which may arise.

--- ROUND THE STREET-

Things seem to be looking brighter, market-wise at least, and if it keeps up, we hope to report a clear block shortly.

Bro. Cole has worn out enough shoe leather, and is now regular at a new firm, The Canadian Wheat and Shipping Company.

Bro. O'Donnell is calling them off at Bryant Bros., ably assisted by Bro. Poulin.

Bro. Vachon of "DO" office, took a week off to do some carpenter work, and was filled in by Bro. Wheaton.

Looks as if Bros. Des Laurier and Gorman are going to have it kind of soft— How come? Ask Mike.

Bro. McFadden did the grand at J. M. Robinson & Sons, while Marchand had two weeks lay-off with tonsilitis. (What's he sine?)

Wait till we have our District Council going strong here, then we will be altogether, as we should be. By the next copy of the Journal, we should have some news to report on it, as Bro. Schnur is a rampant bull on the subject, and will give us all the real dope.

While we are at it. I would like to call attention to the fact that we have an assessment of 50 cents a month in our local. Unfortunately there's quite a few who probably have forgotten all about it, or else never heard of it. However, you certainly want to be up-to-date, and now is the time to do so. Don't let George do it all, but just call him up, or send him your back dues (assessments).

The radio bug has hit this town, too, and has such a hold on one of our brothers, that he often becomes absent-minded and waits for the Winnipeg operator to talk to him, instead of dot-and-dashing it. Who? Ask Eddie.

We also have a Movie Star in our midst. Bro. Wheaton helped one of our brothers to move, May 1st, and the way he handled the furniture, etc., would make Charlie Chaplin look like "The Immigrant." 'Ware you got them furniture?

If Bro. Hague of the Press, could pick a winner at the races as easy as he can at the bowling game, I am afraid some of the bookies would soon go broke. Four championships out of four attempts is not bad, I'll say. How come, Ralph?

Bro. Jimmie Culkin, late of Bank of Commerce, has resigned to take a position with the National City Bond Company, in Toronto, made vacant recently by the promotion of W. J. Buckingham, who has been transferred to the bond department. (What's the attraction in Toronto, Jim? Must be the climate?)

"Buck" was a recent visitor to the city, and got hold of Jimmie. We are surely glad to hear of the promotion of Bro. Buckingham, and it is to be hoped that in his new field, he will not forget the old. "Buck" was one of our strongest workers, and we wish him all the success in the world.

Now that the holiday season is near, it would be a good suggestion for all members to make their arrangements for relief as far as possible, and to let their Division Heads know of the dates, etc.

Departures: Bros. "Jeff" MacIntosh and Chalut, late of McDougall and Cowans. Bro. MacIntosh left for his home in Toronto, while Bro. Chalut thinks he can do better growing oranges in Tampa, Fla. How you like the climate, Rudolph? 73's.

Arrivals: Bro. Blackwell, late of Can. Press. Ottawa, succeeds Bro. MacIntosh; Bro. Kew. Can. Press. Toronto, succeeds Bro. Chalut. We haven't had the opportunity of meeting either brother as yet, but hope to see you get your transfers to our division soon.

If you don't see your name in the Journad, don't blame the writer, as he can only do so much. If you would all send in some notes from time to time, it would greatly help. Don't think that the notes from this division are only interesting to Montreal. No, they are for everyone, and a member on the Pacific Coast may be just as interested in some of our notes as a member on the Atlantic Coast. Hub and Tom, take note.

We expect to have a much increased membership at our next meeting, which is "The second Wednesday of each month," so now make all arrangements to be there and get the habit. The more, the merrier.

And again, don't forget the assessment, if you want to keep up-to-date. Also do your utmost to bring in a new member.

Yours truly,

MIJ.

Meeting Days: Second and Fourth Saturdays each Month, except during June, July and August—last Saturday of Month, 2:30 P. M.

DO YOU KNOW

That the Eastern Broker Division is a conservative business organization, with fraternal and social features?

That its object is to render service to its members, and to co-operate with our employers?

That our business offices and Service Bureau are in charge of our Secretary, a man of broad and varied experience, who is on duty every business day from 8:30 a, m, until 5 p. m.?

That during the year 1921 our Service Bureau, operating for the mutual benefit of the employer and the employee, was the active agent in placing 188 thoroughly experienced broker telegraphers in permanent jobs?

That during the year 1921 our Service Bureau responded promptly to 1906 emergency calls, providing 4,286 days' work for the unemployed, and incidentally enabling the employer in many cases to overcome a serious situation?

That the qualifications for membership in our organization are good moral character, telegraphic ability with broker experience and a willingness to conform to the high standard of business conduct required of members? Unreliables, temperamentals, slackers and malignerers are not wanted.

That, judged by the number of suspensions, liquidations, mergers, and wire changes recently, no broker telegrapher can boast that he has a life job?

NEW YORK NOTES

At the regular meeting of the New York District, Eastern Broker Division, held on April 22nd, Brother Charles Josephson was elected to the office of Second Vice-Chairman of the District to succeed Brother Matt Sullivan, resigned. Brother Sullivan's hours of duty at his place of employment are such as to make it impossible for him to attend meetings and at his request a successor was elected.

Brother Chas. G. Donahue has resigned as Division Journal correspondent. All district secretaries of the E. B. D. will submit their Journal notes to Secretary-Treasurer J. A. Hickey until such time as a successor to Brother Donahue is appointed, due notice of which will be given.

We learn with deep regret of the passing away of the mother of Brother I. Schwadron. Kindly accept our heartfelt sympathies, Ika.

PHILADELPHIA DISTRICT E. B. D. NOTES

Regular meeting of the District was held April 29th and further progress towards establishing a headquarters was made. Brothers Wright and Mullin will work together with the chairman to solve the problem, and present the solution at the next meeting. It is of vital importance to every member and he should make it his business to attend. The next meeting will be held May 27th. Watch for your notice.

Brother DeLaney contributed to the success of the meeting by his timely remarks.

Brother Joe Camp passed up a good Saturday afternoon in the garden at his home in Vineland to be with the boys. He has regained his good health after being troubled with rheumatism and lumbago during the early spring.

If the brothers will be good enough to notify the Secretary of any change in their home address, they will get the notices more promptly.

Around the Street

West & Co. is the largest wire house in Philadelphia. They are going out after the business and getting it. Six operators are employed and they are all reliable and capable. They are: Sam Long, Reginald Makin, Harry Campbell, Bert Mathews, E. M. Price and James Mullin and every one knows how they stand.

Harry Riskie showed the true spirit and won his reward when Barclay Moore & Co. sent for him. We need more Riskies.

Herb McNichol had a three day scoop at Halle and Stieglitz while Daniel A. McGarvey was nursing a slight illness.

Harry Rufee waited long and patiently after Paine, Webber & Co. reduced their force, and was rewarded with a position at Carstairs & Co.

Edward S. Goshorn, after trying out the insurance game, decided to come back to the brokerage business. He is with Middleton & Company in their Camden (N. J.) office. Their Philadelphia office is being held down by Bill Merritt.

Frank Lauria is located with Borden & Knoblaugh in the old financial district.

Ralph Howard has located with Taylor & Co. at 15th and Arch streets—the right man in the right place.

M. H. Goodis, late manager of L. A. Gerson & Co.'s Pittsburgh office, is now in business for himself. Real estate, insurance, mortgages and collections is now his forte. The Guarantee Service Co., 521 Real Estate Trust Building, will be glad to serve his friends. More power to you.

Bear this in mind—YOU are the union. Attendance at meetings is a sign of your interest.

DANKER 2 D

Conducted by The New England Brokers' Division, Headquarters and Employment Bureau, No. 7 State Street, Boston, Mass.

Regular monthly meetings at Headquarters, last Monday in the month.

By J. F. MULLEN, JR.

The April meeting was called to order at 5:05 p. m. by the President. Brother Sullivan acted as secretary until the arrival of the Secretary.

Roll was omitted. Records of previous meeting were read and approved. Communication was read from St. Louis operators regarding wages and general conditions. Following this, a letter from President Johnson was read explaining the situation that had arisen and giving his instructions with constitutional references covering the St. Louis situation. The communications were placed on file.

Two new members were taken in and one was turned down.

Reports of committees and financial report were accepted.

The Chair appointed a committee of three to collect dues and names of all delinquents were posted on the bulletin board.

Hereafter, by action at this meeting, notices of meetings will be sent out.

All members are again referred to our by-laws regarding the reporting of vacancies to the employment committee and also keeping in touch with the employment committee.

The Secretary was asked regarding the standing of a man the other day and after certifying him as O. K. found that he had left town and had popped up in another city for a job without communicating with the committee. In this particular case, the actions of this individual did not hamper or interfere with the employment committee, but if it had so happened that the employment committee had been working on this particular vacancy, a different story would have been in the making for this issue of the Journal. We cannot cooperate with you if you fail to co-operate with us. The by-laws provide penalties for hampering the work of the employment committee.

During the month another member was found "pushing" a Western Union man for a vacancy with the idea that if said W. U. man caught on he would take out a card. This is a violation of the rules and is against the best interests of the union. The job was filled by the employment committee and the case of the union man will be investigated at once.

These matters are published in order to jog everyone's memory that he has a duty to perform while holding a card. Also the various committees of the union have a duty to perform and that is to protect the membership at large. All violations of rules are detrimental to the morale of the union, therefore, whether large or small matters, they will be taken up and investigated with the idea of keeping true to our responsibilities.

The dues are coming in very satisfactorily. The new committee has already obtained results along this line. Of the few remaining, most of them will be in within a week or two and the others will be out with those who have nothing in their inside pocket but cigarette coupons.

A STATEMENT BY C. L. BURKETT

Chicago, May 15, 1922.

Mr. Frank B. Powers,

I. S. T., C. T. U. A.,

City.

Dear Sir:

After being informed by you of the different reports about a conversation in which I was involved on a Saturday night recently on the Seattle I. N. S. wire, I am taking this opportunity to write you an explanation of the whole situation.

I remember the occurrence distinctly. The statements which you have received are erroneous and badly mutilated. The argument, as I stand ready to honestly relate to you, runs like this:

I was sending on the wire in question on this particular night. The wire became rotten and I switched from the bug to hand sending and was complimented on the Morse which the receivers were getting, they asking me who it was. I told them it was me, and they immediately began to roast me without asking me anything of the circumstances why I was delinquent in getting a renewal of my card. And they naturally raised my ire to such a pitch that I said more to them than I should have done and, of course, regretted immediately thereafter. My argument was brought forth by my pride in having been a good union man in the past-having been the first operator out of 50 in the Augusta, Ga., Postal office in 1907 to refuse to work with the Birmingham office, which had just struck and incidentally leading a strike of the entire force there, which kept me on strike the full duration of the strike of that year.

And again in 1918 when there was a boom for organization by the Konenkamp regime, I took the reins in hand in the very same office, resigned from the A. P. and began working for the Postal in order to organize the office, which I did and was the first to strike in the 1919 strike in the same office. I did not believe the union men were treating me right in view of my past heipfulness to the union. This is entirely responsible for me making any remarks at all.

As I understand someone said I said, "that I hadn't had a card since 1905 (the records disprove this) and didn't need one; that I could get along all right without the union. etc." I take pleasure in hereby refuting the charges most emphatically and relate to you the correctness of my side of the matter. What I did say was this: "I have been in the union off and on ever since 1905, and was in the big two strikes. And that I didn't wait until I needed a card the last time to get one, (as someone charged), but joined the union last year when I was in business for myself as a cotton broker and in a position to employ operators at the union scale myself." I was trying to make the point clear to the men in question that I did not wait until I was working in a closed shop to ask for a card, and during the heat of the conversation I said, "if they didn't stop bothering me I didn't know whether or not I would take out a card." Of course, I regretted saying the last few words, and they were only brought out by antagonism, which, I believe the men should not use without first finding out the underlying causes for delinquency. In my case it was due entirely to a lack of funds due to the fact that I had just moved my family one thousand miles. I hold to animosity against any of the men, but do believe there should be a more brotherly spirit in this division.

I make this appeal to remain in the union not because of the fact that I am employed by a union shop press association—the present position does not worry me—but because of the principle involved. I remarked to you today that I would rather have the card and not the job, than the job and not the card.

I request that you publish this letter in the next issue of the Journal that the Westerners may know me as well as the Southerners do.

Thanking you for your consideration, I remain, Fraternally yours,

C. L. BURKETT.

REAL CUSTER STORY REMAINS UNTOLD

John M. Carnahan, Telegrapher, One of Few Remaining Persons Who Knows Inside Details of How Terrible Massacre of 1876 Happened.

Forty-five years ago the famous Custer Massacre occurred. Few who remember more than the mere name of that terrible struggle against the painted hordes of Sitting Bull in the valley of the Little Big Horn, but among those few still remains Mrs. George Custer. widow of the General, after nearly half a century of widowhood. Only recently she sent, as a special remembrance from herself, a steel engraving of Gen. Custer to John M. Carnahan, gray-haired veteran of the Old West, whose story, linked closely with that of the massacre, has never been adequately told. It is with this hero of the telegraph that the present narrative has to do, said J. D. Sayers recently in the New York Evening

After more than fifty-three years of active telegraph service, which began the first year of the Civil War, Carnahan retired to his ranch near Missoula, Mont., where he now lives. It was in Missoula eleven years ago that the writer first heard this story. It is being written now as a result of an interesting letter recently received from Carnahan, telling of the receipt of the highly prized engraving.

In 1876, in Bismarck, Dakota, one of the toughest towns of the frontier, John Carnahan was serving, the westernmost telegraph operator at that time by more than 200 miles. Bismarck was the site of Fort Abraham Lincoln, the headquarters of Gen. George Custer. From there Carnahan, by exertion and endurance which still astound the experienced telegrapher, "sent" for nearly eighty hours, with very little rest, the official and unofficial news of the Massacre.

Bismarck is nearly 500 miles east of the point in south central Montana where, on June 25, 1877, the brave Seventh Cavalry rode to annihilation. It was not until in the night of July 5th that the river steamer Far West came down the Missouri and tied up at Bismarck. It brought the wounded of Reno's command and official dispatches telling the news. Bismarck people, used to fighting and bloodshed, were stunned, but John Carnahan went to his key at 8 o'clock July 6th and began sending the official dispatches, never getting away from the grind until 5 o'clock the following morning—twenty-one hours of "handsending," something which few present day operators could do.

Utterly exhausted, he lay down and slept for just three hours, then began another shift of twenty hours of continuous, paralyzing sending, for too much sending without a turn once in a while on the "receiving side" soon paralyzes the best of senders. The war Department at Washington must have the official dispatches quickly, and only after fifty-three hours of almost unbroken sending did he have time for any real rest, having sent 80,000 words in the meantime.

But while the official dispatches were being sent, Eastern papers were clamoring frantically for news. They could not be accommodated for more than two days. Then having recuperated but meagerly from his toil with the official dispatches, he prepared as much "story" as he had strength and sent it to the New York Herald, Chicago Inter-Ocean, and St. Paul Pioneer Press. special correspondents hurried to Bismarck to get the intimate details of the great "story." By the time Carnahan had again rested a little there was a small army of these men waiting for him to transmit their news to the East, and another heavy grind followed.

For these were long "stories" which these men sent back to their offices. O'Kelley, for the New York Herald, saw the scene of the battle and prepared the story in every detail, writing and writing, until two thick books of paper, written on both sides, was before Carnahan to be sent East. Twelve hours of unceasing grinding at the key before the weary telegrapher was clear of O'Kelley's story. The latter made him a present of $50 when he finished sending it—this besides the telegraph tolls on it, which amounted to $1,320 for the 22,000 words.

Mr. Carnahan is always modest about his great feat of endurance. "I knew I was mighty tired," he says, "but it didn't occur to me at the time that we were making history. There were two operators in the St. Paul office who received the messages that I sent. They were Will Gridley and E. Hughes. Hughes is dead, but I believe Gridley is yet living in Minnesota."

Of Mr. Carnahan's fifty-three years of active telegraph service, nearly all was spent in the inhospitable West of the stubborn Sioux and Cheyennes. In all those eventful years many must have been the professional secrets confided to him and his key; none perhaps was more interesting than that of the correspondence between President Grant and the proud and intrepid but sensitive Gen. Custer.

It has been surmised that in that correspondence was the thus far missing reason why Custer rode so recklessly into the jaws of almost certain annihilation. John M. Carnahan may yet be the one to give the world this additional page of history.

BABSON WARNS EMPLOYERS

Roger W. Babson, business statistical expert, in his bulletin issued recently sounds a warning to employers to desist their "American plan" and "open shop" campaign unless they wish to be annihilated in the reaction which will follow their campaign to crush labor.

The bulletin, headed "Time to Think About Labor," among other things says:

"Employers the country over have been swinging the tomahawk for the past 18 months. The days for such activity are now drawing to a close. It is time to think and reason. What we mean is indicated by the clock face. It is now about 6 o'clock industrial time.

"Eighteen months ago it was between 3 and 4 o'clock. For the past three industrial hours we have been going along in an industrial twilight when the advantage was all with the employer and not at all with the employe.

"During the war, with the approval of some of the best minds in the nation, the practice of collective bargaining was set up in hundred of places where previously no such thing had prevailed. Of late following the lead of United States Steel, many firms have gone back to the individual bargain plan—some with a cast-iron individual contract which binds the employe never to join a union or any other labor organization—and a systematic campaign of "union busting" has gone into effect.

"Again, a new form of industrial government has been set up—government by injunction! The twilight employer, rather than work his way through his industrial difficulties, has gone around them and has rushed to the courts to accomplish by legal force what he could not bring about by other methods.

"We hold no brief for unions or unionism, as they exist. We are aware of the faults of unions.

"The employer who flatters himself, however, that the open shop campaign has put unionism off the map, is grossly deceived. We may settle down upon the fundamental fact that labor brings terms and conditions of sales which satisfy its own ideas. If the labor people want unions, they are going to have them, no matter what we think about it.

"The unions are coming back—chastened and improved, we hope, by the experience of the past few months—but still coming back to take the field because they are going to be labor's own best means of getting such market condititons as it wishes. So with the growing volume of industrial machinery which has been built up in industry, the personnel department, the shop committee, the various expedients designed to help labor's situation—these things are all coming back and they are going to show themselves when the clock hand reaches 9 or 10.

"Employers have been running with the tide for the past 18 months. Before long the tide will be setting the other way.

"The employer must put thought in the place of force, and some of the same intelligence that has gone into the perfecting of mechanical equipment must be given to machinery for gaining and keeping industrial peace.

"This thing touches industry at all points. In the fierce competition of the next decade the plant with a sane labor policy will be able to get out its product, to market it, to sell its securities to satisfy its stockholders.

"Other plants will fail at some or all of these points.

"It is, therefore, time now for intelligent employers to hang up the tomahawk and take down the neglected machinery for industrial peace.

"You have gone as far as you can by fighting. Labor that you could whip at 5 o'clock will be able to whip you when it is 10 o'clock."

TWO NEW BROKER DIVISIONS FORMED

The broad-minded and unselfish step taken by the Western Broker Division last month in offering either of two plans of reorganization to sub-divisions has resulted in renewed vigor and enthusiasm among the members and officers of the various sub-units.

Charters have been issued for the Southwest Broker Division, with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., and the Michigan Broker Division, with headquarters in Detroit, in accordance with the new plan offered by the Western Broker Division, and other sub-divisions are expected to accept one plan or the other at their next meeting.

Thirty-two charter petitioners met in Kansas City on May 25th and elected Floyd R. Smith as temporary president and A. M. Hall temporary secretary-treasurer. Permanent officers will be elected at the next meeting.

Predictions were made at the meeting that no less than 150 will be enrolled in the Southwest Broker Division before the snow flies, and judging from the spirit shown that is a conservative guess.

Temporary officers chosen at the meeting in Detroit were: Guy H. Blakeley, president, and Hugo E. Neumann, secretary-treasurer. With but two days' notice of a meeting on May 20, a goodly number turned out and signed the charter petition. Rolls were kept open, however, to allow several others to sign. The Michigan Broker Division has a field of about 125 to draw from. "Ninety per cent solid for the second half," is their slogan, and the names on their charter petition are a guarantee that it means something.

Frank B. Powers, International Secretary-Treasurer, who spoke at both reorganization meetings, emphasized the need for Kansas City and Detroit broker operators adopting one plan or the other. He outlined in detail how the large broker divisions last winter handled the worst unemployment problem in many years.

"Unless you have every broker operator lined up (either under the district or divisional plan)," Bro. Powers declared, "your scale will be fixed by the fellow who goes from door to door, bidding, or rather offering his services for whatever they will bring.

"Every job should be filled from one place—headquarters. No member should be permitted to hunt jobs. When you have the brokerage houses calling up headquarters for men because they can get them in no other way, then you can regulate your scale to suit yourselves; give work to your own members and weed out the under-bidder or incompetent who hurts every good man by calling himself a broker operator."

PAY YOUR DUES NOW

Second half dues are now due and payable. Make your remittances early and get in ahead of the rush in July.

Minimum dues are $5.50 semi-annually.

Roscoe H. Johnson, President, Commercial Telegraphers' Union, Chicago, Ill. John B. Alcorn, President, Western Broker Division, Chicago, Ill.

Believing that the interests of the Union at this time warrant the granting of a charter for the State of Michigan because of the large number of telegraphers employed here, we, the undersigned broker telegraphers, do hereby petition the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America for a charter for a separate broker division, to be known as the Michigan Broker Division, territory to include the State of Michigan, and we assure you of our earnest desire to co-operate with the Western and Eastern Broker Divisions in organization of broker telegraphers wherever possible to do so.

It is, however, our desire to operate independently, reporting direct to the International instead of the Western Broker Division.

The commercial telegraph workers of Canada are today confronted with a problem of immense gravity.

Unless the big majority of our members who are now more or less indifferent bestir themselves and take an interest in their own welfare as a collective body of workers, before it is too late, they will find themselves legislated out of the C. T. U. A. by a comparatively small minority who go to the meetings.

This small "working minority," particularly alive in the West, have fallen prey to the "National Union" vultures and have openly declared themselves in favor of this reactionary and backward step.

The general labor movement in the West, which has never been accused of reaction, holds no beacon light for our misguided fellow workers in the telegraph industry. Instead of our "progressive" leaders of thought in the West devoting their energies to solidification of the telegraph workers they have fallen into the most miserable depths of reaction.

In these days of severe trial, when we are besieged on all sides by the ruthless employing classes, the miserable and heartsick workers look to their leaders for some action that will bring more solidarity on the industrial battlefield. Instead of further splitting up and weakening ourselves we should be banding closer together. By splitting up we but place ourselves in a position to be "sniped" out of existence.

Even the intelligence of the wild prairie horses is superior to that of our alleged "leaders of thought" who advocate a backward step into National unionism. The horses when attacked by wolves have sense enough to form a circle with heads in and heels out, which position enables them to effectively resist attack. Would that our so-called intellectuals in the West had as much sense as the dumb brutes of the wild plains!

The press of Canada which represents Big Business, has been carrying on a feverish campaign of propaganda, urging, beseeching and even demanding that Canadian workers form their own national organizations and "keep their money in Canada." Not so many months ago when the One Big Union threatened the interests of Big Business these same newspapers were enlisted to knock the O. B. U. and boost the International Unions.

Now that the O. B. U. has been successfully knocked, we find them knocking International Unions and boosting National organizations. Should Big Business be successful in their dastardly campaign against International Unions, the weakest mind should clearly be able to vision the fate of the National Unions.

We must remember that Big Business doesn't want ANY unions. They want individual bargaining!

The "intellectuals" in our movement would lead us to the slaughter pen if we stand for it.

IF THE CANADIAN TELEGRAPHERS MAKE ANY CHANGE IN THEIR FORM OF ORGANIZATION IT MUST BE FOR THE BETTER. WE MUST NOT TAKE ONE STEP BACKWARDS!

Swapping horses in midstream is always precarious and the danger is considerably heightened when you know the other horse is carrying a handicap.

It is up to the commercial telegraph workers to decide now if they are to make a progressive move or a reactionary one.

The reward of reaction is always a bitter one. If we do not care to profit by the past experience of other labor organizations who tried the National Union idea and failed, we must go through the disheartening experience ourselves.

If, as our Western intellectuals say, the Canadian telegraphers have no particular sympathy for our sisters and brothers in the United States and can get along much better without them, we have indeed reached a selfish stage of self-approval. However, I cannot believe the majority of telegraphers feel this way.

The Eastern Canada membership of the C. T. U. A. has gone on record as strongly opposed to the formation of a national union of telegraphers.

The majority of our membership is in the East so we will realize that our western members, by following their "intellectuals" will do nothing but split us into two factions. This we cannot afford.

WE SHOULD ALL BE BROAD ENOUGH TO RECOGNIZE AND ACCEPT MAJORITY RULE.

IF THE MAJORITY OF OUR FELLOW WORKERS ARE GOING TO STAY WITH THE C. T. U. A., WHICH THEY HAVE DECIDED TO DO, IT IS THE DUTY OF THE MINORITY TO ACCEPT AND ABIDE BY THIS DECISION.

Non-acceptance of the principle of majority rule shows us up as nothing but a disorganized mob.

We have it within our power to work out a proper and equitable adjustment of this difficulty.

ARE WE GOING TO WAKE UP AND TAKE AN INTEREST IN OUR OWN WELFARE, OR SHALL WE REMAIN INDIFFERENT AND SLIDE INTO THE ASH-CAN OF OBLIVION?

The decision rests with you. What are you going to do about it?

Sunday, May 28th, witnessed the birth of the Montreal District Council. The affiliated subordinate units are: C. P. R., C. N. T., Canadian Broker, Canadian Press and United Press.

District Councils are now functioning in Quebec City, Montreal and Ottawa. Other District Councils are in the process of formation.

These councils are but the first step towards the eventual Joint Council of Divisions, which we are so badly in need of.

DRAPER OPPOSES UNION INCOR-PORATION

Trade Union Incorporation Would Aid Labor Opponents

"Business institutions do not incorporate to increase their responsibility or liabilities, but always for the purpose of limiting the same," says P. M. Draper, secretary-treasurer of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, writing in Canadian Congress Journal against the incorporation of trade unions.

"The ground always urged is that 'unions should be incorporated and become amenable to the law just like an employer, a partnership or any corporate body is.'

"The short and simple answer is that trade unions, whether incorporated or unincorporated, are and always have been subject to the law, with no privileges that an employer, a partnership or a corporate body have, but with many disabilities that these have not.

"Incorporation of trade unions would restrict their activities to such as the courts decided to be good for them, and would place with the courts the power to interpret their constitutions and would further establish a property right for each suspended member, as was recently attempted by the Canadian Brotherhood Railroad Employes in the case against the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada for suspension. It would give power to the courts to dissolve trade unions for the supposed infractions of the purposes for which they were incorporated and in every way would serve as a deterrent to their growth and useful developments.

"For the benefit of those who do not understand labor's rather chilly aloofness toward the law and judges, let me point out some of the reasons:

"The employer is held responsible for the acts of his agent only when the agent is acting within the scope of his authority. The union has, for one reason or other, been mulcted in damages for absolutely unauthorized acts of members, even where those acts have been committed without the knowledge or consent of the union.

"Organized employers who conspired together to drive a competitor into the ground—to ruin him—and have succeeded, were held within the law. Union members agreeing together, for even less drastic objects, have been enjoined and punished in damages by the same courts.

"The courts have frequently driven through acts of parliament to help the employer and to find a way to give judgment against the men.

"The courts have granted injunctions so wide in their terms as to leave it questionable whether the men could breathe without violating the injunction.

"It is the beneficiaries of the above system who urge unions to place their confidence in the law."

THROW OUT THE TRAITORS

The traitor has called forth volumes of bitter condemnation in all ages of history. Whether he be the betrayer of his God or the betrayer of his fellow worker, the traitor is the most despicable specimen of carrion that the human family is compelled to disinfect itself against.

A man gains the regard and confidence of his associate workers by his wisdom, honesty and unselfishness over a period of many years.

He may perhaps have been a good striker in 1907.

He is regarded as a regular fellow. If things go wrong he is looked to for advice and that advice is usually followed.

Then, for the sake of a few pieces of silver, he turns upon his friends and betrays them.

The organizers of the A. W. E. three years ago knew that they were being made use of by the Western Union Telegraph Company.

The organizers of the A. W. E. deliberately and knowingly betrayed their fellow workers at that time by accepting a pittance in the form of salary for themselves, and accepting a pitiful 10 per cent increase for their fellow workers when real liberty was in their grasp.

The officers of the A. W. E. betrayed their fellow workers when they accepted reduction after reduction, beginning a year ago, and waived rights and privileges gained after 20 years' continuous battling of members of the C. T. U. A.

Congratulations to those Western Union employes who not only have discovered their confidence was misplaced, but have taken action to rectify their mistake.

TELEGRAPHERS HAVE LONG MEMORIES

Fifteen years ago the United Mine Workers of America came to the aid of the striking Commercial Telegraphers to the tune of over $5,000.

Today nearly a million miners are on strike and need your help.

That brief statement of facts should be sufficient to bring a striking expression of the gratitude and memory of the Commercial Telegrapher.

The New England Broker Division has the honor of starting the procession with an initial donation of $17 for the miners.

W. U. BOYS STRIKE IN SPOKANE

Twenty-three of the 24 Western Union messenger boys walked off the job shortly after reporting for work May 24th, when the Company announced a slash in fees, the fifth in six months.

The walkout followed an announcement by the Company of a reduction of approximately one-fourth of a cent on each call made, according to C. C. Comstock, City Superintendent. The boys are paid on a sliding scale, Mr. Comstock said, receiving from about 3 cents for downtown calls to more than 20 cents for calls in the residential districts.

Messenger boys said that the reduction amounted to from ½ cent to 4½ cents on every call made.

Pat Horton, a messenger, said that "this is the fifth cut in the last six months. The reduction announced today ranges from ½ cent to 4 cents on every call made. We have been averaging around $2 a day, but with the new schedule we would not make much more than $1.50."

GOMPERS ATTACKS CORONADO DECISION

Cincinnati.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, announced that organized labor will appeal to Congress and the people of the United States to rectify the decision of the Supreme Court on the Coronado coal case holding labor unions finally liable for loss sustained by employers during strikes.

The veteran labor leader, who arrived in a fighting mood, indicated that the American Federation would lay plans at its convention here next week to literally wage war on the United States Supreme Court and its alleged anti-labor decisions.

Mr. Gompers declared that this decision, which "comes as the climax of decisions of the United States Supreme Court in the last few months against labor since the ascension to the chief justiceship of Mr. Taft," is a blow at the "very foundation of the organized labor movement of America."

"Such a decision, if it holds," he added, "means that the big employer and the big financier can impose any condition on the working people and they dare not resist."

Of Chief Justice Taft he said: "The expression of Justice Taft that it was with 'great regret that the court finds itself unable to affirm the decision of the lower courts holding the United Mine Workers not liable is gratuitous, bitter and unforgivable."

Shortly after his arrival here to attend the labor convention, Mr. Gompers called the newspaper men to his room and said he had just finished a careful reading of the Supreme Court's Coronado case decision.

Cites Similar Case in England

"For the first time in the history of federal decisions," he said, "the court has laid down the principle that a voluntary organization, not instituted for profit, is liable for damages for any act committed by one of its members, or group of members, no matter how far related they may be in distance or supervision.

"It is on a par with the famous case decided by the highest court of England in the Taff-Vale case in 1905, in which the same principle was laid down in spite of existing laws. Within a year the Parliament of England passed a law, commonly known as the Trades Dispute act, by which the decision of the court and the effect were rectified.

"Just about that time a suit was brought in the courts of the United States in the famous Danbury hatters case, in which the theory of the Taff-Vale decision was followed. Following that, Congress of the United States passed a bill known as the Clayton Anti-Trust law, amendatory of the Sherman Anti-Trust law. Sections 6 and 20 of that law undertook to remedy the decision of the higher courts in the famous Danbury hatters case.

"And now the Coronado case. The court has practically swept aside or annulled the provisions of the Clayton law. The Coronado case is the climax of decisions of the Supreme Court in the past few months against labor and since the ascension to the chief justiceship of Mr. Tatt.

"It establishes the principle that unions of labor are responsible for the conduct of any of its members. The textile workers, 60,000 in number, are on a strike now against a reduction in wages. Under the terms of the Supreme Court the union can be held responsible for any damages that the mill owners can show they suffered by reason of the strike.

Promines Convention Action

"The shoe workers are now on strike in Cincinnati against a 10 per cent reduction and under the Coronado decision the strikers could be held liable for three times the loss sustained by the companies. The same holds true in any strike where the union gives its approval.

"But there is a latent power over and above the Supreme Court of the United States and that is the power of Congress and the people of the United States and the people of the United States. Everybody is agreed that child labor should be abolished, yet the Supreme Court recently annulled the law against child labor. It goes without saying that the convention of the Federation of Larbor will take steps seeking legislation to remedy the effect of the Coronado decision.

"The charge the trial judge made in the Coronado case was biased, bitter and denunciatory of miners. The jury at first was unable to agree and the judge warned the jurymen that they must find a verdict against the plaintiff. And still the jury failed to agree.

"Then the judge demanded again that the jury agree and find for the company. He said all the jury had to do was to determine the amount of damages for the company. He said, 'I have no intention of discharging this jury until it has reached a verdict.' In other words, he held over the heads of the jury the possibility of 'life imprisonment' unless they reached a verdict. Under duress the jury returned a verdict for the company."

AUTOMATIC PRINTERS AND RADIO TO DISPLACE MORSE, PEW TELLS MISSOURI AUDIENCE

World communication in its physical and spiritual aspects was the main topic of Marlen E. Pew, editor and manager of International News Service, in his address May 24 before the journalism week assemblage at the University of Missouri, Columbia. Introduction of automatic printing and receiving devices for telegraphy was called the most striking physical development of the past 25 years in the wire field by Mr. Pew, with the printing-receiving machine operated by radio impulse as the sensation of the near future. said that I. N. S. had been experimenting along this line for two years and that he expected shortly an important announcement concerning developments.

Radio, he said, promises to turn the searchlight of new fact into dark and distant byways of the world, with the prospect that communication between nations will become much less costly and difficult than at present.

Mr. Pew's address in part follows:

"Dean Williams has requested that I speak concerning the little-known science of world communication. If you go to your library you will find nothing concrete concerning this subject, which is passing strange as it lies at the foundation of human civilization. By diligently searching you will find that the world's physical equipment is fairly complete, with some five and a half million miles of telegraph wire, about 25 per cent of which is in the United States: fifty million miles of telephone wire, half of which is in our own country: 242.159 miles of cable under the seas, less than one-fifth of which is controlled by the United States, and the wonderful new world-wide radio communication service, a heritage of the war, which is rapidly displacing cable for press uses and in the United States and England has within a few months become the toy of hundreds of thousands of amateurs.

"The most striking development in the physical wire equipment in 25 years is the perfection of automatic printing or receiving devices, destined to displace the Morse telegraph operator, for which he should be devoutly thankful for a release from a nervetorturing work. Farseeing Morse operators are studying radio today. These automatic printers are now used in thousands of newspaper offices in this country and Europe, doing very satisfactory service. Press telegraphy in this country is done largely on telephone wires, because it is economical as well as efficient. I am sorry to say, as an evidence of the unequal economic situation in this country, that the best printer equipment is not available for use on the telephone wires and is denied to the publishers of this country. This is an evil which ultimately will be overcome.

"The sensation of the hour in the physical equipment field is the printer-receiver machine operated by radio impulse. International News Service has been experimenting with this device for more than two years. The best I may say is that we have found it to be practical and I predict an important announcement concerning it in the near future.

"The whole field of radio communication is largely experimental, but amazingly progressive. Commercially, it has been the nearest thing to a national craze since the advent of the talking machine. To dealers it has been a veritable gold rush. I am informed there are now 10,000 or 15,000 radio transmitting stations in the U. S., and more than 1,000.000 receiving sets. The science will bring it into every newspaper office of this country and I hope, of the world, ultimately to replace wires.

"Imagination does not need to run far to foresee wonderful developments from radio. For instance, it is not unreasonable to expect the transmission of pictures, so you may graphically depict the day's news from afar; the transmission of characters on a tape to be fed to linotype machines, so that your copy will be delivered in proof form, and many similar devices, all intended to make your work of telling the people what the people want to know more economical, and therefore common, and more scientific in every way. Best of all, radio promises to turn the searchlight of news fact into the dark and distant byways of the world."

The Mercury has suddenly begun to soar. Judging from the speed upwards the last few days, we may prepare to shed our superfluities. The straw lid of various shades is strong in evidence with the faddists on this end. Typewriter ribbons are still in stock, regardless of the fact that some of the extremists have attached sidebows of that color to ornament their summer headgear.

Already some of the staff are back from vacation with an appearance significant of their short absence away from the clutches of the demon of the industrial sphere.

At last regular meeting of this District a set of by-laws was presented, and accepted for the guidance of the newly formed District Council. This involves operators in every field in Montreal, C.P.R. and brokers, also press and private wire operators. Delegates were also elected to new District Council, the purpose of which will be to create a clearer understanding among all telegraphers, in regard to the vital questions arising in this industry.

The marked effect resultant from the efficiency methods adopted by employers of today necessitates the presenting of a solid front, and the unifying of all units to protect the workers. Intrusions on the rights of employes, under the guise of efficiency, is a smooth scheme which must be contended with by all the intelligent forces that can be congregated within our ranks.

The shores of Lake Valois have proved a lure for the devotees of the simple life. Retiring habits are the life builder, according to Bros. Beebe and Rattaway, who have established their summer home near its crystal surface. Listen to Bro. Beebe's advice to the youth, on "The Evils of City Life," where the excise taxes rise.

OBITUARY

Last month the Montreal District C. T. U. A. tendered a resolution of condolence to the family of our late lamented Brother David Deslauriers, son of Manager Deslauriers of Sherbrooke office, and brother of our worthy Secretary-Treasurer, E. J. Deslauriers of this district.

The resolution, introduced by District Chairman Wallace, signified expression of deepest sympathy to the family on the loss of loving son and brother.

The membership viewed with profound regret the demise of a respected and honorable member of our organization. Brother Deslauriers' death occurred recently in Sherbrooke where he was employed by the Canadian National Telegraphs.

Sister Lavier, of the Morse staff, was last month called to her home in the United States, owing to the sudden death of her father. Sister Lavier has the heartfelt sympathy of the staff in her said bereavement.

We also regret to chronicle the death, a couple of weeks ago, of the mother of our popular Morse Traffic Chief, W. J. Barclay. We deeply sympathise with Brother Barclay in his sad loss.

Today was laid to rest a venerated member in this province and in the telegraph world, both railroad and commercial, in the person of Brother W. Menard. We can truthfully take our hats off to an honored and valiant knight who has rendered a worthy service in every respect. Although his death came rather suddenly he had been ill for the past year or so. The funeral took place from Notre Dame Church, Place d'Armes, Montreal. Interment was at Cote de Niege Cemetery. We offer the family our most sincere sympathy in their hour of trouble.

C. P. R. STAFF CHANGES

A number of promotions and changes have been made in the staffs of the Canadian Facific Telegraphers, effective May 1, 1922.

W. J. Camp, assistant manager of telegraphs for eastern lines, has been transferred to the retired list. He entered the service of the Canadian Pacific nearly 26 years ago. Camp was one of the oldest employees of the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs, having joined the service a few months before the opening of the Telegraphs for public service. He is a nutive of Montreal.

W. D. Neil, superintendent of the Ontario Division, is promoted to the position of assistant manager, Eastern Lines, succeeding W. J. Camp. Born in Ontario in 1887, Mr. Neil entered the service in 1905 as operator, and he has had experience at Calgary, Edmonton. Winnipeg and other important points in the West.

W. M. Thompson, formerly superintendent of the Eastern Division, with headquarters at Montreal, has been transferred to Toronto, succeeding Mr. Neil. Mr. Thompson was born in England. He entered the Canadian Pacific service in 1895, as operator, and has passed through the different positions, gaining wide experience as chief operator. Later he was agent at Winnipeg, and was transferred from Winnipeg in 1915 to be chief operator in Montreal. He was appointed superintendent of traffic in Montreal in 1916, and promoted to the position, with headquarters in Montreal, in 1918.

J. Mitchell succeeds Mr. Thompson as superintendent of telegraphs, Eastern Lines, with headquarters at Montreal. He entered the service in 1886 as operator, and has passed through different important positions to chief operator in Montreal. Later he was made inspector of telegraphs, and in 1918 was appointed superintendent of traffic for Eastern Lines. From the latter post he was promoted to his new position.

Everybody please take a good look at our "cut," which makes its debut in this issue. Study it a little and very readily you will perceive that it was designed for a significant meaning. The outstanding feature is that "THE ALARM" is the call for help, with the Fire Telegraph Dispatcher the very important connecting link between the peril and the aid. All together: "Isn't it a beauty!"

LOYALTY

(With Apologies to Elbert Hubbard)

If you belong to an Organization, in heaven's name work for it and with it. it pays you in the sense of a mind at ease for having done your share, work for it, speak well of it, stand by it and uphold the principles upon which the Organization is IF PUT TO A PINCH, AN founded. OUNCE OF LOYALTY IS WORTH A POUND OF CLEVERNESS. If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage, resign your membership, and when you are outside, damn to your heart's content, but as long as you are part of the Organization do not condemn it. If you do that you are loosening the tendrils that are holding you to the Organization, and at the first high wind that comes along you will be uprooted and blown away, and probably will never know the reason why.

A well attended meeting of Chapel No. 1 was held Friday, May 26th, and those present had the pleasure of hearing, from the reports, real progress. It must be borne in mind by all of us that anything worth while is worth working for and is only obtained, in many cases, by surmounting difficult obstacles. We're not "over the top," by any means-but we're climbing. And right here let me say that Chapel No. 1 can congratulate itself on our Chairman, Brother William A. Martin. As a hard, constant worker with the interest of the entire classification always in mind he has, and is, devoting more time to the cause (his own time) than, I believe, any other one man of us would care to expend. He knows his subject thoroughly; how to handle it; works fairly and squarely and, knowing he is right, fearlessly. can rest assured your interests are perfectly safe in his hands and all the payment he exacts is your loyal support. Don't stint, and remember it is for your individual benefit

The following brothers dropped in and stayed for our meeting, which we appreciate very much: Bro. Conry. International Vice-President; Bro. Schwadron, President. N. Y. Dist. Council No. 16; Bro. Josephson, V. P., E. B. D.; Bro. Rupple, Secretary-Treasurer No. "16"; Bro. Hickey, Secretary-Treasurer, E. B. D., and Brothers Milgram, Carney and Campbell, E. B. D. The short talks, with their clear analogies, by Brothers Conry and Schwadron, were well received.

Pending an open competitive examination to fill eight permanent positions of Fire Telegraph Dispatcher, and with the understanding that such an examination is to be held very soon, the following telegraphers received temporary appointments after having been required to pass a Morse telegraph test at headquarters: R. J. Marrin, J. P. Curran, W. J. Grady, O. C. Veh'ow, J. H. Morris, T. Horan and J. J. Brennan. On account of so much night work, J. McDonald declined the appointment.

Shortly after these appointments the above named men received a severe shock from the following article in the "Chief" June 3rd:

"Fire Commissioner Drennan has requested the Civil Service Commission to hold, as soon as possible, a promotion examination for Fire Telegraph Dispatcher in the Bureau of Fire Alarm Telegraph. The Commissioner has asked that the examination be open to employees of the Bureau of Fire Alarm Telegraph who have served for one year or upwards in the Bureau.

"On the recommendation of Valentine Fendrich, Chief of the Bureau, Mr. Drennan has further requested the Commission to eliminate from the examination the requirements of the Morse Code test.

"There were recently appointed for provisional periods of fifteen days each seven temporary dispatchers who qualified in sending and receiving messages in the Morse Code. Those telegraphers will not be eligible to compete in the promotion examination. The Commissioner was recently granted an appropriation for eight such dispatchers."

EDITURIALS

By "Whit."

The world may owe every man a living but it takes a hustler to collect it.

KAISER ELBERT GARY

That plous philanthropist, Judge Gary, President of the United States Steel Corporation, area enemy or organized moor, in his address to the iron and Steel limitation stated that he would appoint a committee to find ways of applianing the twelve-hour day. In the steel mins.

Whether the Judge was handling out a package of flapdoodle or merely kidding his installed in a marter of no concern to labor. There is only one femely that will abound the twelve-noul day in the steel industry—Ordanization link workness. The leafned Julial Squeles to his oliginal declaration of war on all things approaching organization of the steel workers for a better, cleaner and more promasure life.

In the meantime the daily press is full of "merger" talk of several so-called independent steer companies patterned after the great U. S. Steer corporation which has withstood the tests of an legal practices brought to bear. At the same time the fact that the U. S. Steer corporation is operating in restraint of trade—a hagiant violation of the Shefman anti-trust law—was made plain by stage carry server in accession committee when he testined that his corporation always undersoid legitimate competitors by $3.50 per ton.

These things, considered in connection with the mancial statements of this giant occupus of the sceet world, makes one ponder. "frow is it done?" Apparently analysis Seet and Ordinance, inialid Seet, and Republic from & Seet have discovered the secret and expect to herge themselves into a similar labor stranging combine.

The same antipathy toward all things of benefit to the employees, as shown by the sacer crass, applies also to the two major telegraph companies and one press association. How far will things have to go before our profession will see the nandwriting so piallity before us:

BRICKLAYERS' UNION SUSPENDED

The Independent Brickiayers' Heipers' and Building Laborers' Union of America, with a membership of 15,000 in Greater New York, was suspended on June 1st from the New York Building Trades Council.

The reason for the suspension, it is said, was the refusal of the independent union to withdraw its workers from the building operations of the Cardwell-Wingate Co., jurisdiction over which the Building Trades Council claimed for the international flow Carriers' Union, which is anniated with the American bederation of Labor.

The U. S. Steel Corporation controls 45 percent of the steel industry in the United States; Gwns 1,000 miles of railroad and equipment; owns a large line of occas going steamers, and has a monopoly on a great many steel products because independent concerns cannot compete successfully with the corporation. Courts have decided that the keading Kailroad Company cannot operate coal mines and railroads, but the greatest foe labor ever had acknowledges rather proudly that the laws of the land hold no fears for him.

Organize! Therein lies the remedy for at least better working conditions.

VICTORY FOR THE MINERS

It is indeed very infrequent that one sees one of the Metropolitan dailies write editorially with such clearness and impartial views as an editorial appearing in the New York Globe of June 1. The case is stated so concisely and yet lucidly, that we feel a reproduction would not be amiss.

"Last Saturday a jury at Charlestown, W. Va., declared William Blizzard not guilty of treason. The verdict was expected. The technical case against Blizzard was not strong. The moral case was impossibly weak. The men who marched from Mingo to Logan County last summer were protesting, not against the State of West Virginia, but against a form of industrial tyranny and terrorism. They were opposing forces largely officered by deputies in the pay of the mine operators. They were protesting against terrorization by these deputies, and it must have seemed strange indeed to them that the mine owners should have attempted to identify themselves and their hirelings with the state. Certainly at the time of the 'raid' there was no confusion on the part of the invading miners, though state officials were unfriendly toward them.

"Fifty-two more miners are indicted for treason and, like Blizzard, may have to stand trial. It was said freely of the Blizzard case that the trial would have been a victory for the miners, whatever its outcome. It exposed conditions in West Virginia and created a great public opinion against armed tyranny by operators. Further trials can have no other effect than to show the ridiculousness of privately administered justice, whether in the interest of mine owners or mine workers. This is a result the miners will hail gladly. If it means any practical reform in Logan County the public should find it even more pleasing. Meanwhile, the government of West Virginia will probably take measures to dissociate itself from the operators who so nearly succeeded in making themselves the state."

DO YOU EARN A LIVING WAGE?

The United States Government, through the present administration at Washington, is on record as favoring a wage scale that amounts to at least $2.900 a year for every adult worker in the United States.

This fact and the evidence to support it should be in the possession of every union in the country. It will prove useful in a hundred ways, particularly in wage negotiations with employers.

Secretary of Labor Davis, in a series of articles in the New York Daily News, told his 500,000 readers that the American worker needs not only a living wage but a "saving" wage.

In June, 1920, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which is a part of the Department of Labor of the United States Government, made up what they termed a "quantity budget" listing some 400 commodities and services which a workingman's family needs to live, and the amount of each which must be bought during a year's time.

The Labor Bureau, Inc., has conducted investigations for client labor unions in six cities in different parts of the country, based on the average family of five—man, woman and three children and, according to their findings, it cost to maintain a family of five in New York, $2,368.16; Schenectady, $2,067.02; Rochester, $2,262.76; Chicago, $2,445.65; San Francisco, $2,533.82, and Philadelphia, $2,351.36.

How many telegraphers are receiving the minimum proscribed by the Government as a bare living wage?

FROM HIM THAT HATH

"Despite the rumbling in labor circles," says the New York Globe editori-"Despite the rumbling in labor circles, says the new roll close states ally, "an effective strike as a consequence of the cut in wages ordered by the United States Railroad Labor Board is improbable. The reason is the board the wages of those employees who are least able to resist." Meaning, of course, those who are unorganized. Even the Railroad Labor Board dares not to inflict their outlandish decree on the well organized branch of the railroads because the men are organized and have the "punch" to fight back.

"The powerful brotherhoods," continues the Globe, "which could paralyze transportation, ARE NOT AFFECTED BY THE REDUCTIONS."

There is the lesson labor has been teaching since the year One and telegraphers, intelligent as they claim to be, are not intelligent enough to bind themselves together for their mutual protection.

It is to be hoped, devoutly, that Western Union and Associated Press telegraphers will take this lesson home and ponder over it and then join the only union of your craft which was organized for your protection.

ARE WAGES TOO HIGH?"

Labor took heart when, at the time of America's entry into the world war, there was organized and put into operation with great hurrahs the War Labor Board.

Economists, as well as conservative business men, are asking the question, "Are Wages Too High?" Mr. Basil M. Manly, former Joint Chairman of the National War Labor Board, has answered the question with facts and figures compiled by United States Government statisticians which are worthy of the former Chairman. His pamphlet published by the People's Legislative Service, Washington, D. C., is chock full of facts that every laboring man should read. Most of us feel the pinch of present conditions but are not equipped with statistics to put forth the argument which Mr. Manly has given us in the little booklet.

Building trades' (union) wages in New York in 1920, at which time the statistics were gathered, give us an idea of the real discrepancy in income and outgo. This condition not only exists in the building trades but is general in every walk of industry today, and more so in unorganized crafts because of their lack of "punch."

Take the Bricklayers, for example: In 1913 $30.80 constituted a full-time week when the purchasing power of the Dollar was 82 cents and the worker received 82 cents in merchandise for his Dollar. In 1920 the union Bricklayer received $55.00 for a full-time week and the misguided public, fed up on the "American plan," were about ready to believe that Labor was responsible for existing high prices. Such, however, was far from the facts, as witness Mr. Manly's figures. The union Bricklayer receiving $55.00 per week in 1920 ran into a weekly deficit of just $9.37 every week.

Machinists with a weekly deficit of .02 to the Plumbers with $13.72 deficit per week covers the extreme high and low.

"In order to get a proper perspective on this whole question, it is necessary first to fix in one's mind the fundamental fact that, because of rising prices and profiteering, the dollar as a means of maintaining a home was worth, when we entered the war in 1917, only half as much as the dollar of 1900, and by 1920 only one-third. Compared with 1900, therefore, every dollar of the workers' wages was worth 49 cents in 1917 and only 33 cents in 1920. . . ."

The cost of living increased 176 percent during the 20 years from 1899 to 1919, so that if earnings increased in the same proportion, in 1919 they would have been 176 percent higher than in 1899. While union wages were twice as high in 1921 as in 1907, when the purchasing power of the dollar was 100 cents, this was more than offset by the decline in the purchasing power of the dollar to 45 cents, so that the real value of union wages in 1921 was only 94 percent of the wages paid in 1907.

Now, let us bring this a little nearer home and apply it to our profession as telegraphers. We have heard that old time-worn phrase, "A fair day's pay for a fair day's work," and many of us have nodded assent and said, as did the old darkey at the grave of a friend in South Carolina when the preacher said: "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh." The old negro hiccoughed a bit and said, "Sounds fair enough." Sounds fair enough—yes. But what does it mean? What difference does it make to us whether we receive $20.00 a week and can support a family in cleanliness and reasonable comfort, or receive $75.00 a week and cannot provide the ordinary necessities required to make an American family reasonably comfortable?

Brokers, we are happy to admit, have been nearer treating their telegraphers on the "square"—although some of them have not stampeded to give the men a living wage. Press associations have been noticeably reluctant to yield a wage which still is inadequate for the needs of an American family. Telegraphers are skilled workmen and as such are, by every line of reasoning, entitled to more than a mere living wage. They are entitled to a little more than a mere existence; they are entitled to a wage commensurate with their skill.

It is with deep regret that we now come to the "Charge of the Light Brigade"—the Association of Western Union Employes and the least said about this unfortunate class who so blindly fell for the "buncombe, flapdoodle and froth" served by their Masters in 1919. The day of reckoning is now at hand. In the meantime, we are still carrying on, and doing business at the same old stand.

President Harding in an address on May 24th, 1921, said:

"In our effort at establishing industrial justice we must see that the wage earner is placed in an economically sound position. His lowest wage must be enough for comfort, enough to make his house a home, enough to insure that the struggle for existence shall not crowd out the things truly worth living for. There must be provision for education, for recreation and a magin for savings etc."

President Harding's speech sounds "fair enough" but the only way we can ever attain this state for the worker is by organizing, and yet there are some who are so blind as not to see.

SOMETIMES I THINK WHAT WE COULD DO IF ALL OF US WOULD ONLY TRY TO HELP OUR FELLOW MAN. AND I THINK, PERHAPS EACH OF US ARE A WEE BIT SELFISH. . WHAT A WORLD 'TWOULD BE IF EVERY ONE OF US WOULD HELP THE OTHER FELLOW. AND SOME DAY THEY'LL DO IT, TOO. THEN I WANT TO SIT ALONE AND THINK OF THE MEN WHO GAVE THEIR ALL TOWARD SAVING THE WRECKS OF THOSE POOR SOULS WHO WERE SO BLIND AS NOT TO SEE THE ULTIMATE OF THE A. W. E. . . . AND I'LL THANK THE LORD FOR THE SIGHT TO SEE. . . . AND THE STRENGTH TO HELP . .

THOSE WISER MEN

WHO HELPED THEMSELVES.

COGITATIONS OF A CUCKOO

By Jack Martine

The soul of the sluggard desireth and hath nothing; but he who useth a boat hook, TNT and an indissuadable persuasiveness landeth the cherry that bobbeth on the topmost bough of the Tree of Success.

The height of the ambiguous, also elated solace:

The Western Union telegrapher who owns five shares of W. U. stock, on the part-payment plan, and religiously submits to low wages all year, in order that he may reap the harvest of the dividend at the end of the year!

HEADQUARTERS NOTES

At the regular meeting of the New York District, held on May 13th, a resolution was adopted changing the office hours of the Secretary as follows:

 Monday
 8:30 A. M. to 5:30 P. M.

 Tuesday
 8:30 A. M. to 4:00 P. M.

 Wednesday
 8:30 A. M. to 4:00 P. M.

 Thursday
 8:30 A. M. to 4:00 P. M.

 Friday
 8:30 A. M. to 5:30 P. M.

 Saturday
 8:30 A. M. to 1:00 P. M.

The Secretary's office shall remain open on any evening after the above stated hours should the business of the Division so warrant.

The Headquarters rooms shall remain open until 6:00 P. M. and on Saturday until 4:00 P. M.

Brother A. H. Cameron, E. B. D. Delegate to the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York and Vicinity, was. upon his request, relieved of the duties of that office. Brother Cameron's law business has prevented his attending the meetings of the Council of late. With the interests of the E. B. D. at heart, Brother Cameron tendered his resignation as Delegate, which was accepted with regrets. Brother W. U. Tate, who has had years of experience in the labor field and is well qualified for this important office, was elected unanimously to succeed Brother Cameron.

Brother M. J. McFadden, Local Secretary, Montreal District, Canadian Broker Division, was a recent visitor at Headquarters. "Mickey" renewed old acquaintances of other days and spent some time discussing matters pertaining to the good and welfare of the craft.

Brother "Bill" Truitt has returned from the Sunny South whither he sojourned for a rest. Sleeping outdoors for seven months sure did fix you up, Bill.

The Committee composed of the members of the New York District Committee, appointed at a regular meeting in April to revise the by-laws of the E. B. D., have completed their work and copies of the revised draft have been sent to all Chairmen of Districts to be placed before their members for ratification, amendments to the amendments, or rejection.

. Any member of the Eastern Broker Division (all Districts included) who wishes to submit amendments to the present by-laws should hand such amendments to his District Secretary for transmission to the General Secretary-Treasurer of the Division so that they may be considered with those of the Committee before ratification.

• • • Information Wanted

Anyone having information as to the whereabouts of an operator named Joseph P. Feeley, please communicate with Brother Jas. P. Tynan, Rocm 504, 44 Broad St., New York. His sister is anxious to hear from him.

Brothers "Bob" Marrin, "Jim" Brennan, and "Joe" Morris, have accepted temporary assignments as Fire Telegraph Dispatchers, pending subsequent examinations for the positions. Wonder what these three "Musketeers" look like in a blue shirt and a fireman's helmet. If the District Council is successful in obtaining the minimum wage of nine dollars a day for the Fire Telegraph Dispatchers, for which they have been fighting for the past year or so, they will make excellent jobs.

We would advise Chief Operators to start their vacations as early as possible. Our Waiting List will not last long. Big Board houses are extending their facilities, and rapidly absorbing the List.

The Organization Committee's work has been temporarily held up by the absence of Chairman F. A. O'Sullivan, who is at present on his vacation. When Frank returns the work of the Committee will get in full swing. There is a tremendous amount of work attached to this undertaking, and it is to be hoped that every member will do his share to assist the Chairman to make his drive on the Street successful. Meetings of the entire Committee will be held at intervals, notice of which will be sent out. In the meantime Committeemen should apply for a list of names of Nons and Delinquents from the Secretary to work on.

How about an "outing" this Summer? Do we hear a second?

Don't forget to send in your ballots on the Funeral Benefit Plan proposition. Only ballots received up to June 30th, or bearing the post-mark of June 30th, will be considered in the count. The acceptance or rejection of the plan will be decided by the count of the ballots received. If a majority of the ballots received are in favor of the plan, it will become operative on September 1st, 1922. If you have no ballot, get one from the Secretary, or forward your vote to the International Secretary-Treasurer, 113 South Ashland Boulevard, Chicago, by letter, stating your name, address, Division Certificate number, and whether you vote no or yes on the proposition. A postal card will do, but above all vote, and do it before June 30th.

For the information of all members, the semi-annual dues period falls on July 1st. The Secretary has bought a new fountain pen for the occasion and says "Come on and rush me."

If you don't get your Journal regularly let the Secretary know. Our experience tells us that nearly all of the complaints of nonreceipt of the Journal is caused by members' failure in keeping the Secretary informed as to changes of address.

Our 1922 vacation schedule shows the following assignments have already been made:

Halle, Steiglitz & Co., C. H. Gessner; Potter Bros., M. Ehrlich; Post & Flagg, J. J. Keefe and R. J. Walsh; Royal Bank of Canada, M. V. Blackwell; Clark, Childs & Co., O. M. Young; Strong, Sturgis & Co., F. W. Lass; L. L. Winkleman, J. L. O'Connell; C. I. Hudson, W. J. Rutter; Clark, Dodge & Co., J. P. McCusker; J. F. Clark & Co., I. B. Abernathy; A. A. Housman & Co., Gus Hirsch; F. B. Keech & Co., H. C. Gorrell; Harris, Winthrop & Co., J. P. Curran.

The sustaining by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of the order of Justice Wagner restraining the cloak, suit and skirt manufacturers of New York from violating their agreement as to wages and hours entered into with their employees in 1919, gives to labor renewed assurance that it has the same rights as capital in the courts of law. Justice Wagner, in his opinion, went deeply into the case before him, in which the employers in refusing to stick to their agreement brought on the garment workers' strike last year, and stated that the employers were bound by the terms of their contract and must keep it whether they lost money or not by so doing. This was the first case in which labor has resorted to the injunction method so often employed by capital against it in similar disputes.

NEW YORK DISTRICT

JNO. F. CLARK & CO. NOTES

The personnel is as follows: "Jack" Ward, C. O.; Sidney Gilson, Max Leiberman, "Bill" Lent, N. T. Abel, Walter Johnson, and Charlie Gray. Order clerks—John Spurgeon and Sam Miller.

Gilson off on his vacation, returns Monday, June 5th. Gray leaves Saturday, June 3rd, for a trip to his home in Atlanta, for vacation.

Business pretty good and all manage to keep busy. Mr. Abernathy is doing vacation work. All regret the action of the cotton exchange in suspending the firm on a technical violation of rules, but accept the situation with best grace possible. We are 100 per cent here.

JONES & BAKER NOTES

Its about time that something appeared in our notes concerning one of the best broker jobs in New York, or any other city, viz.: Jones and Baker. This 100 per cent union concern still maintains the high standard of excellence in its telegraph personnel, and the same spirit of fair play prevails therein that existed when it was first formed.

Lester Greene is now premier over there. Everyone knows Lester, so any enconiums would be superfluous. John P. Duckworth, universally known as "Duck," is the umpire behind the plate, and to work under him is one continuous session of tranquility and bliss. The referees on the side lines are the very able and congenial brothers, "Hen" Possner and "Jim" Campbell.

The line up for the season is composed of: Mallon, Ross, Howell, Barber, Palmer, Marvis, Scales and Mefford. Bogey Nelson and Jack Martine are doing the vacation stunt, and Worzel and Gorrell are, at present, filling in as utility men. The up-town offices are well looked after by "Josh" Jones at Madison Square, and Tommy Tarangeley and Ben Schwartz at Fifth Avenue.

One of our former secretaries, Mrs. James P. Boyle (nee Hilda Svenson) was appointed, last month, a member of the board of education, for a term of five years, in Schenectady, her present residential city. The renowned Mr. Steinmetz, who is on the same board, has an excellent co-worker, and while he may have "something on" Hildee as far as electricity is concerned, our worthy ex-sec. can "wise him up" on a lot of "good stuff" after her experience copying the waiting list in the old Tower Building.

HENRY HENTZ & CO. NOTES

We expect Lem Lewis back with us again. We fully appreciate the courage it required for Lem to tear himself loose from those beautiful Philadelphia chickens. But when we stop to think of the girls here in the office shedding tears when he left us last fall, why it should help him a bit. Roy Speer is filling in until Lem gets back, and it goes without saying that he filled the gap admirably well.

Tom Finster has left us and gone back to his old home town, Morgantown, W. Va. We think Tom was lured back to the home town by an advertisement in the personal columns of the local daily, inserted therein by a blonde young lady. The last two words of the "ad" read, "Object matrimony."

We hear that Ben Lewis is the champion pinochle player over at Union Headquarters, where the boys gather after the close of the Market to indulge in this beneficial pastime. It helps to keep the mind active and the brain clear for the following day's business.

Our Order Clerk, "McClure," just returned from his vacation. We wonder where it was spent. Judging from his healthy appearance, we'll say he knows where to go. Batting for him during his absence was the Honorable James McKenzie Askew, Jr. Jim was present at our last E. B. D. ball, and we had our hands full that night keeping Jim's conversation and dancing confined to not more than six of our girls. The other fellers wanted to talk and dance too.

Our Boston office has moved from 35 Congress Street to the new Shawmut Building. Our Manager there is John Diggins, ably assisted by Joe Cronin.

Our congenial Cotton order clerk, James Devit, still persists in picking on the "Duke," who is going back to Italy to claim his olive oil estate.

GOODBODY & CO. NOTES

Dick Johnson and Bill Porter automatically became members of the wealthy class when they recently bought autos. Now when Sam Turner cleans the type on his "mill" with benzine they both reach for their wallets and say: "How much is gas today."

"Cookle," who signs his checks "A. B.," says he is saddest when he sings. We say the entire wire room feels the same way about it

Mr. J. L. Goodbody, our Floor member, went to Europe recently on a vacation. If these "Million share days" keep up much longer the entire office force will have to take a vacation.

Duncan Chisholm, better known as "Chis," who recently came here to take charge of the wire room, is getting things in line to conform to his ideas. "Chis" is a hustler, all right.

Howard Smith, who officiates at the Hamlin end of our Boston wire, has a new set of spectacles. He can now see a sale before it's printed and wants a "report quick."

PITTSBURGH DISTRICT NOTES

The regular meeting on May 20th was well attended—looks like old times to see the boys taking real interest in their organization. Don't forget next meeting, June 17th, at which time we will take action on the E. B. b. by-laws. Also expect to start something stirring toward our "Second Annual."

Only a few who imagine that on account of the "Spring-Blows" that the organization has gone to the dogs. Get that out of your skull and bear in mind that we are gaining every day and to become delinquent does harm to yourself only. ($25.00 to rejoin.)

A number of the boys are waiting until August to start vacations. Afraid they are going to experience trouble securing a relief. Only a couple of men now available and they expect to be placed in regular jobs soon.

Brothers Dougherty and Bets are with Kay & Richards. Sister Wright is with Hemphill, Noyes & Co. Chairman Patterson is located with Geo. W. Weller & Company.

Our Secretary-Treasurer, Brother McCutcheon, has been at home for the past few weeks. "Mac" says he just needed a rest and he is taking it. Hope the rest does you good, "Mac."

PHILADELPHIA DISTRICT NOTES

The good work accomplished by the brothers in the past must continue if we are to report progress at the end of this year. Make it your business to talk union membership, it will come back to you in increased strength and influence.

Many good deeds have been accomplished without brass bands, and without going into details. We have been a fraternity in every meaning of the word.

The last meeting was rather slimly attended, probably due to the late notice of meeting and fine weather. We had with us on that occasion Brother Lemuel A. Lewis, of the New York District, who has been holding down the keystone position for H. A. Culver and Company in Philadelphia. He came to say howdy do and also good bye. Brother Lewis is returning to his home town and is succeeded here in Philadelphia by the well known "Buck" Ewing, whose home is in the vicinity of Philadelphia.

Brother Harry C. Keily made a plea for the widow of Jean Grady who died suddenly last month. A donation and subscription was made up amounting to $20.00, which was sent to her. Mention was also made of the reported death of T. A. Merrick of St. Clair, Pa. One of the last duties of Brother Merrick was to mail a check for his dues. However, this check came back marked "deceased," but it showed the spirit of the man.

It is reported that Joe Langan, the veteran smoker of the Midvale Steel Company, hasn't smoked for ten days.

Sam Long, of West & Co., is piloting a successful ball team this season.

Herman Lush, who works the Ledger Syndicate wire, will hereafter be known as the Baron of Brown Mills, N. J., where he will own a sumptuous bungalow.

BALTIMORE DISTRICT NOTES

Although this district has not been heard from for a few months, it is still alive and doing business. The new by-laws of the Eastern Broker Division met with the approval of our members and we voted to accept them. We certainly hope Philadelphia and l'ittsburgh have done the same.

Bro. Frank McCormick, recently of Allentown, Pa., came down to help the boys out on vacations, and was here only a few days when the I. N. S. sent him an S. O. S. asking him to take a regular job at the Allentown Chronicle. We don't like to lose Mac as he became quite popular with the boys here, but, of course, we are glad to see Mac land. And also, may we mention, we met Mrs. Mac and the little Mac—a charming family.

Brother Bill Freeman says he's going to stick to the newspaper game now. He is located at the Baltimore Sun working the N. Y. Eve Post wire from 1 P. M. till 4 P. M., and growling because the hours are too long—says two hours is enough for any man to work per day on a telegraph wire.

How about the new country home, Bill?

Everybody working here, and no one on the block, BUT, there hasn't been a new job open up for months.

-W. H. Schott.

WESTERN BROKER DIVISION C. T. U. A.

Hondquarters and Employment Bureau, 315-321 Imperial Bidg., 312 South Clark St., Chiengo, Ill. Phone Wabash 1426.

Regular meeting dates, First and Third Saturdays in each month in headquarters. Dues payable annually, January 1st, or semi-annually, January 1st and July 1st.

AN UP-TO-DATE'S VIEWS

By X. Y. Z.

It looks like the slump in business experienced during the past few months by the Broker operators is over, in the Chicago territory at least. The pessimism that swept the telegraphers during the time failures among the brokers were being reported day after day, together with the loss of the private wire business of the grain people had its effect on the membership of the Western Broker Division.

As was to be expected in time of stress, a certain portion of the membership found it expedient, in their minds, to fall back in their dues. Special assessments were de-Guilty consciences among delinquents took occasion to grumble on the management of the W. B. D. Disappointed office-seekers spread discontent whenever they found a ready ear on the Street. The situation thus created was made to order for the propagandists of the so-called American idea, or open shop principle, as exemplified in the A. W. E. Other former members temporarily "sitting pretty" in fairly good jobs for the time being, deluded into the feeling that they will last forever, ignoring the recent experience of telegraphers thrown out of work through failures, suspension of business, etc., have taken this time to lag behind in their support of the Union.

Real Union Men On Job

The real union men have been paying their assessments and their dues and saying little, while the malcontents have been trying to make the Street believe, "the Union is busted." Far from it, Brothers! The majority of paid-up Western Broker Division operators is overwhelming! It is true that retrenchment was necessary, temporarily in the item of salaries paid to officials, rent for offices, etc. This situation is explained simply by referring to the tremendous expense incurred by benefits to strikers, convention expenses, etc.

But the pessimists have had their day. No union ever grew without these setbacks. A reaction is good for us. We were too cocky. It does us good to have to fight. And there are hundreds of good members of the W. B. D. all set right now for the fight for a thorough re-organization of the delinquents with an eye to a 100 per cent La Salle Street.

When the Western Union inaugurated the automatic system of telegraphy, little did they realize at the time that this club they manufactured for the operators would amount to the greatest blessing the telegraphers ever had thrust upon them. At the present time, perhaps, 78 per cent of the business handled by the Western Union is done by machines. That means that 75 per cent of the source of telegraphers is cut off. The advent of the telephone on the railroads was another thing that plugged the constant source of new material in the telegraph field that eventually found its way to the more skilled branches of the business.

In years gone by, the career of a first class operator was begun in a small country station or as a check boy in a telegraph office of the Western Union. If he started on a railroad he learned to handle messages and train orders, but soon started out for the larger fields. His next step was to go to some nearby city and get a job in the W. U. There he mastered the form of handling commercial messages in a fairly rapid manner. From there to the larger center with fast wires between the larger points. A young operator in this way simply had to practice and as opportunity presented itself to work on faster and faster wires; his natural talent was constantly being developed to the point where he was fit for a try at the press game or the broker wire service. In this way there was 2 constant stream of promising material being developed for the brokers. The young stars were absorbed as fast as they showed class. Scarcely an operator in Wall Street or La Salle Street, but has not followed this route to his present position.

Not Made Any More

But now where do they come from? They don't come at all, because they don't make them any more. Not because the young men are not as intelligent as they were in former years, as one of the chief operators would put it, but simply because of the automatics and telephones.

A parallel situation would exist in the National League and the American League, if suddenly 75 per cent of all the minor leagues in the country were abandoned. After a few years we would see big league baseball played by a bunch of glass arm pitchers, charley-horsed base runners, and be-whiskered fielders.

The reference is made to the shortage of broker telegraphers to give heart to our less thinking brothers, that with a 100 per cent organisation the salaries of broker operators could be fixed at a rate that would dam the exit into other fields of endeavor, which seems to be the sole thought of so many of our higher class members. There is something wrong with a business that holds no future for its workmen. It would seem that the employer would realise this. The object of our organization is to teach them from our angle. To impress upon them the importance of a contented office of telegraphers-TO GET WHAT WE DESERVE!

100% By Jan. 1!

Delinquents are paying up faster each week. The time is at hand for the next semi-annual card. The hundreds of those Honest to God union men who have stuck through the slump, of course, will be with us again. Of them, all we ask, is that they get their card early. To the small minority of delinquents, the word is sent that they come in and see the Secretary and arrange to square up a few dollars at a time if they cannot afford to get up to date right away. To the handful of malcontents, we say come in and thresh out your grievance. At least give us a chance to hear you. This is nothing but the manly way. We are very human, all of us. It will do us good to talk it over anyway. The old W. B. D. is on her way back, stronger than ever. Get in the band wagon and let's go!

100 per cent La Salle Street by Jan 1!

HEADQUARTERS GOSSIP

Brother Jack Miller finally consented to follow the advice of his doctor and friends and left for Hot Springs, Ark., where he will take a month's treatment for rheumatism. Although Jack has been in bad shape for the last two and a half months, the doctor seems to think that he will come back in tip-top shape. We hope so, Jack, and we're pulling for you.

Brother A. J. Worsel, Sergeant-at-Arms, Chief Missioner, Head of the Intelligence Department, etc., of the E. B. D., suddenly breezed into these headquarters and immediately placed himself on the sending side and John Alcorn on the receiving side. At the time of writing this, Worsel still refused to change over. When he gets through, the W. B. D. President should know beyond the question of a doubt, how to improve the W. B. D., as he tells some wonderful stories of what our progressive E. B. Deers are doing. That boy, Worsel, is some walking advertisement for the E. B. D., all right, all right.

Headquarters has been placing the few that are on the block right along. No one is suffering from lack of work. The only ones complaining of a bad situation are the nons and their "compatriots," the delinquents, who are trying to establish a "curb" in the lobby of the Board of Trade.

Julian B. Schultz, after a few years out of the telegraph business, is back with us.

We are certainly glad to see remittances for the second half coming in. A suggestion—start now paying a few dollars a week and by July 1st you will have your card paid for. Let's start the second half with a bang.

One or two new wires going in soon.
Yes, we have the placing of the men and we might say that they will be good union men, not any back-sliders.

RECIDIVISTS, you are making it hard for yourselves, not for any one else, as you would like to make yourselves believe. You know it's a long lane that has no turn and every dog has his day. Some of these days you are going to want to be up-to-date and the longer you put it off, the more it will cost you.

Brother J. J. Murray, chief operator at G. F. Redmond & Co., has been appointed by the General Executive Board to fill the vacancy caused by Ora DeBord, being disqualified account of delinquency. Jim has always been heart and soul a union man and an active worker. He proved his mettle in the recent Bennett strike.

We are keenly watching the progress that we forecast will be made by our off-springs, the Southwestern Broker Division, with headquarters at Kansas City, and the Michigan Broker Division, with headquarters at Detroit. We, of course, will always feel as any other parent does towards an offspring and will turn no deaf ear to requests for co-operation made upon the "old man."

Dues for Chicago members $10.00 a half. Dues for other members $9.00 a half. The time is fast approaching when the press committees will go in to New York for their annual struggle to get press telegraphers something near what it costs to exist. We sincerely hope that they will be able to secure contracts that will provide a little more than an existence. Needless to say, WE ARE WITH YOU, BOYS!

CHAPEL CHAIRMEN: Please don't let the hot weather keep you from contributing to the Journal every month. Get your notes in here by the 10th. Let's make our department in the Journal just as interesting, or more, as the other divisions make theirs.

SPECIAL NOTICE

There has been some misunderstanding about the assessments. To those who did not quite get this clear, we want to set you right in a few words: The 1% assessment was in effect from Sept. 3, 1921, to Feb. 18, 1922, or a total of 25 weeks, but there was an intermission of 8 weeks, when the International, or Leased Wire Defense Fund Assessment of $1.00 a week for 8 weeks was in effect, leaving a net of 17 weeks at 1%. Thus every one who was a member at the time the assessments went into effect, owes 17 weeks at 1% and 8 weeks at $1.00 a week. If this is still not clear, headquarters will be glad to set you right. THE ASSESS-MENT WAS DISCONTINUED FEB. 18.

HARRIS, WINTHROP & CO. CHAPEL

This office has done some rapid growing in the last few months. From a force of 7, it suddenly grew to 13.

Roy Olive has one of the best crews of any skipper in the Street.

John Alcorn is working the short trick from 9 to 2. This gives him time to look after G. H. Q. in the afternoon.

Tom Davidson, formerly of Lamsons, and Art Maloney, recently with Leland's are new arrivals.

Phil O'Keefe, the grain board artist, just returned from his vacation. Louisville and the races were included in his itinerary—nuff sed.

Are we solid? Almost and we hope to be able to say 100% next time.

PAINE, WEBBER & CO. CHAPEL

Bunt Colliflower, who has been working the North Wire, has been promoted to chief operator; former Chief Operator Ed Havlu. having resigned. Understand Ed has gone to Los Angeles, on account of his wife's ill health. We regret to lose Ed's wonderful voice. Here's wishing him best of luck in his new territory.

C. L. Reiter, just returned from the farm, has hooked on the Milwaukee Wire.

W. C. Worrell is back on the North Wire after having been in the Automobile Insurance game for quite a while.

Pop still on the ponies after returning from his summer vacation.

Burnett, Donnelly and Jimmie Sutherland still putting 'em over on the New York Wire.

Mr. J. D. King, formerly with E. W. Wagner & Co. at Sloux City, Iowa, is working the North Wire with Worrell.

Operator Jordan made a few days relief. Regular meeting days 1st and 3rd Saturdays each month.

78 Cert. 460.

PRESS AND BROKER OPERATORS

Press and broker operators who belong to the union and are actively engaged in promoting its growth can accomplish a great deal of good by giving their JOURNALS away each month to nons. If each press and broker operator as designated above will adopt this method of spreading our propaganda I honestly believe good results will be realized.

Postal and Western Union members and all other leased wire members should also give their Journals away to nons every month.

The bright idea is to keep the JOURNAL constantly in circulation among nons, as has been so often suggested in the JOURNAL

We want more members and more money. We must continue to grow and to progress. Every member should take this matter up in dead earnest. It requires but very little effort to follow this course of action.

Try it and-

LOOK FOR RESULTS.

-Annual Card Man.

Conducted by The New England Brokers' Division, Headquarters and Employment Bureau, No. 7 State Street. Boston, Mass. By J. F. MULLEN, JR.

Regular monthly meetings at Headquarters, last Monday in the month.

Despite the heat wave, the usual representative gathering reported for the meeting on May 29th. "Pop," our worthy President, called the meeting to order at 5:20 p. m. and we immediately delved, a la "bonus." into communications and the secretary's report, both of which were accepted. The Employment committee report and also Bro. Fishbacker's report of the Dues Collecting committee were likewise accepted.

The Outing committee reported that Chairman Herbert is too busy at the present time to fulfill his duties on this committee and recommended that another member be put on in his place. Other phases being considered, the report was accepted as progressive. With consent of the members present Bro. Finn (Hy) and Bro. Barron were appointed to the committee to assist in the work pertaining to the outing.

Bro. O. B. Kinney, of the House committee, reported that he is busy traveling for his firm and will be out of town most of the time. In view of this fact he tendered his resignation from this committee. Resignation accepted and Bro. Neimant appointed his successor.

Under good and welfare the fact was brought before the meeting that most of the sub-divisions have their secretary bonded in any amount they wish, the sub-division paying the necessary charge to cover the bond. After a discussion the matter was placed on file as far as this division is concerned, for the time being.

Now and then we have two or three men belonging to the W. U. or Postal division working on broker jobs. In due course they are eligible for transfer to the N. E. B. D. It was voted at this meeting to leave the matter of transferring such members into the Broker division to the judgment of the secretary.

The meeting adjourned at 6:25 p. m.

We still have some dues and a few leased wire assessments to collect before the time limit. About every means of getting these dues have been exhausted by the secretary. Some, of course, will go and it is hoped some will still be with us after July 1. At any event, we are here to stay and new members are taking up the slack, as it were.

NEW MEMBERS IMPATIENT

It is amusing to witness the antics of some of the newer union men and a few words on the subject may spread a helpful thought. The various officers of the union work for nothing, as far as remuneration is concerned, but they do WORK. When some of our newer men decide to come in they decide very suddenly and appear with the necessary requirements, and the matter is turned over to the secretary. Within a few days some of the newer ones are popping around the street wondering why they haven't received a card. Under ordinary circumstances reports are made to Chicago on the 7th, 14th, 21st and last day of the month, but as a matter of actual fact, in order to help the morale along, the secretary generally sends in the remittances the same day they are received. But, even at that, it takes five days to put matter through to Chicago and, necessarily, at least two days to get the card back.

When dues paying period comes, however, there is no rush to pay at once and the secretary has to send out a card, and then another, without response. Then a call at the telegrapher's office generally follows. He is told that "I'll see you next week." He calls again and finally gets the money. Some even say: "Well, the money is here; why don't you come down after it!" That is not the idea at all, boys. You all have a duty to perform and wearing a card doesn't let you out on your duties. One of them should be to walk to headquarters and pay your bills. or, if outside the city, to mail them in promptly. The secretary can go collecting during but one hour of the day and that happens to be his lunch time which. by the way, is divided half to the union and half to the lunch EVERY day.

"MAILED IT YESTERDAY"

Then again we find the fellow who "mailed it to you yesterday." Often the secretary makes the rounds and calls three or four brothers on the wire and gets this reply. Figuring that there is enough work for one evening in such a batch of mail, and anxious to get the funds off to Chicago and the new cards to the brothers, he rushes home to the mail box only to find it empty and a valuable evening shot to pieces by other things left undone or postponed. One brother who lives three hours' mailing distance from Boston has already "mailed it yesterday" or "will mail it tomorrow" for at least eight weeks, but no letter has yet arrived. What do you fellows say when you have to work overtime? Think it over.

Another "bird" who sings in the spring is the fellow who never comes near head-quarters from one year's end to other to hear the reports read off, but feels it incumbent upon himself to call the secretary at his place of employment and find out where "Bill, Jack and Joe" are working. How many men on the block? What's doing? and eight or ten thousand other things that he would know all about if he attended one meeting and listened to the employment and other reports as they are taken up.

The above is just a gentle reminder to wait at least seven or eight days before getting a temperature about not getting a card, and to drop a line to the secretary at the end of that time instead of running up and down the street asking other brothers who couldn't possibly know anything about the subject. And for the telephone "bird" to call at headquarters and look the place over. And for the "mailed it yesterday" fellow to cut the secretary's "overtime" by telling the truth.

It is a pleasure to look through the Journal these days and see the generally interesting news items from everywhere, particularly those from other divisions. It is to be hoped that our N. E. B. D. men read all the notes in addition to their own section.

WIRELESS NOTES INTERESTING

The wireless items, particularly those of our Canadian wireless brothers, are very interesting and progressive. There is a spirit apparent in these notes that shows the wireless men are very much alive. It would be still more interesting if the names followed the office calls, however. These VCO's and the like, puzzle the uninitiated who are deeply interested in locations as well as the general news.

A certain telegraph company always manages to break into print through its many acts of kindness to its telegraphers, particularly through a "benevolent" company union. There is a report current that Boston is always short of men at this season of the year, and that notices were posted in some southern and western cities asking for volunteers to help the company out by coming to Boston. The volunteers, so the story goes, were placed on half time after their long journey. The report isn't verified, but the sound is familiar.

The $60 press wage is well under way, and it looks like a win. More power to it, as the saying goes. Anyone who has pounded a sickly mill through eight hours of a miserable press grind, well knows that $60 is but a fair wage. The press operators have been in their accustomed corners for so long and have been batting away so silently through the years, that they have come to be regarded as permanent fixtures, such as the door knob and the water cooler. By getting out of the broken-backed, patched-up arm chair and singing out for a decent wage, they can only command the respect and admiration of those with whom they work, and it is only by such a move as the present $60 wage issue, that the "boss" will ever realize that beneath that old battered straw hat and frayed office coat there really is a human being and not a hump-backed mole.

Vacations will be starting up soon and we expect to have everybody working.

Send in your dues.

HEARST IN ROCHESTER JUNE 25

Rochester, N. Y., June 8 .- Much denied rumors of the past few months that William R. Hearst was to start a publication in Rochester have developed into a reality. The first publication, which will be known as the Rochester American, is scheduled to appear on Sunday, June 25. # THE SOUNDER

Conducted by Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21 Meeting Date: Second Wednesday of Each Month at Union of Commerce Hall, 140 Berri St., Montreal. —Organize—Co-operate—

The first of July is only a few days oft now. Your dues for the last half of the year are payable now. Don't put it off; see the Secretary right now. Get it off your chest and you will enjoy your holidays far better.

We are still waiting for someone in Winnipeg to start something. Promises are all we can get, but they don't carry a division very far. Still, we are not discouraged. Where there's life, there's hope.

Vice-President Schnur is now in the West, and we look forward to a rich harvest in the near future.

Round the Street

Bro. Mike McFadden spent a few days in New York, taking in the scenery, and incidentally picking up the odd simoleon at Logan & Bryan.

Bro. Williams, Dominion Bank, has been initiated, too. Well, well! Must have been consulting with George, our genial secretary-treasurer. The boys all wish you and the Mrs. a long and happy wedded life, old top.

Bro. Harry Schrader, late of Richardson & Sons, is making the vacation reliefs at McDougall & Cowans.

Bro. Ralph Dow, formerly with Nesbitt Thompson, has moved over to Richardson & Sons. Ralph says there's more money to be made juggling wheat than there is in the bond game.

Who is the broker operator whose long absences from the parental roof in Notre-Dame-de-Grace are keeping the boys wondering whether the attraction in the north end is "radio" or—all right, we won't tell on you, Eddle, if you let us in on the date.

Bro. Mike McFadden has returned from New York and is now with the Canadian Press for the summer. Did you bring the green bug back, Mick?

Bro. Wheaton is relieving Bro. Williams at Dominion Bank while the latter is honeymooning, blissfully ignorant of the fluctuation of foreign exchange, etc.

Bro. Bilodeau is now at Johnston & Ward, covering the new wire to Three Rivers.

Sister Vibert, Bank of Montreal, Quebec, was a recent visitor in Montreal.

Bro. Andy Long, Laidlaw & Co., on vacation, relieved by Bro. Joe McKenna.

We would like to hear from our Toronto district. Why not send in a few notes every month? Don't leave it to the chairman; someone should dig in and help. Bro. Culkin, where do you spend your evenings? Why not shoot us a few words now and then?

Don't forget the meeting date. Get the habit. Also bear in mind that the dues for the last half should be paid NOW. Don't wait for the secretary to remind you. Look him up.

Overheard at "Walton's":

Broker Opr.—"Give me a plate of stew, please."

Waiter—"Sorry, old chap, none left." Broker Opr.—"None left; how come?"

Waiter—"Haven't you heard that Logan & Bryan have started in again on the lunch reliefs? The skipper has just been in to eat. That's why."

Bro. L. H. DesLauriers, Logan & Bryan, is on holidays.

Don't forget to let us know when you go on vacation. There is always a man ready to fill for you.

PRESS DIVISION NEWS

QUOTH THE RAVEN, "SIXTY BUCKS"

By Pacific Coaster

Having been requested by many thousands of our constant readers to obtain interviews with the hired help of the International News Service along the Pacific Coast, we summoned one of our best and most trusted, hard-working reporters. Giving him four bits' expense money, we bade him farewell and adieu, admonishing that the interviews must be procured—no matter what the cost. Here is his copy:

Landing in Siwash town, somewhere near Mount Tacoma and the Puget Sound, I loby devious means, one cated. Daniel Learned, who is not only a most efficient telegraphisto, but a writer, a sub-bureau manager, editor, janitor, automobilist, somnambulist, and other things which will not look good in print. Taking a two-bit cheroot from my pocket and handing it to the genial Dan, the while picking out a chair and drawing it up to his mahogany desk, I asked for his views on the movement for an adequate wage scale. He replied to-wit and "Me for the $60 minimum." with zest: Swinging quickly around, he resumed his position at the mill and soon retrieved the 75 words he had gotten behind.

VISITS DAVE AND DAVE

Being close to train time. I put the bee on Dan for a buck and, hiring a taxi, I walked rapidly to a boat, on which I took passage to the city which was builded close to the river. Arriving in the place where all inhabitants are web-footed, I soon discovered Dave Whyte in his lair. I asked him the omnipotent question and he quoth himself thus: "Me for the $60 minimum." Hearing someone say "Me, too," I turned sharply to the right and, lo and behold! 'twas nobody else but one David Sullivan, himself, in person, erstwhile I. N. S. man, now holding forth for the Consolidated. After handling a few thousand thousand words, dining in a grabeteria and learning that Portlanders have not heard of the Volstead act, I soon was on my way to the city of fog and steam beer. The trip by airplane was uneventful and we made a perfect landing in Market street.

After slaying the office boy, I gained admittance to the quarters wherein the Kocke-Kluge Klan holds sway and Nemo Shanks does his stuff on that Cosmopolitan circuit. The boys, being at rest for ten minutes and resting on their mythical oars, I drew them closely together for a conference. After the intrepld Fisherman of the Sierras passed around the peanuts, Louis the makin's and Nemo the matches, I popped the interrogation, which was greeted by the prompt retort from all: "Me for the $60 minimum."

Clinging tightly to my pocketbook, which by this time contained approximately six dimes, I dashed out wildly for Oakland, hoping that I might see the gang before "thirty" was flashed on the wire. I reached the great East Bay metropolis in record time after a pleasant voyage across the placid waters. To my astonishment and delight I discovered that Copy-All Griffiths was still on the payroll and flipping a wicked digit over the keyboard. Taking him in tow, we visited G. T. H. Chambers and Kid Burchette at the P-E. After viewing and reviewing the parade down San Pablo avenue. I shot the well-known question at the trio. To which all said, boisterously: "Me for the $60 minimum."

Refusing their offer to arrange a poker game for my "benefit," and still nursing my bankroll, which now had grown to $1.10, 1 pulled stakes for the burg which is near San Pedro Bay. After obtaining my release from jail for jay-walking, I obtained George Carse's address from the city directory. With the aid of several policemen, I finally was ushered into the presence of this august person, who is obsessed with the idea that Los Angeles is the capital of the world. I praised his city highly and immediately I was placed on his honor roll. After many hours of listening in, I told him, point-blank, and with gusto, that he must cease his Chamber of Commerce chatter, that I wouldst ask him a question, and I did. He spake as follows per quote: "Me for the $60 minimum." Leaving hurriedly by the back way under the scornful eye of the bureau manager (who looked like a tough guy), I ran across Johnny Mislove shooting a game of African golf in the alleyway with the newsboys. After losing my roll, I persuaded Jawn to desist in his efforts to get a new set of footwear for his infant long enough to answer me truthfully. "Me for the $60 minimum," sayeth John; "shoot a buck."

ALL EMPHASIZE $60

Feeling rather blue, but much the wiser, I proceeded to place my trusted timepiece in detention at a place outside which hung three spheres, and once more was on my way. My destination was Long Beach, which was reached in due time. Wending my way 'neath the beautiful palms with one optic trained on the bevies of bathing beauties bound beachward, I soon was rewarded with a sight of the Pacific Coaster boomer,

Tunnicliffe, who is said to have run the 3-em dash in 36 % 637 %c. We adjourned to a nearby soft drink parlor and partook of some ginger ale, the kick of which still lingers. It was getting to be a habit by this time, so I was not surprised to hear Tunny chime: "Me for the $60 minimum."

Apprising him of the fact that the expense account was dwindling, and needs be I must make haste, I was again en root. Using mental science on a passing autolst, I managed to reach Glendale, where I soon gained an audience with Jay Kazmark, who, it is alleged, discovered the split dot. Inveigled into a nearby grocery, we partook of an Eskimo Pie. Kaz, it seems, has been in the land of one-armed eating joints so long that he has become infected with the same malady as the bird with the laughing office call, and persisted in dwelling on the charms of the southland. Threatening him with a volley of Irish confetti. I implored him to state his views on the salary problem, and this is the result: "Me for the $60 minimum."

Being by this time thoroughly fatigued by the vicinsitudes of my tour, I unstrapped my portable wireless set from my shoulders and put in a call for Brigham Young at San Diego, which is close to Tia Juana and the race tracks and beverages frowned upon by the W. C. T. U. I was apprised by his good-looking secretary that Mr. Young was across the border playing a "tip." The young lady, however, informed me that she believed Brig's answer would be: "Me for the $60 minimum."

Turning down dozens of offers to enter the movies, I embarked for home, convinced that each and all are emphatically and vociferously for the $60 weekly stipend.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE NOTES

General Chairman Robert Allen, 72 Seminole Parkway, Buffalo, N. Y.

General Secretary-Treasurer Moulton B. Norton, 4857 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Chicago-South

The Press Division department in the May Journal was highly interesting. Now that the press divisions have been given a separate department in the Journal, correspondents in the several press divisions should keep this department well supplied with news. Typewriters are plentiful and it only takes a few minutes to write a few paragraphs of interesting news. Sad to relate, Chicago-South was the only Universal Service circuit represented in the Press Division of May JOURNAL; and it is the only Universal Service circuit that has been represented in the JOURNAL for over a year. This, too, when we have a 100 per cent membership. Even the A. P., was well represented in the May correspondence. The press telegraphers should take great pride in helping Editor Powers to keep the Press Division department up to a high class standard.

Press telegraphers located on newspapers can invariably secure a copy of the Fourth Estate and the Editor and Publisher, which are exclusively devoted to newspaper and news service doings, and send them to Editor Powers so he can read them over and clip out news items that are of interest and value to press telegraphers. The Journal is, in all probability, our best organizer, in addition to being the official organ of the C. T. U. A., and we can put faith and confidence in what we read in it. It belongs to the members of the organization. Therefore, the members should, at all times, keep it supplied with news that is worth while and to our interest and mutual advantage.

Nothing spreads a gospel or a story like printers' ink.

A Philadelphia correspondent said in May JOURNAL that he never sees any notes in the JOURNAL from the Consolidated Press, Chicago Tribune News Service and Public Ledger Service. He also said that the A. P. is not represented as it should be. Union operators working for these organizations should take notice.

Depending on the other fellow to do something that you yourself should do is a wornout custom.

SCRIPPS-MCRAE GOING STRONG

The newspaper business is not only flourishing, but it is on a big boom. The Scripps-McRae people have established several new daily papers the past twelve months. They now have three dailles in Texas, the Press, at Fort Worth, the Dispatch, at Dallas and the Press, at Houston. The Scripps-McRae people established a new daily at Washington, D. C., six or eight months ago, called The News. The Scripps-McRae papers are very popular wherever they are published. Incidentally, the Scripps-McRae people have gone on record officially as being opposed to the open shop.

New daily papers are springing up here and there all over the country. The Houston (Texas) Evening Post was established a few weeks ago. It is owned and published by the owners of the Houston Morning Post. Two United Press leased wires were installed—the straightway news wire and the financial and feature wire.

A great many dailies which have hithertoonly received a "pony" report have installed the lease wire service of one of the several news-gathering organization during the past year. New newspapers and new clients mean more positions for press operators.

TRIBUTE TO MILGRAM

We note with pleasure that Joe Milgram, of the Central News. New York, who has been one of the wide awake correspondents of the JOURNAL for a long time, has left the telegraph business to accept a position as editor of a trade paper. We congratulate Milgram on his well merited promotion and wish him well and nobly.

Editor Powers paid Milgram a nice tribute when he said:

"Good luck, Brother Milgram. Your consistent work for the organization has been productive of results and will not be forgotten."

It is gratifying to note that Milgram declares that he will continue to carry a C. T. U. A. card.

The A. P. notes in May JOURNAL, from the Pacific Coast, were read with deep interest.

HEARST SERVICES EXTENDING

Union press operators are glad to see William Randolph Hearst extend his newspaper activities. Looks like he will go to Portland, Ore., according to May JOURNAL. Hearst and the U. P. were the first employers to recognize the C. T. U. A., and sign a contract with it. Hearst and the U. P. have lost nothing by recognizing and dealing with the C. T. U. A. On the contrary, they have largely gained by dealing with union operators.

Union operators should at all times play the game square, observe their contracts in spirit and letter and be loyal in the manly sense—loyal to their employer and loyal to their union.

When the C. T. U. A. was being organized there were cynical and pessimistic commercial operators who asked the question, "What's the use?" Can anyone imagine a press operator working under a union contract asking this foolish question now? There may be a few who have a "temporary allowance" attached to their salaries, which, like Damocles' sword, is a presentiment of evil and hangs over their heads by a single hair, but hardly any who are working under a union contract.

We regret to announce that Brother Charles K. Tripp suffered a serious nervous breakdown at New Orleans some weeks ago. His condition became so grave that he was compelled to sever his connection with Universal Service. Latest reports on his condition from the state of Washington, where he is now residing in his old home town, are not at all encouraging. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Members of all prers divisions should not forget that we now have a Press Division in the JOURNAL and that it's up to them to keep it supplied with live and interesting news.

Ohio River Circuit

After sundry adventures in New York and other foreign parts, Ed. Campbell is back on the job in the Cleveland bureau, relieving "Bill" Marshall who found dancing on a Remington to music furnished by "Red" Owens, New York, not quite so attractive as fishing.

- F. O. Chaney, ex-"OS" man from the West, has been assigned to the Martins Ferry, Ohio, Times, relieving K. C. Wilde, departed for A. P. servitude at Scranton, Pa.
- J. J. Colbert, formerly with the A. P. at Parkersburg, who made vacation reliefs on the south end of the "river" route, has been permanently assigned to the Athens, (O.) Messenger, vice Joe Antenuci, of Canton, resigned on account of ill health. Bro. Colbert, who trained under the tutorship of the "big time" prize fighters, recently took on a new "sparring partner"—for life.

Among those lucky enough to get vacations thus far are: Bros. Yankee, Akron; Wilhelm, Canton; Manchester, Huntington, W. Va.; Johnson, Ironton; Allen, Ashland, Ky.

Much interest here in wage negotiations and in the proposed Funeral Benefit Departments. Consensus of opinion is that the $60 minimum should be put across, and the Funeral Benefit Department approved. We feel the proposal to institute a funeral benefit is a step in the right direction; that, having taken this step, it will be easier to take others toward building up a real, 100 per cent strong and beneficient fraternal organization of commercial telegraphers.

'Smatter with the "local notes" writers and Pro Bono Publico, who used to write such interesting stuff for the Journal? Let's see some of the press men get interested in the problems of the craft; let's hear from some of the Western Union and Postal men as to what they think of their present condition, especially the A. W. E. dupes; the opinions of some A. P. men on the manner in which they are swindled out of from $3 to $5 a week by not being paid the union scale in their territory might prove interesting. Most of all, we'd like to hear from some A. P. men who prefer to lose $200 or more a year, rather than pay union dues. Maybe they get something we don't know about -in the neck.

A. R. G.

Kansas City-South

Welcome to our midst, Pacific Coast correspondent! Where have you been for so long. Keep 'er up.

By the time these lines reach the membership we will have been on the threshold of another negotiating conference in the East.

Pacific Coast correspondent asks us where we get that stuff. Referring to the $48 minimum. I don't know what he means by "the East," but from my experience on the coast "the Fast" is anywhere from Arisona and Wyoming to the Atlantic Coast.

We, of the Middle West, or Mississippi Valley, whichever you wish to call it, are of the same opinion and sympathies as the Pacific Coast men. We believe in the same co-operative spirit they do along the coast.

If the East, then, refers to "back along the Atlantic seaboard," we of the "cowpuncher southwest" are surprised to learn that they are not in accord with the West and Pacific Coast. Factionalism should not and will not enter our fight. We are all as one behind our committeemen when they go to New York, whether they be from the East or West.

A. P. DOUBLE-CROSSES

Associated Press men who are not members (many of whom read Journals presented to them for their consumption as a sort of "auxiliary" to the Service Bulletin) it is time you are waking up and realizing that the future of press telegraphy lies within you and your ranks. You well know that there is all kinds of double-cross work going on within your circles which you abhor from the bottom of your guts. This matter would not and could not last if you folks had a schedule, because everyone must shoot square with his fellow man within union ranks to attain any degree of harmony.

I know of a certain fellow in the A. P. ranks who believed he would possibly "get in good" with the higher ups if he tipped them off on a certain thing. He did. The "higher up," made use of his tip, all right, but also demanded an apology from the "tipper" for "taking it up through improper channels; that it should come from someone else instead of direct to him."

That's the way it goes. If any A. P. man thinks or has the hallucination working on his mind that by "Hawkshawing" around among fellowmen that that will put him in good for promotion he should stop and study a moment. He will find that everyone cannot attain a TDR-ship or whatever there is above that "noble rank" and when he finds that it is best to treat all square, then he is a welcome addition to our ranks.

While it is against our policy to attempt to meddle in A. P. affairs, it is to our interest to call their employes' attention to means of helping our craft attain its just status.

Brother Dave Creager at Houston recently had to lay off a few days after coming back from his vacation, suffering from an enlarged jaw. After having a portion of it removed, he came back with us muchly imbued with pep, which caused our old side-kicker at KX to comment on it, wanting to know "Where'd you get it, Dave? And tell me how I may get in touch with the physician who seemingly uses the 'monkey gland' method of treatment."

Dave said it was a g-r-r-rand and glorious feeling after it quit hurting.

The fact that a certain railroad is trying in vain to secure SIX telegraphers in one of their relay offices listens good. There isn't an idle press operator—or even an available emergency sub in this part of the world.

If we ever had an opportunity to get what we have been entitled to for years but didn't get, it is NOW.

UNITED PRESS NOTES

San Francisco-South

"When this issue of the Journal reaches you the time when your strength will be tested is close at hand.

"I would like again to say:

"Have faith in yourself.

"It is not what your committee wishes you to have that you will eventually receive, it is what you, individually, KNOW you want that will be incorporated in the next contract.

"What we receive for our labors and what we are entitled to are so widely at variance that we cannot hope to close the gap this year. Let us then be moderate and stand irrevocably for $60 A WEEK this year and go after some more next year. One success begets another and eventually we will receive a square deal if we make this, our initial effort, a success.

"When the committee calls on you for support, remember that your own individual you is the one that will uphold them or throw them down.

"Know what you want and why you want it and stand pat on that knowledge.

"Brother Committeemen: We are at your service."

The foregoing statement was issued by our go-getter, Chairman Mergens, who is responsible for our $60 "NO COMPRO-MISE" program and it's up to every last one of us to see that he gets our backing. Let's go.

"Vacation reliefs are moving along rapidly," said Chief Bain, the first of the month, "and I expect to wind them up very shortly." Messrs. Duncan and Witt comprise the Southern California team of relievers, while Troxell does his stuff in the Northern section of the Golden West.

Van Hoff, who has worked himself all up over the $60 "NO COMPROMISE" business, recently spent an evening in a San Francisco French restaurant accompanied by Frank Murphy.

Frank de Murphy, noted French tragedienne, recently stated that the only reason his costly, imported. Hupmobile limousine—newly overhauled—wouldn't run was a set of tires. He promised to keep us informed on this vital matter.

All "Doc" Estes needs to make life worth living is less water in the trout streams and $60 PER WEEK. "Doc" furnishes the Stockton (Calif.) Record, with much copy during the week and fishes Sundays.

W. B. Roberts, now on the Long Beach Telegram and C. C. Nickels, San Bernardino Telegram, have arranged to "swap" jobs, effective July 8. The trade is being made for reasons best known to themselves. "Bob" and "Nick" are both supporters of the $60 PER WEEK idea.

"Little" Hubbard, brother of the well-known "Hub" of Oakland fame, sits in at the Pomona Progress. He is also said to have been appointed editor of the "Get Something Out of Nothing" column of said Progress. If "Little" Hub knows as much about radio as he does Morse, the column should be a whiz. The Hubs want SIXTY, too.

Thomas "Fullofpep" Kelly, who presided over our $60 PER WEEK minimum gathering, at Los Angeles, cut loose with the following, when asked for a little news:

"SIXTY OR BUST."

Postmaster of the House of Correctness Erickson, Hanford bull-less wonder, recently said, during an interview with Murf.: "All I lost in the Tulare Lake flood was the accumulation of last winter's dirt." Erik failed to say whether he meant his money or what have you? The gent from "HF" is also in favor of ESSEX SIXTY.

"How about my drops?" queries "PX" Keet at 11:38 a. m. "The bus leaves at 11:40."

٠

"Only a hundred more," snaps "Fat."

Loud, naughty words, by dropee.

Keet has been so busy dropping lately that he hasn't had much time to discuss the sixty layout. You can tell he's for it, though.

All of which brings us back to the question: "How much this year?"

Echo from Pacific Coast — "SIXTY BUCKS."

Mof."

Atlanta Southern

We have nothing to report on "Excuse Me" Cox, except he has purchased a parrot and pulls new "official" code.

Chairman Copeland at "MP" has returned to duty after a two-weeks' vacation, and reports having had a fine time.

"Red" Finnegan, has returned to duty after spending his vacation in the Pelican city. He states having gained nine pounds. Twas best, Red, your stay was not extended, lest you would soon be a close runner-up of "Ike" Cohen.

E. J. McBride, Birmingham, with his Hudson Super, has departed on his well earned vacation. Mac says he's hitting the trail for the "tall timber."

H. G. Penrod. Nashville, returned to duty after spending his vacation visiting in the North. He was present to see Morvich win the Kentucky Derby.

Did you vote on Funeral Benefit Plan? Gotta hand it to the old O. T. U. A.

New York State-U. P.

Operators on the New York State circuit and throughout the United Press Service extend their heartfelt sympathy to Brother Thomas W. Cornell, of Albany, in his because the caused by the death of his mother, which occurred on June 1, at his home.

Tom Sweeney is back at work in the Buffith bureau, after a month's vacation, spent in the Western New York country. Tom got off a good one the first day he resumed his labors, showing that his sense of humor was in no way impaired by his lay-off. When "Smithy" sent a story about Old Man Baker, of Harlan, Ky., becoming the father of his 33rd child, at the age of 94, Tom inquired where "that bakery" was located.

Pete Anderhub, of St. Catherines, Ont., covered the heavy work at "BF" during Sweeney's absence and then went on his own annual period of recreation. Bob Haines, of Abany, did the six-week stunt at the oasis across the line, where two per cent beverage is dispensed to the thirsty at reasonable rates.

J. L. Yawman, of Hamilton, Ont., was recently laid up for repairs for a couple of weeks, when his hand got caught in the flivver crank. His daughter, Miss Helen, was the substitute and very ably filled her daddy's place.

Bro. George Hensel, Printer Operator of the Buffalo Bureau, took part of his vacation the first week in May and will take the remainder later in the summer season. He returned in the best of condition and is requiring the keys harder than ever.

Kansas City-Southwest

U. L. McCall was transferred from Kansas City to Memphis on June 1, and was succeeded as superintendent at Kansas City, by R. H. Heppe, of the Okiahoma City Bureau.

Mr. McCall had many friends in the Southwest and they hate to lose him. He was one A. P. man in whom there was placed lots of confidence among employes. He was always found to be on the square. This, sadly, is not to be said throughout the rank and file of men we work with every day. Not that if they all were of Mr. McCall's calibre we would have no use for an organization, but if they all were we would have men—100 per cent men—to play the game squarely every day.

Vacation time is on and relief men are going through the schedules. The relief man makes the $5 t. a. but the poor bird who lays off gets $5 a week cut. Guess that is part of the scheme to pay for relief men's traveling expenses.

"Dog eat dog."

That is the latest expression of a "non-" who explains why he doesn't belong to the c. T. U. A.

"We had a strike once and I came out in a bad shape; we didn't win," he continues, "and I ve come to the conclusion that it's a proposition of 'dok eat dog' anyway and am just satisfied to continue fighting my own way."

Well, maybe be thinks he has well founded opinions of the matter, but let us hope that before he gets much farther along in the game he will just realize that he is all wrong. The proper thing to do is pull with a will and get everybody concentrated on the same idea and there's no chance to fail.

Wake up, sleeping beauties, and help a good thing along!

Schor Carlos Narganes (white), a Cuban operator, is now transmitting the report of The Associated Press over the New York-Havana night service, using the Continental alphabet with Cuban operators receiving.

Narganes was employed here, but is being paid by The Associated Press in New York.

Strict interpretation of the law would categorize this as violation of the alien contract labor law. But of course, The Associated Latrines is powerful enough to "jump the law!"

Postscript: The service moved is 50 per cent less (liberally estimated).

ATLANTA IS SOUTHERN A. P. HEADQUARTERS

Associated Press will re-establish headquarters at Atlanta, Ga. U. L. McCall, district superintendent at Kansas City, was appointed superintendent of the Southern Division effective June 1, headquarters of which will be opened in Atlanta shortly. The amplified service established and contemplated in the Southern Division makes it advisable to separate the duties of the superintendent of the Washington Bureau and the superintendent of the Southern Division, thereby enabling L. C. Probert, superintendent of the Washington Bureau, to devote all his attention to the increasing responsibilities of the Washington Bureau. Mr. McCall will be succeeded at Kansas City by R. H. Heppe, who will go there in the capacity of correspondent, from Oklahoma City, where he holds the same position. Mr. Heppe's place will be taken by Edwin R. Schauffler, who is now night pony editor at Kansas City. Mr. Schauffler will go to Oklahoma City as correspondent July 1, and until that time L. P. Penn in the Oklahoma City office will act as Associated Press correspondent.

The Associated Press on June 5 will double its wire facilities to many of the principal cities of the South. On that date a two-track service will be inaugurated from Chicago to Louisville, Memphis, Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Birmingham, Montgomery, Mobile and New Orleans. main wire will be operated throughout the 24 hours, the second wire from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. daily. At the same time there will also be installed, as a part of the general scheme of reorganization of trunk line circuits, another express wire from New York to Chicago for the expeditious handling of the enlarged market service made possible by the additional wires to the South.

Through the Chicago connection these Southern cities will be in direct touch with the rest of the two-track lines which radiate from that city.

These double wires now extend from Chicago to San Francisco to St. Paul and Minneapolis; to Dallas and Galveston and, of course, to Washington and New York. Between Chicago and the latter cities five wires are now in operation; one of them said to be the fastest Morse press circuit in the world.

The new service inaugurated to the South is the first step in plans for a further rerouting of wires in that section, which eventually will bring other cities into the twotrack class of the Associated Press.

CENTRAL NEWS BRIEFS

Have you sent in your vote for the Funeral Benefit idea?

Sixty dollars is more like a decent wage. It's worth a good fight.

Brother Al Horowitz, who works the Philadelphia and Washington wire for the Stock Quotation Co., went to the City Hall for his marriage license a couple of weeks ago, and while there, dared his girl to get married then and there. He could not get away with a dare like that on Miss Weisbein. Consequently, it's Mr. and Mrs. Horowitz now. Good luck to you two, Al.

The marriage makes Horowitz a full brother-in-law of Barney Weisbein, who works the Philadelphia Ledger for the Central News.

Your correspondent is now working the West Wire. For a while the men thought Jackson still was doing the sending. He was shifted to the North Wire when we started the new service to the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Jackson is gone now. A man named Wasserman is now on the North Wire.

Come on, fellows, let's have some notes. Pay your second half dues.

Samuel Rosenfeld, New York.

COSMOPOLITAN NEWS SERVICE NOTES

Bro. O. A. Rosenhauer, Minneapolis, has been selected to act as spokesman for the Cosmopolitan men and it is hoped will be in New York to advise with the I. N. S. committee this month to see that the management becomes fully acquainted with our demands.

It is indeed a crime when men are compelled to work the way we do on the Cosmopolitan circuit for the same scale as carried on straight news wires. This class of work must carry a differential rating and WILL when the committee returns from New York. We cannot expect the I. N. S. committeemen to understand our case exactly and put forth the necessary efforts. The financial question seems to be the only objection and that has been taken care of.

Bro. Taylor Sandford, I. N. S., Minneapolis, has switched to the Windy City and is sending on the West Cosmo wire. Pleased to have you with us, Sandy. Some head.

Bro. C. L. Burkett is alternating with Sandford on the Cosmo and I. N. S. west ckt. And they make a fine team, believe me.

Sorry to see you go, Huey. (Hugh Evans recently left us at San Francisco.) He was succeeded by Bro. Shanks from the Oakland Post Enquirer.

Shanks was relieved by Bro. Burchette. an old timer, who I am shy much dope on. but will say we never hear from him on the button.

Bro. John Mislove holds forth at "HA." Poor John is on the "tail" end of the string and sure puts in some tuff days trying to 'guess 'em out."

This Cosmo string has been going a little more than three months now, and if the management will do the right thing and make it pay something more substantial we will show them our appreciation. On the other hand, if we are not paid more money, there'll be some jobs vacant on this wire after July 1. Maybe they can fill 'em, maybe not. One thing is certain, however: THEY NEVER WILL KEEP MEN ON THIS WIRE AT THE PRESENT RATE

YOUR SECOND HALF CARD IS READY. REMIT TODAY.

CONSOLIDATED PRESS NOTES

Congratulations. Milgram, and may your way be paved with success. You are a live wire and should hit the ball at "SK" from now on. Your good efforts at "CN" will be missed, although we believe you have not thrown us over entirely.

Maynard, the far famed and wide heralded "Wild Canuck" has left us for other fields, the U. P. The kid was some bug artist and his absence is felt all along the line. Even Newton breathes easier and sleeps later than nanal.

Booth at Boston is reported to be feeling better these days.

A recent "flash" stated that Maynard and Newton are in the market on the bull side again, the former going in heavy for Gin Mill preferred, while the latter accumulated a considerable holding of Big Ben common. Westclox is another good buy, Newt.

Red Wilson hands out the dope these days in good shape. Cheer up, Red, you are only a kid; you will be a great help when you grow up.

Have you voted on Funeral Benefit Plan? The C. T. U. A. is coming along strong.

Bob Caldwell has left the old gang and departed for parts unknown. Bob is a good scout, but he loves to see strange faces and tread strange thoroughfares.

Where have all the "opportunities" gone these past few months. It has not been so very long ago that there were two men for each job, now the condition is reversed. This is a good omen for those who want to make a change, but a bad one for the one who wants a few days off.

What became of Bob Lanphere and "Hyphen" (HX) Hicks? And there was Ben Lamar, Ben Daugherty. Billy Leeds, Bobby Flowers, Red Holmes and Fat Fagerstrom—query.

A rumor is current to the effect that Newton, at Toronto, was once connected with the stage, canacity unknown, but some say that he was a chorus girl and this is further augmented by the fact that he has not broken away from the old habit of sleeping until noon, a habit dear to the singing ladies. Now, let us hear your side of it, Newt.

NEW TRAFFIC CHIEFS FOR CONSOLIDATED

Washington, D. C., June 1.—Three new division traffic chiefs have been appointed by the Consolidated Press in development of the policy of decentralizing operating authority. All three of the officers are veteran press association men. Their appointment was announced this week by T. J. McBreen, chief of the Consolidated traffic department, as follows:

Western Division, headquarters Chicago, Robert Siegler.

Enstern Division, headquarters New York, W. F. Snowden.

Southern Division, headquarters Washington, Charles T. Gheen.

E. F. Wilson, since 1913 with the Associated Press, has been appointed Pacific Coast superintendent of the Consolidated Press, with headquarters in San Francisco. His appointment, effective May 15, was announced from the Washington offices of the Consolidated Press.

ASSOCIATED PRESS SIDELIGHTS NOT COVERED IN A. P. SERV-ICE BULLETIN

BY CERT. $19

A radical change in the handling of its service to the Republic of Cuba was inaugurated by The Associated Press on Sunday, May 23.

Cuban operators were installed in the offices of Bl Diario de la Marina and Bl Mundo, substituting the American operators formerly functioning at the above mentioned offices.

The report is being translated into Spanish in New York and transmitted over the wire in the Continental alphabet.

The innovation is due to the desire of some of The Associated Press clientele to bring about a radical saving.

The operators work for $25.50 per week—they really do not earn it—but that is another question.

Let us analyze the latest "scheme" of The Associated Press. They have an eight hour lease, costing approximately $27,500 per year. Through the utilization of Cuban operators they save approximately $5,200 per year, but reduce their efficiency in wire capacity at least 50 per cent! Where is the saving?

No! It is not true that one of the telegraphers is a negro! He simply bears a modicum of mulatto blood. A Cuban operator will be sent to New York from Havana to transmit the service. Care will be taken to choose a man of Spanish extraction—it is hardly plausible to believe the New York force would consent to work with a kink!

It is understood that in the event the new system proves a failure—as expected—The Associated Press will sell printers to the Cuban newspapers—if they can be induced to purchase. How much commission, please?

"Merely a scrap of paper"—Most of us know the origin of this expression, but for the elucidation of those unfamiliar with the real meaning:

"An A. P. insurance policy"—paid for by the operator and handed out by the Association as a "balt."

When The Associated Press men fully organize they will be able to carry a $10.000 life insurance policy with the additional salary without accepting the "pap" handed to them as a gag.

ANOTHER A. P. STORY NOT COVERED IN "SERVICE BULLETIN"

Dear Cert. 319:

Congratulations on your two excellent articles which appeared in last month's Journal. I take advantage of this fraternal medium to greet you and join forces with you in paying respects to the Associated Press.

I happen to know the details of an experience recently gained by an Associated Press operator, with which I want to acquaint members, and, especially—Associated Press nonmembers.

The Associated Press asked this man to undertake an emergency trip to Huntsville, Ala., to relieve a man who was sick. The relief operator was allowed railroad fare, but was to pay his own living expenses during the emergency.

Working conditions as he found them, he told me, were abominable and insufferable.

His desk, if you may call a shabby, unstable, rough-hewn table such, was located so as to receive all the cold blasts and rain from an ever opening front door; with only a small oil stove to stand between him and freezing temperatures. It rained most of the time he was there, says this man.

The whole newspaper plant was crammed into a small, inadequate building and the operator had to listen to the sounder through the loud screeching of metal-cutting saws and other ear-splitting noises emanating from the "composing room." The newspaper furnished him with an inferior typewriter and requested that the operator make up his own books.

The cold, the rain, the maddening noises and an erratic editor made the relief operator's work so unpleasant, that he left at the end of two long days. On leaving he notified District Headquarters of the Associated Press, that he had been sent to Huntsville under misrepresentation and did not consider himself obligated to remain and endure any longer the gross inconveniences which he found there.

He then turned the job over to a substitute and returned to the point from whence he came—at his own expense.

For his action this man was reprimanded and discharged.

The Associated Press actually expected him to put up with conditions as they existed in that particular newspaper office!

Those same conditions, no doubt, were largely responsible for illness of the regular man.

It was learned definitely that the substitute left to protect the Associated Press on the job referred to, refused to stay longer than a week and a man had to be sent there to relieve him.

It appears that the decided stand taken by the first mentioned relief operator, though it proved costly to him, had a constructive effect. It develops that several formal complaints went to Washington headquarters from Huntsville, including one from the regular man, who, hearing of performances during his illness and absence, mustered up enough courage, himself, to register a healthy kick.

The Associated Press realizes that its telegraph personnel is composed of intelligent and self-respecting men, but being faced with no "Collective Bargaining" Committee, know that individual protests or demands will be futile. Therefore, they feel at liberty to press every advantage.

The great remedy for this evil is UNION-ISM.

Let us hope that the A. P. men will soon throw off their apathy and fearlessly present a demand for a schedule.

Hasta luego.

CLEVELAND NOTES

Several new positions have been created in Cleveland through founding of a new paper, the Cleveland Commercial. The United News, with "Jim" Acles as operator, the Philadelphia Public Ledger with "Bill" Phillips on the receiving end, and World service with D. K. Stevenson, "the grand old man from Pittsburgh," as its atlas.

The United Press financial wire is another new institution, which is manned by I. F. Soft.

Ed. C. Campbell, previously at N. Y., I. N. S.. has returned to Cleveland bureau of said F. N. S. Ed. says he never could see two bits in a scuttle of suds, much less in Jersey. Ed. relieves "Bill" Marshall, resigned.

A. J. Ward is now with Worthington Bellows and Co. "All things come to he who waits" is the logic that turned the trick for Al.

While George Hattle, of Jones and Baker, looked over things down in N. Y., Howard Lewton, swimming star, looked after matters for George.

Harry Kope was called upon by Maynard Murch & Co., to handle their New York wire, on the assumption that he was the only man who could cope with the situation.

Robert Bee Jay Dillinger, long a champion of C. T. U. A.-ism in Cleveland, has seen fit to return to "Our Maryland." to live among scenes of boyhood days—and others.

L. P. Wexler, who shoots holes in the tape for the United News automatics, says he has the most accommodating operator on his circuit at Akron, who justified Wexler's faith in his qualities as a news hound when said Akronite flashed a "sked": "Will have man killed at railway crossing in a few minutes." Later news developments revealed the man had been killed as promised.

TO LEASED WIRE OPERATORS:

Greetings:

wire telegrapher should be No leased without a C. T. U. A. card, up-to-date.

Why?

Because it is a symbol of industrial liberty, high class wages, good working conditions.

Membership in the C. T. U. A. is insurance against a rainy day.

Glance backward and think of what working conditions and rates of pay in the telegraph service were before the C. T. U. A. sprang into being like a meteor.

The C. T. U. A. was born of necessity; born to resist a wholesale cut in wages that the telegraph trust had sleekly mapped out shortly after R. C. Clowry rode to the crest of power in the trust by becoming president of the Western Union.

Clowry and his henchmen reckoned without their host. The rapidly gathering and swelling ranks of the C. T. U. A. blocked their perfidious designs.

Leased wire operators of all classes long ago set up the claim that they were progressives and were strong for unionism. This being the case, membership from the leased wire section of the telegraph craft ought to be 100 percent strong.

is it that strong? If not, let's make it that strong.

SCRIPPS-McRAE ACQUIRE INDIANA DAILY TIMES

Indianapolis, June 8.—The Indiana Daily Times, afternoon paper, was purchased by Roy W. Howard, chairman of the central executive board, for the Scripps-McRae newspaper interests from W. D. Boyce of Chicago, at a figure said to be less than $350,000. The transfer of ownership, which becomes effective Friday morning, does not include the Times' real estate, though the purchasers have taken an option on this.

Peculiar interest is taken in this purchase for the reason that Mr. Howard, who purchased the paper for the Scripps-McRae interests, was formerly an Indianapolis newspaper man who started his journalistic career as a carrier of the paper he purchased yesterday. At one time he was sports editor of the Indianapolis Star and is well known in Indiana.

GREAT LAKES NOTES

The personnel of the Local Committee appointed under the By-Laws, Art. 10, Clause B. is as under:

F. Cuthbert Allen, Chairman.

Thos. R. Ives, Committeeman.

Chas. J. Prance, Committeeman.

The following brothers, appointed under By-Laws, Art. 12. Clause A, constitute the local Grievance body:

Carl G. Newberg. Chairman-Secretary.

Thos. R. Ives, Committeeman.

L. A. Smallwood, Committeeman.

Real grievances (when filed) should, in the first instance, following unsatisfactory official adjustment, be addressed to the Chairman-Secretary, as above, at Midland station.

Flimsy or imaginary grievances should be forgotten or if committed to paper, be sent to, and left with the W. P. B.

The attention of all brothers is drawn to Art. 13 of the By-Laws, and though when read herein, this intimation will be somewhat belated, there are likely to be some who will find it useful. If so, act at once, and do not pick haphazardly, but select your man (men) and KNOW him for a staunch and unafraid individual who shelves at critical moments, his own personal considerations in his determination to carry out the obligations of office as your advocate and spokesman.

When on committee work, an executive has many duties, but he has ONE great and solemn duty to those whom he represents, whose money pays his expenses, and who look to him to protect not his own or his family's interests, but THEIRS.

Any executive, individual or body, who, in a tight corner, cannot come clean on this, should forthwith vacate office, thereby opening up the way for others who, realizing the facts, and prepared to face them, will assume the duties of office, carry out to the letter these duties, and permit consequences and risks (often imaginary) to take care of themselves.

Those who do not hold this high estimate of their duty as members of a labor executive, or holding it, cannot at all times see their way clear to put it in practice, have no right, if nominated, to permit themselves to be elected to office.

Their doing so, amounts to not less than RANK DISHONESTY and governed by developments, may render them liable under Section 24 of our Constitution.

A man may be the most earnest unionist extant: he may be amongst the hardest and most indefatigable workers in the cause, and yet he may easily be the one least suited to a place on an executive.

The eyes of the C. T. U. A. world and of the numerically greater O. R. T. world are upon your General Committee when negotiating schedules and such like; therefore, nominate, elect, and carry men of whom you can justly feel proud, men whom you KNOW you can trust, and to whom you can point as "Unselfish and Safe."

By the time you read these "Notes" the big question of a 15 per cent general wage reduction will have been before you. The ballot with its accompanying correspondence will have been sent out to EVERY OPERATOR ON THE PAY ROLL, UNION OR OTHERWISE.

Your General Committee, pledged to uphold to the best of their ability, the existing wage scale, cannot recommend that the proposed or any cut be accepted. The issue has been placed before you, and it is for YOU, and YOU ALONE to decide.

If your vote has not yet been cast, do so at once, and insofar as is possible in a scattered service such as is ours, let the voice of the entire body be heard.

Due to the nature of our service, it is not possible on this issue to fix a specific date upon which balloting shall close, but July 1st has been named by the Company as the date upon which the proposed reduction becomes effective, and by that time the desire of the majority should be known.

A further word, by way of reminder, may not be out of place in connection with the vote asked for by the General Assembly on the establishment of the Funeral Benefit Department. VOTE.

EXCERPTS FROM REPORT

The following excerpt from the Report of your General Committee is submitted chiefly for the information of those, who by reason of location or circumstances, have not yet learned the whole truth.

Digitized by Google

"In addition to the matter of the proposed reduction, the following points were taken up and fully dealt with:

RETROACTIVE FEATURE OF THE 1919 AWARD:

The Company firmly refused to consider this, claiming that they have had to shoulder the entire burden of the increased wages from January, 1920, to the end of March, 1921; the increased subsidy having been made effective from April 1, 1921, only, and for a period of but five years.

STATUS OF OPERATORS ABOARD SHIP:

The Union's conception of the status of Radio operator aboard ship, viz., "Junior Officer," was upheld by the Company.

MATTER OF SHIPS CONTRACTS IN ITS RELATION TO OPERATORS WAGES:

The Company state, that in many cases their contracts with the ship-owners do not contain any proviso by which the amount paid by them (the ship owners) for operators' services can be increased to meet increases in wages. Such increases as have been agreed to by the shipping concerns, have been entirely voluntary, and these ship owners are now clamoring for reductions, threatening to revert to the actual figures of their several contracts.

MATTER OF PROMOTIONS TO POSI-TIONS OUTSIDE THE RANK OF OPERATING PERSONNEL:

The Company advises that the wages of these positions, offer, in their opinion, no inducement to operators to accept them, and that under existing conditions, these wages cannot be made sufficiently high to induce operators to accept them. This applies to the advocated Inspector Class.

MATTER OF ANTICIPATED FUTURE EXAMINATIONS:

The Company advise that they have no reason for believing that there will be any change in existing conditions.

MATTER OF SENIORITY AND WHAT GOVERNS SAME:

It was clearly established that Seniority is governed by accumulated service, and NOT by date of entry into the service.

MATTER OF TRANSFER FROM ONE DIVISION TO ANOTHER:

The Company stated that they cannot consider the service except as a whole.

MATTER OF SICKNESS WHEN ABOARD SHIP:

The Company's contracts with the ship owners provide very fully for this. Article II, of Schedue A, covers it. The Company wish it to be known by ships' operators that they (the operators) must follow the prescribed procedure, and in the event of serious illness necessitating outside medical or hospital attention, written authority from the ship's captain to the physician or hospital, must be secured, otherwise an operator renders himself liable for expenses incurred.

MATTER OF NOTICE (fifteen days) BE-ING GIVEN PRIOR TO LEAVING THE SERVICE:

Notice will be given by the Company in all cases when lay-off is due to "Reduction of Staff." Cases of misdemeanor will not receive such notice, but dismissal will be without notice or pay in lieu thereof.

MATTER OF INEQUALITY OF ALLOW-ANCE UNDER ART. 8, CLAUSE C, OF SCHEDULE A, AS AFFECTING CER-TAIN STATIONS WITHOUT DWELL-INGS:

The Company pointed out that they could not discriminate as between stations. Certain stations with dwellings, etc., have inconveniences not found at others.

QUEBEC AND DISTRICT NOTES

Our notes this month are going to be brief.

Our conference is over and before these lines appear you will have decided the issue placed before you for better or worse, as the clerics have it. You will be in a better position to judge as to the wisdom of your choice, whichever way it goes, six months hence, owing to the peculiar conditions which exist in our service.

The 16,000-ton C. P. S. Montcalm ran aground on June 2nd between VCA and VCC. The radio service when called upon was not found to be lacking. For a couple of days VCA and VCC were kept rather busy. The vessel was safely gotten off and at precent writing is lying in dry dock undergoing repairs. It is supposed that a failure of the steering gear contributed materially to the grounding.

Brother Holmes, after the conference, returned to his former vessel, the SS. "Hochelaga."

Brother Heath of this station has been transferred to the floating service.

Opr. Teed, who relieved Bro. Heath here for a time, has gone across to England to join the C. P. S. "Empress of Australia."

Opr. Teed was replaced here by Opr. Sharp from Montreal, who recently joined the service.

Bro. Soares has been transferred from Fame Pt. to Head Office, where he will undertake special duty.

Bro. Palmer relieved Bro. Soares at Fame Pt.

The time for nomination of officers for next year is at hand. We wish to announce to our readers that this column will be presided over by another before long.

"THE LOSS OF AN EYE"

Under the Workmen's Compensation Act in Ontario, the man who loses an eye is awarded an inadequate pension of less than a dollar per week. Another, and broader view of the value of an eye was taken on Saturday, May 27, when the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in session at Massey Hall, Toronto, decided to pay total and permanent disability benefit to a member for the loss of an eye it might be well for the Workmen's Compensation Board to reconsider its position, and incidentally learn from the worker, something of the value placed by himself on his own and his brother's sight.

Such reconsideration cannot fail to cause these dispensers of "justice" to recognize the worth of their own two eyes and to learn that the other fellow's eyes are, to him and his dependents, of equal, and maybe greater worth.

"Hindostan."

EASTERN DISTRICT

The comments in our May issue by the seafaring wireless officer to the Canadian shipowners strikes the nail on the head. With all of the latest developments in ship apparatus, including the W./T. direction finding instruments, the position calls for a skilled telegraphist, and the value of an up-to-date set, including a first class operator, cannot be overestimated. If the Canadian shipowners were wise to the true facts that they are at the present time getting an efficient service for a low scale of wage they cer-tainly would not desire to replace their present staff with a lot of learners and inefficient telegraphers. The schools of today have as their teachers a bunch of "numbakulia," who class themselves as operators, and no doubt the fruits of their teachings account for so many unskilled operators of today who cannot form their letters properly and who send out the most wicked string of Morse you ever listened to. For an experienced operator to listen to such stuff is simply disgusting.

The Canadian shipowners should so man their ships with operators whom they can depend on and be proud of instead of having a bunch of operators whom even the amateurs laugh at and criticize. It is one of the mysterious jokes as to how such men ever passed the test. From my personal observation many boats, the U. S. S. B., including foreign and Canadian, are open to much criticism on account of the manner in which the sets on the ships are operated and the carelessness of transmitting leaves room for vast improvement, but in many cases it is due to learners and unskilled telegraphers, some of whom never become proficient.

The A. W. E. at the North Sydney cable office are having their own troubles. The association has turned out to be a passing joke; in fact, it was a joke before it started. The "Town Hall" was their place of meeting. Now they can meet anywhere but they cannot find the chairman and enough to start a meeting. Good night to the "A. W. E." It must have been a war time union for the benefit of "Uncle Capital," by the looks of profits which are estimated at over ten millions; the overflow, instead of going to its employees, is dumped to the Government, and the poor innocent "Boob" of an operator who does the "sweat shop" trick gets enough to pay rent and buy "shoddy" and exist on bread and molasses.

Bro. Raine was transferred to SS. "Hochelaga" to relieve Bro. Holmes temporarily.

Bro. H. M. Moffatt is still off on sick leave.

The Americans can put it over on the Canadians when it comes to the long "Presto" on the key. Yep, sure can.

Bro. McLaughlin, of the Wabana, and Bro. McDonald, of the Watuxa, were recent visitors at "VCO" and are taking annuals. These brothers were laid off for a while.

We are pleased to note that Bro. Leslie's young son, who was operated on at Pictou recently, is getting along very nicely. Bro. and Mrs. Leslie accompanied him to Pictou and all have now returned to Grindstone.

We are informed that the Cape Bear station is to be closed down for the summer months. Bro. Bartlett is being transferred to "VCO."

"Nons are nons" and "delinquents still continue to be delinquents." To those "nons" among us who are on the schedule pay of the organization, why should you hesitate about joining? It is up to the Organization committee to get after them.

We extend congrats to Bro. and Mrs. Hodder on the arrival of a young daughter.

The "Kyle" after undergoing repairs on the slip at St. Johns has returned to the Port Aux Basques service. The "Sagona" was the relieving ship. We thank Bro. Serrick for that large salmon.

What has happened to the Newfoundland Division? We have had no word from Bro. Clarke for six months or more.

We are pleased to learn that Bro. MacGillivray is very much improved and hope to see him restored to normal health again soon.

BUFFALO, N. Y., DISTRICT NO. 41

It is with deep sorrow and regret that we convey to a large circle of friends in this and other districts of the C. T. U. A., the sad news of the death of Brother George A. Collins, who for the past several months had efficiently covered the second Associated Press wire, nights, in the Buffalo Courier office. He worked as telegrapher twelve years.

Death came suddenly to Brother Collins, June 1st, and his burial took place from his late home, 50 Walter St., on the 3rd inst., at 9:20 o'clock, and from St. Monica's Catholic Church at 10 o'clock, attended by many personal and professional friends and acquaintances. His surviving relatives are his widowed mother, a brother, Charles, and sister Catherine. He was unmarried.

Brother Collins believed in unionism and had the courage of his convictions, for he carried a card while variously in the employ of the Postal, Western Union, and Associated Press, all opposed to the "Collective Bargaining" idea.

Sincere sympathy and condolence is extended to relatives of the deceased by members of Buffalo Dist. No. 41.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT WIRE-LESS DIVISION NO. 65

British Columbia District

Comments by the Secretary. . . . . Our regular correspondent, Cert. 22, having intimated his intention to temporarily discontinue his contributions to these columns, the notes to this number are forthcoming from another source. It is much to be regretted that our worthy friend, who must still remain anonymous, has considered it necessary to retire from friend, who must still remain anonymous, has considered it necessary to retire from his position, but there is no hesitation in saying that his silence in this Journal will not be of long duration. The welfare of our Division is of too much consequence in his estimation to be overruled by any personal scruples, and we look for a speedy resumption of the duties he has hitherto fulfilled with so much satisfaction hitherto fulfilled with so much satisfaction.

The official reply to the Delegation, embodying the decision of Headquarters to our requests, has made its belated appearance, after a lapse of almost nine months, and is fully covered in another column by our good friend "Critic." This delay has been decidedly irritating, and seemed to imply a tendency to ignore our requests. We were unfortunate in meeting the political upheaval, and could understand that a general election must necessarily cause a certain amount of chaos, especially in a case where the return of the existing Government was problematical; but to receive repeated netification that our requests were suspended pending "the consideration of more important matters" conveyed the impression that the welfare of the staff was regarded as a very secondary consideration, and could be set aside upon any pretext whatever. We would again call attention to the quality of the services rendered by Vice-President Schnur, who was stationed in Ottawa for some time, and Bro. Tom Taylor, both of whom have displayed much tact and persevenace during negotiations. The report of Bro. Schnur is not yet to hand, so there will be further opportunity of referring to the value of his services on behalf of our Division.

In order to submit the above for consideration without delay it was reasonance.

In order to submit the above for consideration without delay, it was necessary to hasten the election of the District Committee for the ensuing year. Despite the fact that ballot papers were issued early in March, the return of same has been most leisurely, and in some cases it was not considered necessary to vote at all. There was no option, therefore, but to give notice that the ballots would be counted at the end of June. If members have not sufficient interest to even vote for their choice as representative, to elect the few necessary to carry on the work, how can they expect progress to be made, and the cause for which we are working attained? Far better to close down altogether, and wait for the Department to come along and suggest that we might have a few grievances if we cared to lookfor them. An amusing coincidence is noticeable when it is found that some of the members who are too careless to do their part without considerable pressing and reminding, are the very ones to provide the loudest lament over the delay on the part of the Department. There are a number of members who maintain a high standard of interest, and it is grossly unfair to these that delay should be inevitable, on account of the actions of a few who seem content to allow matters to drift along, not realizing for one moment, that if they maintain this attitude, they sideration without delay, it was necessary to hasten the election of the District Com-are developing into obstructionists of the first water. There is something to be said for the statement from one member in Victoria—"There is so much to do, and so little done"—and instances such as the above are possibly contributable in no small degree.

Election Results

In all, 15 ballot papers were received, out of a total of 28. Of these the operators on the "Givenchy" and "Estevan" declined to ballot, on the grounds of unfamiliarity with the nominees, desiring to abide by the decision of the majority. By a majority of 10 to 5, it was decided that the number of committee should be restricted to three. Each member was therefore, entitled to three votes—a total of 45 to be recorded. Deducting the two boat members, there remained 10 other members who have not voted, a total of 30 votes, which might have made all the difference in the election. The remaining ballot paper was spoilt, and therefore, disqualified. The result of the election follows: lows:

Elected—Tee, 12; Daniel, 10; Turner, 8. Not Elected—Burford, 5; Hollis, 5; Meiss.

It was a positive pleasure to observe signs of life from the Atlantic District, and now that some proof has been given of the value of our existence, we should be glad to hear from some of our Eastern brothers, who have fallen into arrears. Where are the old stalwarts of Barrington Passage? Of Cape Race, Chebucto. Canso, Halifax, St. John, and the various boats? Come on, fellows, line up, there's lots of work ahead of us yet, and the time has undoubtedly come for a more solid front from the Eastern side of our Division. Someone follow the laudable example of Cert. 71.

We were awarded a castigation from ample of Cert. 71.

We were awarded a castigation from Cert. 22 in the April issue, on account of certain actions with which he apparently did not agree. However, in view of the replies received, a certain amount of satisfaction is felt that the disapproval of the one member is shared by no other, or at least expressed by none. The matter of dues was taken up with the Vice-President at the request of a number of Junior members of the Division, who considered the increase excessive, and found great difficulty in meeting their obligations. The Vice-President, therefore, was asked on the increase excessive, and found great difficulty in meeting their obligations. The Vice-President, therefore, was asked on their behalf to recommend a temporary deviation in dues for this struggling division, until such time as the situation improved, and not to override anything as is erroneously stated. The recommendation was not obtained, and the members are loyally abiding by the decision. The suggestion of a local news sheet has also found great favour, strong approval being expressed from many quarters. As is well known the geographical situation of our membership renders it impossible to hold general meetings each month, as it is the custom in sister divisions. The suggestion was merely to hold these by the medium of paper. Such a procedure would undoubtedly bring members closer together, stimulate interest both in their organization and themselves, as well as keep everybody in closer touch with general proceedings. Every other unit is privileged to hold meetings and that we are debarred from such privilege is a genuine handicap. The desire was, therefore, to overcome this difficulty, and where the will is present, the way is never hard to find, and the suggestion would, we feel confident, enable us to enjoy the more personal intercourse from which the scattered locality of our membership would otherwise prohibit. There was never any intention of bringing out any such Journal as is prohibited by the constitution. All that was intended is fully provided for in Sec. 9 of Article XIX. It would be little more than a members' circular anyway, and would not be instituted without the full concurrence of the International Secretary. Practically every member who has replied has intimated his willingness to contribute to the general discussion, apart from Cert. 22 himself, so surely amongst the bunch, there would be no lack of "drivel" to fill it, without infringing the copyright of the gentleman's stock quotations. Had the above "tomfoolery" originated with our coived no lack of publicity, but he should recoilect that officials are elected for the purpose of carrying out the wishes of the membership in general, without first ascertaining whether or not such will meet dividual. dividual.

Digitized by Google

Local Notes

Bro. Tee, who heads the poll at the recent election, has been relieving for holidays at Buil Harbour. He was a welcome visitor at the local station on his way north, when a conference on general matters, followed by an exchange of reminiscences was the result. He possesses a too vivid memory of the earlier days, a failing of our good friend Bro. Jackson at Rupert. Those were the days, anyhow how.

Bro. Jim Harker of Lazo, we feel aure, does not need assurance that he has the deepest sympathy of us all upon the recent family bereavement we so much regretted to note.

regretted to note.

Bro. Meiss has departed for Estevan for a change of air, and for this reason did not press his candidature for election to the committee. Reveiling in country life as he does, all feelings of home sickness will soon disappear. We still have recollections of his rambles after puffin eggs upon the immortal rock, and implanting his slender form upon places where even angels feared to tread. Bro. Emmerson is filling the vacancy in Victoria, and is already making enquiries concerning "Tin Lizzies" and domiciles.

Bro. MecTavish arrived safely in town.

Bro. MacTavish arrived safely in town, after a lengthy sojourn in the wilds, after strenuous exertions on the part of his upountry colleagues to catch him and put him on the boat. He was a welcome visitor at our local rendesvous, as was also an old timer in the person of Bill Hillier, shortly afterwards. It was much regretted that Bro. Kelk's time was too limited to provide a similar pleasure, but his was a business rather than a holiday jaunt.

J. C. Stephen of Alert Bay, has written resigning from the Union upon the ground that he is not an operator, and does not feel justified in putting his money into anything offering no return. In view ground that he is not an operator, and does not feel justified in putting his money into anything offering no return. In view of the recent decisions of the Department, this latter argument will not carry much weight, as in every instance our friend will benefit, which, it is presumed, he will have no scruples in accepting. His decision, we hope, is not a hasty one, but considering that he has been delinquent since June, 1921, and our many letters of enquiry during the interim bringing forth no acknowledgment, it is apparent that his meditations have been prolonged. But then, he is not an operator. Personally we have never heard anyone accuse Steve of such a helnous offense, and are of opinion that a title bearing fewer letters will be accorded him for his above action. action.

Bro. J. Daniel, unanimously elected auditor for the past year, has placed the following statement upon record, a copy being also forwarded to the International Secretary.

May 22, 1922.

This is to certify that I, the duly elected auditor of the Division, have this day audited all books, accounts, etc., appertaining to Canadian Government Wireless Division No. 65, in the custody of the General Secretary-Treasurer, and find same correct in all details, with the result as set forth in the Second Annual Statement, issued Dec. 31, 1921.

Signed: J. Daniel,

Auditor.

The new committee will clear decks for action right away, the first meeting probably taking place upon the arrival of Bro. Tee from the North.

Review of the Award By "Orklo"

The response of the Department to the proposals submitted by our delegation has arrived at last, and like the curate's egg. is good in parts. Still, after nine months weary waiting, the suspense has ended, and we know to what extent our grievances are to be rectified. Many of the decisions carry our mind into days gone by. awaking memories of Gilbert and Sullivan's masterpiece "lolanthe," where a certain susceptible Lord Chancellor argues the case before himself, sums up his own evidence, and renders the decision in his own favor.

The replies are terse, almost brusque, the decision being tempered by no explanations as to why there shall be "no alteration." or "present system to remain in effect." Every point submitted constituted a grievance in the estimation of the staffs, and was endorsed by the Superintendent as the essence of moderation. being, with a few exceptions, sent forward with his blessing in the shape of a strong recommendation. This recommendation from the head of the division, who is familiar with the situation, and considers such request perfectly reasonable, is repeatedly overridden by Headquarters. who possess but meager knowledge of local surroundings, relying in the main, upon the theoretical side alone.

To abruptly dismiss a series of requests such as these without any attempt at explanation, does not alleviate them, nor does it dispose of them, and until such time as they receive the consideration and remedy demanded, discontent will remain amongst the staffs.

Some Progress Made

We must not, however, think for one moment that our efforts have been fruitless. Far from it. We have even cause to mildly congratulate ourselves that some progress in the right direction has been made, and the service somewhat improved as a result of our endeavours. We are gratified if not entirely satisfied.

Consider the concessions which have been granted:

One holiday each week where 4 men are employed.

Annual holidays increased to 28 days. Increase in O. I. C. allowance.

Allowance for cleaning offices.

Annual holidays to accumulate for two years.

Isolation allowance for Bull Harbour.

Expenses of travelling operators immediately available.

The first, of course, represents our prime grievance, and although we have not yet succeeded in establishing a hard and fast rule that 48 hours constitutes a week's work, and anything over and above to count as overtime, as it ought to do; we have obtained from the Department an acknowledgment that a seven-day week is unjust, and a compromise to our request. They, on their part, agree that, wherever possible, four operators will be maintained at each full time station, and duties arranged whereby one holiday each week is enjoyed by all. There is no reason whatever why four operators should not be maintained continuously, except, perhaps, in an unforeseen exigency, and should stations be understaffed for other than a very brief period, it is our duty to immediately forward a very strong protest. Personally the writer is of opinion that the Department are fully aware of the serious nature of this grievance, and will do all in their power to keep the stations at full strength, thereby preventing complications.

The increased annual leave will compensate for the Bank Holidays it has hitherto been necessary to forego, and although we are prohibited generally from enjoying these at the same time as anyone, else, there is now the satisfaction of realizing that these are not lost entirely.

The cleaning allowance of 50c per week is woefully inadequate, covering as it does many domestic tasks of a menial nature. Still there is now the satisfaction of knowing that such duties are not demanded as part of the regular work, but are sidelines, and are paid for as such. It has not yet been decided whether black-leading a stove is worth 5c more than cleaning the windows, or the proportion of the remaining dime to be the reward for washing the floor. Then, again, some consideration should be given to physical proportions, a tall lofty janitor, going round the floor in half a dozen swabs, cannot conscientiously consider himself entitled to as much as a little fat person requiring about twenty. Also, no consideration has been given to the increased taxation which will naturally follow the advance of income.

The remaining concessions speak for themselves, enabling us to briefly discuss the unsuccessful issues.

Isolation Allowance Ridiculous

The isolation allowance, which has been awarded to Bull Harbour as a result of our representations, is still to remain at the ridiculous figure of $4 monthly. had strong hopes of bringing the Department to realise that the sacrifices demanded from an operator by isolating himself and his family from civilization. from the comforts of communal life, is worth considerably more than nine cents a day. Our arguments are so well known, that it is idle to repeat them here, so It must be left to the men in the city to derive the consolation that all the advantages, educationally and socially, that they are enjoying, are valued at $4 a month. In days gone by, historians relate, many a temperance advocate has spent this amount in a single evening, on beer alone.

The request for an increase in the commencing salary of a Junior operator has been again evaded by placing the onus of responsibility on the Civil Service Commission, who several months ago, advised that such questions should be taken up through our own Department. Such hedging, did it not affect us so deeply, would be amusing. As was stated in these columns some time ago, one day it will be decided by whom we are really employed, and to whom we are to apply when the necessity arises.

involving compulsory question boarding of officials and single operators has been disposed of by the curt announcement that "It is not considered advisable to alter present arrangements." It is quite understood that this is a somewhat complicated subject, but one which nevertheless involves considerable hardship upon members of the staff coming under its influence, and it would have been far more appreciated had the Department condescended to temper their decision by a brief but courteous explanation of their views, and possible intentions.

A request that the passing of the "Barrier" examination be recognized in some manner has been declined. This particular examination, the hardest in the service, entirely eclipses the more elementary certificate of proficiency test, and why the successful passing thereof cannot be recognized by suitable award, if merely an endorsement of the existing certificate, passes our comprehension.

Unemployment, failures and business depression are behind us. Let us pay our second half dues promptly and face the future with an impregnable defense of up-to-date cards.

The golden hour of opportunity is with the commercial telegrapher once more. Commercial companies, brokerage houses and press associations are clamoring for operators.

Will we again allow the nons and delinquents to shackle us in our efforts to secure full recompense for our labor as has happened so many times in the past?

Our first duty is to pay our own dues NOW. Persuade a friend to do the same. Nothing we can say or do will emphasize our unionism more strongly than an up-to-date card.

PRESS CONTRACTS RENEWED

U. P., I. N. S. and U. S. Keep Old Scale.

The forms of the Journal are opened to give the news that committees representing the United Press, International News Service and Universal Service divisions were successful in renewing the old agreements with their respective employers after more than three weeks' negotiations. One added clause was placed in the United Press agreement, providing for a night Morse scale of $45.00 and $47.50, according to 150,000 population classification.

The C. T. U. A. is maintaining its record of accepting no reductions. At one point in the negotiations the committees found it necessary to pool their entire resources and prepare for possible arbitration. An assessment notice of $10 each was sent out by the United Press and Universal Service committees, while a referendum on the same proposition was ordered by the International News Service committee in accordance with their by-laws. This referendum was adopted overwhelmingly. It was explained that this assessment was for the purpose of defense and arbitration, if that step became necessary. If it did not become necessary, the fund was to be kept inviolate for future emergencies.

The personnel of the committees is as follows: Universal Service—Robert E. Allen, General Chairman, and Moulton B. Norton. United Press—Charles E. Shea, General Chairman, Thomas W. Ingoldsby and C. J. McTiernan. International News Service—Charles J. Seefred, General Chairman; Ben G. Chandlee and O. A. Rosenhauer.

ADOPTION OF FUNERAL BENEFIT PLAN APPEARS CERTAIN

The Funeral Benefit Plan apparently has carried by a heavy majority. Tellers had not completed work of counting the ballots at the time of going to press. Further details will be published in the August Journal, as well as the full text of the laws for the new department. If adopted, as now appears, the plan goes into effect September 1, 1922, and benefits all members of six months' membership or more prior to September 1. Delinquents automatically become non-beneficiary, and do not again become beneficiary until after the expiration of sixty days.

DELINQUENT NOTICE

Attention of all members is called to the following article from the constitution:

Section 1. A member neglecting or refusing to pay dues six months in advance in full is not in good standing after time limit set by the subordinate unit of which he is a member, in no case to be more than sixty days after the expiration of the previous semi-annual period.

Section 2. A member delinquent in dues for a period of six months shall be dropped from the roll of the subordinate unit without further notice. A member not in good standing is not entitled to receive the Journal nor to vote in his subordinate unit, nor shall the Grievance Committee or similar body exercise itself in his behalf in case of grievance.

Turn to the Official Directory and remit your dues to the secretary-treasurer of your subordinate unit TODAY before you forget.

Minimum dues $5.50 semi-annually.

Owing to Vice President for Canada Schnur being in Vancouver, Canadian Topics had not reached The Journal up to the 16th. Reports are that he is holding enthusiastic meetings throughout the Western provinces and we look for some good news under Canadian Topics for August.

"SAVIORS" PUZZLE WORKERS

Edmonton, Alberta.—Editor Roper of the Alberta Labor News has been trying to figure out the policy of "saviors" of the workers in this section for the past several years.

The "saviors" are at sixes and sevens between themselves. A short time ago, when the one big union was formed in Calgary, workers were urged to break away from trade unions because they are "reactionary and impotent to protect the workers from the greed of capitalism."

Now the workers' party of Canada (camouflage for communists' party) at its Toronto convention declare that secession and dualism must end and that all hands must hustle back under the folds of the American Federation of Labor. This, it was declared, is in line with the policy of the Moscow red international, in order that a "boring from within" policy may be applied in the A. F. of L.

Some of the one big unionites don't like the order, and the favorite cry "pie card artist" is bandled between the "saviors."

COURT-MADE LAWS MUST GO

A. F. of L. Launches Campaign Against Judiciary Rule

CINCINNATI, O.—Labor's program for constitutional amendment and for legislation to secure the rights of the people against judicial usurpation was adopted by the A. F. of L. convention.

The program calls for a constitutional amendment on child labor, a constitutional amendment to curb the power of courts, an amendment to safeguard the right to organize and an amendment to make the constitution easier of amendment. In addition a program for immediate legislation is provided.

A partial report of the committee, one of labor's greatest historic documents, is as follows:

The American people are facing a critical situation. Their very existence as a democracy and a government of law is at stake. A judicial oligarchy is threatening to set itself up above the elected legislatures, above the people themselves.

Profiting by the unsettled industrial conditions of the country and the political apathy of the people, which have followed upon the conclusion of the world war, the forces of privilege and reaction have embarked upon a concerted and determined campaign to deprive the citizens of their constitutional liberties, to break down the standards of life which the American workers have laboriously built up in generations of suffering and struggle, and to emasculate or destroy their most effective weapon of resistance and defense—the labor unions.

Courts Subservient to Big Business

Side by side with the implacable anti-union drive conducted by powerful organizations of employers throughout the country, who exercise their own unquestioned right to organize and yet brazenly deny their employees the same right, the unblushing subservience of many public officials to the dictates of big business and their undisguised contempt for the interests of the workers, the courts of the country, and particularly, the Supreme Court of the United States, have within recent years undertaken to deprive American labor of fundamental rights and liberties which heretofore have been accepted as deeply and organically ingrained in our system of jurisprudence.

Over a century ago Thomas Jefferson said:

"It has long been my opinion, and I have never shrunk from its expression, that the germ of dissolution of our Federal Government is in the judiciary—the irresponsible body working like gravity, by day and by night, gaining a little today and gaining a little tomorrow, and advancing its noiseless step like a thief over the field of jurisdiction until all shall be usurped."

The prophetic warning of the great champion of American democracy threatens to come true.

Not One, But a Series of Blows

What confronts the workers of America is not one or several casual court decisions favoring the interest of property as against the human rights of labor, but a series of adjudications of the highest tribunal of the land, successively destroying a basic right or cherished acquisition of organized labor, each forming a link in a fateful chain consciously designed to enslave the workers of America.

Five years ago a severe blow was dealt by the Supreme Court decision in the notorious case of The Hitchman Coal and Coke Company vs Mitchell, which seriously limited the right of organized labor to unionize establishments.

Clayton Act Practically Nullified

On January 3, 1921, the Supreme Court in the case of Duplex Printing Press Company. vs. Deering, practically nullified the portions of the Clayton Act which were intended to safeguard the rights of labor in industrial disputes and to limit the power of the courts to decide such disputes by summary injunction.

In December, 1921, the Supremt Court by its decision in the case of Truax vs. Corrigan, set aside as unconstitutional a state law which limited the power of the courts to issue injunction in labor disputes.

In the same month the court in the case of American Steel Foundries vs Tri-City Central Trades Council, virtually abolished the right of striking workers to picket, no matter how peaceably.

On May 15, 1922, the Supreme Court set aside as unconstitutional the Child Labor Law, which had been enacted after years of agitation on the part of the most forward-looking and humane elements of our citizenship.

On June 5, 1922, the Supreme Court handed down a unanimous opinion in the case of United Mine Workers of America vs Coronado Coal Co., which in effect opens the way for a general raid upon union funds, by holding that labor unions are suable as such and liable for damages to employers if caused by unlawful acts on the part of any of their striking numbers, whether such acts be authorized or not, so long as the strike is sanctioned by the union.

Thus by six decisions the United States Supreme Court, composed of nine men without direct mandate from the people and without responsibility to the people, has set aside a congressional enactment which clearly expressed the will of the vast majority of the people, and all but outlawed the activities of organized labor, which alone can protect the workers from the oppression and aggression of the greedy and cruel interests.

This despotic exercise of a usurped power by nine men, or a bare majority of them, over the lives and liberties of millions of men, women and children, is intolerable. With the immortal Lincoln we believe that "The people of these United States are the masters of both Congress and Courts, not to overthrow the Constitution, but to overthrow the men who pervert the Constitution."

(Speech at Cincinnati, Sept. 17, 1859).

We are determined to preserve our rights as workers, citizens and freemen, and we call upon all fair-minded and liberty-loving citizens to unite with us in a determined effort to deprive the courts of the despotic powers which they have assumed, and to make our Government in full measure a government of the people, for the people and by the people. To this end your committee recommends that the convention record itself in favor of, and promote the adoption of, amendments to the Constitution of the United States for the following purposes:

Constitutional Amendments

- 1. An amendment prohibiting the labor of children under the age of sixteen years in any mine, mill, factory, workshop or other industrial or mercantile establishment.
- 2. An amendment prohibiting the enactment of any law or the making of any judicial determination which would deny the right to the workers of the United States and its territories and dependencies to organize for the betterment of their conditions, to deal collectively with employers; to collectively withhold their labor and patronage and induce others to do so.

  3. An amendment providing that if the United States Supreme Court decides

3. An amendment providing that if the United States Supreme Court decides that an act of Congress is unconstitutional, or by interpretation asserts a public policy at variance with the statutory declaration of Congress, then if Congress by a two-thirds majority repasses the law, it shall become the law of the land.

4. In order to make the Constitution of the United States more flexible to meet the needs of the people, an amendment providing for easier amendments of the same.

GIVE BAD EGGS THE AIR

Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, who has bought a magnificent home on Western Avenue, Los Angeles, endeared himself to the hearts of all union building trades mechanics when he notified an electrical contractor to discharge all non-union electrical workers engaged in rearranging the lighting system in the Dempsey home and to employ union men only. Champion Jack said:

"I want nothing but union men on this job. Give all the bad eggs the air."

Los Angeles has four citizens of world-wide fame who refuse to employ non-union building trades mechanics—Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplain, and Jack Dempsey.—Union Clay Worker.

LABOR BOARD IMITATES BOLSHEVIKS

By International Labor News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., July—Unions cannot be made and unmade at government dictation, said President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, in a red hot comment on the action of the railroad labor board in "outlawing" the unions now on strike.

President Gompers said that the ruling was "utterly bolshevik in character" and that it was "too ridiculous and fatuous to be accepted as permanent American government policy.

"By this astounding ruling," he continued, "the Board undertakes to disband unions at will and to command at will that new organisations be formed. This no government agency can do, because trade unions are voluntary organisations of the workers formed in response to their demand, to serve their needs and to respond to their democratically expressed will and desire.

"The action of the Board is exactly a replica of the action of the communists in turning the unions into government controlled agencies for the carrying out of the orders of the state. Freedom of expression vanishes under the order of the Board. But I say now that the workers of America, either on the railroads or elsewhere, do not intend to sacrifice freedom of expression and of action. The Board undertakes to say that unions which differ with the Board must cease to exist—they are "outlawed." Whether this is for the moment an assumption of authority on the part of the Board is immaterial. It is the logical outcome of the very establishment of such boards. It is an inevitable consequence of an initial action that was wrong in principle and that has proven impossible in action.

"The Railroad Labor Board, as an institution functioning in the twentieth century is second in incongruity only to the so-called 'open shop' movement.

An Orgy of Slashing

"The railroad workers in this case laid their case before the Board. Voting six to three the Board decided with the railroads. Great slashes in wages were ordered. Terms and conditions that had obtained for as long as twenty years on some roads were abrogated by the stroke of an autocratic pen. For thousands of men the eight-hour day, accepted by the whole civilized world, was obliterated. The Board seemed literally to revel in an orgy of destruction and slashing.

"The law gives the workers, or the railroads, the right to decline to accept the Board's rulings. The workers, of necessity, declined and by vote of the membership withdrew their services. They declined to work for the terms ordered by the Board. The Board now declares them 'outlawed.' This is autocracy with a vengeance. It seeks to put the whole force of government back of the movement to kill the spirit and the fact of collective bargaining, of joint negotiation and agreement by the voluntary coming together of workers and employers. It is the calamitous outgrowth of a mistaken idea.

"Unions cannot be unmade and remade at government dictation. This is neither the Russia of the black autocrat nor of the red autocrat. This is America, where the principle of voluntary action, of conference and agreement, of freedom of expression and of lawful action is rooted in our soil and grown into our institutions.

Dictators Will Not Destroy Unions

"The unions in the American Federation of Labor are permanent. They are a part of American life. They have definite principles, every one of which is absolutely American. The unions have performed a degree of social service that should bring them the admiration of every American. They have led the fight for humanity, for human rights, for the uplifting of men, women and children. They have done this, even when it meant asking the people to overrule Congress and the Supreme Court. The unions exist for humanity, for the workers, and they cannot and will not be destroyed at the whim or fancy of a band of dictators.

THETOLKEY

Conducted by Eastern Broker Division, Room 504, Number 44 Broad St., New York City

Meeting Days: Second and Fourth Saturdays each Month, except during June, July and August—last Saturday of Month, 2:30 P. M.

HEADQUARTERS NOTES—NEW YORK DISTRICT

Twenty-four new applications were considered at the June meeting. Twenty-three were accepted and one rejected. From present indications this number will be exceeded at the July meeting.

These applications are not coming from new arrivals in the Street, but from men who have been working in the Financial District for years.

Several of these new members have informed us that they have watched the activities of the Eastern Broker Division during the past few years, and have come to the conclusion that the good work being done by the Organization in the interests of the Broker men should be supported by every man working a leased wire in the Financial District.

Cardless Job Hunters Out of Luck

The usual summer army of job seekers, minus cards, are making their annual pilgrimage through the Street, but without success. After barnstorming Broker offices and being told that all men are hired through these Headquarters, they finally decide to "join the Union." Funny how these fellows are suddenly moved with the altruistic spirit of Unionism, after they learn that employers of Broker telegraphers are no longer risking loss of business through wire room errors made by operators inexperienced in the Broker line and whose only asset for the job is a willingness to work for less than the scale. The employers have learned by costly experience that it is cheaper in the long run to call up Headquarters and get competent men and pay the scale.

Members of firms and Chief Operators are giving more attention to the personnel of wire rooms than they have done heretofore, and the old mistaken idea held by members of some firms that a telegraph operator is a telegraph operator and that any telegraph operator is capable of working a Broker wire, has been proven unsound and lacking in good business judgment during these million-share markets.

The wise firms have placed a competent Chief Operator in charge of their wire rooms, given him complete authority therein and hold him strictly responsible and accountable for the proper movement of business and the efficiency of this most important department.

Headquarters Has the Good Men

It is only reasonable to believe that the Chief Operator placed in such a responsible position and whose continuity of employment with his firm depends upon the efficiency of the personnel of his wire room is not going to jeopardize his own job by hiring an operator of unknown quality or lack of experience in the Broker game, merely because the applicant offers to work for less than the firm pays its operators. The Chief Operator knows from his own personal experience, first—that a knowledge of the Broker game is absolutely essential, and secondly—that these Headquarters is the only place where competent experienced Broker Operators can be had on call.

The reason why the army of cardless job seekers have found it impossible to connect with a Broker job is contained in the above facts, together with the most important fact that all but very few experienced Broker men are members of the Eastern Broker Division. They enjoy the privileges of our Service Bureau, which agency has been accepted by all firms in the Street as the proper place to apply for Broker men whenever wanted for temporary or permanent positions. Consequently our Waiting List men report to the Service Bureau, from whence they are assigned to jobs, which makes it unnecessary for them to go from door to door in quest of work.

Further, the Eastern Broker Division today is an acknowledged business organization, held to account by the firms in the Financial District for the competency and actions of its members. When a cardless barnstormer is told that according to our by-laws, "an applicant at the time of making application for membership must be permanently employed by a broker, bank, exchange, or other classes of Financial leased wires," he sometimes thinks that it is our desire to prevent him from securing employment or joing the Union, but he is sadly mistaken.

Must Join Proper Division

The membership of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America is divided into System Divisions. Each Division has jurisdiction and local autonomy over its own particular Division. For example—the Eastern Broker Division has jurisdiction only over those employed in the Broker and Financial leased wire service within its territorial lines. The Press operators have their own groups or Divisions. There is a Postal System Division for those employed by the Postal Telegraph Company; a Western Union System Division for those of the W. U.; the National Press Division for those of the Press men employed by other than the large Press Associations; a Packing House Division for those employed in that particular line, and a General Assembly Division and Local District Councils for those unattached.

Therefore, when we advise an applicant that we cannot accept his application in the Eastern Broker Division because of his being outside the group to which our membership is limited, it does not necessarily mean that he cannot join the Union. The Division to which he belongs will gladly consider his application.

There is still another reason why we should and must adhere strictly to the membership qualifications as set down in our by-laws and that is this: We have set a minimum standard scale of wages in this Division. The firms are willingly paying this scale to our men called from Headquarters and they expect to get experienced Broker men in return. To take inexperienced men into this Division and send them out from Headquarters would not be giving the firms a square deal, to say nothing of the disastrous effect it would have on the friendly relations and spirit of co-operation now existing between the firms and the Eastern Broker Division.

Standards Must Be Kept High

The hard work of the members of the Division to build their Organization along constructive lines to the point it has now attained would prove in vain were we to build with numerical strength as our only objective. To deviate from our constructive policy, which so far has proved successful, would threaten the very foundations of the splendid Organization we have today.

very foundations of the splendid Organization we have today.

The essence of the principles of Unionism is "To make Union labor preferable to that of non-union." That being the case, the acceptance of men without experience into this Division would ultimately bring about the reverse of the very thing we are striving for.

The C. T. U. A. will accept the application of any white telegrapher over sixteen years of age of good moral character, but the application must be filed for membership in the group or Divisional classification wherein he is employed.

E. B. D. AIDS DISTRESSED MINERS

One of the most successful campaigns that telegraphers ever participated in is being carried on by a committee selected at a meeting of the Eastern Broker Division during the month of May, which is collecting funds for the West Virginia miners, who have been out of work for over a year. For nine months previous to the miners' strike, called on the first of April, the West Virginia mines have been closed down for lack of orders. The mine owners took advantage of the dull period in an effort to break up the miners' locals in that State. The miners have stayed out despite some of the greatest hardships ever suffered by human beings. At times in the past few months, only 30 cents per family a week was distributed.

The Ohio Broker telegraphers, who are now forming an Ohio Broker Telegrapher's Division, are also participating in the campaign and some money has already been turned in by them.

The committee is functioning under the title of "Telegraphers Fund for the Relief of West Virginia Miners."

The contributions have averaged $2.30 per contributor up to the present and they have collected approximately $500.

All members of the Eastern Broker Division will bear in mind that these miners and their families are very badly in need of clothing, and if any of the members have any old clothes for men, women or children, they can bring them to Headquarters and the committee will forward them to the West Virginia Miners.

THE Headquarters

The Service Bureau is a busy place The old telephone jingles these days. from morn till night, until it seems that every person connected with a Broker-age concern in the Street knows that Broad No. 2258 is the place to call for help.

The telephone girls in Central have become so used to being asked for "Headquarters" that recently they confuse us with Police and Fire Headquarters.

Last week a party on the other end asked the usual question: "Is this Headquarters?" and when we answered "Yes," a lady wanted to know what "post" Mike O'Brien was on.

A few days later a man at the other end of our phone insisted on telling us that his wife upset some grease on the stove and wanted us to do something We'll say we are becoming about it. popular.

As a result of the aforesaid jingles we placed the following Brothers on vacation reliefs, and seasonal jobs:

Al Dawes to Pyne, Kendall & Holl-A LEAWES to Fyne, Rendan & Holle ter; Ed Duffy to Gruntal, Lillienthal & Co., Saratoga end, and Harry Pad-dock on the New York end; Sid Gilson to Bartlett, Frazier & Co.; Harry Gil-man to White, Weld & Co.; Harry Higto Swartwout & Appenzellar; Archie Smithers to Auerbach, Pollak & Richardson at Southampton; Lee Butterfield to Tucker, Anthony & Co.; Mike Foley to Potter Bros.; Bob Whalen to Lamson Bros.; Dan Hiltz to Sinclair Oil Co.; Bill Goldberg to Consolidated Exchange; Jim Cullen to Post & Flagg; Bert Howatt to Pynchon & Co.; Henry Bundock to Paine, Webber & Co.; Arthur Cameron to J. W. Davis & Co.; Cecil Soules to Arthur Lipper & Co.

The sympathies of this Division are hereby extended to Brothers Tom Demskie and Sid Gilson in the recent loss of their fathers.

Brother and Mrs. "Eddie" Herbert of the New England Broker Division were recent visitors at Headquarters.

Brother "Bob" Russell of the Balti-more District, dropped in to say "Howdy" on a week end visit to the big Brothers Shea, Ingoldsby and McTlernan of the United Press Negotiations Committee, ran in for a few moments between sessions.

We believe that the establishment of additional Broker Divisions is a move in the right direction. We have been growing so fast that the increased business naturally became cumbersome to handle from one point, and dividing the territory into several Divisional units will solve the problem.

What's doing in the establishment of the Southern Broker Division? Not that we are anxious to turn over the memberships we hold in our present portion of Southern territory, but we feel that the interests of the Organization will be better served with a Divi-sion of their own for the boys in the We realize that the failures of South. some firms in the South knocked out our plans of a few months back and but for the Southern Broker Division would be in full bloom today. now that the boys have settled in other berths, let's get started on it again.

We wish our new sister Divisions the best of luck and we stand ready to cooperate with them to the best of our ability and resources.

HALLE & STEIGLITZ NOTES

One hundred per cent in everything here—Card, Goodfellowship, Fresh Air, Speaking of fresh air, we are proud of our wire room, which beyond question, is the most cheerful in the Street, and we've seen 'em all. It seems universal when officials of the various firms plan the setting of their offices they pick out the darkest hole and the most obscure, cramped quarters for their wire rooms (which beyond question are the heart and lungs of Wall Street) and expect an efficient service from those whose duty it is to work long hours under most nerveracking conditions there. No thought is given for the comfort of those in the Order Room as a rule, and if more study was given this question when quarters are being arranged it would bring big dividends to the considerate ones, and the business would function in more healthy fashion. Not boasting of ourselves, however, but at Halle & Steiglitz every consideration was given this important department, which has large, spacious quarters for both telegraphers and order clerks.

Chief Operator Sherman V. Richart. who is one of the old timers here and well known throughout the Street, keeps things humming on the Washington, Pittsburgh and Cleveland cir-flower days in the private wire business we are all eager to listen, and as for a captivating personality, "Hen" has it. Good wishes, old fellow, for many more years to follow.

Walter Lynch, our Indiana specialist, never misses a quotation, and one day when someone flashed one-half of one percent, Walter thought it was a money quotation and flashed it to Chicago, and his Chicago buddle said, "Same here."

Charlie Gessner, who works the Bean City wire, said Carnegie was justified in awarding his medal to Charley Edney at the Boston end; that he is the fastest he ever heard.

Among our Order Clerks there are George, Albert, Bert and last but not little Johnnie Clark. John missed being six feet by about two feet, and says he eats in the Exchange Buffet because the Spotter and he are friends.

LOGAN & BRYAN NOTES

While some of our boys are a little behind in their dues, we have their promise that our entire staff will be 100 percent up-to-date before many more days roll by.

Our genial Chief Operator, "Ed" Place, is back with us again after a period of illness. Assistant Chief "Jack" McNerney looked after the shop while "Ed" was away.

Our financial gossip and news items are ably looked after by the ever smiling George J. O'Reilly, Financial News Editor.

Up at the Vanderbilt Hotel in the "roaring forties" we have Assistant Manager E. J. McLaughlin, with Ed Rowland on the Main office end. in the Produce Exchange is Pat McCabe. with Bill Pierce on the Main office end.

Jake Chiraiken puts up pretty figures on our grain board in the customers' room.

Our complete line-up is as follows: A-Chicago, Louis Cassell and Mike Hipsman; B-Chicago, Fred Beale; C-Chicago, Leo Dederick; D-Chicago, Louis Silverman and Mike Birnbaum; E-Chicago, Loring Aarons; G-Chicago, George Saunders; San Francisco, Mat Gaffney and Harry Alton; Buffalo-Toronto, Tod Herrington; Winnipeg, Walter Fahnstock; Montreal, Mike Con-nolly; (Bank) Montreal, Martin Band; Hot Springs-Washington, Jimmy Quinn; (Meredith) Montreal, Joe Rosenberg; Pitteburgh, Frank Cummings and Ed Campbell; Oil City, J. Woollard; Louisville, Maurey Monett; Utility men, J.

J. McAteer, R. P. Rubenstein, Chas. H. Buchholz, Pete Burke, S. Swackhamer, Louie Darmstadter and W. F. Devine.

E. F. HUTTON & CO. NOTES

"One Mile" Broaddus and his diligent understudy, "Smiling Joe" Youts, have succeeded Hope Bowling as assistants to "Brick." The combination assures E. F. Hutton & Company 100 percent efficiency in the wire room.

The new tailored office coats have arrived and must say the selection was in good taste, and add much to the personnel of the finest telegraph office in the Street.

"Slim" Ruble, who marks the grain board without moving from his tracks, is vacationing, presumably down Memphis way.

Hope Bowling wears a smile most all the time—these busy markets mean "supper money" nearly every night.

Messrs. Sligh and Cosad are the "iron men" on the Coast wires, either of whom, it is believed, would make our esteemed Chief Operator, Tom Brickhouse, hustle to defend his world's championship medal won a few years ago, should he put it up for competition. This is not a prediction, but both are mighty good.

A. A. DeMers just completed a two week's stand here, helping out on the vacations.

Handsome Joe Duskin, who winters in Palm Beach and dines at the "Put and Take" during the summer, is performing on the Plaza-Woolworth trunk Pretty soft, Joe.

George Youtz of Staten Island is marking 'em "in and out" on one of the Coast wires when he isn't exercising his rocking chair.

"J. Pierpont" Cornell, the millionaire Order Clerk, is still putting them over on the round lot phone.

Walter Jester, a former cotton broker, and most recently of Clement D. Cates & Co., Miami, Fla., is a new addition to the office.

Tom Christy recently blossomed forth in what was first thought to be a pair of pajamas, but he claims it's one of Fatty Arbuckle's old Palm Beach suits. Chris says it's a little small for him but he can wear it.

We understand George Snodgrass is posing as third man in that classical picture called "Going, Going, Gone."
"Lightnin' Doc" Johnston, Brick's

latest acquisition from the South, is keeping Chicago posted on "July money" and getting the last October wheat "rites," etc. He was a fast man in the Western Union at Richmond, Va.

H. Jay Pearce spent his vacation motoring through New York state and reports numerous encounters with bootleggers along the border. He was motoring in a "Flivver," however, and "Flivver" tanks usually are small. All he brought home was the odor. Joe Youtz was disappointed, but the others perhaps have known him longer.

S. B. CHAPIN & CO. NOTES

George W. Spaid, for many years head of the wire department of S. B. Chapin & Co., has transferred his activities to another house in the Street.

G. Warren Shelley is Chief Operator, assisted by Ed Wells.

The personnel of the wire room includes "Lock" Laughlin, "Bill" Quass, A. J. Coates, Louis Rosenthal, J. C. Austin, M. M. Fielding, J. A. Trudo, John Donnelly and Leo Youtz.

F. B. KEECH & CO. NOTES

F. B. Keech & Co.'s Outing and Games, held at New Dorp, S. I., on June 24th, was a big success. Needless to say the telegraphers were very much in evidence.

Joe Wenderoth ran a great race in the "Fat Men's" special. He was beaten out by a few inches. Joe says his downfall was due to the "Canned Willie" and "Bean" diet he lived on during the stirring days in France and Germany. But when first call for the dining-room was announced he led the pack by a full city block, and we had something better than "Canned Willie" to dine on.

Harry Gorrell showed to great advantage in the relay race for Departments, running close up to the bookkeepers. He was very anxious to enter the swimming races but unfortunately there was no water nearby.

Eddie Hodnett umpired the ball game and no one dared dispute his decisions. No wonder; have you noticed 20th, when Brother James Daniel was the size of him lately?

Genial Harry Paddock was missed. Harry was called away on important business. We had him booked to enter the pole vault.

PITTSBURGH NOTES

Not going to get rich on fines this year, judging by the good attendance at our meetings. You will remember, any member failing to attend at least six meetings per year is supposed to come across with a buck per meeting under six. Just as well satisfied to skin along without the extra bucks if we can have such well attended and interesting meetings.

Took favorable action on the amendments to the E. B. D. By-laws. Attended to other business and then we went—was going to say. "we went to 'Pi' and shot a few" but as this is 1922, not 1912, I better say we went home and had a shot of h. b.

Bro. Parker resigned as Vice-Chairman on account of being located out of the city. Bro. Laitta was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy. We are all glad to have "Larry" on the job and Chairman Patterson is to be congratulated on having such an able assistant.

Our Secretary-Treasurer is back on the job again. "Mac" is going as strong as ever. May not do a hundred in 10 but he's a young feller for all that

Bro. Hagan tossed out a couple of weeks at the American Express and is now lined up for two months' vacation relief. Charley complains about the old rheumatism sticking to him. We know "Old Rheum" is a hard customer to deal with, Chas, but haven't you "something in the cellar" that will help?

Bro. McKenna is doing the vacations at Winkleman's. Only kick we have on "Mac" is that he wants to sell us all a new "insect."

Bro. Reitz is spending the summer at Atlantic City—marking the board for Horton & Co. Have a good time, Hal. Don't worry about the next meeting; we will have someone make a few extra motions, etc., for you.

We learn on good authority that Bro. "Jimmy" Dugan has left the city of Brownsville and is now located alongside of Bro. Frank Dugan with Culver & Company at Pittsburgh. Can't confirm this, though, as we haven't seen Jimmy at any of the meetings.

Bro. McDonnell from Titusville is marking the board for Culver & Co. here. "Bill" doesn't like this burg. He says he prefers the "small town stuff."

Been wondering why the important look on Bro. Zornstorff's face. We now learn that Zorn is living down in the millionbuck section. Don't get all fussed up, Zorn. Lotta ops. live in Bellevue—one more or less doesn't make any dif.

Anyone roaming near the New York state line, look around and see if you can get any trace of a "Good (?) Maxwell." Bro. Woodhall left for those parts a couple of weeks ago but hasn't been heard from since. Next time, "Woody," borrow Chairman Patterson's MMO. He says it runs like a Stuts since he took it apart and discovered the factory put too many parts in it. Pat has a lotta parts left over.

The Fuller failure added two more men to our list, but that makes only four and we expect to have them all placed soon.

Understand there are a few of the boys who are still "shy." Come on, ante up and get your up-to-date in your pocket.

Regular meetings—always the third Saturday of each month.

PHILADELPHIA NOTES

A very enthusiastic meeting was held by the Philadelphia District Friday evening, June 30th, at Grand Fraternity Hall, Philadelphia. Men are coming more and more to realize the value of their association with and through the union.

To be a member of the Eastern Broker Division requires certain qualifications and unless an applicant has those qualifications it will be hard to gain admission.

After the meeting refreshments were served and proved a happy parting for the summer. The July and August meetings, following the usual custom, will be dispensed with.

Brothers English, Denny Smith and Sam Sims rendered several musical selections. We might suggest they learn some new ones and ask Reginald Makin to join them.

Brother Ed R. Goshorn has given up his position with Middleton & Company in Camden to take the vacancy created at West & Company, where he will fit in like a glove.

Brother Alec Kelly is filling the position at Middleton & Company made vacant by Brother Goshorn's resignation.

Brother Delaney is throwing in his fortune with the new firm of Paradise & Company.

Brother Joseph Mullin, after several years' service with Midvale Steel, has decided to re-enter the brokerage business and is now with Halle & Steiglitz. He succeeded Brother Daniel A. McGarvey, who has been promoted to the floor.

Brother Mike Mintzer, after following Dame Fortune in the brokerage game for a while, has gone back to the Midvale Steel, taking Brother Mullin's place.

Brother James Mullen has decided to be a big fish in a little pond. He has given up his position with West & Company to go with Moylan & Company as operator and in an advisory capacity.

BIG BUSINESS BONUS

By Congressman J. M. Baer

Everything has been side-tracked for the tariff bill. The tariff bill is the Big Business Bonus.

It is a simple device for fixing prices of commodities that go into food, fuel, and clothing. It guarantees the privileged few additional profits on everything they sell.

It is similar to the six per cent guarantee which was given to the railroads.

It is not unlike the Shipping Trust's Bonus, which President Harding wants passed immediately.

It rounds out the series of bonuses which are being given to the big business interests by Congress.

It is the most vicious class legislation, for it enriches a few that have already concentrated most of the wealth in their own hands.

Congress dislikes to pass the tariff bill now. It will probably warn its big business friends not to raise the cost of living until after election.

But the whole campaign of the gentlemen in power is to increase living costs and reduce wages.

For example: When the United States Steel Corporation can get manganese from a foreign country where laborers are paid from 7 to 28 cents a day, then the steel trust wants this product on the "free" list.

Protect the big interests but do not protect the workers, is the slogan.

The people will soon wake up. They will know who is running the government.

If they don't you can bank upon it that the Big Business Bonus seekers will "Bone U. S." for another Billion Bones in the next bill.

MICHIGAN BROKER DIVISION

At a luncheon and meeting held at the Fort Shelby Hotel, Detroit, Mich., the newly organized Michigan Broker Division, which recently received a charter for the state of Michigan from the C. T. U. A. International, got down to business and elected a good slate of officers and got behind them in a way that is most encouraging.

Brother Hugo Neumann acted as temporary chairman and after the food disappeared Brother Guy Blakeley, who has presided over the destinies of the Detroit Subdivision of the W. B. D. for the past two years, was nominated for the presidency of the new organization but withdrew. Brother Neumann, who was nominated in turn by Brother Blakeley, tried to hold out but the members would not have it that way and he was elected by a unanimous vote.

For the office of Secretary-Treasurer the consensus of opinion was that we needed a single man who was honest, and as there was only one single gent present who was honest, the duty of filling that very important office and doing the heavy work fell on Brother Neumann's partner at G. F. Redmond & Co., Brother Harold (Mike) Nadeau.

Brother William Balmes was elected First Vice-President and member of the Executive Board, and Brother Frank Hare Second Vice-President.

The remaining members of the board elected are Brothers Guy Blakeley and C. E. Brower.

Business in this section of the country has greatly improved and the outlook is much brighter in all lines. No new houses have opened here recently, but it looks as if the time is about ripe for some of the eastern houses to expand in this direction. All the wire houses, both stock exchange and curb houses, are doing a good business.

A number of houses out in the state, located in Flint, Saginaw, Grand Rapids and other cities, have wire connections with Detroit houses. We would like to line all these men up and we are actively engaged in organizing the broker operators throughout the state. Drop a line to Brother Neumann, care of G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc., 1064 Penobscot Bldg., Detroit, or Secretary-Treasurer H. J. Nadeau, 911 Artillery Avenue, so we can get in touch with these men out in the state. With a little co-operation we can make this Michigan Broker Division a real organization and cover the state as it has never been done before. If we go to this work we can make this division a credit to ourselves and to the C. T. U. A. and if we don't we have no one to blame for our failure but ourselves, as we now have everything in our own hands.

Minimum Scale Adopted

The following resolution was introduced and passed on favorably by the members at the meeting June 24:

RESOLVED, That the minimum salary for telegraphers substituting on brokerage jobs in Detroit shall be at the rate of $50 per week and in the smaller cities in the state at the rate of $40 per week.

IT IS FURTHER RESOLVED, That any member of the Michigan Broker Division accepting less than the above minimum shall stand suspended pending action of the Executive Board at the first regular meeting thereafter.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED. That a copy of this resolution be mailed to every member of the Michigan Broker Division.

(Signed)

H. J. NADEAU,

H. E. NEUMANN,

Secretary-Treasurer.

President, Michigan Broker Division

Give Card Men Preference

We wish to call the attention of the members of this division to Article 28. Section 4, of the Constitution of the C. T. U. A. There are a number of members of this division who are idle at present and they should be given the preference in vacation and relief work. Let us know when you want to arrange for your vacation or call us when you want a sub and we will try to line up the right man. Mr. Neumann, and Mr. Nadeau can both be reached at Main 9000 or Mr. Blakeley at Cherry 7220.

NOTES

Brother H. E. Leary, with Otis & Co., is on vacation. He motored up to one of the northern Michigan lakes for a two weeks' trip. He deserves a lot of credit for the arrangements which made it possible for Brother Sherman to do the relief work for him.

Brother A. S. Walsh, until recently with H. B. Wills, is taking it easy this summer, spending most of his time at his summer home at New Baltimore, up on Lake St. Clair. "Red" is looking fine and we are glad to hear he is feeling like himself once more.

Brother Cocky Brower took Walsh's place at H. B. Wills & Co., and was getting along fine until he got in front of an automobile, but luckily sustained no serious injury. Brother Herman Kauhl filled in a few days.

Brother President Neumann is the owner of a Dodge sedan and is enjoying life as never before.

G. F. Redmond & Co. baseball team administered a severe beating to the lads from Jones & Baker on Belle Isle, July 6. Jones & Baker were the chal-lengers and for their temerity were handed a 31 to 6 beating. The fielding of Guy Blakeley and Taggart for the defeated team was sensational. Redmond & Co. have a team of good players and real sluggers.

The regular meetings of the Michigan Broker Division will be held for the present on the first Monday of each month at 4 p. m. The next meeting will be August 7 and notices will be sent out to all members later. The executive board will meet the second Monday of each month at 4 p. m. by appointment with Brother Neumann.

POSTAL BUYS N. F. CABLE

Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph - Commercial Cables System, announced on June 22nd the purchase from the government of Newfoundland of the submarine cable extending from Canso, Nova Scotia, to Newfoundland.

Mackay also stated that his companies and the government of Newfoundland had entered into a traffic agreement under the terms of which all telegraphic traffic into and out of Newfoundland handled by the government lines will be exchanged between the two interested parties. This traffic interested parties. agreement will go into effect about July 1st, and will restore competitive telegraphic service between the United States and Newfoundland. There has been no competing service for nearly three years.

In addition to extending the operations of the Postal Telegraph-Commercial Cables System into Newfoundland territory, the establishment of Canso-St. John's line strengthens the connection between the American seaboard and the system's transatlantic cables landing at St. John's, Newfoundland.

"What's that for?" he finally asked, pointing to the letters, M. D., U. S. A., on his blanket.

"Oh, that?" said the orderly carelessly.

"Where have you been, Henry?"

"Down to the drug store."

"Didn't I tell you to beat that rug?" "I didn't so understand you. said to take that rug out and hang it on the line and beat it. I did.

NOT ALL PLEASURE

In 1862 an intimate friend of President Lincoln visited him in Washington, finding him rather depressed in spirits as the result of the reverses then repeatedly suffered by the Federal troops.

"This being President isn't all as it is supposed to be, is it, Mr. Lincoln?" said his visitor.

"No," Lincoln replied, his eye twink-ling for a moment. "I feel sometimes like the Irishman who, after being rid-den on a rail, said: 'If it wasn't for the honor av th' thing, I'd rather walk."

Conducted by Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21

Meeting Date: Second Wednesday of Each Month at Union of Commerce Hall, 149 Berri St., Montreal.

-Organize-Co-operate-

We are now beginning the second half of 1922, and that means the dues for the latter part of 1922 are overdue. Everybody should see to it that he or she have "Good till December 31, 1922 card" in their card-cases.

The more the better, and everyone knows what it is to be delinquent, and how much trouble it is to get-up-to-date, so why let it run that far. Do it now and you won't have all the trouble later on.

Bro. Schnur is still in the West, and from what we can learn there will be some good things happen out that way.

Round the Street

Bro. DesLauriers is one of the lucky fellows, and is enjoying his well earned two weeks in the country.

Bro. "Shorty" Long is back at the old grind, after two weeks down in New Brunswick. The fog seems to have done him a lot of good, or at least that is the only alibi we have from him.

Bro. McKenna, who subbed for Bro. Long, is laid up at the present time with an attack of la grippe. Hope to see you soon, Joe.

Bro. Culkin of Teronto was in town over the Dominion Day holiday and is looking fine. How about some notes of the boys up there, Jimmy.

Bro. Jimmie Ross, of Jones and Baker, New York, was a recent visitor and looks fine. Jimmie is always glad to get back "home," and the boys are always glad to see one of the old crowd. Jimmie reports things are looking pretty good in the big town these days, and prospects are that they will continue so. Hope you are a good guesser, Jim.

Bro. Poulin took a trip down river some days ago, looking for fish. He might have had some luck had he brought his programme and form with him, and played them "on nose", but—how much you want to bet, Romeo? 73s D-n.

Bro. Walsh of L. & B. is on his vacation now, and if the weather man runs to form, Tom ought to have at least one-half of one fine day during the two weeks.

Bro. Schriever is waiting for the fall, for his annual hunting trip. Jack says he is going in for big game this year, even golf.

Bro. Fitch says that all this stuff about leading a bachelor's life is bunk, and if his "FW" don't return soon, he will be starved to death. How come, Dave, can't you fry eggs?

Bros. Wheaton, T. Grady and D. Grady are with RA at present.

Johnson & Ward have opened an office in London, Ont., and Kingston, Ont. Bro. Askins is booked for one of them, while Billy Townsend, from Toronto, is the other.

DON'T FALL FOR IT

He worked like blazes all the year,
Made overtime galore,
Each month his pay was ninety plunks,
And not a penny more.

The last week of the year came around,
He got an awful thrill,
When with his check he found enclosed
A new ten-dollar bill.
His heart was filled with gladness,
As he gazed upon the ten;
And he softly said Amen.

He never gave a thought;
He seemed like one in paradise,
Such happiness it brought.
This bonus proposition
Is a very crafty way
To discourage agitation
For a real increase in pay.
Too many fall for it just like
A fish does for a worm,
Then boast of how they're working
For a philanthropic (?) firm.

Of all the extra hours he worked,

FOR REAL ACTION TRY FIRE DISPATCHING

Bob Marrin, one of our temporary men, after a month as a Fire Telegraph Dispatcher says: "I've been in the telegraph game thirty years handling wires covering commercial business, baseball, boat races, press matter, election returns and broker wires where an error might mean the loss of thousands of dollars, but I have only come to realize that more important than all of them is the work of the Fire Telegraph Dispatcher. The functions of the latter have not only to do with money, but with human life. You know what Sherman said about war? Well, on June 11th and 15th I was as near it as I hope I'll ever be. The 11th was that of the unprecedented electrical storm and the latter date was that of the Arverne confiagration.

"I, a 'rookie,' gave all the help I could, but the way Brothers Martin and Corcoran handled that deluge of telegraph alarm signals; dispatching fire companies here, there and everywhere; receiving signals of companies returning, special calling this company and that company on missions of fire extinguishment or rescue. Oh, boy! Some sessions! The Stock Exchange with a break in the market seemed to me an infant's playground in comparison. And the smooth way the different situations were handled without a hitch or mishap! And that's the way it's always handled, and must be handled; with speed, accuracy and without confusion. This 100 per cent first class work is being done, day in and day out, for the citizen of New York City unheralded, unseen, unknown and unappreciated. It's a MAN'S job, all right, and a telegrapher's training must be combined with that of efficient dispatching, 'trouble hunting,' wire testing and electrical work of various kinds. Yes sir-ee, it's a composite job; and let me say this: If the City of New York paid $5,000 a year as the salary for this most exacting and responsible service rendered it would be getting off cheap. SOME job!"

You said it, "Bob." It IS a MAN'S job. Thank you. We are glad to broadcast your expressions. That's our aim. To educate the public and our City officials as to the Class A efficiency rendered in this very important and responsible branch of the Municipal service. When they become enlightened, much of the rock will have been cleared from the rough road we have been traveling toward recognition.

Following are the Executive Members, Chapel No. 1. J. F. Nolan, Manhattan; J. J. Bresnan, Bronx; M. J. Shortell, Brooklyn; T. S. Mahoney, Queens; J. J. Corcoran, Richmond. Second half 1922 dues—due July 1st. See your executive member.

With acknowledgments to our brothers of the Radio Department, the following is worth another "O. O.":

"Did you ever run across the three element lad? He who wouldn't mind a $10 day job, but who is worth about $3.93 where he is and $1.97 in the open market. There's a few of 'em and they certainly add to the gaiety of nations."

June 20th saw the last of the old street fire alarm boxes in Manhattan, abandoned with the completion of the last "throw-over" from Chambers Street to the Battery into the new system. All street box alarms are now received at the new central office in Central Park.

It was also the occasion of presentation of medals by Mayor Hylan to eleven members of the department for valor during the year 1921.

A special alarm box was erected on the City Hall steps by Brother Snyder, and used by the Mayor to send an alarm to headquarters. When the fire engines appeared in City Hall plaza, the Mayor connected a portable telephone transmitter with the alarm box and ordered the fire telegraph dispatchers to send the rescue squad. The promptness with which the order was executed evoked much applause.

As a poet Brother "Bill" Riordan shines. That is, at least for the present. We had the temerity to enclose a "creation" of "Bill's" with some flowers to the Chief and Mrs. Kenlon on their departure for Europe which evoked a postal acknowledgment all the way from Italy, with best wishes to all the boys and saying how he "enjoyed the poem." Chief Kenlon always was a gentleman.

A. P. AND OTHER SERVICES

I endorse the Philadelphia correspondent's observations in May Journal about there not being any correspondence from the Consolidated Press, Ledger News Service, Chicago Tribune News Service, and not enough from the A. P.

Press operators throughout the United States and Canada should make it their business to keep the press division of the JOURNAL well supplied with news items. The press division was teeming with highly interesting news in May and I read every line of it with absorbing interest. Why can't we continue to keep this department of the JOURNAL teeming with interesting and valuable news?

It's up to the press operators to do their duty in this respect. The May Journal was the best issue that Editor Powers has put out since he has been in office. I congratulate him and the correspondents who aided him in this most commendable and praiseworthy enterprise.

HE LIKES JOURNAL

Beaumont, Tex., May 30, 1922. Mr. Frank B. Powers, Editor, "Our" Journal, Chicago.

If I am not entirely out of order, I wish to extend congratulations to you on the excellent issue of the JOURNAL.

The May issue is a star edition and is a credit to our organization, or for that matter, any other one. With best wishes for a continuance of the good work, I am

UNION PRESS MEN, HELP

The union press operators are in a good position to do a great deal of quiet and effective organization work. They should give their Journals away every month to nonmembers employed by the A. P., W. U. and Postal and to non-members working for leased wire concerns, if there are any. It has been demonstrated from time to time that the Journal is a powerful organizer. Any non knows that the Journal is the official organ of the C. T. U. A., and if he has any brains at all he also knows that he can rely on what he reads in it.

We need more members and we should exert our utmost endeavors to get them.

-Press Operator, Ohio.

CANADIAN NATIONAL TELEGRAPHS

Montreal Notes

The attention of all members is called to the special assessment of $5 and $3, according to salaries, which was agreed upon at the special meeting called last month. This assessment was levied on the entire membership of the Canadian National Division, and is to be used to meet the expense incurred by negotiations to be entered upon this month.

Your General Chairman and the committee are confronted with a situation which is of vital importance to every member of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. The officers of our organization need our financial support at this critical moment more than ever before.

Those who have been through the struggles of the past know full well that the benefits and change of conditions brought about by complete and unified action are too precious to risk sacrificing at this time for the want of money and unity.

Each and every one of us are therefore obligated to render our financial aid and meet the payment of this special levy at once. Do not wait to be solicited. See Brother Secretary-Treasurer E. J. DesLauriers at the Star Office, Telegraph Department, St. James St., or Brother Assistant Secretary Norman Wood, at Canadian Telegraphs Main Office and hand them your assessment either in full or in part payment. All payments should be completed by next pay day at the latest.

General Chairman E. J. Young left this week on a union business trip, and will be absent for a few days.

Vice-President Schnur is still in the West on important organization work. Brother H. MacPnerson, formerly of "MO" staff, who recently returned to Montreal after an absence of a couple of years in the United States, has established a radio supply business in company with his brother at 86 St. James St. The firm is known as the Main Radio and Audio Supplies. The store is just around the corner near the Versailles Bldg., and we recommend those buying radio equipment avail themselves of MacPherson Brothers' complete service.

Brother McCoullough of "JS" office has received two important assignments this year. The first was his transfer to "JS." Recently he was assigned a more dignified role, that of father to a bouncing baby boy, who arrived the second week in June. We note Bro. McCoullough, Jr., used judgment of quality in his parental selection.

Last month our ranks were reinforced with the arrival of several members of the North Sydney cable office staft. This links us with a historical point reminiscent of the early days of the Atlantic cable service. In the early sixties the side-wheeler "SS Great Eastern" steamed into Hearts Content, New Foundland, with Cable 65 over her stern. And then was completed the laying of the first Atlantic cable, which connected the old with the new world. The first message was sent by Queen Victoria to the President of the United States of America, commending what was considered the greatest feat of that part of the nineteenth century, which was attributed to Cyrus Field.

For fifty years the Anglo-American held a monopoly of cable rights in the Island of New Foundland. After the expiration of that charter, other cable companies entered America through the same route. Since that early date, North Sydney, N. S., has been an important relay point for the Anglo-American cable traffic, being connected with main cable station at Hearts Content by direct cables and by land lines across New Foundland Island. A few years ago the Anglo-American was leased by the Western Union and the older style of telegraphy gave way to the automatic system adopted by the Western Union. Like all "efficiency" methods adopted by the Western Union, this resulted in diminishing the numbers of experienced operators required for manual relaying, the improved high-power repeaters making possible direct transmission over long routes.

We welcome the new arrivals from the Nova Scotia town and we feel that they will prove the kind of union men and women that we can justly feel proud of. You are just in time to procure your semi-annual card. Bro. Wood is always ready to accommodate.

PRESS DIVISION NEWS

INTERNATIONAL NEWS NOTES

Kansas City-South

With the avowed intention of not stopping till he got to the land of "tequila," "66" Jones, of KX, our D. C. O., took his vacation and "disappeared" for two weeks, being relieved by Bro. Sam Goodfellow, of Chicago, who when "PJ" gets back, will relieve Bro. "Mac" at KX. It's a two to one bet Mac will find the place where they bite best.

Bro. Matthews at Topeka will continue to hold forth at "KA." Glad to keep you with us, Mat.

An apology must be extended Brother Frank Miller at BN for the horrible mistake the "cub" reporter made in a recent Journal, stating that he took a week's trip to New Orleans with the Chamber of Commerce. He vehemently declares he does not belong to that organization and is proud of it. The "cub" has been fired. Anything further we can do to rectify?

Bro. Collins at Tulsa was relieved by O. J. Holder, for the remaining few weeks of Bro. Schulze's 90-day leave of absence. Bro. Collins is suffering from an illness which may require an operation later, it was learned.

Bro. Caul at Enid suffered a stiff neck and shoulder recently when his car went into a ditch.

Bro. James at KM hasn't got acquainted with the new "open shop expert" of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, but is wondering why they had to import one of them things from Little Rock, Ark., when there's so many so-called experts hanging around Oklahoma City.

Bro. Mike Dwyer at DY, takes his vacation the first part of July, according to the present schedule, with Brother Dave Creager of Houston, doing the combination operator-correspondent fob.

No more floods at FX since the last two. Understand Bro. "Stude" has equipped his new car with floaters so he can get in to work in case they have another deluge.

Bro. Brock is about the only man on the circuit this month who hasn't done anything but work in order to get his name in the write-ups, and in order not to slight him, this will serve to notify the old friends of this circuit that he is still alive and kicking along at about the same rate of speed.

A. P. SERVICE NOTES

(Not in Service Bulletin)

Cert. 319 has started some good features with his column entitled, "Associated Press sidelights not covered by A. P. Service Bulletin."

I presume this column is open for contributions and therefore I feel it my duty to submit a few little sidelights picked up now and then covering several years' service for that association.

I have known of A. P. operators writing to Sir Milton Garges, who appears to be running things in his own way in all matters concerning the welfare of A. P. operators, regarding his attitude towards the C. T. U. A.

Here is Sir Milton's characteristic style in rendering his opinion:

"The Associated Press is not opposed to the affiliations of its employes with any organization, whether religious, political or social, but whenever an employe becomes a propagandist, whether it be for religious, political or social organizations, his value to us ceases."

In other words it's all right to simply affiliate with the C. T. U. A. Just simply take out a card and be quiet. Don't tell your next door operator friend about it or he might join also. Don't do any organizing amongst the

W. U. operators or you might get them lined up and then where would the A. P. get their scab rookies when they are in need of a T. D. R.

I was ordered to break in an operator for the A. P. once upon a time, and after ascertaining for myself that this fellow carried a card—he was a live O. R. T. member—I proceeded to make a press man out of him. On this circuit we had a 1907 scab who was very much opposed to any organizing activity among the A. P. men. He would go out of his way to take a fling at the Union either on or off the wire.

One day he started to ridicule the Union, whereupon my "student," then working regular, proceeded to slap back at him. This happened on Wednesday and Saturday my man was discharged for "incompetency."

I took the matter up with His Majesty, Sir Milton, and pointed out to the best of my ability that it was the other fellow who started the conversation on the wire as it was his custom to do and that my friend simply answered him, commending the Union in his reply.

Sir Milton then proceeded to re-affirm that old stuff about it's all right for an operator to belong to the Union, but "he must not use our wires for propaganda." He said that he was sure that the other man was working in the interests of his employer and he was sure that whatever he said was to his employer's interests, and ended, "I wish you would take him for an example."

Well I did take him for an example a horrible example. There are a few others in a class with this "loyal" exponent of Sir Milton's policies in the A. P. service, but, thank God, they are very scarce.

Sir Milton contended that my friend was not and never would make a press operator, but I wish he could see him now. I am sure that Sir Milton never was and never could be as good a press operator as my friend is today.

Yet there are a few old slaves on the A. P. who have the nerve to still contend that the A. P. is fair. Bah! Men who contend such a thing are just simply too yellow to own up to the truth.

In pointing out to His Majesty the injustice in discharging my friend at this time and on so short a notice, 1 called his attention to the fact that my friend had moved his family—a wife and two babies-to his work at great That he had just recovered expense. from the "flu" and that at the present time, his babies and his wife were sick. My effort failed to stir up any sympathy in the breast of His Majesty, who would let nothing stand in his way when he desired to discipline an operator who dared to express his opinion favorable to emancipation.

TEN MINUTES MONTHLY GET RESULTS

Editor:

I wish to thank you for your kind words of appreciation in the May Journal, but, by cracky, I AM surprised at the "good wishes" from the Consolidated and the Universal-Chicago Divisions. I would not be human if I did not feel gratified.

I started the Central News notes as a means of keeping the morale of the Central News boys at ebb and did not imagine that any one else was reading them. However, this goes to prove that a little effort—ten minutes work every month—has its good results. Incidentally, when I first went to work for the Central News some years ago, the ratings were little better than at the commercial companies. It was after the strike and we had to take what we could get. Now $50 is being paid some of the men.

Here is a concrete example of what concerted action can do. In addition we guarded the reputations of union men as responsible workers as zealously as we do our wallets on a dark night in a hard part of town. It is a pity that telegraphers cannot foresee the possibilities of their vocation if they would only organize.

Yours fraternally,
JOSEPH B. MILGRAM.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NOTES

Señor Second Moon (please do not imagine from this patronymic that the aforementioned gentleman is an Indiansuch is not the case), or as his name reads in Spanish, "Segundo Luna," recently visited The Associated Press in Havana, patronizingly patted the District Traffic Representative upon the shoulder and remarked: "You certainly deserve credit for what you have done! Undoubtedly there will be a great improvement in the service! The sub-director of telegraphs is very much elated and is going to send you and the 'correspondent' a letter of congratulation! I am indeed pleased!"

(Readers, please note that the Cuban officials use the same means of recognizing efficiency (?) as The Associated Press—a letter of commendation—a "scrap of paper likened unto the insurance policy—only of more extensive circulation.)

Mr. Second Moon is as optimistic as the man who believed that the flowers would crowd out the weeds. As a matter of fact, the simile, in his opinion, represents the classification of the Cuban and American operators:

He is now considering the matter of endeavoring to substitute Cuban operators for the Americans working other leased wires in the republic!

But all concerns are not as foolish (or unpatriotic) as The Associated Press: Then, too, other leased wire users here would object to the reduction of at least 50 per cent in the efficiency of their wire service!

It remains for The Associated Press to hold the record! Incidentally, the "bag."
How long will the sleeper sleep?

L. D. STANLEY, VETERAN TELEG-RAPHER, IS DEAD

A veteran telegrapher's life of service was ended when Levi D. Stanley died of heart disease at his home, 423 North Delaware Street, Indianapolis, Ind., after a year's illness.

Mr. Stanley was seventy-one years old, but it was not until two years ago that he was pensioned by the Associated Press. He was credited with being the first man who ever copied a telegraph news dispatch on a typewriter in Indiana.

CLEANING UP WALL STREET

The New York Stock Exchange has closed out more than 150 brokerages in its fight against "bucket shops." In doing so, it was surprised to find ten or a dozen of its members mixed up in the outlawed profession, and was forced to discipline some of them. But that did not end the trouble and it looks as if a monopoly in stock gambling is impossible of attainment.

By driving out the "bucket shops" and creating a distrust among out-of-town investors, members of the Stock Exchange itself found their own patrons taking alarm. They might have known that Jones of Jonesville could not distinguish between a real member of the Exchange and the occupant of a desk in a dark office, if the latter used as good stationery; and that the failure of a Union Investment Company meant to him the smash of a J. P. Morgan & Company.

To add to the confusion the curb papers now report the swarming into Wall Street of many new and irresponsible young fellows, either clerks who had been patrons or former employes of the bucket shops, until there are three or four times as many of the outlawed class as there were before the raid commenced.

It is an odd thing, but these sensitive "Exchange" members cannot see that speculation is gambling until the little fellows try it. The difference perhaps is akin to the difference between poker and "craps."

Meanwhile, many of the "ruined" brokers are executing private commissions for their more aristocratic rivals, residing, the while, in the most fashionable hotels.—Dearborn Independent.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT WIRELESS NOTES

British Columbia District

Secretarial Statement:

The newly elected committee held its first meeting at Point Grey on June 20th, when Brother James Daniel was unanimously elected District Chairman for the ensuing year. The senior member, both as regards service and election, Brother Tee, proposed this motion, pointing out that it would constitute a distinct acquisition to have both Chairman and Secretary in a position to personally confer upon any subject, obviating the delay which would otherwise be caused through correspondence.

Considerable routine work was handled during the meeting, the report to date as presented by the Secretary being endorsed, likewise the statement by the auditor. The programme for the ensuing year was discussed at length, the fluctuating salary and the length of the working week receiving greatest attention, and being considered the primary grievances now existing. As the Vice-President is expected in Vancouver at an early date discussion was supended pending his arrival, when the entire committee will meet him in conference upon these points.

The Vice-President's report covering his negotiations with the Department was read by the secretary, a hearty vote of thanks being recorded to Bro. Schnur for his services. A similar vote was passed to the Journal ex-correspondent, whose resignation was accepted. Several members having written regretting the personal tone which had crept into the Journal columns of late, and urging the elimination of anything liable to be construed as offensive, a sub-committee, comprising the Chairman and Secretary, was appointed to review all matter prior to publica-tion, all official copy to be forwarded under signature of this sub-committee. Brother Turner undertook the task of collecting interesting data from the various stations, in an effort to render the Journal columns more general and entertaining.

A further effort to rekindle enthusiasm amongst the east coast members will shortly be undertaken, the committee to act conjointly with the International.

After considerable pressure the Secretary, although reiterating his desire for retirement, consented to withdraw his resignation, and remain in office another year. The emoluments in force during the preceding year were confirmed.

Local Notes

Three months have now elapsed, and still no bonus makes its appearance. Certain of our members are therefore still under the necessity of maintaining a family and providing accommodation in the city at less than one hundred dollars per month. It is fast approaching a scandal when any employee, no matter what status, should be compelled to carry on, month after month, deprived of that to which he is rightfully entitled. Despite the statement of the ex-Minister of Labor in Montreal the other day, that the cost of living had decreased but slightly in the records, and in actuality not at all, we are compelled to meet our obligations, and maintain existence upon a depleted stipend, in some cases to the extent of over $25 monthly. If as much unconcern and evasion could be attached to our own debts as is evinced in the case of the debts due us, there would be no cause for demur; but unfortunately creditors are not well disposed towards indefinite delay, and are supported in their contention by a Government institutionthe courts.

A bouquet was recently handed to the Estevan staff from Headquarters eulogising the quality of the service given the incoming Japanese liners by that station. It is a matter for satisfaction to note that good points of stations are now being recognized as well as complaints against them.

It is to be hoped that this new departure on the part of the Department will not constitute merely an isolated occurrence, but will be repeated as often as the occasion demands.

Brother Corriveau relieved the monotony of Estevan wilds by a brief visit to the bright lights, and renewed acquaintance with the local staff. He will return upon a vacation later in the year when a further exchange of views is anticipated. Brother Marwick from Alert Bay is also enjoying a holiday in the city, as also is our worthy chairman, Brother Daniel, whose faithful four-wheeled companion "Lizzie" already complains of overwork. Brother Turner is acting chairman during his absence. Brother Tee returned from his period of relieving up coast, and will take a well-earned vacation also. He brings the news that Brother Lofty is seriously contemplating standing for election as Mayor of Bull Harbour.

We welcome the latest addition to our ranks, Brother Arthur McKinley of C. G. S. "Newington," and trust that the association will prove mutually beneficial, and that he will not hesitate to take more than a passive interest in general proceedings.

It is worthy of note that a subscription has been received by the Secretary from one member, covering nearly two years in advance. What a contrast to the "honourable mention" of last month, who did not feel justified in putting money into something offering no return. Nuff sed.

"CHIEF!-KNOW THYSELF"

By "Critic"

The action of certain chief operators in resigning from the organization has given rise to much adverse comment, especially as they have so far failed to justify their action. The reason advanced is merely that chief operators should not, in their opinion, belong to any organization of operators, pointing as a precedent to the chief operators in the various commercial land line com-The force of their argument panies. could be seen, and even supported were there the remotest comparison between chief operators in commercial companies and the chief operators in our own service, but to contend for one moment that such comparison exists is ludicrous.

Commercial chiefs are officials of an executive capacity, but the duties of our own chiefs cannot by the wildest flights of imagination be termed as such. They are senior operators in the truest sense of the word. The official in this service who corresponds with chiefs in commercial companies is the superintendent.

The officers in charge of stations under the Marconi Company have considerably more latitude than our chief operators, being entrusted with a petty cash account for example, and yet they belong to, and are dealt with as re-spected members of the organization by their company, and it has yet to be shown that their loyalty to their employers has suffered as a result. sonally we are of opinion that such loyalty is increased appreciably, as they command the respect and fraternity of their subordinates, who willingly cooperate with them in the upholding of constituted authority, whereas the respect of the rank and file towards our own chiefs is being sadly jeopardized by the attitude of the chiefs themselves, and compulsory co-operation is never comparable with that of the willing or voluntary variety. Still according to the argument advanced, even though they may possess considerably more latitude and authority, these Marconi men are not called "chief operators," and therefore are eligible for membership in the organization, whereas our own men, basking in the reflected glamour of their title, are not.

And, after all, what is being asked of them? They are being urged to be false to no one, merely true to them selves. The Director of this service, even the Deputy Minister himself, expressed the viewpoint to organization representatives that if an organization was to be existant, they would prefer the chief operators to be associated therewith, in order that the saner and wiser counsel of such men, who had served their apprenticeship in the early days of the service, might temper or even counteract the possible impetuosity of the newer generation, the more recent arrivals.

They have also the knowledge that the Department does not disprove of organization, as evidenced by the Superintendent, the Inspector, and other executive officials belonging to the Civil Service organization, as well as the earlier invitation extended to the operating staff, chief operators included, to enroll in this body. It was decided that such a cosmopolitan body could be of small benefit to operators, hence the decision to embrace an organization devoted entirely to the interests of our profession, but, had the earlier invitation been accepted, all operators, chiefs and subordinates alike, would now be enrolled under the one banner, and with the complete sanction and acquiescence of the Department. whence then do the chiefs derive their present attitude?

The chief operator in the Government Telegraphs, our sister service, who has considerably more latitude, and certainly more executive authority than our chiefs, is a member of the organization, and although moral opposition was encountered in his case also, he speedily demonstrated that his duty towards his colleagues would in no way conflict with his duty towards his superiors, with complete harmony as a re-This would also be the case in our service. The chiefs personally are undeniably a decent bunch of fellows and we assert, without fear of contradiction, that it must go sorely against their principles to accept concessions, in the obtaining of which they have taken no part.

The chief operator of an up-country station, in his letter of resignation, whilst eulogizing the organization generally, stated that it could do nothing and be of no assistance to chief operators. Well, apart from the fact that it has been instrumental in obtaining for him a substantial increase of salary, with the unexpected accompanying cheque comprising "back pay"; has obtained an additional eight days attached to his annual leave; has obtained the privilege of accumulating this leave for two years if so desired; has obtained an isolation allowance, hitherto non-existant, of $4 per month; has been instrumental in persuading the Department to place four men at each station, thereby relieving him from the permanent necessity of performing a daily watch, with his other duties in addition as formerly; has obtained a cleaning allowance for his station, not to mention several minor improvements--we are afraid he is about right, but this is no reason why further efforts should not achieve better results. There are many things calling for remedy ere this service becomes a paradise, and the only way to secure such remedy is by free and open discussion, both amongst ourselves and with our superiors, showing at the same time that we are endeavoring to do our part in the conscientious discharge of duty.

The day has passed, we hope, when the Department regarded our organization as antagonistic, as shown by the letter from the Superintendent, congratulating the representatives upon their reasonable and fair-minded attitude. In view of such friendly senti-ments, it is but reasonable to suppose that there would be no qualms upon the part of officials were the chief operators to return to the fold, as is their bounden duty. Nothing is more productive towards success than contentment, and the more reforms that are obtained as a result of our endeavors the greater will be the contentment amongst the operators, which in its turn will be reflected in the resulting harmony and good will, and the quality of the services rendered.

And it is to this end that we confidently look for a resumption of co-operation from the chief operators. Their path is clear if they will but see it, and realize that its acceptance will enable them to all the more render to the Department the allegiance they owe.

By doing the right thing they will not only restore their own self-respect but greatly increase the respect and good will of the men beneath them.

TRADE UNION DIVIDENDS

When an institution organized for profit desires to sell its stock, emphasis is always placed on dividends as the big inducement for investors.

No institution in the world has paid so many and such large dividends on its capital stock as the trade union movement.

It has increased wages so that its membership enjoys a fair living stand-

It has shortened the work day, thus giving us an opportunity to conserve our capital stock and our earning power.

It has taken thousands of children from gainful occupations and placed them in school.

It has secured equal pay for equal work for women in industry.

It has aided in the establishment of our public school system and securing free textbooks for pupils.

It has created funds to care for the workers during periods of illness and distress.

It has been the pioneer in securing compensation laws that protect the worker and his dependents against industrial accident or death.

It has secured laws safeguarding life, limbs, and health in mines, mills and factories.

It has given us the union label, the mission of which is to teach us how to use our power of purchase.

The union label is emblematic of democracy, justice, and humanity in industry and has materially "humanized the job."

Standing as they do for equality of opportunity, the Labor Movement and the Union Label teach vs moderation and toleration, as well as respect for the views of others.

The enemies of our movement are leaving no stone unturned to destroy our capital stock—our trade unions—and thus take from us our dividends—the benefits we receive from the trade unions.

Protect your capital stock—your trade unions, and your dividends—improved conditions—by purchasing only union labeled goods.

BURNING CRITICISM

Mr. Frank Powers, C. T. U. A., Dear Sir:

Just a word that very nearly voices the true sentiment on the coast, re the results of the work of the committees in New York. The results were exceedingly disappointing and disgusting. Someone has been lax or has shown a streak of yellow that can hardly be wiped away in future meetings to come. should at least have obtained an all-round raise of $5.00 per week. Out here it is inconceivable that they should have failed and no amount of argument will convince a truly western man that they did the wisest thing in not resorting to our only weapon of defence-the strike referendum. The absence of news regarding the daily proceedings was also a very smallminded course to adopt, and if the companies refused to allow any such news on their wires then the chairmen should have been notified overhead.

This year we should have had at least the $5.00 increase, next year to stand back of our attainment. However, that opportunity offered last month has gone by the boards and never again will we have such a chance to better ourselves through the medium of a bunch of weak-kneed committeemen, who stood by and allowed themselves to be bluffed and bunked into renewing the old contract figure. The effect is exceedingly disheartening, and every man on the coast is disgusted and discouraged, and the blame is placed squarely on the committeemen and the international officers who were there to act in an advisory capacity.

WE MUST have a Coast representative on every committee in the future, for it seems that only in this way can we obtain "A servant anything like our just dues. is worthy of his hire," is a saying that we should all remember, and surely the Union press men are not and never have received their worth, and if we can't get it through our organization then that organization isn't worth a damn to us. I have held my card for six years, four of those with the A. P.: contributed to the Journal on timely matters and given my hearty support in every way deemed wise and rational. But I want to tell you that that interest has dwindled to nothing, solely because of the way things were handled in New York—the dismal failure of our committeemen to earry out our wishes is something that simply cannot be swallowed. My dues are going in only so long as I can better myself in other lines, since the C. T. U. A. officers have not seen fit to show a fighting front at the golden hour of opportunity—an hour that all of us know now will never again come around.

J. A. Kazmark,

Glendale, Calif., Aug. 5.

AN APPEAL TO A. P. OPERATORS

Why do operators do press work for $30 and $35 per week, as some A. P. men are now doing? You could demand a minimum of $40, and easily get it with many other things, if you would show a bit of enthusiasm and organize.

All organized operators are willing to lend a helping hand at any time, but it is sickening to us, who are organized, to see how many A. P. operators lack "guts."

The writer sometimes wonders how "cardless" A. P. operators feel when working in the same building with union printers, knowing the printers have no use for nens.

A. P. operators—think for yourself—don't let some petty T. D. R. do your thinking for you. If you do, you are lost. Now's the time. All assistance will be extended you by union operators, if you wish to feel and be real red-blooded Americans.

Nearly every city or town has organized operators working for International News Service, Universal Service and United Press, that will gladly lend you their assistance and explain anything you may want to know. Investigate, and see for yourself if organization does not mean something for telegraphers.

VOL. XX.

of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress.

CHICAGO, ILL., SEPTEMBER, 1922

No. 9

"Capitalistic forces are closely banded in Canada to encourage and subsidize the formation of national or local unions, that the international trades union movement may be destroyed and the Canadian workers left helpless," declared Mayor Martin of Montreal in an address before the recent convention

"Beware of those who are contributing to the organization of the so-called independent or national unions in Canada. Those back of such movements would first weaken and then destroy the real union organizations."

It is easy to understand why corporation heads use power and money promiscuously to bust up bonafide workers' organizations—dividend snatchers must be satisfied.

But what can be said in justification of those among the workers who aid and assist corporations in scrapping our only line of offense and defense?

The "national union" movement in Canada, as the Montreal mayor aptly states, is simply a subsidized movement which if successful will leave the Canadian workers helpless.

The rank and file in Canada are all too sensible to permit of that.

Prompt action taken by United Press System Division No. 47 against a former committeeman for conduct unbecoming a member during schedule negotiations, should prove to be a salutary warning to those members who misguidedly or traitorously lend comfort and aid to the managements at critical moments.

Press committees have not been the only ones hampered in this way in the past. There have been instances when committees representing Canadian divisions as well as broker chapels have been whipsawed and double-crossed by one or two of the very men who delegated them to act. Too seldom has the discipline meted out been strong enough to serve as a deterrent to a repetition of such damnable acts.

The member of a division who will write letters assuring telegraph officials that the committee misrepresents true sentiments of the membership (as has been done); who will attempt to poll the membership to repudiate a committee during negotiations (as has been done); or the member who uses his influence to block lawfully levied assessments at a critical stage of negotiations (as was done in the United Press case), are deserving of condemnation and severe discipline at the hands of fellow members.

Let us have full and free discussion of the qualifications of candidates for general committees BEFORE election; but nothing but unswerving, loyal support AFTER election.

There are UNIGH men and morely CARRO men, and then there are none. Which classification are you in? Let us indulge in the neurotic game of introspection for UNION MENIAMS a moment. If you have practiced union principles, preached them, worked our mone and deliaquents and secured at least one new member during the year, you are a UNION man with a clear conscious.

A UNION man will walk an additional block to buy a union-made cigar, shirt or pair of shoes. A UNION man will not stand silent when some of his white-collared acquaintances praise the infamous Harding-Daugherty injunction.

Above all, a UNION man will incessantly bombard that hard-shelled A. P. or W. U. non until he gets his John Hancock on the little dotted line of an application blank.

If you pay your dues after the secretary has worn out his third pair of shoes to your door, you are a CARD man. If you attend only those union meetings which do not interfere with your movie, poker or dance dates, you are a CARD man. If you pass by all opportunities to talk unionism to that non or delinquent in your office because "that's the secretary's job," you are a CARD man.

And if you scream to high heavens when an assessment is levied and never miss a chance to knock your officers at the curbstone—and remain dumb in meetings—you are known as a CARD man, certainly not as a real UNION man.

"I will use the power of the Government of the United States within my control to prevent labor unions of the country from destroying the open shop."—Attorney General Daugherty.

Atta boy, Dug. Make 'em like it. Possibly a few more such candid statements regarding Warren's labor-hating policies and the workers will vote for a democratic labor hater in 1924!

When discussing the whole question of the legality of injunctions, it is well to remember that every injunction issued in an industrial dispute enjoins the exercise of the right of free speech, free press and peaceful assembly. The injunction violetes the constitution—it never upholds it.

BOARD HEARS RADIO CASE

A Board of Conciliation in Montreal is hearing evidence on the request of the Marconi Company for a reduction in wages to members of System Division No. 59. Members of the board are E. McG. Quirk. Chairman; Thomas Taylor, representing Division No. 59, and Melville P. White, representing the Marconi Company. A decision is expected before the end of September.

O. R. T.-C. T. U. A. CO-OPERATE

Following the precedent set a year ago, when for the first time the O. R. T. and C. T. U. A. joined hands in the negotiating of a schedule agreement, a new joint agreement between the Canadian National Telegraphs linemen of both organizations and the management was signed in August at Toronto.

Hon. R. E. Enright, Police Commissioner of New York City Member of E. B. D., C. T. U. A.

Bro. Enright was born on a farm near Campbell, N. Y. As a boy he studied telegraphy and was considered one of the best operators on the Eric Railroad. Early in his career he became actively identified with the Order of Railroad Telegraphers. In fact after Theodore Roosevelt appointed Bro. Enright to the New York police force, he still continued his activity in the O. R. T. and also headed the Lieutenants' Society of the New York police force for a long period.

It has been generally believed by those close in touch with political affairs in New York that although Bro. Enright was in every way fitted for the highest police duties, he was purposely held in the background on account of his great love for his fellow man and the knowledge that he could never be used for the purpose of destroying the rights of all free men to organize and secure for themselves the best working conditions possible. When Mayor Hylan was appointed Mayor of New York, he at once recognized the value of having Bro. Enright as head of the Police Department, not alone because he was the best fitted for the head of the New York police force, but because he recognized his high moral character and knew that there would never be a scandal in New York Police affairs under Bro. Enright's administration.

It is the hope of the writer, who has known Bro. Enright intimately for the past thirty years, that at the Democratic Convention soon to convene in Syracuse, Bro. Enright will be selected as Candidate for Governor of New York State. If elected all lovers of fair play will be sure of a government for the people and the "latch string" will always be out at the Capitol in Albany for any telegraph operator who carries a union card. In case the Convention should decide upon Bro. Enright it is the wish of all the brothers in Greater New York and vicinity who have known Bro. Enright that every effort be made to secure for him the vote he is entitled to, in order to overcome the combined resources of those who are opposing the efforts of labor to receive what they are entitled to.

ECONOMIC POWER OF UNIONS GROWING

By Wm. J. McMahon, W. B. D.

When we calmly consider with unprejudiced mind, the great strides made by the organized workers of this country since the Homestead massacre of 1886, we are truly astonished that there could be found any man or woman who must live by the exchange of ability, skill and intelligence, who is not enrolled in the union of their craft or business.

There must be a reason, and therefore, let us seek it, and finding it, let us apply a remedy.

Anyone with more than a limited experience in the ranks of telegraphers must admit that the outstanding drawback to a sweeping influx to the C. T. U. A. is selfishness, fear and unacquaintance with the purposes and ideals of organized labor, as we understand them.

There could be no finer example of unselfish devotion to a cause than has been shown by some of our leaders and prominent members, and our order is alive and functioning today chiefly because of their steadfast loyalty to principle, when everything seemed darkest. Now is the time to show that we are grateful for the heritage they preserved for us, and the truest way to indicate that is to GET A NEW MEM-BER, or bring back someone who is "Slipping." Let's put pep and life and go into our divisions. Cite the example of the Engineers Bank, the Machinists Bank, the Railroad Telegraphers Bank, just started in St. Louis; let us spread the gospel of the steadily increasing strength and power of unions, and, further, let us, OUR-SELVES, believe that ultimately these unions will be an economic force that cannot be ignored, even though that Seraglio of Satan, the Bourbon press, and the mighty hidden influences they serve, are arrayed against them.

But recognition of the economic power of the unions may be much closer at hand than many imagine, for we should bear in mind the action taken by the people of Pennsylvania which was long the seat of rock-ribbed repression; of Indiana; of Iowa; of Dakota; of California and latest, and most emphatic of all, the tremendous protest from Wisconsin against this insidious, unseen power in our Government.

This same power has decreed the abolition of all unions (not in their control) and it would seem our plain duty, not only as union men, but as citizens of the U. S. A. to support, in every way possible, the men whom we know will restore the principle of representative Government under which the interests of all the people will be considered, instead of only the privileged few. This is not politics—it is plain patriotic duty. A duty we owe our selves and the present generation as well as to posterity, for if a radical change is not made soon, who can say what's in store?

In the words of a famous philosopher:

"Kingdoms are destroyed by poverty; Republics by wealth." We better watch our step—or change it.

HON. Wm. J. Carey, Ex-Congressman Member C. T. U. A.

Bro. Carey, who was Congressman from Wisconsin for 12 years and performed yeoman service for the commercial telegraphers in Washington, has the best wishes and support of his fellow members in Milwaukee County in his candidacy for county clerk on the Republican ticket,

THE VIEWPOINT

Reply to "Burning Criticism"

I have just read the "Burning Criticism" of Brother J. A. Kazmark, of Glendale, Cal., in August's "Journal." I have counted ten, and then counted ten more, so I may be able to discuss it dispassionately, as all questions concerning the union should be discussed.

May I digress right here to say that the advantage sometimes held by the employing class is usually greatly added to by their cold, dispassionate moves and conclusions while those representing the employees are all heated up over their grievances and reach conclusions at the height of passion.

Of course we all feel that press men should have received a raise. That's what we sent our committees in for. BUT, how were they supported? Quite a number had not paid dues from July 1 to December 31, which meant that while the negotiations were on they did not hold up-to-date cards. When the committees asked for help so they could present a solid front and take the questions at issue to arbitration, some responded and some did not. I have no direct information as to how many, but I know quite a number did NOT. Mine went by "Special Delivery" when I got the "call." I have held an Annual ever since they began issuing them. In view of such support, I, for one, think the committees did well, considering the spirit "back home." If we expect committees to be "full of pep and confidence" we should SUPPORT THEM SOLIDLY, PROMPTLY, WHEN OR BEFORE IT IS NEEDED.

The fact is, we are too lax in keeping every member on our circuits up to date, and in seeing that assessments are paid promptly. Considering what we have secured through our committees in the past it has cost us about 5 per cent what it costs most union members-printers for instance. When a member goes past January 1 or July 1 without a current card, his interest in his union is lax; when he is 30 days behind, he is a poor union man and when he is 60 days behind, he should be promptly relieved. Such a man is not only dead weight to the union, to the circuit he works on and to his division, but HE IS AN UNFIT MAN TO WORK FOR HIS EM-PLOYER. A man that will lay down on his union will lay down on his job, and does do it.

Union men must think. We cannot lift ourselves by our boot straps. If we accomplish anything it means work, and money.

And the quickest way to go backward—to $18 to $30 per week for press men, with nine to ten hours a day, with no "tens," not even "fives," no lunch time except "Five" or "Ten" in the middie of the day (or night) is to sit back and snarl at the men at the head of the union who are devoting their talents, their time, their lives and making sacrifices for us, and committees who go to the front for us and with sinking hearts at the filmsy support they receive, even then secure a practical renewal of the old contracts when they face demands for drastic reductions and curtailment of many privileges.

Brother Kazmark, this is not a criticism of you, just a criticism of the spirit of your letter. We do DESERVE more money, we do DESERVE better conditions. The way to get them is to cut out the dead timber, which would "scab" on us anyway if it came to a pinch, who "lay down" on their employers, and hurt us as a body—and support "tooth and toe nail" the men who are at the head of our union and those who so faithfully serve on our committees.

Insults Workers' Intelligence?

In the July Journal the following appeared:

"The golden hour of opportunity is with the commercial telegrapher once more. Commercial companies, brokerage houses and press associations are CLAMORING FOR OPERATORS."

We know that press operators are not now and never have been receiving a decent wage, considering the exacting and nerve wracking work required of them.

Fully realizing that the golden hour of opportunity was at hand, our press committees went to New York and signed up at the old $40 starvation wage!

And then the Journal insults the workers' intelligence by this caption over a news item: "Labor Board Imitates Bolsheviks."

The Bolsheviki fight for the rights of the working class, all intelligent workers know.

All union men I have talked to are heartily disgusted with the C. T. U. A.'s work in negotiating a new press scale.

"Down with the Bolsheviki."

More Barnyard Bouquets

Much criticism, written and otherwise, has followed in the wake of 1922 press negotiations. The C. T. U. A. Journal, one of the most liberal forums in labor circles, prints double-barrelled criticisms of international officers and press committeemen alike because of alleged farcical methods used and results obtained by them in New York this year.

Press circuits, where chief operators permit exchange of opinions during idle periods, are rampant with mixed praise and criticism—mostly the latter—aimed at C. T. U. A. officials in general, but no single one or group of them in particular.

All of which is non-constructive and therefore purely a waste of time.

Some party or parties must acknowledge responsibility for the plain, unadulterated fool blunders committed two months ago. Let's point them out individually if possible so that the real story of the 1922 schedule negotiations may be uncovered.

Telegraphers, especially those in the press field, are inclined to be too tolerant when their leaders err in judgment. This fact was recently demonstrated when a division treasurer got away with nearly a thousand dollars of division funds. Not one of us clamored for his incarceration in jall. Leaders, however, who commit gigantic blunders and seek to cover them up with flimsy excuses should receive short shrift at our hands. And it is the intent and purpose of this letter to find out WHO made the blunders this year that they may be removed from office in time to forestall like mistakes and similar alibis in the future.

Our international officers and general committeemen are selected because of their supposed ability to act as intelligent leaders. We look to them for guidance. When a little group of men started the machinery buzzing at a "sixty dollar minimum" clip we, the rank and file, naturally looked to our elected leaders to first consider conditions dispassionately and inform the membership of deductions reached.

I do not believe the rank and file are particularly bitter because their representatives failed to obtain the sixty dollar minimum, but their confidence received a severe jolt because leaders like Shea and Seefred endorsed and propagated the sixty dollar dream when in the light of what actually happened, these men must have known beforehand that it was an impossibility as well as setting a bad precedent. It took three years to educate the press managements that we only ask for what we intend to fight for.

And right here I believe the membership is entitled to first-hand information on the following points:

1. Why did general committeemen not inform the membership of the insurmountable obstacles confronting them in going after any kind of an increase this year?

 Why did general committeemen get aboard of the "sixty dollar minimum band wagon," knowing that treasuries of the divisions were barely sufficient to pay committee expenses to New York and return?

3. Did general committees seek and receive endorsation of the sixty dollar minimum plan from President Johnson?

4. If President Johnson did endorse the program what were his plans for seeing the fight through to a finish?

5. Why was the Journal permitted to be used as a medium for propagating a plan which Editor Powers and President Johnson must have known was impossible of attainment?

6. Did not the committee know before their arrival in New York that costly arbitration proceedings were a foregone conclusion? And, if so, why did the committees not provide for this known contingency beforehand?

And here's a question for the rank and file to decide before election time:

Unless these officials responsible for the serious blunders committed this year answer the above questions to our satisfaction, should we perpetuate them in office?

It is my personal opinion that we in the press division came out of a bad situation this year in good shape. A lesson should be learned—not lost.

President Johnson is known for his principle: "All cards on the table." It is inconceivable that he is covering up Brothers Shea, Seefred, et al, unless, of course, he admits that he alone conceived and managed the whole mess, which I refuse to believe.

It is time for real details. Out with them!

This is not purely a personal matter with the writer, therefore the nom de plume. The questions involved are too big for the indulgence of personalities. "INSUPUS."

Favors Constructive Criticism

Permit me to register an emphatic protest against the sentiments expressed in the letter from the pen of J. A. Kazmark, published in the Journal for August.

Criticism of this "burning" variety only adds to the burden of those who, each year, give so fully of their time and their ability — our committees. Criticism I would not deny our Pacific Coast brother, but let it be of a constructive nature, devoid of all the silly "yellowisms" that characterize Pacific Coaster's effort.

If yellowness and laxity there was, it can be traced to the "hog wild," slipshod instructions the committee received from many members. The "rassberry" falls with little grace from the pen of a perpetrator of that "Sixty Dollar Thing." We carn it, yes, but—Rome wasn't built in a day.

If there was any "weak-kneedness" it can be traced to where those forgotten questionnaires lie 'twixt the leaves of a forgotten book, or in the inner recess of a pocket in last spring's coat.

Come on, Pacific Coast. That last effort was so sudden. Forget your petty "yellowisms" and launch a better, saner effort, in time to be digested, and let's ALL PULL THE WAGON.

And to our officers let us extend our thanks, our appreciation that they gave the best they had in our behalf.

Fortunate to Preserve Press Contracts

Now that the negotiations for 1922 are over it is time to begin laying our plans for We were fortunate to fare as well as we did, in that we preserved our old contract with slight improvements in the face of our unpreparedness for a prolonged struggle. What we want to do is to start laying aside a fund for just such emergencies as we experienced this summer in order that it will not be necessary to suddenly levy an assessment on the members, thus taking them by surprise at a time when it might work a great inconvenience for many to comply.

As has been suggested by our United Press general chairman, it seems to me that it would be a good investment to start at once with $1.00 per week. I am not overly enthusiastic about paying out money for the benefit of the A. P. operators who stand in our way of advancement year after year, who by their indifference and lack of courage continue as a menace to the just realization of our aspirations, but as pointed out by Chairman Shea, a part of the fund which we might create could be used for the purpose of organizing the A. P. operators and other non-union press operators, I feel that by beginning now and preparing for eventualities, we will be better able next year to make our demands and then stick by them, whether it means arbitration or strike, and whether we have the support of the A. P. operators or not.

I have no sympathy for those who scoff at the idea of our pooling our resources with other divisions of our organization. It would be just as reasonable for the union to disband and the men carry on the struggle individually as it would be for the separate divisions to contend their individual ground.

We don't want any present day Associated Press sentiment and policy injected into our organization and, by heck, we are not going to permit it. We want to go further. We want ALL press operators assimilated into our fold in order that we will be able to present a UNITED-not a divided-front, when we face the cannons again.

In the past I have received letters from members of our division protesting against our efforts to organize the A. P. operators, pointing out that the A. P. men don't want to be organized and that we don't need their help. Who said the A. P. operators don't want to be organized? Perhaps a renegade in that service, like one or two I happen to know in this territory, who snarlingly infer that the sun shineth not, and who scabbed in 1907 and have carried on their nefarious protests against emancipation ever since, will forever persist in trying to impress some of our weaker brothers with the silly idea that the A. P. ranks are bomb-proof against any organizing activity.

Go to most any A. P. operator whose record is clear and talk the matter over with him and he will invariably declare that he is willing if the others are. That's the point. He wants united action. He wants the others with him. He has seen much of the futility of individual effort against so many odds. Any one will acquaint themselves with that situation aftera reasonable service with the A. P.

They know the attitude of the A. P. czars who lurk in the dark and await their chance to pick off a true man here and there on some pretext or other, screening the real cause of discharge with their Apparently we have no proof that the A. P. System was ready to unite with our own systems in fighting against us this summer, but it would surprise no one if such was the case. What the attitude of the A. P. operators would have been in such event can hardly be stated, but owing to their helplessness in their present unorganized condition, a speculation of that attitude does not appeal to one's optimistic sentiments.

So now that we have the future before us-nearly a year's time for preparedness —let us begin (and by "US") I include those "fighting bobcats" who were going to send their committees pell mell up to New York without funds and without sufficient unity to force the boss to shell out 20 beans additional weekly stipend right off the reel and were going to strike, by gosh, if they didn't get it-let us begin to equip ourselves with the necessary accoutrements for a successful campaign.

E. B. Hiner. Circuit Chairman. United Press Div 47.

The Wizard Telegrapher

The papers of late have been quite overflowed over the sad demise of Terence O'Rourke Kepler, "world's champion telegrapher," "lightning key expert," etc. Strange to relate, this "wizard" is an unknown quantity in tournament circles, no one in Chicago, New York, or Boston, or anywhere else having ever heard of him. Evidently the young man "put one over" on the reporter, at least as regards his wizardry.

The phenomenal record made by Kepler at the "Pageant tourament" (a tournament that no one ever heard of) of 319 words in 2 minutes and 53 seconds, is absurd. The record is 68 words per minute. Surely they do great things at the Pageant.

David J. Ellington, W. B. D. Winner Carnesie cup championship allaround telegrapher. Winner Clarence Mackay cup. Winner Boston News Bureau cup, and others.

Proud of Journal

I want to congratulate Editor Powers on the way he has conducted the publication of the Journal since October, 1921. The Journal has been, since its inception, one of the best and most interesting union labor official organs. All preceding secretary-treasurers have kept it up to a very high class standard, and Brother Powers most assuredly is doing likewise. I take pleasure in saving that it is very gratifying to me to be able to note that the Journal is maintaining its records in a praiseworthy and commendable manner. I have no doubt that innumerable other members of the C. T. U. A. entertain the same sentiments.

The Journal is owned and published by the commercial operators and for over twenty years it has steadfarily championed their cause and scattered the doctrine of manhood rights and unionism all over this continent.

Indeed, the commercial telegraphers have just cause to be proud of their official organ. They know it always tells the truth and that they can always read something in it that is to their advantage and profit.

I have read many different organs of labor unions, but I have not yet read one that favorably compares with the Journal. None of these organs contained the originality and virility of the articles that are invariably published in the Journal.

The Journal is probably our best organizer. Every member should make it a part of his duty towards the organization to help, aid and assist the Editor in keening it up to the high class standard that it already has attained.

Higher Pay for Financial Circuits

In a recent issue of the Journal a worthy brother brought to our attention the difference in salaries on financial press wires and ordinary news gathering press wires. This brother claims, and his claim is well founded, that men working these financial press wires should receive higher salaries than those working ordinary press wires. At present there is practically no difference in salaries. On a regular press wire nothing but straight news is handled, with the exception of a few small markets copied on short forms. On these wires the men get two rest periods of ten minutes each day and thirty minutes for lunch, and are off duty right on time. On the financial wires the men receive thousands of words in special stories and anywhere from forty to sixty long sheets of market forms with all the transactions made on all the exchanges quoted thereon. These forms are copied with a pencil, as it is almost impossible to copy them on a typewriter. men get one rest period a day of 10 minutes and sometimes they get thirty minutes for lunch if all the stories happen to be sent by lunch time. They are off duty when all the markets are sent. which is nearly always beyond the regular closing hour and no over-time is allowed.

There are five reasons why financial wires should pay higher salaries:

 It requires greater skill to work these wires satisfactorily.

2. The strain upon the brain nerves and arm is probably 100 per cent greater than on an ordinary press wire.

3. The fact that a higher charge is made to clients for these financial wires than are made for an ordinary press wire.

4. That these financial wire associations are making good money or they could not exist.

5. That the health of the men working financial wires is more or less impaired and his life probably shortened by this steady strain upon his nervous system.

I am sure the men working these financial wires will agree with me in my contention for a higher scale of wages than the men working ordinary press wires. I also believe the regular press men will agree with me if they realize what these financial wires really are. Have you ever worked one of them, brother? If not you are hardly in a position to indge. Brothers, take a tip from the writer, who does know what they are. I have worked them all, and I did not realize what an easy time regular press men had until I landed on one of these financial wires.

It is true that the financial men get holidays, or half-holidays, when the markets are closed, with full pay. But that is no more than the regular press men get in most places.

Digitized by Google

Some of the financial wires are organised and some are not, although a good many of the men have cards.

The critical moment has arrived, the stage is all set. NOW IS THE TIME TO GET A CONTRACT WITH THESE FINANCIAL ASSOCIATIONS. THE GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY IS HERE, SHALL WE LET IT SLIP FROM OUR GRASP? AT THE PRESENT TIME, WHEN OPPOSITION IS SO STRONGLY FELT, CAN THESE FINANCIAL ASSOCIATIONS REFUSE US A CONTRACT? THEY CANNOT. WHY? FOR THE SIMPLE FACT THAT THE FOUNDATION HAS JUST BEEN COMPLETED AND THEY ARE ON THE ROAD TO SUCCESS AND IF THEY FAIL THEIR TRUSTED AND FAITHFUL EMPLOYES THE OPPOSITION WILL WIPE THEM OFF THE FACE OF THE GLOBE.

What say you none on these financial wires? Do you expect to continue to slave on these wires for a $42.50 or $45.00 minimum? These wires should pay at least a $55.00 minimum and the associations would be getting off light at that. Do you want these positions to pay better? What is the solution of this problem?

ORGANIZE. GET AN APPLICATION BLANK AND ENLIST WITH THE BLUE BLOODED 100 PER CENT AMERICANS IN THE COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS UNION OF AMERICA AND GO AFTER A CONTRACT. WILL YOU? BE A MAN AND SAY YES.

One of the Five

With reference to FUNERAL BENEFIT PLAN. On the front page of the Journal for August, it is stated that the funeral benefit by-laws have been ratified by the membership and automatically become effective on September 1, 1922, also that "Out of the entire membership only five voted to reject the plan." (The number voting for the plan not stated). As & matter of personal privilege, I desire to be published as one of the five that voted to reject. I would also invite the other four to either do the same or communicate their names to the undersigned.

The August Journal has just been received and in my humble opinion the membership and officers of the C. T. U. A. are to be congratulated upon the completion of the Funeral Benefit plan.

Settling Strikes; Editors Unfair to Workers

The Kansas City Star says editorially:

"Certainly the country is not wedded to any particular form of solution of the problem of the strike in essential industries. If Mr. Gompers can show a better method than that suggested by President Harding it will receive sympathetic attention.

"Their strike has threatened to tie up the industry of the country. Mr. Gompers must recognize that this is an intolerable situation. No nation can permit its industrial life to be menaced. What has Mr. Gompers to propose?"

Mr. Gompers is too busy in the interests of humanity and in carrying out the work laid down by the Son of Man to notice every query in these pro-conspirator journals. But there are thousands of working men aligned with Mr. Gompers who can easily, and without strenuous study of the problem, suggest or propose a method.

So here you are, Mr. Anti-Emancipation Editor, smoke this in your old cob pipe:

You aspire to mould public sentiment. Then mould it along humane lines. Exhort the people to demand the courts who are so liberal with their injunctions against the working men to enjoin the railroads from slashing wages in order to precipitate The workers represent a much strikes. greater majority than do the railroad executives. Why don't you insist that the courts favor the majority poor instead of the few rich? Why don't you write red-hot editorials demanding laws to investigate and punish the conspirators who are trying to destroy organized labor and bring poverty and suffering to thousands upon thousands of honest hard-working citizens of this country?

If the courts won't listen to reason, then go ahead with your "moulding" and get the public sentiment aroused, so that they will demand of congress that they enact emergency laws to enable the Government to seize these industries that persist in agitating and antagonizing labor in order to force workers out on strike, and hold these industries until the wolves promise to behave?

Don't be broadcasting propaganda favoring anti-strike legislation. You ought to know that kind of stuff won't prevent men from quitting work and won't prevent strikes. If you want legislation to prevent strikes why don't you work for laws to compel big business to treat fairly with working men? If you want to do the public a service—the public you pretend to be so all hell-fired interested about—then quit your damnable knocking of the working man and join them in their fight for human justice. If you and your brother editors will do that then we may be able to check this menace you so sensationally rave about. Then the public will no longer be inconvenienced with such strikes and the whole people will prosper.

Don't be a knocker, Mr. Editor, but summon up a little courage and come out and help Mr. Gompers. He can't settle all these wrongs and thwart these miserable conspiracies on the part of the idle rich alone. He needs your help and my help and the aid and sympathy from the public. Do your duty as an American should do it, who has the fear of God in his heart and believes in justice and freedom as fundamentally injected into the spirit and purpose of the constitution of our Grand Republic. E. B. H.

I was talking to a banker the other day concerning the strike of the railroad shopmen. This banker is the son of a pioneer who preceded him in the management of the bank. He is a reasonable man and a professed friend to the worker and claims to be in hearty sympathy with the cause of organized labor. Yet in discussing the strike situation and Harding's message to congress he feels that there should be some sort of legislation that would prevent the re-occurrence of such a strike.

I asked him what sort of legislation he thought would be the right kind to pass in order to prevent strikes of this nature. He said he believed there should be a law prohibiting strikes in essential industries such as transportation, the production of coal and other public necessities. In other words, he is in favor of a national law similar in effect to the industrial court law of Kansas.

Here is a man who is and has always been a hard worker himself. He professes sympathy with the worker and for union organizations. Yet he does not understand. He is honest enough, but he has never existed in an environment where it was possible for him to fully qualify in the understanding of the workers' problems and struggles.

Why pass laws to prevent strikes? Why not have laws forbidding corporations the right to slash wages? Why not pass laws making it a felony for corporations to conspire to destroy the unions? Workers do not want to strike. The modern day union organization seldom goes on strike for the sake of increased pay.

When the shop workers went on strike it wasn't so much in protest against the cut in wages as it was a protest against a move which they justly felt was taken as a step toward disrupting their organization.

This banker pointed out that the loss to the men on strike is greater than the cut in wages would have been for some time to come. While this is probably true, aren't those striking shop workers to be commended for their sacrifices in defense of principle as they see it? They are suffering the loss of wages through these long months, not in protest against a slight reduction in wages, but in protest against an obvious attempt on the part of the railroads and big business in general to destroy unionism and adopt the open shop. 400,000 shop workers are sacrificing for all other union workers and non-union workers as well.

If the sacrifice of hundreds of thousands of lives on the battlefields of Europe in protest against the domination of political autocracy was justifiable, why should bankers weep and wail over a financial loss by 400,000 workers in their fight against industrial autocracy?

It is very evident that the railroads have not been slashing or trying to slash wages because it was necessary for them to do so in behalf of profitable operation. On the contrary, it is very evident to all who are awake that their object is to antagonize the workers, in order to precipitate a showdown in their determination to break up the unions. Or else why are the roads so willing to double and triple their payrolls in the employment of double the normal force of shopmen at various points and in the employment of thousands of guards (thugs) at a cost of $5.00 to $6.50 per day apiece in order to defeat the strikers?

For instance, I acquired from a local railroader employed in the superintendent's office an estimate on the increase of the shop payroll, which exceeds by 75 per cent the cost before the strike. This does not include the pay to guards employed by the road. And at the same time the equipment is in a terrible state of deterioration. If this is the situation locally, it is undoubtedly the same generally.

Contrary to the contentions of the majority of the press, which seems to have its editorial columns dictated by big corporate interests, the shop workers are not radical reds. They are good Americans who believe in the fundamental principles upon which our republic was founded. They know that it requires much sacrifice to fight for those principles and as it befell their lot to make the initial stand—(not trying to omit the coal miners, but this particular analysis deals with the shopmen)—they have gone forth manfully in defense of justice.

The shopmen believe, as do thousands of working men in this country today, that for three years there has existed a conspiracy by certain elements in big business to destroy unionism and create a peasantry in this country and that these wage slashes are only a snare and a blind attempt to conceal the real purpose of the many challenges flung in the face of the Union workers. And while the various commercial organizations and the press of the nation, being blind, are unwittingly championing the efforts of these evil and unholy conspirators, the real union men, thank God, see the light and are ready with their backs to the wall to fight to the last ditch the encroachments of this monster that seeks to destroy and enslave.

E. B. Hiner.

Workers' Salvation: The Ballet

Now is the time when marking time seems to be the order of the day, while the big battle goes on with various factions trying to break up the unions. The sweeping injunctions issued by our federal courts seem to have a boomerang effect in the end and when the last big gun is fired by the "interests" united workingmen will come out stronger than ever.

American Labor is beginning to learn the greatest lesson—that of voting together.

This fall, especially in the southwest, direct issues are up to the people who go to The old spellthe solis in Nevember. binder type of politician and the Bourbons are losing out. Why? Simply because they won't come down to brass tacks. Every good union brother ewes it to himself and the laboring class of people generally to appoint himself a committee of one to join the hecklers' union, so to speak, and boldly come out at speakers' meetings and ask pertinent questions as to how the candidate stands on various questions which affect the general well-being of the masses. Hurrah for the G. O. P. and hurrah for the Jackass doesn't go any more. Our representatives (or servants) must stand squarely upon some method of correcting the evils of today before it gets him anywhere these days.

Lisher hasn't any business meddling in politics, so they say, but let's see whether or not we have this fall. We want a square deal, and that only—and that's what we will get when we vote together.

Gmetings: to Consolidated Operators

I read the two-column correspondence from the Consolidated Press in August Journal with much interest. I was very glad to be able to observe that some industrious C. T. U. A. member in the employ of that news service took pains to regale Journal realiers with a very interesting contribution, and I hope he will continue to send notes to the Journal right along hereafter.

The Consolidated Press correspondent informs us that something has been said about getting a contract with David Lawrence, and believes that Mr. Lawrence would sign a contract if a committee called on him with this end in view. I would be very glad, indeed, to see the Consolidated operators negotiate a good contract with the management. The way to get a contract is to go after it and I hope the Consolidated men will do this very thing.

Cert. 5.

The Postal

isn't it about time the Postal operators were increasing their membership in the C. T. U. A., and laying plans for a schedule? It would be very commendable on the part of the Postal operators to run up their membership in the union and give the organisation that has always promoted their welfare the proper sort of moral and financial support.

All members of the C. T. U. A. should circulate their Journals among the Postal men every month and sadesvor to shed some light upon them. The Journal is our best organizer and tells the truth.

Contract Breeze

During the past year vacuum cleaners and other sweeping utensils have replaced the broom to a surprising extent.

Prison broom contractors have increased and while the convicts enrich these unfair contractors the free worker in the broom industry has worked but half time; as a consequence our members are all in a bad financial condition and consequently our organization has suffered and as an organization we are in bad condition.

If we could stimulate the demand for the label it would be of immense benefit to our members and also increase the numbers in our organization.

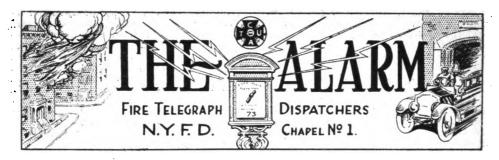

Two thousand dozen brooms are manufactured by convict labor every day. The firms having contracts work their plants every day and as sale has been slow on brooms the prison contractor has cut prices to below what free labor can manufacture for.

If you will aid us by giving this letter space in your Journal I am sure it will be of great assistance to us and assure you that it will be very highly appreciated.

WILL R. BOYER, Sec.-Treas. International Broom and Whish Makers' Union.

By keeping up to date you automatically increase your Funeral Benefit. Protect the loved ones.

DISPATCHERS IN HARD FIGHT FOR "PREVAILING WAGE RATE"

With the opinion of the Corporation Counsel rendered as "that the Fire Alarm Telegraph Dispatchers come within the provisions of the labor class in regard to payment of not less than the prevailing rate of wages," it would seem that all of our difficulties, trials and tribulations would be at an end, and that justice, long deferred, was at last to be enjoyed by a faithful body of New York City employees. But, alas, such is not the case. As we go to press we find ourselves in a most unexpected and extraordinary position, to say the least.

A representative committee had waited upon the Fire Commissioner and the Chief of the Fire Alarm Telegraph Bureau with data showing the number of payable days the dispatcher is entitled to under the above-mentioned decision and the committee departed in both instances much gratified after receiving the assurance from both these officials that they considered our claim a just one and as the budget for 1923 was being prepared in tentative form the minimum salary to be asked for would be for 365 days per year at $9 per day (the rate covered by the Corporation Counsel's opinion).

Can our astonishment and consternation be imagined when we learned that the preliminary form of the budget from this bureau contained for the dispatchers not 365 days as promised, but only 277 days, the very lowest that could possibly be handed any employee of this great city, no matter how menial his position might be?

At this writing we cannot say what caused this drop to zero but, fighting as we are, with truth on our side and in an acknowledged just cause we feel the error will be properly rectified. We need only to be of a slight legal turn of mind to readily perceive that "not less than the prevailing rate of wages" carries with it the prevailing rate for night work, Sunday work and holiday work; the off-hand idea that these hours of duty are "part of the job" to the contrary notwithstanding.

Our Commissioner, not so long ago, said we should go out and fight for what we are entitled to. Our answer was: "We are fighting." "But," he said, "you are not fighting hard enough." Our answer now is: "Watch us follow your good advice, Mr. Commissioner. We haven't changed, neither has our position except for increased responsibilities with a gigantic new central office in Manhattan and other new ones to follow in the other boroughs. Working under handicaps we are holding our end up to the credit of the entire Fire Department, just as we have done in the past. In Manhattan we have sacrificed the entire summer without vacations but are still dealing out the same class of efficiency, nevertheless, and—we expect you are with us."

We are not disheartened by this little stumble—in fact, we are already on our feet again and moving forward. Our October issue should have some agreeable reading.

While we are on the subject of "payable days" let us slightly elaborate. It seems so simple on the very face of it that one would not think it would be beset with so much difficulty in clarifying the—must we say?—contention of the dispatchers in a claim so obviously just.

To begin with, the linemen and cablesplicers in this department are allowed, on the recommendation of the Fire Commissioner, 300 days. This was brought about after investigation showed that the ACTUAL time put in by the men in these titles was 276 ½ days, and in consideration of occasional night duty and on "call" duty SOME Sundays and holidays during the year, an extra allowance of 23 ½ days was made to cover this "overtime," bringing the total "payable days" up to 300 per annum and they are paid an annual salary on this basis. Again, the electricians in this department, upon the recommendation of the Commissioner, are allowed 313 days per annum.

With these two instances standing out so clearly, isn't it the most natural question in the world for the dispatchers to ask: "Why only 277 days per annum for the dispatchers?"

The dispatcher, as we have pointed out before, averages 38 Sundays and 8 holidays a year "on duty." With an acceptable time allowance for Sundays, Saturday afternoons and holidays added to this 277-day figure mentioned for the dispatchers, we have a total of 344 days. This total is arrived at with absolutely no consideration of the night work involved, which at the minimum is  $6.6 \frac{2}{3}\%$  of the entire year.

With the night duty given its entitled consideration the "payable days" a dispatcher gives to the city of New York appears ridiculous to some folks simply because the figure exceeds the number of days in the calendar year. Nevertheless, this is true. We are giving the best that is in us the entire year around MORE than 365 days in "payable days," yet the tentative allowance (we say tentative most advisedly) is placed at 277 days, even after we had every reason to believe that 365 days were to be asked for, and a subsequent assurance from the Chief of the Bureau that his minimum figure recommended was 341 days.

The multiplier of 9 must be such as to bring the absurdly low compensation of the New York Fire Telegraph Dispatchers, neglected for years, to a figure equal, at least, to the salaries paid by the city of Chicago to our brother dispatchers of the Chicago Fire Alarm Telegraph.

COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS ORGANICA

WITH THE successful ending of the miners, textile and shopmen's strike, 2 two year's drive on Union labor by the "open shoppers" has come to a dead stop. It is no secret that all labor organizations lost some members owing to the concerted drives of manufacturers associations, reactionary courts and newspapers. The tide has now turned. To put the C. T. U. A. back into its old stride, it has been decided to set aside an ORGANIZING WEEK beginning the 23rd and ending the 23r ing the 29th of October, to be called THE COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS UNION ORGANIZING WEEK.

DURING that week all members and all divisions are asked to give organizing service under the direction of organizing committees. Every member is expected to visit whatever non-union or delinquent operators he may know or whatever non-union or delinquent workers he is asked to call on by the organizing committee during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

IF NOT called on to visit any non-union or delinquent operators in particular. members should be required to visit the non-union offices before starting time in the morning and immediately after working hours in the evening for the purpose of interviewing the non-union or delinquent operators as they go to work and as they leave the offices during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

MEMBERS will not alone serve one day but every day during that week and it shall be their duty to bring into affiliation every non-union or delinquent worker that they possibly can. As detailed later, plain duty to the organization may be made financially remunerative during this ORGANIZING WEEK

SUBORDINATE UNITS will immediately select local organizing committees and these committees will set to work at once getting all the names and addresses of all the non-union and delinquent operators working in their respective jurisdictions and prepare for this great ORGANIZING WEEK.

ORGANIZING COMMITTEES will also prepare proper and adequate organizing literature, assign the local members to their respective duties, furnic them with application blanks and leave nothing undone to assure the active service of every member in this ORGANIZING WEEK.

MEMBERS and organizing committees will accept the application of all nonunion operators, no matter what their past record has been. Applications be passed on the transfer of the passed on the passed o will be passed on in the regular way after the close of the ORGANIZING WEEK.

ALL APPLICATIONS for membership received must be retained in confidence by the members and organizing committees; every applicant must be assured and secured against his employer knowing anything about his affiliation with our organization because of this ORGANIZING WEEK.

> COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS ORCE 3

ERVICE

VEEK-OCTOBER 23RD TO 28TH, 1922

NON-UNION operators making application should be directed to DENY MEMBERSHIP IN OUR ORGANIZATION if asked about it by their employers so as to secure success to our concerted drive during the ORGANIZING WEEK.

THIS IS NOT an effort to precipitate a strike in the non-union or so-called "open shops"; to the contrary, it is nothing more than a concerted action to secure the affiliation of every non-union Western Union, Postal, press, broker and wireless operator during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

TO HELP BUILD UP divisional treasuries and to stimulate individual efforts in this organizing drive, ONE DOLLAR will be paid from international funds for every new member or delinquent brought into the organization during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

IN ADDITION three cash prizes will be given to the three members securing the largest number of new members and delinquents during the ORGANIZING WEEK.

THESE PRIZES will be as follows:

FIRST PRIZE: Fifty Dollars ($50.00). SECOND PRIZE: Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00). THIRD PRIZE: Ten Dollars ($10.00).

DRESS, Wireless, Broker, Pipe Line, and Commercial ingmbers in isolated localities should secure at least one renewal or new member during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

ALL SUBORDINATE UNITS are requested to send circular letters to all local and district bodies throughout our International jurisdiction urging all our members to arouse interest and enthusiasm in this undertaking and to put "pep" into this ORGANIZING WEEK.

WAKE UP, Fellow Members, give one week's service to your cause and our organization. See to it that your fellow operator gets on the job and that all members will be enlisted in this great service during the time beginning October 23rd, and ending October 29th, set aside the COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS UNION ORGANIZING WEEK.

KEY

Conducted by Eastern Broker Division, Room 504, Number 44 Broad St., New York City

Meeting Days: Second and Fourth Saturdays each Month, except during June. July and August—last Saturday of Month, 2:30 P. M.

FOURTH ANNUAL BALL SET FOR NOV. 3RD

On Friday evening, November 3, 1922, the Eastern Broker Division will hold their Annual Entertainment and Dance in the Grand Ball Room of the Pennsylvania Hotel, Seventh Avenue at Thirty-third Street. in the City of New York.

President Dunn has appointed the following Committee of Arrangements: F. W. Towne, Chairman; J. A. Hickey, Secretary; Harry W. Culver, Lem Lewis and Budd Rupple.

This will be our fourth consecutive Entertainment and Dance, and it is the desire of the Committee to make this the greatest of our annual affairs, and this can be done only with the hearty co-operation of the entire membership. The Committee will aim to have many pleasant surprises for all who attend, and no effort will be spared to make this the banner affair of our career, and it behooves every member of the Eastern Broker Division to put his shoulder to the wheel and give every assistance possible to make this affair one grand success.

The date has been moved forward this year, as it was deemed best to hold the affair early for several reasons. In the first place it was argued the Annual Entertainment and Dance, which has proved such a big success in the past, should be held during the life of the administration as a grand finale of their achievements during the year, and not be held over for the incoming administration, which would be the case if held after January 1st. as in previous years. Chief among other reasons for the advancement of the date is the fact there are so many requests coming in for an earlier date, and as our members and their friends look forward to this affair with such eagerness each year, it was decided to try the earlier date, with a view to being among the very first in the field of sociability and good times.

Your Committee hope to be able to give you a complete outline of arrangements in the next issue of the Jarnal, and assure you nothing will be left undone to make this affair the greatest success possible, and appeal to each and every member to give every possible assistance and encouragement.

Fraternally yours,

F. W. TOWNE, Chairman.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS OF ALL E. B. D. DISTRICTS

While this office will use every effort toward securing positions for all unemployed members of all Districts of this Division, it is necessary that an orderly method of procedure be followed in doing so.

For the information of those concerned, this office from time to time receives advance information pertaining to the installation of new wires and increasing of wire facilities in the different offices. This information is forwarded to the Chairmen or Secretary-Treasurers of the Districts wherein anticipated vacancy is to occur. Therefore all members are advised that this routine will be continued and unemployed members should report to their local representatives direct rather than to this office by mail.

The reason for this rule is obvious, and is intended for the protection of all our members as well as a protection to the firms who hire our men.

The local Chairman or Secretary-Treasurer knows the standing of each of the members of their District as well as their ability and experience and the "square deal" can be given to members and employers alike only by following this course of filling vacant positions.

Should a member lose his employment he should report either in person or by mail to his local Chairman or Secretary-Treasurer so that his name can be placed on the Waiting List of his District.

It would also be well for members changing from one position to another to so advise their local Secretary. It takes but a moment of time to write a note or postal card giving this information and will be of great help to the officers and organizers.

NEW YORK DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS NOTES

The sympathies of these Headquarters are extended to Brother John J. Sipper in the loss of his father.

Brothers Bob Russell of the Baltimore District and Tom Murphy of the New England Broker Division were visitors to these Headquarters. We are always glad to see the boys from other Divisions.

Business continues good. The boys are all kept busy on vacation scoops. With the coming of the expected upward swing of the market we expect our waiting list will be thinned down to almost nothing. It stands to reason that if the number of daily shares dealt in are increased from 500,000 to 1,000,000 the telegraph forces will have to be increased proportionately. Wires that are now being doubled up on will have to be duplexed, and many circuits top-heavy with a 500,000 share load will have to be split to take care of a 1,000,000 share load.

Commenting on the proposed marriage of Mathilde McCormick, one of our wags in the Headquarters meeting rooms was heard to remark. "She ought to marry a broker operator instead of an "OS'er."

broker operator instead of an "OS'er."

Alfred Goldschmidt, of Maples and Goldschmidt, one of the oldest and most reliable firms adjacent to New York, only needed one invitation extended, and he immediately became one of us. Fine, Al, we are glad to welcome you. Hope you and your firm own Roten Point next summer, for there is serious thought of holding our annual outing there next summer.

Setting the date for our annual Vaudeville and Dance has heretofore been held in absyance until after the election of officers at the December meeting each year, with the result that we were compelled to choose from whatever dates in March were open on the books, as all other dates had been taken. There has been some objection on the part of a number of our members to the holding of the affair as late as March.

The preferable month for holding such affairs is November. Consequently, we have secured November 3rd, 1922, as the date for our next Entertainment Vaudeville and Dance to be held in the Grand Ball Room of the Hotel Pennsylvania, with the idea of holding it each year hereafter in the month of November, so that everybody will be satisfied.

MOYSE & HOLMES NOTES

Moyee & Holmes, who recently started a wire service, are getting under way and expect to expand their service in the near future.

J. E. Hall, formerly of Logan & Bryan, is handling the Hibbs wire; Pete Mercer holds down Pittsburgh, and Matty Conaughton takes care of Bright, Sears wire.

Mr. G. W. Spaid, who for many years was connected with S. B. Chapin & Co., is Manager of the Wire Room. Tommy Mechan, formerly of the N. Y. Curb is assisting Edgar Rabell in the Order Room. Miss Minogue, our telephone operator, stands second to none when it comes to handling a busy switchboard.

We expect to use considerably more space very shortly.

PYNCHON & CO. NOTES

After a six months' slumber, we are here once more to chronicle the doings at "RD." Although we have been lax in our Journal notes, we nevertheless can boast of 100 per cent membership.

Gus Morris, our genial skipper, feels very proud over our new "Sonora" telltale, and our enlarged wire room.

The batteries on the Chicago-duplex are Ben Rosen and another good son of Erin.

Jim Kennedy, better known as "James Alvis" down south, is making things hum on our Loretto lease. "Jim" spent his vacation fishing and crabbing.

Miss May Reilly just returned from her vacation looking as fit as a fiddle.

Miss Anna Reilly covers our Boston wire in masterful fashion.

Bert Howatt is doing the vacation stunt with the skill of an old timer.

Nat Rosen is still plugging away on the Washington-Phila, string.

Ben Rosen joined the benedicts and by the time this goes to press he will be spending his honeymoon at White Lake.

Johnnie Stewart is our star office boy, and our prediction is that he will some day be a member of the firm.

Hughie Hickey, brother of our worthy General Secretary, is spending his vacation in the Bronx.

The following is our clerical staff: Joe Neubauer, Arthur Kraft, Geo. Oxey, Joe Donohue, Eddie Salisbury, Henry Wolf and Roy Wilson.

Watch for this column every month.

H. M. BYLLESBY & CO.

Lance Howard, Chief of Trading Room, was presented by his wife with an 8½ pound son, August 14, 1922.

Joe Kimball spent his vacation at the Rockaways, and returned looking great. Charlie Kaiser spent ten days in Sullivan County with his frau on vacation.

Jim Kenney splashed the waters at Rockaway for two weeks.

Jack McGloskey visited Chicago, Detroit, Bullaio, Rochester, Albany and Saratoga races. SOME trip!

Manager C. C. Levis spent his vacation in the Westchester hills practicing lawn tenns. He soon will be fit to tackie Lance Howard once again, or "Daddy Long Legs" Frank Becker.

Early in August the Traders beat The Cage at baseball, 25 to 21, and will play a return game September 23. Yes, McCloskey will play again. He did as well as the youngest in the first game.

Frank Newman scooped Kimball's vacation, and Jack O'Conneil, scooped in McCloskey's absence.

Certif. 3706, E. B. D.

PITTSBURGH NOTES

The August regular meeting, Bro. Patterson outcating, developed a goodly attendance despite the extreme heat.

Bro. Secretary McCuicheon, brought up the subject of contributing to the Miners' cause, calling attention to the time when they came to our assistance. The O. R. T. boys each donated one day's pay. One good turn deserves another.

Bro. Davis of phone appliance fame has been covering the golf links for the Associated Press with a seat in the Country Ciub.

Bro. McDonald of Culver & Company relieved by Bro. Aubrey.

bro. McKenna is back at his old racket (measuring oil tanks). We know "Mc" won't let the pipes blow up.

Bro. Roberts ands the Foreign Exchange business so good, that he's not going to take a vacation this summer.

Letter received sometime ago from Bro. Schoenfelder, of Blair & Co., Rochester, N. Y., promising to visit Pittsburgh during the month of August. The boys are expecting you, Harry.

Anyone hearing of new positions, please keep in mind your obligations. Our Brothers should always be given first consideration.

What Mr. Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, had to say replying to President Harding's message to congress was the REAL PUNCH.

With the coming election, keep those in mind who have been friendly to us: "A mule never died in a lady's arms."

Bros. McCutcheon and Daugherty are still suffering ill health. "Doc" says he's feeling worse, while "Mac" is more optimistic, saying he'll be airight in another six months.

Can't immagine what we would do without these two loyal men in our midst. They have urged us time and again to attend these meetings, but it would seem that we attend only when we have no other place to go. Our O. R. T. Brothers attend their meetings despite the distance they have to travel to get here.

The vacation season is about over. Tom Mcuann and Bro. Young performed the honors at Masten & Co.

Over across the street at Winkleman Bros., Frank McKenna and Harry Armstrong reneved Messrs. Miller, who just arrived from New York a snort time ago, and Bros. Woodhall and Robertson.

Bro. H. A. Davis relieved the boys at Jones & Baker, Messrs. Hinman, Willson and our former Secretary-Treasurer, Bruce Owens.

Bro. McKenna also relieved Bro. Haw at McKenna Bros. and over at Obey Nuttall & Co., we find that 100 per cent bunch, Messrs. Pete Wilbert, Charley Faulkner and Johnny Matthews.

At Culver & Co., up the street we find the Dugan boys, Frank and Jimmy, and at the neim of the nome omce Bro. Tom Barrett, than whom there is none better. At their McKeesport omce Bro. Tom S. Barrett is manager and Bro. Vilacky is the operator. Bro. Chas. Hagan is filling vacations at the main office.

Bro. H. W. Reitz, who has been with H. L. Horton at Atlantic City, will be with us shortly.

Things are not quite so bad as when we had 32 men out of work during the blowups in the spring, but now it is aimost impossible to get a broker man for emergency work.

Everybody your correspondent has speken to likes the new insurance plan which should make for new memoers and keep the boys in mind that dues are payable on or before January 1st and June 30th, and they thereby save their stake and the secretary's labor and the unit's money.

OBITUARY

Geo. M. Eitemiller, 77 years old, one of the oldest and best known telegraphers in the United States, having been a telegrapher under "Andy" Carnegie during the civil war, died at his old home town of McConnellsburg, Pa., and was buried in Detroit last week. He was one of the fastest senders that ever opened a key, and up to the time of his death, was able to keep the average pen man busy. He was for many years chief operator for the W. U. T. Co. at Pittsburgh and later had worked in Toledo, Detroit. The last took he had was with the W. U. at Kansas City.

By PRESIDENT R. H. McDANIEL

Enthusiasm and new life seems to be finding its way back into W. B. D. circles. This is what helps the officers in their work, merely carrying a card is not enough. Confidence and co-operation spell success for any organization. I appeal to every non-member and delinquent to help me to the extent of extending their moral and financial support at a time when you need the organization and the organization meeds you. I appeal to you again to call on me at headquarters and air your grievances. There are but few wrongs that cannot be corrected, and I am sure that if we can have a heart-to-heart talk on the future of this division, we can very easily adjust any dissatisfaction that might exist in your minds.

Personal animosity never served to the best interest in the furthering of any cause; personalities should never be discussed in promoting any successful move. I ask of you to support your craft and organization and when you need support you will always find reciprocation.

HEADQUARTERS NOTES

An open meeting will be held at W. B. Headquarters, Saturday, September, 30th, starting promptly at 2:30 P. M. All broker telegraphers are cordially invited to attend. Come and bring someone with you.

Bro. G. I. Knapp of the Southwest Broker Division, was a recent visitor. Many old timers remembered him, although he has been away from the Windy City for a number of years.

Former President Alcorn spent the weekend with us. From all appearances Fort Wayne is not such a bad place after all.

Harry Albaugh spent his vacation-let's see, "that's good," fold up.

The old reliable, Brother Jack McCloskey of the E. B. D., spent his vacation among his many friends in Chicago. The writer spent many hours with him while here and many interesting conversations took We all hated to see you go back, We need someone like you with Jack. us ail the time.

After several months of sojourning through the south and southwest, Brother A. McPherson dropped in on us a few days ago. A truer union man never sojourned.

Brother C. H. Sprake called on us recently with an exclusive new line of fall goods. Anyone wishing to help a regular fellow along, call Irving 4604.

Lamson Bros., who have taken over the firm of E. F. Leiand & Co., moved to their new offices in the O. C. L. Building a short time ago. They have quite an elaborate wire room and we are pleased to note no reductions have taken place.

Brother F. A. Davis, after being confined home for ten days, is back on the job, but not feeling any too good. care of yourself, Frank.

Brother Frank Darby called on the writer a few days ago. Glad to see you, Frank, only a litle more often.

Brother Jack Murray is always on the job to lend a helping hand. He spent several afternoons at headquarters recently doing odd jobs. Many thanks, Jack.

LOWITZ CHAPEL NOTES

Vacations are all over and the boys haven't anything to worry over now, but the "Christmas bonus."

Brother Gibson, who was let out about a month ago, has landed with Thomson & McKinnon at Nashville. Pretty soft to land a job in the South just as it starts to get chilly, Gib. More power to you.

The boys are kicking in with their dues in pretty good shape, but not fast enough to keep up the old time pep. Come on, get up to date and bring in a new member.

Don't forget the big open meeting. Let's make it a big one, with lots of the fellows present that need the organization.

Brother Jimmy Browner has a string of eight or nine offices now, but he still has time to fight with the check kid.

Brother Bert Thornton brought his golf clubs down to the office last Saturday, trying to "hi-tone" us common fellows, I guess, but Bert is some shooter, we understand, and expects to join the "Hole-inone" club soon.

Let's hear from some of the other chapels and let our new President know we are still on the job.

MILWAUKEE SUBDIVISION No. 2

Regardless of threatening skies, following an all-night downpour, the Milwaukee Subdivision annual outing terminated in a success that surprised even the most optimistic of our members. There is no doubt, however, but that the presence of our International President Roscoe H. Johnson, International Secretary-Treasurer Frank B. Powers, with their families, and President R. H. MacDaniel, of the W. B. D., was the magnet that drew the Milwaukee members and their friends to Lincoln Park despite the chances of a wetting. Luckily there was no rain fell during the day and by early afternoon a large number was on hand, to pay their respects to our distinguished guests. One of the prominent local visitors, who will be readily recognized by all the old timers was Wm. J. Cary, a charter member of Local No. 1, C. T. U. A., who spent a pleasant hour with many old friends and made some new ones.

In a beautiful grove of large trees on the bank of the Milwaukee River, the committee had a big bucket of hot coffee for all comers, and the ladies provided the viands. In true "campers" style each one present was served.

While the visiting officers and local members conversed on matters of moment to them, the younger element engaged in games. Although the stay of our visiting officers was necessarily short, and the weather most unfavorable for an out-ofdoor affair, they seemed to feel the wholesouled welcome extended to them and their families, and it is no great hazard to predict that we will have little difficulty in having them with us at our annual winter function.

Shortly after the Chicago visiters departed for home, the spirit of neptune siezed upon a number of our fair guests and presently in the tepid waters of the river were enveloped the beautiful forms of Lillian G. Sullivan, Miss Eastman and Mrs. W. J. Delaney, escorted, or guarded, as you wish, by John T. Murphy. After repeated invitations to Local Chairman McMahon to join the bathers, interspersed with considerable bantering, he finally consented, but only after a bathing suit was provided that had a big green band on it. and the old-timer showed he was still "in the swim.'

About an hour before setting the sun burst through the gray blanket of clouds, shedding his warmth and light, as if in benediction on the faithful who had braved the earlier inclemency, and it seemed emblematic of the ultimate success that must attend every honest effort to advance our cause.

The committee in charge of the affair was A. J. Callen, E. F. Driscoll and John F. Konzal for the Broker Division and John S. McGowan for the Press Division.

The many friends of former President Frank A. Davis were disappointed that he was not with us, but most unfortunately his mail went astray and he did not prepare to come, as was also the case with Vice-President O. L. Newcomer, both of whom may safely count on a warm reception from the Milwaukee members, when they come here.

Anyone wishing to hear the radio concerts can call around and Eddle Cohen will make arrangements to take his complete set to your house. Special rates to telegraphers.

Our Winnipeg district, under the able guidance of Bros. Hogle and Mayfield, is coming along nicely. Let's have a few notes from the west, Dip.

The warm weather is over, so there is no excuse for not attending the meetings. Remember the date, and show up every month. Take an active part in the pusiness of your district and make your organization a success.

LOCAL NOTES

CANADIAN PACIFIC DIVISION MONTREAL, NOTES

Notes from this district have been rather scarce lately. Some have blamed the correspondent. Is he really to blame? If all the kickers would only be willing to give a helping hand to the scribbler with some notes now and then, he would be in a position to fill up the Journal every time. Come on, boys, get your pencil sharpened for next month.

Summer, if you call it summer, has been so short that we hardly saw it arriving than it is gone. In fact, it has been so cool that one would think it was autumn, but most of the staff took their vacations just to fool old man Weather.

vacations just to fool old man Weather. The following sisters from the Ptr. Stff. are enjoying a few days more of quietness away from the "headache" machines: Sister Pink, away to Calgary; Sister Levitt to Detroit, and Sister Fink to Old Nyk. Have a good time, Sisters, and learn the latest steps, for when you come back it will be time to organize some kind of a party where we can all have a night off dancing. Those in favor say "I." The "I's" have it and so ordered. Are you on, girls? The place to decide is at next meeting, so all be there.

The following from the Morse are also enjoying their holidays away from the dot and dash room: Bros. J. A. Bilodeau, Percy Allen, Val. Sioui, W. J. Morrissette, W. J. Martin and M. J. Turcotte. They say Val. is a real "papa" now, passing his time rocking baby to sleep.

As to Bro. Turcotte, rumors say he is watching his "also-rans." Hard times, eh? As to others, all I can say is "whereabouts unknown." They might be "somewhere in France," for all we know.

I understand the Stork has been visiting in Montreal and made special calls at Brothers Stevenson's and Sioui's. Best wishes to the newcomers.

It is rumored that Cupid has been watching the office for quite a while and has done some havoc, especially in the Ptr. staff, with the following result: The engagement of Sister Mollie Gordon is announced, Sister Sorkin is now Mrs. Freedman, Sister Rarity is now the wife of our genial Ptr. Chief, Mr. Clark. The Printer girls surprised Sister Rarity last Friday at her new home and gave her a small aluminum shower. The whole staff joins in wishing you Sisters the best that the world can give in joy, happiness and prosperity.

The Old Reaper has also been visiting

"RA" office a great deal more than we ever care to see him, and he brought sorrow to four families of members of our staff during August. First, Sister O'Donnell lost her dear mother, then Bro. H. B. Smith his father, then followed Bro. A. Desilets, who after losing his mother in July, had his father taken away a month after, and last, Bro. Percy Allen, whose mother died on the last day of August. Although sympathy was manifested by the staff in the form of wreaths, we want our bereaved Brothers and Sister to know that from the bottom of our hearts we extend our sincere sympathy and with them we weep the loss of their dear parents. "Batiste."

Montreal Notes

At a special meeting the question of the Montreal local participating in the newly formed District Council was discussed. This local has already approved of being a unit of the Council, which comprises all Commercial Telegraphers in Montreal. It was agreed to meet the expenses of this move by collecting fifty cents per annum from each member. This would amount to less than five cents per month. The above measure is to be submitted to vote of the membership for their approval. No member who wishes to adhere to the sound principles of unionism, should allow this opportunity to pass without voicing approval of a scheme, which has for its object the unifying of all telegraph workers in Canada at this stage of development in the telegraph field. Critical questions arising necessitates the concentration of all the forces in our international organiza-tion. One of foremost importance is the protection of morkum and multiplex operators and other employees operating automatic devices and telephones.

This system of transmission is admitted to be rendering accurate and efficient service with increased profits for the company and has supplanted the Morse in a great measure. There is no logical reason why automatic operators therefore should not receive an equal salary with Morse operators. It is such matters as this which will engage the attention of the District Council. Do not allow a mere trifle of five cents per month prevent you from voting an assent to our new movement.

Sister Roche looks as radiant as ever after her motor tour in the Chambly District, where she spent her vacation,

Onterio-Quebec District

Bro. Landry has returned to Le Patrie after a lay-off of three months caused by ill health.

Bro. "Nick" Carter of Halifax arrived in town the past week, having been let out at the Bureau there on account of the Sydney paper giving up the wire service. Understand "Nick" wishes he had taken that wireless job at Louisburg. He's on his way to Windsor if that job ever opens up there that he has bid in.

Vacations are nearly over in this District and everybody apparently had a good time, although some reports are that it's hard getting into harness again.

Brother Germaine of Three Rivers was laid up with smallpox for quite a long period. They say the city quarantined him and now are looking for about $600 in cold cash to pay for the hardship. Germaine is taking the matter to the courts for settlement. Better get under the Lacombe law, kiddo.

Bro. McFadden of the local brokers has been subbing all summer at the Bureau, Montreal, but it looks like a hard winter, Mick.

They say that Bro. Murray sure is putting them over the plate out of Toronto.

Bro. Sears of New York was off a month sick. He must be all right now, as his sending arm is "running wild" again.

Cert. 241.

CONSOLIDATED PRESS ASSOCIATION

Washington-South "Sunshine Circuit"

The boys on the "Sunshine Circuit" are about to get back to normaley once more after all have had their vacations visiting the various "resorts" and other places of amusement. All report a grand and glorious time and from indications most of them spent more than time, as they are anxious to get back to work and see the old check rolling in again. "Gram" at Birmingham is even working on Friday night to replenish his slightly flattened bank roll, which was stepped on by an elephant down in the jungles of Miami, Florida.

At the last writing it was not on the cards that our distinguished Division Traffic Chief and Sidekicker, Charles T. Gheen, and "Irish" E. F. McCarthy, who says he is Dutch, were to get a vacation, but they just could not be slighted and were given a couple of weeks to build up their "ambish," which we fail to see has depleted any. Charlie made a trip to Atlantic City and discovered a new way to get a jag on without the "hooch." He took a trip on a sail boat, or maybe it was hooch that made him think he was in a sail boat (?).

It is quite a mystery where "Mc" spent his vacation, as he slipped back to work before we knew it and has not said much about his trip. However, it is rumored he hung around Georgetown like Grant hung around Richmond, and we take it for granted that he also got his share of the sail boats! Gheen and McCarthy were relieved by L. M. Dunnam, who halls from the A. P.

"Granny" Gravely has returned to Richmond after taking a trip through the country in his Durant—yes, Durant! Granny traded poor old Lizzie off for a Durant.

Roy Myers returned to Charlotte after relieving Hanna at Atlanta. "Preacher" Myers is now catching up with the two weeks' sleep he lost in Atlanta. Roy has resigned to take one of the A. P. sending jobs on the state circuit at Charlotte, it is said. Myers will probably be relieved by T. O. Hawkins, known the world over as "Rabbit," who hails from "TS" Southern Railway relay office in Charlotte.

As was said, the Consolidated Press Association is growing by leaps and bounds. We take great pleasure in introducing to you two new ones on the "Sunshine Circuit." The "Sunshine Special" is now making two more regular stops on the division. Beginning September 4th Lynchburg, Va., was added on the schedule with L. M. Dunnam from Washington doing the receiving, and Roanoke, Va., with C. W. Kendrick of Postal and I. N. S. fame from that city holding the "mill" down. We welcome you boys into our midst; you, too, "Rabbit."

It is not thought the circuit will stop with these new additions, but it is expected more will be added within the near future.

A few of the boys have not lined themselves up as yet but it is hoped they will shortly. How about it, fellows? Do you wish to be dictated to as the Western Union dictates to their slaves and be forced to join the "A. W. E." or "Rat Club"?

Have you heard any of the officials threatening to discharge you if you join any particular organization, society or pressing club, as Kaiser Karlton threatens his slaves? Are you satisfied with conditions as they are, and expect to continue being satisfied for an indefinite period? If so, speak up.

"Financial."

By keeping up to date you automatically increase your Funeral Benefit. Protect the loved ones.

NEW YORK DISTRICT COUNCIL No. 16

Postal operators making good time. Long hours, hard work, short pay and the old grind.

Same applies to the Western Union, only they have new rules when you "get a short."

"OH, WHEN WILL THE BOYS WAKE UP?"

One of the big supervisors of the Western Union called up headquarters and wanted to know if the Eastern Broker Division would guarantee him a steady job; that he was tired of being hounded and wanted to join the Union. He was given to understand that the E. B. D. is not an employment bureau.

We want UNION men in the organization and not card holders.

All good Union men are working and getting Union wages.

Al Hitzig relieved Joe D. Sayers of the Evening Post for two weeks.

Superintendent McElreath of the I. N. S., has given the members of the District Council plenty of work this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Labonte and "Daisy" spent a happy and glorious time in New Hampshire during their vacation.

I am glad to report that the Fire Dispatchers Chapel Number One are 100 per cent.

The officers of the District Council extend their best wishes to the boys and officers of Chapel No. 1.

"Ike" Schwadron, president of District Council No. 16, spent his vacation motoring through the Berkshires.

"Beckie" is now sojourning at Seagate.

UNITED FINANCIAL SERVICE

New York-Houston "Cyclone Circuit"

This wire has been dubbed the "Cyclone Circuit" by press telegraphers who have "listened in" and who have said it is the nearest thing to a cyclone this side of Oshkosh and Omaha. We call it the "Cyclone Circuit" also because it passes through the cyclone country "way out west" and because when the report is "in" the financial editor's corner looks like a cyclone had hit him with all the fury of a real western "twister."

And, speaking of cyclones, Superintendent W. F. Lynch sure had them in mind when he "skimmed the cream" for the United Financial Circuit, with the exception of the writer, who is the "fly in the cream." And the sender! Cyclonic fury is only a small "blow" compared to the "twisters" pushed out of that "NX" office by Earl "Doc" King. "Doc" also passed the tip out t'other day that if "breaks" were money, he'd have Germany faded to a frazzle on debts. The only break recorded this week thus far (to Friday) was from Chicago, when someone started a crap game under the table and "Ack" Ackerman got his neck tangled up in the wiring trying to get out and grab the start of the report.

Be it known that we claim a new high for 1922 in volume of report handled. On September 1st a total of 407 bonds were sent in the bond list in 23 minutes. And be it also known there wasn't a break on it. Neither has there been for nearly four weeks.

Down at Atlantic City L. C. Romig is our worthy representative.

At Pittsburgh reigns R. J. Young, better known as "Ralluf." "Ralluf" spends half his lunch-time daily trying to tell "Doc" at NX that they did not swear in the Navy. He claims what they did not do OUT of the Navy, however, was eat beans.

At Cleveland Leonard F. Solt holds forth as "Alibi Ike," where he has his troubles trying to please 'em all. The Scripps Ohio Circuit relays the Financial wire from that office, and the Press also gets the "cyclonic deluge."

Over at Indianapolis T. O. Chaney acts as obliging "ketcher" for "mail copy this week."

At Chicago O. R. Ackerman and P. R. Estep alternate.

Up at Minneapolis A. W. Koppes "cops" the .75s and over at Milwaukee Frank Konzal is looking over the ruins of what made Milwaukee famous.

At Kansas City J. N. Blair is being praised for his high class work, and is ably assisted by Frank P. McCloskey, and at St. Louis G. C. O'Donnell is stopping "Ack's" "far-flung" Morse.

Just to give the service a tinge of naval strength, our skipper sent M. J. Ensign over to Houston, where he has his first time to break en-sign.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Ohio River Circuit

With vacations about over and soreness over failure to receive the deserved wage increase this year slowly healing, normalcy is again in sight. It's gonna be a hard winter at $40 a week, say the boys who live where overcoats must be worn regardless of wage scales.

The famous W. G. "Red" White, the blue boy from Huntington, is with us at Canton, Ohio, after making vacations on the line, vice Bro. A. H. Wilhelm, who made vacations on the Ohio State circuit.

Fred Manchester, our "Ole Reliable" at Huntington, W. Va., having become a convert to the doctrine of idleness, headed north. Bro. Kenneth C. Wilde, ex-vacation man, gets the Huntington advertiser assignment.

Bro. "Joe" Antenuci, of Wooster, Ohio, formerly at Athens, Ohio, is the newest acquisition at Martins Ferry, Ohio, our model "exile post,"

And then Bro. J. J. Colbert, our middle-weight champion, has taken up residence at Ironton, Ohio, while Al P. Finch now bears down all his elephantile bulk upon our circuit, McMahon keeping the Ohio State string busy out of Cleveland.

What's all the hollering about the $40 scale for? If the membership took an active interest and part in strengthening their union, understanding it and working for it, there'd be no more "messenger boy scales" signed. As it is, telegraphers. newspapers and associations all lose by The writer maintaining starvation wages. asks the associations to examine the cost of their "labor turn-over"-it certainly must be reaching alarming proportions. The skilled men prefer other employment. Either establish a decent wage or install the "automatics" and get the agony over with.

The writer works an I. N. S. circuit where the daily word count is from 3,000 to 4,000 words per day above the count on the parallel Associated Press circuit—the wage scale the same.

Contributions on our circuit to the shop men's relief fund total $10—K. C. Wilde $5 and A. R. Graham $5. Probably more to report next month.

Increased volume of requests for application blanks reaching this writer from A. P. men. How come? They inform us they don't like the way our committee "knuckled under" at New York this spring—want their own committee for 1923 and gonna show us how to get that $60 minimum we fell down on. All right, boys, we've been in the front line trenches long enough—if the A. P. boys want to do some fighting next spring, they'll have plenty of comrades-at-arms.

A suggestion: Your circuit chairman retires on his poison ivy laurels at the close of this term. Pick out a live wire and give him a big vote on the nominating ballot this fall. And it's also time now to dope out the new division ticket—general chairman and secretary-treasurer. Let's have some electioneering, some eye-blacking, flower throwing and brick heaving and get out a landslide vote this year!

WARNING AGAINST H. HUNT

Members of Peace River Government Division No. 67, are warned against making remittances of dues to H. Hunt of Edmonton, at one time secretary-treasurer of that division. Remit direct to Frank P. Powers, International Secretary-Treasurer, Chicago, until a permanent secretary-treasurer is elected.

Complaints received would indicate that Hunt has been collecting dues from several members. No report or other communication has been received from this man since August, 1921. He has not been a member of this organization for three years,

ORGANIZING WEEK CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

The Call to Service, issued in the September Journal, has met with general acclaim from officers and members throughout the organization.

In response to requests from a number of the larger cities, International President Johnson has planned an itinerary for Organizing Week to take in Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and New York City.

Meetings will be addressed by President Johnson at the following cities:

Chicago, Saturday, October 21st.
Detroit, Monday, October 23rd.
Cleveland, Tuesday, October 24th.
Pittsburgh, Wednesday, October 25th.
Baltimore, Thursday, October 26th.
Philadelphia, Friday, October 27th.
New York, Saturday, October 28th.
Boston, Sunday, October 29th.

The tenor of all correspondence received regarding Organizing Week is that the opportune time has been chosen to sow the seed for a spring harvest. A year of wage reductions in other industries, bitter strikes and brazen attacks on labor by the courts, as well as unceasing agitation for the open shop in the press has found the C. T. U. A. holding its lines firmly.

Every non and delinquent, however, is so much dead weight dragging behind us and we must relieve ourselves of all needless handicaps in our struggles to aid our members.

That the C. T. U. A. intends to be among the leaders in relieving itself of all dead weights and be prepared for real work in 1923 by making Organizing Week a big success is shown in the following comments on "The Call to Service":

President McDaniel of the Western Broker Division, Chicago:

"Congratulations upon timely and well worked out campaign for Organizing Week. We are circularizing W. B. D. field—nons and delinquents. Also supplying twenty-five Special Organizers with names and addresses of prospects and delinquents. If W. B. D. does not break records I miss my guess. Rousing meeting arranged for Saturday, October 21st, which will get us away to a flying start."

J. G. A. Decelles, Montreal, member General Executive Board and Secretary-Treasurer of Eastern District, Canadian Pacific Division:

"Getting out circulars and intend to make Organizing Week a success in Montreal. Wish you the best of success in the campaign."

J. P. Farrell, Toronto, Chairman of Central District, Canadian National Division: "I called a meeting for last Sunday in London and it was one of the most enthusiastic meetings that I have ever attended. I think the time is ripe and I am going to tackle the job vigorously."

W. J. McMahon, member General Executive Board and Chairman Milwaukee

Subdivision, W. B. D.:

"We hold our first meeting next Thursday, October 5th. We count on a good attendance and a successful Organizing Week.'

Charles E. Shea, General Chairman United Press Division, Oshkosh, Wis.:

"I want to see every organized press operator secure at least one member during Organizing Week. The unorganized Associated Press operators have held us back for years, and the organized press operators are to a great extent responsible because too many have not worked hard enough on their fellow townsman."

Charles J. Seefred, General Chairman I. N. S. Division, Indianapolis, Ind.:
"Organizing Week is inaugurated at the right time. If every organized operator will keep in mind that a non or a delinquent is his ENEMY, as well as an enemy of his loved ones, because the general progress is hampered, there will be a grand round-up during Organizing Week."

C. J. McTiernan, Committeeman, United Press Division, Little Falls, N. Y.: "Success is sure to come during Organizing Week. My town is small, but the unorganized fraternity here will be IN when the Organizing Week is over, if I have to drag him in heels first,"
M. B. Norton, Committeeman, Universal Service, Chicago:

"Every Universal Service telegrapher should, and I feel confident will, lend whole-hearted support to the 'Organizing Week' campaign. Many of our boys are located at isolated points with but perhaps one A. P., Consolidated Press, W. U., Postal or Broker operator in the same town. These individual nons at such points are as necessary to our organization as individual nons in Chicago or New York. And we are going to get them."

T. W. Ingoldsby, Committeeman, United Press Division, Omaha: "The Organizing Week plan is fine and Omaha will be in the running."

Franc A. Davis, Past President, Western Broker Division, Chicago: "You have picked the opportune time to launch a campaign which is bound to be successful. Good times are here for all workers. It is highly pleasing to note that my first love, the W. B. D., is getting back into its stride. 'Organizing Week' will do much to this end." R. C. Patterson, President, Pittsburgh District Council:

"Our District Committee met last night and mapped out our program for Organizing Week. We are handing out a few names of delinquents and nons to each organizer and they will be followed up closely. I believe the delinquents and nons will be glad of the opportunity to enroll during Organizing Week. member out of work expects to make a good salary by spending his entire time organizing.

Aubrey Lyon, Pasadena, Calif.:
"Organizing Week strikes me as the right time for all Southern California broker operators to begin working for a charter. What say? All that is needed is hard work during this one week and then united petition for a charter."

R. E. Allen, General Chairman, Universal Service Division, Buffalo, N. Y.:

"The old guard of Buffalo are getting together this week for the purpose of drawing up plans to be carried out during Organizing Week. We are out to put Buffalo back in the high position occupied in 1907. Send supply of application blanks."

G. W. C., Purnell, Universal Service, San Antonio, Texas:

"The drive for more members, commencing October 23 and running to October 29, is a capital idea. We hope the drive will bring in a large number of new members. As a matter of fact, we ought to make every week in the year an "organclose to the 100 percent mark. Every member should give his Journal away to a non every month. The Journal is a very efficient and effective organizer.

L. Ruberg, President of Philadelphia district, Eastern Broker Division:

"Will do all I can to make the organization week a success. Arranging a meeting for Friday night, Oct. 27th."

Chas. B. Carnall, Temporary President, Ohio Broker Division: "Secretary-Treasurer Solt and myself have been working on organizing week plans for the past week. Preliminary letter to every name we can possibly scrape together gone out. We would like to have you 'at home' at the Hotel Olmsted from 3 to 5 P. M. Tuesday, Oct. 24th, and to speak at the evening meeting at 8 P. M. at the most available place in town."

J. F. Mullen, Sr., President of New England Broker Division:

"Action has been taken by the Board of Directors for a meeting to be held Sunday afternoon, Oct. 29th, to be followed with a banquet the same evening. We have also commenced the program to arouse the boys for the drive in the week of Oct. 23-29."

By ROSCOE H. JOHNSON

Why were the United Mine Workers of America able to borrow $100,000 early in July from the Harriman National Bank without collateral security, and $150,000 from other banks in order to tide them over the coal strike?

LABOR'S CREDIT

Because, as stated by Harry B. Rosen, a director of the bank, "The integrity of 900,000 miners and their families, I contend, is equal in credit to the wealth of a Rockefeller," and because "In the history of banking not a penny has ever been lost through a loan to organized labor."

"If they should come into this office again and want $5,000,000 they could have it in an hour," he added.

The loan from the Harriman bank was obtained on the personal notes of John L. Lewis, president; P. H. Murray, vice-president, and William Green, secretary-treasurer, of the United Mine Workers of America.

With the $700,000 in the miners' treasury and the $250,000 borrowed from the banks, the twenty weeks' fight cost the national body $950,000. With the mines open and running the income of the national organization runs from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 a year.

How long could the United Mine Workers maintain their strike at the rate of $950,000 for twenty weeks with a credit of $5,000,000 available at an hour's notice in one bank? Arithmetic answers more than two years!

Attorney-General Daugherty, telling the court why the railroad injunction scabs above should be granted, pledged his governmental power in defense of the "open shop"—the anti-union shop.

One of Daugherty's assistants helped to clear up the question, proceeding where Daugherty's assistants helped to clear up the question, proceeding where Daugherty left off. This Assistant United States Attorney-General, A. A. McLaughlin, said to the court, as quoted in the Philadelphia Record:

"The courage of the strikebreakers who have carried on in the face of violence and even murder is greater than the courage of the soldier in France."

This tribute to the strikebreaker, who needs no characterization here, will be resented by every man who fought in France, and its bitter unfairness will be understood by them as well as by union men who have struggled and suffered to maintain human freedom, both in industry and in the political world.

For a government official to attribute to strikebreakers a courage above the courage of the men who fought in France is about the last word in sycophantic worship at the shrine of greed.

FIRST FUNERAL BENEFIT PAID

Mrs. Mary Ellen Sanford, widow of Bro. T. W. Sanford, member of International News Service System, Division No. 61, who died in Yakima, Wash., on Sept. 27th, 1922, is the first beneficiary of the newly inaugurated Funeral Benefit Department of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

The benefit was paid on Sept. 29th by wire immediately upon receipt of definite proof of death.

The quick action of the Funeral Benefit Department in forwarding the benefit to Mrs. Sanford in her hour of need was acknowledged in the following letter:

"Please convey to the officers and members of the C. T. U. A. my deep gratitude for the prompt payment of my beloved husband's Funeral Benefit. My great sorrow at this hour of grief has been easier to bear because of the many acts of kindness and assistance given my husband during his illness and I wish to take this opportunity to thank the members of the organization from the bottom of my heart.

General Chairman Chas, J. Seefred and General Secretary-Treasurer T. J. Condon, of Division No. 61, also expressed their appreciation of the promptness of the Funeral Benefit Department in assuaging the grief of their deceased brother's widow.

"While regretting the sad event which occasioned the action," Chairman Seefred writes, "I wish to voice on behalf of Division No. 61 appreciation of the prompt settlement of the Funeral Benefit Department allotment of $75 in the case of our departed brother, T. W. Sanford, who passed away suddenly on Sept. 27th.

"I am advised that the F. B. D. remittance was telegraphed on Sept. 29th direct to the bereaved widow, Mrs. Mary Ellen Sanford, at Yakima, Wash., where burial took place, and I am sure such prompt action added to its face value.

"Bro. Sanford always was an 'ever-ready' when the signal of distress was flashed on behalf of a fellow-worker, and his untimely removal from our midst leaves a space difficult to fill.

"Furthermore the wisdom of the General Assembly in establishing the Funeral Benefit Department seems to have manifested itself first in Division 61, whose delegates gave it full support at the Toronto convention."

Secretary-Treasurer Condon writes: "I am enclosing 'Approval of Funeral Benefit Claim' of Bro. T. W. Sanford, of Portland, Oregon. Your letter was the first I had heard of the death of Bro. Sanford.

"Your action in wiring the check to the widow of Bro. Sanford was most commendable and I thank you in the name of the I. N. S. division. I shall write to Mrs. Sanford assuring her of the sympathy of the I. N. S. operators on the death of her husband."

ADVOCATE OF SECESSION RETURNS TO INTERNATIONAL

Former O. B. U. Official Says Launching of Any Secession Movement Splits Workers Hopelessly: Results Obtainable Only Through Old Established Unions

Walter Mills, one of the organizers of the O. B. U. movement in Saskatchewan, and for some time secretary of the unit there, has resigned his official position and also his membership in the O. B. U. and has applied for membership in the International organization.

In an interview Mr. Mills said:

"The One Big Union is rapidly losing ground. Its membership has decreased considerably in the last twelve months, much more proportionately than in other labor organizations. When we formed it we hoped that we should be able to unite all workers of every craft in the war against capitalism but the men didn't come. You must go where the masses are if you want to make headway and the masses are not with the O. B. U."

The following is a letter which he sent to the Saskatoon O. B. U. unit, explaining his position.

"Some few years ago I, along with many others, became discouraged with the failure of our efforts to change the unions to which we then belonged to real fighting instruments of the masses, and along with those other militant workers we broke away and formed the O. B. U. for the purpose of presenting a more efficient machine against the employing class.

"For a time it seemed as if our efforts would prove successful. Time has shown, however, that the accession to our ranks was only a temporary manifestation of disgust and despair against the reactionary leaders and their machine rule, and that when that wave subsided our ranks began to dwindle and are thinning every day.

Digitized by Google

Hopelessly Splits Workers

"As one who regards all organizations of the workers as means to an end, I have endeavored to analyze and weigh the value of the O. B. U. in the light of its effects upon the general labor movement. I am forced to the conclusion that the launching of the O. B. U. had the same effect as the launching of any other secessionist movement, viz., to hopelessly split the workers and make them more helpless against the onslaught of an arrogant and ruthless capitalist class.

"I can now see that had the same energy and organization, as was expended in bringing the O. B. U. into existence and in our futile attempt to maintain it, been expended in organizing the militant elements within the old established unions, we would not now be in the hopeless, helpless, disorganized condition in which we row find ourselves.

"Our policy should not have been the desertion of the masses and the setting up of ideal unions but rather should have been to develop an organization for the combating of reaction within the then existing unions.

"I do not regard it as at all impossible to oust the reactionary leaders now in undisputed control of organized labor as a result of our splitting tactics, for I realize that what we lacked at the time was organization to match or excel the efficient and well-oiled machine of the reactionaries.

"The decline of the O. B. U. and its failure to function and represent the masses of workers leaves its members without a means of fighting the master class. As a member of the O. B. U. I feel that I am unable to get into the fight owing to our isolation. As I see it, it is my duty, if I am to play an active part in 'he fight of the working class, to return to the masses we deserted."

CHICAGO WORKERS' BANK GROWS

On July 1, 1922, the Amalgamated Trust & Savings Bank, 371 West Jackson Blvd. (Chicago's Labor Bank) opened its doors for business with a capital stock of $200,000 and surplus of $100,000, a total of $300,000. The first day's deposits were approximately $250,000. In a statement issued August 7, 1922, the deposits had increased to $584,457.88. At the close of the business day September 1st, the deposits were $705,584.72 and on September 16th, $999,222.27. The total resources of the bank are now $1,299,222.27, and the number of depositors exceeds 3,000.

The C. T. U. A. has deposited one of its funds in the new workers' bank.

If Chicago members have any trouble relative either to financial or real estate matters, the bank officers may be consulted who are sure to give you sound advice without cost. For the convenience of those depositors who no longer get a half holiday, the bank will remain open to receive deposits until 5:00 P. M. on Saturdays and 8:00 P. M. Tuesdays, beginning the first Tuesday in October. There can be no doubt that this bank is well launched on a career of great usefulness to working people.

EXPELLED

At the regular meeting of Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division No. 21, held at the Union of Commerce Hall, Montreal, Que., Sept. 13, 1922, F. P. Wheaton, Cert. 88, 239 University Street, Montreal, was expelled from Division No. 21 by unanimous vote, for conduct unbecoming a member of this organization. Charges were that he failed to report when sent out by Headquarters, and for not remaining at positions when such positions were secured for him by Division No. 21, thereby endangering the Division's standing in the financial district.

ENGINEERS BUY COAL MINE

Charles M. White, of Cleveland, says the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, besides buying an office building for two and a half millions, is buying West Virginia and Kentucky coal mines with capacity above six thousand tons a day.

The engineers will sell coal to workers in big cities and pay their miners well.

Several hundred engineers will own in the ground about two hundred million dollars' worth of coal.

That is the way for organized labor to show intelligence and power. Do what other successful men do—get something and develop it. A few coal mines and big buildings owned by labor will have more effect than any number of sad stories and pitiful appeals. Dollars are the successful soldiers and orators of this age.

BY PRESIDENT R. H. McDANIEL

The opening of the campaign to put the Western Broker Division in the fore-front of "Organizing Week," as well as to set forth the future policy of the new administration, was launched at an open meeting on Saturday, September 30th, attended by 68, mostly up-to-date members.

The President delivered the opening address, outlining in detail what the new administration's policy will be.

Stirring addresses were also delivered by Bros. E. L. Boole, J. J. Murray and G. Dal Jones.

Declaration by the President that no time would be wasted in dwelling on errors of the past and that 1921 assessment books are closed apparently struck a responsive chord.

Following is the text of the President's policy:

"New ideas and new policies are expected of new administrations. To go along in the footsteps of others just because the trail is there indicates lack of perspective, ability and initiative.

"Your newly elected President is going to waste no time in dwelling on errors of the past. If mistakes have been made they are BEHIND us and moreover they shall stay behind us, leaving no imprint save the lessons learned.

. "It is no secret to you that our paid-up membership has declined during the past year. In seeking out the real reason for the decline in the membership of our division, I have reached the conclusion that many are withholding support from the Union of our craft because of financial obstacles—principally unpaid assessments levied in 1921.

"Lawfully levied assessments should be paid—you and I cannot dispute this point. The fact is, however, that many former brothers for various good reasons were unable to meet the numerous 1921 assessments promptly and an insurmountable barrier stands in their way from again becoming members of the Western Broker Division in good standing. The division must either keep good Union men out or close the 1921 assessment books entirely and start over again with a clean slate.

"I am authorized by the Executive Board to pursue the latter policy.

"The new policy means just this:

"Nineteen twenty-one assessment books are closed. Unless you desire to retain continuity of your membership by paying back dues, in order to take full advantage of the Funeral Benefit Department, you may come in now as a new member by paying a five-dollar initiation fee and dues for the last three months of this year, which amounts to a total sum of $10.00 for members in Chicago and $9.50 for members out of town.

"If you are delinquent for the last half of 1922, you may get up-to-date by a remittance of $10.00 for Chicago members and $9.00 for out-of-town members.

"Is this not a liberal proposition? Certainly you are relieved by the old assessment bugaboo which has been talked of so much.

"The International body has launched an 'ORGANIZING WEEK' campaign which is bound to swell the membership of all broker divisions. We in the Western Broker Division territory are no longer going to trail along behind our brothers in the East.

"The happiness, peace and pleasure of success do not come from dwelling within the coveted structure. They are enjoyed in the process of building—in drafting the plans, laying the foundation, measuring the many parts, dove-tailing them together.

"Life's greatest joy is in the anticipation of each day's accomplishments, and our truest contentment comes in the momentary satisfaction with the task well done.

"We've had enough pessimism. Let's put that stuff behind us. These are better times. Be a Booster."

A copy of the new policy of this division will be in the bands of every delinquent and non-member in letter form within the next few days, after which a committee, just appointed, will call upon them.

HEADQUARTERS NOTES

Saturday's meeting, the first that has been held for some time, brought out many old and new faces. It is gratifying to face such a body of men that attended this meeting. The next regular meeting will be held Saturday, October 21st. Time, 1:30 P. M. International President Johnson will be with us on that day. Let's step out and make it another big one.

Enthusiasm over "ORGANIZATION WEEK" is growing stronger every day. Fifteen names of volunteers have been recorded to be placed on the organization committee. Let's hear from some more live ones.

Who is going to be the Rogers Hornsby of the ORGANIZATION WEEK! You will have to hit them far and high, boys.

Our worthy Second Vice-President, W. J. McMahon of Milwaukee, has recently been appointed as a member of the General Executive Board. We are proud of you, Mac.

"Water-Wagon" Willis Ward, who used to swell the meetings around Detroit a few years ago, and who has several buddles among the operators, called at headquarters a few days ago to see some old friends. We understand Willis was on his way to St. Paul in that new truck he purchased. We are still wondering if he got by "CG" office O. K. Flappers, please copy.

Congratulations are in order. Bro. and Mrs. M. E. Donohue, announce the arrival of an eight-pound boy. Mike says everything is lovely outside of a few sleepless nights. Start him off right, Mike.

AN INTELLIGENT THOUGHT BASED ON FACT:

Anyone who hears of a permanent or extra job, call W. B. D. Headquarters, WABASH 1428.

Everyone should read the full details contained in this issue of the Journal regarding organization week. This work means much to our entire organization, brothers.

Brother H. E. Bender, formerly of Leland aud Lamson Brothers, attended our Saturday turn-out. Glad to see you, Harry.

The entire membership of the W. B. D. extends their heartfelt sympathy to Brother J. E. Flanagan, in the loss of his mother.

Bro. J. H. Gibson, formerly of Lowits & Co., in now at Jackson Brothers.
First Prise May Mean $200.

Brother Dal Jones, accompanied by his two little boys, attended the meeting. The little fellows enjoyed the meeting, and we enjoyed Dal. Come again and bring the boys, Dal.

Wise cracks by JOE BLOW and Bro. Carl Bell, comedians xoy:

Sinter had a bottle of heoch; She hid it 'neath her bed. The bottle disappeared, And father's none got red.

A recent arrival is Brother Bartness of Pittsburgh, formerly with the Universal Service. Glad to have you with us, old timer.

Remember Saturday, October 21st, 1:30 P. M., next meeting day. 73s.

Brother Bob Mauck, formerly of Redmond & Co., moved over to McNulty's, relieving Bro. Howard Hinman.

Wilbur Forrest, weight 7% pounds, arrived at the home of Bro. and Mrs. B. A. Kohnle of St. Louis, on September 25th. Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Kohnle. May the little fellow live long and prosper.

Who can understand a squirrel that sticks around headquarters every day except on meeting day? Then he ducks, right about face, forward march.

Although we have a few who are out of work, the odds and ends here and there protect them somewhat.

Organising Week-October 23-29.

SEATTLE NOTES

We don't know how many W. B. D. cards there are in Seattle, but from the looks of the Journal lately it wouldn't be a bad idea to appoint one of them as a correspondent for the northwest.

There's been some talk of splitting the W. B. D. and having a "Coast Division" with headquarters at, say, San Francisco. Believe this would be a good idea. Chicago and its problems seem rather distant to most of us and besides we of the extreme West have a set of grievances entirely separate from the East.

For instance, a five o'clock show-up. Of course we get through earlier in the afternoon but we are handicapped and some consideration should be given us.

Very few street cars arrive in the city at such an early hour and we are forced to live right in town and pay from $20 to $30 a month more rent. Are we paid extra compensation for this? We are NOT.

Broker operators hold themselves too cheaply. Who put this salary limit of $50 a week on us? Why not make it $60 or more? An operator spends the best part of his life-preparing himself to hold a first class broker job, and when he gets it, what is it? Most any "OS" job is worth as much and look at the difference in the work.

What's the answer. If we can't boost the salaries by individual effort, isn't the Union our salvation?

Let's hear from some of you and if you haven't a card don't you think it's time to do a little thinking along these lines?

Been a number of changes in Seattle broker offices lately and quite a number of new faces are in evidence.

Hahn of Jordan-Wentworth (formerly Herrin-Rhodes. Hutton correspondents) left for San Francisco, Larry Cunningham of Salt Lake and Butte relieving him, but Larry also had the California fever and was in turn relieved by Mel Printz of Logan and Bryan. Bob Simmons still doing the board work there.

Logan and Brvan relay office here has ten operators. Following are a few of the recent changes:

Paul Purcell transferred to Los Angeles. D. M. Switzer of Federal Teigh. relieving. H. Keity from the Northern Pacific. another new man. Shute. Hourigan, Yhele. McCandlish. Hankin. Anderson among the old heads. Tony Nigg of Spokane is another addition.

Been several fishing parties lately but no one succeeded in bringing back any signs of it. Hankin (who fought all through the war in the British Navy and when it was all over King George told him to "Wipe off your sword, old man, and go on home now: Logan and Bryan need vou") and "Hap" Hourigan are running neck and neck for the honors of being the best liars on the fish that "got away."

Glen Anderson still tells us how he used to catch them in the Klondike in 1900 when he was a young fellow. Andy isn't entirely bald-headed yet; he still has two hairs over his left ear. but claims there are people still living who knew him when he had hair 'n' everything.

You know me, Duke. I ain't got no medals or cups, only the two that we got from Thompson, but there for coffee, not telegraphing. I don't like to brag, Duke, but do you remember how I used to send so fast no one could read it? Well, Ole Kid, I'm still there.

STAGE SET FOR ANNUAL BALL

President Johnson, Police Commissioner Enright, Mayor Hylan, Thomas Edison and Other Notables to Be Among Guesta.

By F. W. Towns, Chairman, Entertainment Committee.

The Committee on Arrangements for the fourth consecutive Annual Entertainment and Dance of the Eastern Broker Division takes pleasure in reporting that arrangements for the affair are progressing rapidly and satisfactorily. Invitations have been issued to those of our friends whom we hope to have with us this year. Tickets have been distributed among our membership and early returns are very gratifying and encouraging.

Advertising space in our program is being subscribed for very generously, and by the time this report is printed all sub-committees will have been appointed; our entertainment program arranged for and every detail for this great affair taken care of.

We have been assured of the presence of our International President, Roscoe H. Johnson; Brother Richard E. Enright, Police Commissioner of New York, and hope also to have with us His Honer, Mayor John F. Hylan, Thos. A. Edison, Superintendent G. H. Wilson of the New York Central R. R., Superintendent Frank M. Clark of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., and many others prominent in telegraph life.

Brothers of the Eastern Broker Division, let's all put our shoulder to the wheel and make this the biggest, grandest and greatest success of all. Distribute all the tickets you possibly can among your friends and remit promptly to your Secretary-Treasurer, Brother J. A. Hickey.

If this affair turns out to be the success we anticipate there may be greater things in store for the New York District, Eastern Broker Division. So—all together-here's to success.

NEW YORK DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS NOTES

The sympathies of these Headquarters are extended to Brother Jimmy Quinn of Logan & Bryan's in the loss of his mother; Brother Chas. F. Burgie of Harris, Winthrop & Co., in the loss of his father, and Brother Jack Hummell in the loss of his mother.

Brothers Joe Brennan, Dick Cogan and Eddie Burke are on the sick list. The Visiting Committees report all three doing well.

Brother Ed Sullivan of Providence, R. I., paid us a visit while on his vacation. Come again, Ed; we are always glad to see the workers for the Organization.

The belated news that Brother Bob Bligh of Post & Flagg's became a benedict three weeks ago has just reached us. Congratulations, Bob.

"Big Jack" Gallagher says he never knew until he struck the Waiting List that there were so many men named Shean in the financial district. He has been introduced to a Mr. Shean in every office he has subbed.

Brother Jack McCloskey spent his vacation as a voluntary organizer, making a trip through New York State in the interests of the E. B. D. on his own time and at his own expense. What Jack told the young fellows up that way is reflected in the queries this office is receiving from NONS in that section. You have set them thinking, Jack, and we expect to see the applications begin to come. We appreciate your efforts, old timer, and wish to thank you for the sacrifices you have made in behalf of all of us.

What has happened to our contributors to these columns? Members are requested to send notes of interest pertaining to the personnel of the office wherein they are employed to the Secretary-Treasurer.

Lance Howard gave 'way to Gil Parmele in the fourth inning of the ball game between the Traders and the Cage, Saturday, Sept. 23d. Score then was 17 to 2 in favor of the Cage. Final score: Cage, 18; Traders, 15. Had Parmele started, the Traders surely would have repeated the game of last July. A return game will be played soon to decide which side is the better team. Kid Charlie Kaiser was cheated twice by "his umps," and Charlie sure put up an awful roar. Joe Kimball kept score, and Jack McCloskey was held in reserve, as the Cage has all young athletes, and Jack and Joe are not quite young enough. Had a great time at dinner after the game. Kaiser played piano, Sheehan recited, and Jimmy Kenny yelled.

Trouble never comes singly. Jim Flanagan, on the Chicago end, lost his mother, Sept. 13, and Ed Boole subbed a week in his absence. Same as last year. joined the Chicago office force in a private train to Colonel Byllesby's home in Lake Geneva, Wis., for a day's outing. Chicago-N. Y. wire was shut down and McCloskey had a day off. Miss A. G. Kenna, of the Chicago office, lost her father in Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 14. Jimmie Madden, N. Y. cashier, and Joseph H. Briggs, manager of Bond Department, Chicago Headquarters, attended the funeral. Each has the deepest sympathy of entire Byllesby concern.

Following on Dow-Friend Hickey: Jones Ticker today, Sept. 21, 1922:

"Some brokers are excited over a certain shipment of almonds, due sometime today, on which duty will jump from 4 to 14 cents a pound, and information of the vessel is constantly being asked for.

In other words, "Some brokers are going nutty." McCloskey.

Greetings from one of the best houses on the Street.

The senior member, Mr. W. C. Louch-heim, returned the latter part of September from an extended trip to Europe.

William (Bill) Falstaff Fisher, formerly with A. A. Housman & Co., is now connected with us. "Bill" is a hustler and inspires all of us with that hustling, energetic way of doing things.

We're still comparatively small, as leased wires go, but we're 100 per cent and that's a great advantage to us and the house.

Personnel: Frank Gambino. South (Atlanta, Savannah, Augusta and Jacksonville); Sol. Corper, Jackson Bros. and Eisle & King, Newark; Tom S. Murphy, Elmer H. Bright & Co., Boston; "Whit," West, Alfred Hill & Co., Cincinnati; Charles Sincere & Co., Columbus and Chicago.

"Whenever you become tired of listening to members boast about the number of new members they have induced to become members of your division you may be in a fair way to becoming inoculated with the organizing bug.

"A sure method of preventing boasting in your presence, is to be able to match the record made by the other fellow. The first and necessary step is to obtain from the Secretary the required application forms, the next move is to locate your prospect and begin peeling off convincing language—the kind that sells the goods."

MUNSEY, FORMER TELEGRAPHER, TO ERECT TALLEST BUILDING ON EARTH

Frank A. Munsey, who started his career as a telegraph operator in New York, is going to erect a skyscraper that will be twice as high as the tallest building now on the earth.

Munsey is the editor and owner of a chain of newspapers and magazines. At a dinner given to his employes recently he said:

"I am glad to be here. To most of you, I am the employer, the man who issues orders from upstairs. It is true that I have many duties and responsibilities that keep me physically remote from your scene of labors. But let me tell you a secret. I would give all of them and all the tangible things for which they stand if I had what many of you have—a family. You will live again in those children. Your life will go on.

"The blessings of a wife and children a too-strenuous existence has denied me. I shall live on in a different way. On the site of this building we now occupy, I intend to erect the tallest building now within the scope of man's imagination and his power to accomplish. I will build a structure of eighty-seven stories. As you will live on in your children, so I, though dead, shall live on in that building."

The skyscraper will be on the corner of Broadway and Chambers Street, and work on its erection will begin next year.

BIDE DUDLEY'S TELEGRAPH CAREER

Bide Dudley, one of the rising newspaper men of New York, an editor, dramatic critic and composer of one of the comedy hits of the season, began his career as a telegrapher. He was born at Minneapolis, Minn., September 8, 1877, and when recently asked what positions he had held in the telegraph profession, to prove that he knew dots from dashes, Bide wrote the following:

"I entered the telegraph service as a messenger at Leavenworth, Kansas, and was an operator at the Soldiers' Home in the same city and also in "DE" office; Postal Telegraph-Cable Company "MS" office; Greenleaf Baker Grain Company, both in Atchison, Kansas; Burlington Railroad, St. Joseph, Mo.; agent, Wheaton, Kansas; Western Union Telegraph Company, St. Joseph, Mo., and the Central Cable Office, New York. The attention of the executive members of Chapel No. 1 is directed to the two letters of our International President, Brother Roscoe H. Johnson, relative to "ORGANIZING WEEK" campaign Oct. 23-29. Show them to the delinquent brothers (if any) in your respective boroughs. Surely they must perceive the great work going on around them and for their individual benefit.

When President Johnson says: "It is your duty and my duty to show them the way," it is re-echoed in Chapel No. 1 that the "workers" are giving their time and patience for the benefit of all, and some of the time without 100% appreciation of the good work being done, and often, when an obstacle is met, too ready a criticism. This isn't as it should be; but it is encouraging that the criticisms come only from the "do littles or do nothings"—those who clamor for results with their shoulders far away from the wheel.

You must all bolster up; stand solidly with your Chapel and not only expect results but show by your attitude a demand for recognition. With your shoulders in the right position you cannot fail, even if the attainment seems, to you, everlastingly away.

Those two fine documents of President Johnson, standing by themselves, should be rich in results to our international body. We want Chapel No. 1 a 100% unit. "Let's go!"

We can hardly say that our case received a great amount of attention when it came up at the meeting of the Board of Estimate, Oct. 3rd. However, there is nothing to feel discouraged about even if the Fire Commissioner or the chief of the bureau hadn't a word to say on it, although the opportunity was there. Borough President Miller, of Manhattan, opened the way when he specifically mentioned the "fire dispatchers." Mr. Miller understands our position and its responsibilities and we thank him for his kind interest.

Following from the "Chief" issue Sept. 16th:

The proposed budget for 1923 recognizes the fire telegraph dispatchers for an increase which if granted will fill a long felt want among a class of men whose ability and responsibility have too long been obscured behind the spark of the firm alarm relay. Even if the dispatchers' salaries are more equitably apportioned into three grades instead of thirteen as at present, they will still be paid less than the Chicago and the Boston fire tele-The recent opinion of the Corporation Counsel in graph dispatchers. which it is declared that the fire telegraph dispatchers are entitled to receive compensation equal to the prevailing rates paid in other electrical lines is both a timely and a worthy document. When it is considered that the dispatchers do not enjoy leave of absence on holidays, Sundays or half-day Saturdays, the computations for a basis of the number of days served by them in a year should be given liberal and fair consideration by the Fire Commissioner.

Perhaps after reading the above the Commissioner thought that the "277 days" per year asked for the dispatchers did look too small and he refrained from pushing it until a more favorable time when he will get behind us for more daysthe number we are really entitled to, who knows?

LIVE WIRES READY FOR OCT. 23

This issue of the Journal will reach our readers just prior to ORGANIZING WEEK, October 23-29.

Every live wire has a wad of names of nons and delinquents in his pocket, ready to jump into action for one of those three PRIZES on Monday morning. Are you one of them?

From correspondence received at Headquarters, officers and members are out to put THEIR particular division on the map during ORGANIZING WEEK.

Organizing committees have been named and programs worked out in detail in order to prevent the possibility of two live wires working on the same bunch of prospects.

Every member, however, should consider himself in the race for the three prizes, even if the organizing committee has not called on him.

One dollar for every non or delinquent brought in during Organizing Week, as well as a shot at the three prizes—$50, $25 and $10—gives the added incentive to devote this week to highly concentrative pressure on the nons and delinquents in every section of the land.

Call on your secretary for application blanks and rate of dues, or write to Headquarters.

REMEMBER, non-union operators making application in unfriendly concerns should be directed to DENY MEMBER-SHIP in our organization if asked about it by their employers.

Press, wireless, broker and other members in isolated localities are expected to bring in at least ONE member during this week. The roll will be called at the end of the week. Don't let it be said that your union spirit and persuasive powers were so hopelessly sterile that at least ONE member was not secured.

SOMEONE is going to be able to salt away about $200—first prize, $50 and $1 each on about 150 members—when this campaign is over. WHY NOT YOU?

SOME DIVISIONS are going to have mighty fine looking treasuries and renewed pep and ambition after the week of October 23-29.

WHY NOT YOUR DIVISION?

CALL T

COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS ORGANI

WITH THE successful ending of the miners, textile and shopmen's strike, a two year's drive on Union labor by the "open shoppers" has come to a dead stop. It is no secret that all labor organizations lost some members owing to the concerted drives of manufacturers associations, reactionary courts and newspapers. The tide has now turned. To put the C. T. U. A. back into its old stride, it has been decided to set aside an ORGANIZING WEEK beginning the 23rd and ending the 29th of October, to be called THE COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS' UNION ORGANIZING WEEK.

DURING that week all members and all divisions are asked to give organizing service under the direction of organizing committees. Every member is expected to visit whatever non-union or delinquent operators he may know or whatever non-union or delinquent workers he is asked to call on by the organizing committee during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

IF NOT called on to visit any non-union or delinquent operators in particular, members should be required to visit the non-union offices before starting time in the morning and immediately after working hours in the evening for the purpose of interviewing the non-union or delinquent operators as they go to work and as they leave the offices during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

MEMBERS will not alone serve one day but every day during that week and it shall be their duty to bring into affiliation every non-union or delinquent worker that they possibly can. As detailed later, plain duty to the organization may be made financially remunerative during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

SUBORDINATE UNITS will immediately select local organizing committees and these committees will set to work at once getting all the names and addresses of all the non-union and delinquent operators working in their respective jurisdictions and prepare for this great ORGANIZING WEEK.

ORGANIZING COMMITTEES will also prepare proper and adequate organizing literature, assign the local members to their respective duties, furnishem with application blanks and leave nothing undone to assure the active service of every member in this ORGANIZING WEEK.

MEMBERS and organizing committees will accept the application of all nonunion operators, no matter what their past record has been. Applications will be passed on in the regular way after the close of the ORGANIZING WEEK.

ALL APPLICATIONS for membership received must be retained in confidence by the members and organizing committees; every applicant must be assured and secured against his employer knowing anything about his affiliation with our organization because of this ORGANIZING WEEK.

ERVICE

EEK-OCTOBER 23RD TO 28TH, 1922

NON-UNION operators making application should be directed to DENY MEMBERSHIP IN OUR ORGANIZATION if asked about it by their employers so as to secure success to our concerted drive during the ORGANIZING WEEK.

THIS IS NOT an effort to precipitate a strike in the non-union or so-called "open shops"; to the contrary, it is nothing more than a concerted action to secure the affiliation of every non-union Western Union, Postal, press, broker and wireless operator during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

TO HELP BUILD UP divisional treasuries and to stimulate individual efforts in this organizing drive, ONE DOLLAR will be paid from international funds for every new member or delinquent brought into the organization during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

IN ADDITION three cash prizes will be given to the three members securing the largest number of new members and delinquents during the ORGANIZING WEEK.

THESE PRIZES will be as follows:

FIRST PRIZE: Fifty Dollars ($50.00). SECOND PRIZE: Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00). THIRD PRIZE: Ten Dollars ($10.00).

PRESS, Wireless, Broker, Pipe Line, and Commercial members in isolated localities should secure at least one renewal or new member during this ORGANIZING WEEK.

ALL SUBORDINATE UNITS are requested to send circular letters to all local and district bodies throughout our International jurisdiction urging all our members to arouse interest and enthusiasm in this undertaking and to put "pep" into this ORGANIZING WEEK.

WAKE UP, Fellow Members, give one week's service to your cause and our organization. See to it that your fellow operator gets on the job and that all members will be enlisted in this great service during the time beginning October 23rd, and ending October 29th, set aside the COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS UNION ORGANIZING WEEK.

WEEK, OCTOBER 23RD TO 29TH, 1922.

Conducted by The New England Brokers' Division, Headquarters and Employment Bureau, No. 7 State Street, Boston, Mass. By J. F. MULLEN, JR.

Regular monthly meetings at Headquarters, last Monday in the month.

Like a bolt from a clear sky came the news from President Johnson that he had completed plans for "ORGANIZING WEEK." These plans have been furnished in detail to all the officers of this division and all that remains is for them to follow to the letter and our efforts will be crowned with success.

October 23-29 is BOSTON WEEK.

Commencing Oct. 23rd the drive of all the members will commence to organize all the telegraphers who are outside the fold. Commissions have been issued to a number of known live wires and more will be issued soon.

The Board of Directors have met and have taken necessary steps to have a meeting and banquet on OCTOBER 29th, which is the date that our President, Roscoe Johnson, will be in Boston. Roscoe is not an entire stranger in this town, and its famous beans. This time, however, we won't be able to stake him at Tony Weber's. From information leaking from the committee, we will "wine" and dine him on Beacon Hill, probably at the Bellevue. However, there will be bulletins issued at headquarters to keep everyone posted.

Already there is considerable activity around HQ and if you have not already lined up for the drive come up after MKT and lineup with the hustlers.

As the result of some misunderstanding a dozen or more New York tickers were removed from local broker houses and several of our men lost their positions when wires were finally removed. We have seven men on the block, which is the most we have had for a long time.

Members wonder why they don't receive the Journal. Before looking for Post Office or Union official irregularities, fish in your pocket and see if you hold an up-to-date card.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for telegraph operators on November 8, 1922, at Washington, D. C., Boston, New York, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Paul, Seattle, San Francisco, Denver and St. Louis. Vacancies are for $1,200 to $1,400 a year, with an increase of $20 per month for appointees whose services are satisfactory. Applicants should at once apply for Forms 1312 and 1140, stating title of examination desired, to the Civil Service Commissions at one of the above cities.

OHIO BROKER DIVISION

The ORGANIZING WEEK committee of this division is planning a meeting for 8:00 p. m., Tuesday, October 24th, at which International President Roscoe H. Johnson will be the principal speaker. Unfortunately, because of the time of going to press of this issue, it is impossible to give the place of this meeting now. It will be at some central down-town location. Broker, press. Postal, Western Union and railroad operators are all urgently invited to attend. The place of meeting will be advertised as widely as possible later. Should anyone fall to receive notice, telephone Vice-President George T. Hattie, at Jones & Baker's, for full information.

International President Johnson will be at Hotel Olmsted between the hours of 3:00 and 5:00 p. m., October 24th. Call and have a chat with him and arrange to attend the evening meeting.

Every member of the O. B. D. is asked to volunteer to Secretary-Treasurer L. F. Solt, United Press, Press Building, for work during ORGANIZING WEEK, October 23-28. See September Journal.

President C. B. Carnall, whose address is 2087 Chesterland Avenue, Lakewood, Ohio, is most anxious to get in touch with a few live wires in Cincinnati, who will undertake organizing work in southern Ohio, principally the big river town. He will be pleased to receive names and addresses of prospects anywhere in Ohio. Just drop a postal card.

Fred W. Agnew. of Winkelman & Co., Cleveland, has just completed a hungalow garage for his new Studebaker. A little later he is going to install a sprinkling system for the purpose of washing it automatically.

Herb Rankin, abiding with the same firm, spent his vacation touring the world and Canada in his Dodge-coop. On his return from Noo Yawk he traveled all the way from Utica to Cleveland in one day. Must have been anxious to get back to work, eh!

Several bond houses have installed leased wires in Cleveland. Brother John G. Adams is ensconced in a palatial office at Tillotson & Wolcott's. Also Brother Harry Kope at the Maynard Murch Company.

Mr. Paul F. Martin, when asked how to reach Findlay by auto route, said: "Go west to Sandusky, and from there south until you smell oil—that's Findlay."

CONDUCT OF MEETINGS

By "Parliamentarian"

The winter period, when union meetings are best attended, is approaching and the writer believes a "Question and Answer" column in the Journal would be of value and interest to the members.

For example: Much time is wasted at meetings by permitting the discussion of a proposition before it is really before the meeting. Just when is it permissible for a member to discuss a proposition?

Countless times the writer has been worked up to a high temperature over some matter, but fear of ridicule and ignorance of procedure kept me silent but seething throughout the meeting. What steps must one take to obtain the floor on any subject of general interest, but not coming under the head of regular business?

There is no place where men expose their lack of refinement, their disrespect for the rights of others and their brutal instincts as at a meeting called for any purpose; and on the other hand, there is no place where they have a better opportunity to show, refinement, intelligence and manhood.

The writer would appreciate some information on parliamentary rules and believes publishing of same would not be amiss.

Cert. 5607.

Your advice is good, Cert. 5607, and the Editor has secured the services of a skilled parliamentarian to answer your questions as well as those of any other member with something on his or her mind.

Q.—Just when is it permissible for a member to discuss a proposition at a meeting?

A.—The question or proposition must be moved and seconded, then repeated plainly and clearly by the chairman before discussion is permitted. The first member rising and being recognized by the chair then has the privilege of discussing the question as long as he chooses, unless a time has previously been set.

Q.—Has a man the right to gag others by making a motion to table a proposition when he finishes his remarks on the ques-

A.—No. A man recognized by the chair to discuss a question must confine himself to that subject. A motion to table should be moved and seconded, after proper recognition by the chair, the same as any other question.

(Editor's Note: Let "Parliamentarian" solve the sticklers for you in language that is clear and readily understandable.)

UNITED FINANCIAL NOTES

Chicago-Houston.

In the passing of O. R. Ackerman from the service to seek the calm and peace of "outside" work, the United Financial Service lost a star performer. All the boys were sorry to see "Ack" leave, but are glad to know he has bettered himself.

J. N. Blair, formerly of Kansas City "KP," is now catching "Doc" King in Ackerman's place at HX. James says he likes the "Windy City" fine. What's in that barrel you're so anxious about, Jim?

Paul Estep, Blair's sidekick, does most of the sending on the west wire, and, boys, Paul's got 'em. When it comes to putting them over in a pinch the kid's there. Are you ever troubled with nyxness, Paul?

It cost Frank Konzal, the boy at Milwaukee, $200 to learn that Fords weren't made to firt with ditches. The telephone pole, on the receiving end of the Ford, was demolished. So was the tin can.

Al Koppes, in the frozen north, has a straw hat and a Palm Beach suit up for sale or will trade for a pair of ear muffs.

Frank McCloskey is holding his own at KZ. Why all the silence, Bo? Derrell Lytle relieved Blair at KP and all's well at that end. Welcome to our ranks.

Buddie O'Donnell is still worrying along at St. Looie and is shouting, "Don't say paper, say STAR."

Sorry to see Brother Ensign depart for the coast. We all hope you will like your new surroundings out there, old top, and that promise of the lantern still stands.

The speed of this financial stuff is wearing us all down? Will someone please pass the monkey glands?

UNITED PRESS NOTES

Brother Harris, who made vacation reliefs on this string, has caught on to a regular broker job in New Orleans. We're glad to hear it, Battler.

Aaron, at "RN," one of the three "reds," has been sick for the past few weeks. Brother Davidson, who is subbing for him, reports that he is improving rapidly and will soon be on the job.

"And then he took up golf!" After all these years (he says only 40), Chief "Hippy" Thomas is said to have been bitten by the bug. He denies it, but our informant says he shoots a mean "G. O. G."

The Birmingham News discontinued the leased wire on August 21, Finnegan transferring to the Southwest American at Fort Smith, Ark. He says the Saturday night wire out of "KS" is great stuff.

McBride at "BX" has David Harum skinned a mile when it comes to trading. He swapped his Hudson touring for a roadster. The rear end of the touring fell out the next week.

Ernie Cox (his initials are "E. A.") still shoots us some new ones once in a while. His latest ones are "S. F. D." and "G. O. G."—soft drink king and game of golf. Oh boy, it's a hard life.

Make Organizing Week Count. UNIVERSAL SERVICE

(Chicago-South)

William R. Hearst, multi-millionaire newspaper publisher and owner of Universal Service and International News Service, says:

"DO NOT CUT WAGES."

In a long, highly interesting and instructive comment on things economic, industrial and governmental, Mr. Hearst, in his Chicago Herald and Examiner of Sunday, September 17th, said, among other things:

"I say to employers: Do not cut your wages. When you do, you are throwing a boomerang that will come back and strike you. When you cut wages you are cutting prosperity. When you cut prosperity you are cutting your own profits.

"And I say to workingmen: Do not make shop rules which interfere with production, because when you cut production you cut the creation of wealth, and you cut the distribution of wealth in wages,

"Capital and labor should work together, not for sentimental reasons, but for practical reasons, in order to secure, first, the greatest creation of wealth, second, the most just distribution of wealth in wages and profits, and so the greatest prosperity for the nation and for themselves."

We were glad to see the Consolidated Press notes in August Journal. Somebody in that service has at last mustered up enough ambition and energy to let us know how they are plugging along. We are going to look for news from the Consolidated men every month from now on.

The Ledger Service and Central News were conspicuous by their absence in August Journal. And there was only one short contribution from the A. P. There were no items from Universal Service in August. Nothing from Canadian Press. Limited, either,

The press and broker members should always be on the alert for new members. We need more members. The O. R. T. has about 80,000 members. We ought to try to catch up with the railroad men. The Postal is a good field from which to recruit new members. The broker and press men should make a strenuous effort to induce the Postal nons to see the light and join the organization that has done so much for them.

It was gratifying and encouraging to read in July Journal that the New York district of the E. B. D. added twenty-three new members to its rolls at the June meeting and the assurance that this number of new members would be exceeded at the July meeting. If we can get the requisite number of Postal operators to join the Union we can schedule the Postal Telegraph Company.

The broker and press divisions have done a great deal of hard work for the organization. It is about time that operators working for some telegraph company were joining the procession. Keep after the nons. It would take up an enormous amount of space to recount what the C. T. U. A. has done for the commercial telegraphers. All commercial telegraphers have reaped benefits from its activity and aggressiveness.

Organising Week-October 22-20. CONSOLIDATED PRESS NOTES

Washington-South "Sunshine Circuit"

We trust that ere the Journal goes to press that not only the "Sunshine Circuit" but the entire Consolidated Press Association's various circuits will have been organized during Organizing Week, October 23rd to 28th.

Organization day brings back memories of by-gone days and the great fight that was put up by the faithful brothers for a just and worthy cause. It was back in 1918, when Brother Konenkamp designated March 28th, 1918, as organization day. I was connected with the Western Union Telegraph Company at that time, previously being with the railroads and carrying an O. R. T. card for eight or ten years. Well, maybe the Western Union spotters didn't have their eyes on me when organization day rolled around. I hope to tell you they did, for I had been more or less active in organization work on the railroads before the O. R. T. became solid.

I made myself known to the organizer and took out the first card, and before Saturday night had passed into ancient history scores more followed me and the following day still many scores more. put my card in my pocket and "went to work" Sunday morning. I was met at the outside door by the assistant chief operator, who informed me I would have to see the chief Monday morning before I could go to work. As you all know we marched in line to the chief's office the following Monday morning and received our little vouchers with no statement other than we were "disloyal employes!" Previous to this, when the Western Union required us to fill out questionnaires, they claimed exemption for us in the United States army on the grounds that we were essential in moving the government business and that they could not operate successfully without us. The majority received exemption, except the ones who volunteered. On top of these exemption claims the Western Union made to the government, they discharged these same men who were fighting for the same cause that our men were fighting for in France, i. e., FREEDOM. We were locked out because we were "disloyal employes" for having affiliated with a labor organization of our own choosing, which is a right any American citizen cannot be denied.

Everything is running along smoothly on the "Sunshine Circuit," with another office being added on the fast growing wire, which is Harrisburg, Pa., being looped on from Washington.

I wish to thank Brother Cert. 5 for his kind expressions of my little write-ups in the Journal for the Consolidated Press Association operators and I appreciate these remarks very much, and I assure you I will send in my share of the news, but I dislike to do all the talking and I am going to drop out next month and see if some other good brother won't stir up his ambition enough to give us a little write-up. However, I will be heard from again in the future as I have been heard from in the past. I am a punk writer, as you can readily see, but if the boys can stand it I can!

The brother who contributed with a splendid story from the United Financial Service, New York-Houston "Cyclone Circuit," evidently has been drinking something stronger than one-half of one per cent. He claims his circuit broke our record on market forms handled, having handled a total of 407 bonds in 23 minutes without a single break, which reminds us of that cartoon entitled: "WHERE HAVE I HEARD THAT STUFF BEFORE?" Come again, brother. Probably nothing but the "HIGH" was sent?

Cert. No. 2821.

First Prize May Mean $200.

"Empire State Circuit"

Now that you boys who never buy overcoats have dubbed your circuit the "Sunshine Special," we, the pioneers of this "Consolidated" column, have assumed a title which we believe is suitable to the occasion.

Now for the gossip. Since last chronicing our happenings, we have added Utica and Albany, N. Y., and Manchester, N. H., all full day clients. Mr. Larraway (I. N. S.) holds down Utica, while Geo. Browning from the A. P. at Buffalo, is on the newly created paper in Albany, the Evening News.

Ernie Woods is the Canadian gentleman at Toronto, a recent arrival. "Wix" Wickes, formerly the Morse distributor at "NX" during the vacations there, was transferred to Rochester, N. Y. Wickes is rebuilding the radio apparatus for the Times-Union.

Our popular chief, "Tex" Snowden, is still on the job. Occasionally he makes a short relief on the wire where he is always favored with a "comp" for his well known "perfect Morse." Too bad we can't have him or someone his equal to lull us to forgetfulness of the button.

The lil' ole "Empire" embraces most of New York that is worth embracing. Starting at Manchester, N. H., we have Boston, Worcester, Springfield, Mass.; Albany, Utica, Rochester, Syracuse and Buffalo, N. Y., and last, but not least, Toronto, Ont. The old string works fine after 4:15 p.m. Otherwise we can hardly wax enthusiastic about it. Did someone say anything about a school for repeater attendants?

Well, the world "serious" is over; now we must settle down to a humdrum existence. We don't play hockey, but in order to keep warm this winter we may have to "hock" "ey" things of value to keep up an acquaintance with the Coal Baron.

There is a rumor that Browning is about to enter the dual life, in which case we extend our kabw, and likewise glad that you are with us, George.

Booth at Boston has been working half time recently owing to his illness. We hope you are improving in health, Booth, and that you will be with us full time ere long.

The Friday nights have been very interesting lately with the anonymous artist at "DW" treating the boys to a real line of chatter. He is certainly the "King of Whoopemup."

It is 90 per cent over here. Can the "Some Shine" say that much?

Cert. 2.

WITH THE NEWS SERVICES

The Scripps-McRae organization announces that plans have been completed for establishing a one cent afternoon tabloid daily newspaper in Baltimore. The new paper, which is to be known as the Baltimore Post, will be the thirtieth Scripps-McRae newspaper in the United States. This is the second venture by Row W. Howard and Robert P. Scripps in the field of tabloid newspapers. HAROLD D. JACCBS, at present managing editor of the Washington News, will be editor.

Rumor has it that the Hearst organization plans to start fifty new newspapers within the next few months.

DAVID LAWRENCE, president of the Consolidated Press, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., recently spent a few days in Chicago. Mr. Lawrence is making a business trip through the Middle West in connection with his rapidly growing service.

MARLIN E. PEW, editor and manager of the International News Service, returned from a two-month trip to Europe on the Aquitania September 30. Radio, Mr. Pew said, was being extensively used in commerce in Germany; it is just coming into use in England, but in other countries governmental regulation and interference have prohibited its development.

"What Europe needs is more news from America," according to FREDERICK ROY MARTIN, general manager of the Associated Press, who returned recently from a two-month tour of lands overseas.

JAMES I. MILLER, general South American manager of the United Press Association, arrived in New York October 1 after a tour of inspection of the European bureaus of service in connection with its South American service.

Myron T. Herrick, United States Ambassador to France, and owner of the Dayton (Ohio) Herald, was guest at an informal dinner at the Hotel Biltmore, New York, October 2, of the executives of the United Press Associations and the heads of the foreign department of that service.

The purchase of the Tulsa Tribune, the Jacksonville Journal and the Pensacola Journal by John H. Perry and Richard Lloyd Jones is the beginning of the formation of another chain of newspapers which may eventually number 25 or 30 papers located in all parts of the United States.

Service orders of the Associated Press admonish news writers in that organization to "look out for that word 'strikebreaker." It is associated in the public mind with the bully or thug supplied by professional strikebreaking agencies, and should not be used to describe men who act individually in accepting positions."

Routine business occupied the board of directors of the Associated Press who met in New York October 4 and 5.

At no distant date photographs will be sent by wireless from all parts of the world direct into newspaper offices, according to the General Radio Company, of London, England.

There are a lot of people that wonder where the "krum" comes from in Morkrum, that electric transmitter and recorder of news that is fairly well known in the newspaper field. The inventor of the Morkrum is a grandson of Andrew J. Krum, age 95, and probably the oldest living practical printer who last worked on the Democrat, at Madison, Wis., and is still a resident of that city.

FINED $50

United Press System Division No. 47 reports that Bro. C. H. Murchland of Dayton, Ohio, has been found guilty of conduct unbecoming a member, in that he tried to influence members of Division 47 to refuse to pay an assessment during schedule negotiations. A fine of $50 has been levied.

ANOTHER HEARST PAPER

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Another metropolitan newspaper will be added to the Hearst properties when the Syracuse Evening Telegram makes its appearance on the streets Monday afternoon.

This will be the thirteenth city, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in which Mr. Hearst owns one or more daily newspapers, the most recent addition being Rochester, where the Sunday and evening editions jumped into immediate success.

When the Rochester plant was equipped and put into operation in 23 days all time records were broken for an operation of this character.

In Syracuse, however, the record will be smashed by nine days, the new Evening Telegram coming off the press just 14 days from the time the Hearst representatives purchased and took possession of the building at Genesee and State Streets.

Make Organizing Week Count.

Bro. R. S. Bailey of Port Alberni, B. C., has favored us with the above photo, with the following interesting letter:

"This is an ordinary Vancouver Island black bear, about 4 years old and weighing about 400 pounds While he is wild and savage at times, a few of us went over to the beach in search of various articles of clothing the bear had stolen from some of my friends. Apparently he is preparing his winter quarters, for he took a gents' slicker coat, a ladies sweater coat, besides other articles.

"By coaxing him for quite a while with honey on the end of a stick, we secured several interesting pictures, but the slightest attempt to enter the bush in his domain in search of the stolen clothing met with quick resistance.

"Since I last saw bruin, he struck at one man, tearing his clothing and behaving in a manner that was a little too affectionate. We have not visited bruin since, nor do we intend to—socially at least.

"In the picture I am standing on the right of the bear; a friend with a bottle of English Ale on the left, while another friend is in the foreground preparing some bread and honey for bruin."

To the Marconi Wireless Telegraphers of Canada.

Greeting:

Since 1919 much has been said, and very many letters have been written in an effort to have you realize just what membership, loyal, faithful, and continued membership in the C. T. U. A. means to you as an individual, to your dependents as an actual part of yourself, to your colleagues and co-workers in the Radio service, and to the great body of telegraphers at large.

It is my intention to put before you, at this writing, the result of the efforts of your committee to combat the 15 per cent reduction proposed by the Company.

This committee, constituted as it was of men loyal to their organization, to themselves and their families, to you, and not less loyal to their employers; could not have done more.

Your Vice-President was untiring in his efforts, and the Marconi telegraphers of Canada have every good reason to feel grateful to this officer for the work he has done, for without his good offices, we have ground for believing that the situation today might easily enough have been worse than we find it as a result of the Board's Award.

Your representative on the Board needs no elaboration. It is not exaggeration to say that Mr. Tom Taylor is an outstanding figure, a profound thinker, a wise diplomat, and a MAN amongst men. He is best appreciated by those who know him intimately, and knowing him thus, learn at first hand, his true worth.

Your Committee, after lengthy and prolonged representations to the Board of Conciliation, have finished their work, and hereby tender their Report.

The Board opened its sessions in Montreal on Thursday, September 7th. Both sides made their representations, and full discussions were exhaustively gone into.

On your behalf, evidence was presented purporting to show that wage reductions were not, and could not be justified.

After three weeks, the Board, having failed to effect a settlement between the Company and the telegraphers, made its report.

The Chairman of the Board, Mr. E. McG. Quirk, signed a majority report with Mr. M. P. White, the Company's representative, recommending a ten per cent reduction in wages and all allowances.

Mr. Thomas Taylor, representing the telegraphers, dissented, and presented a minority report, which contended that no reduction in wages was justified.

The complete Report is a rather lengthy document, and you are hereby urged to secure from the Department of Labor the October issue of the "Labour Gazette," which will contain the full Report.

The cost is ten cents per copy, or twelve months' issues for twenty cents, post free.

Due to the fact that many of our men

Due to the fact that many of our men have not supported us in our fight for them, we were placed in such a position that we had to accept the majority report and sign up for a ten per cent reduction for a year. The choice lay between acceptance of the ten per cent reduction as from October 1st, 1922, and a continued struggle with an uncertain issue, plus the immediate enforcement of the Company's original proposal of fifteen per cent retroactive as from July 1st, 1922.

Had every man done his duty by us and supported his organization, we KNOW that more could have been done, and we feel that a different story could be told. There is but ONE way, and YOU must know it.

In spite of the lukewarm attitude of some few of our members, and in spite of the dampening aloofness of the nons who are so effectually standing in their own light, and intentionally or otherwise, doing their utmost to blast the efforts of the organization, your committee succeeded in cutting an intended fifteen per cent reduction to ten per cent as from October 1st. thereby saving the employees over $30,000 a year. We say "employees" advisedly, for the caption heading the Report of the Board of Conciliation reads:

"In the matter of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907, and of a dispute between the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada, Limited, and certain of its employees, all certificated wireless operators, members of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America, System-Division No. 59,"

Both sides of the fence may be considered safe by some amongst us, but we prefer to be on the side which we KNOW to be safe.

The Company fought to have the reduction made retroactive to July 1st, which we fought successfully. This in itself saved us in the neighborhood of $8,000, or enough for each individual to pay annual dues to his organization for three years. Let us, therefore, have no more of these "unable to afford it" yarns.

Further, we have secured for you what we believe to be a very good and necessary "Agreement," one clause of which covers overtime at time and one-half.

We urge you to read carefully the Report of the Board of Conciliation, and to study the new "Agreement;" then pause and seriously consider how much better off you and your dependents would in all probability be, if all of our men had supported us to the full.

We are not trying to get from under, neither are we making any attempt at excuse. Our work was well done, and needs no apology. Any shortcoming in the final result is due solely and entirely to the non, the delinquent, and the weak-kneed few amongst us who hold up-to-date cards.

To those who gave us their fullest support and co-operation, we extend our most hearty thanks.

To those who are not now card holders, we leave you with your consciences, in the belief that you cannot but see the vital need of taking and holding membership.

Join, and remain in the organization which has helped you in spite of yourself. We extend a welcoming hand and assure you a square deal at all times.

Our motto is, "The injury to one is the concern of all."

Let yours be the same.

We look forward to the day when "No card, no favor" will have no meaning within our ranks.

F. CUTHBERT ALLEN, General Chairman, Can. Mar. Wireless S. D. No. 59, Comml. Telrs. Union of America.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT WIRELESS

British Columbia District.

Comments from Division 65 in the last issue being conspicuous by their absence, an apology is tendered to the membership. Sickness in the family of the District Chairman, and the absence of the Secretary on leave, were the primary causes of the omission, but it is to be hoped that an occasional non-appearance will render our Journal columns all the more interesting and appreciable.

Ballot papers, issued early in August, are being returned slowly but surely, indications being most favorable that the desired quota will be obtained if not exceeded. Members who have not yet given this matter their attention will oblige by returning ballot papers at their very earliest convenience.

Promises of enrollment from Eastern operators not yet in membership are also being consistently received, and it is to be hoped will speedily materialize. The closing of Barrington Passage has scattered the membership of that station to different points, and the enthusiasm of these stalwarts will undoubtedly become infectious, and exceedingly beneficial to the future welfare of this division.

LOCAL NOTES

When the worthy secretary extracted a promise of literary assistance, we imagined the task comparatively simple. Experience however, has shown that the production of local notes is not all lavender, especially as outside stations appear to have contracted the habit of assuming our acquaintance with clairvoyancy.

Several changes have taken place since our last issue. Bros. Hollis and Kelk have exchanged stations, and it is to be hoped such change will prove mutually beneficial to both.

We were pleased to welcome to the coast an old radio veteran in the person of Bro. Fred Cornish, late of Barrington, who has been stationed at Point Grey. Of the large staff released by the changes in the East, Cornie is the only one so far to cross country.

Bro. Acton has left the East on his long delayed vacation, relieved by Bro.

Turner

Bros. Colpman and Wornock have left the service to engage in private and more remunerative business, and carry with them the best wishes of their colleagues for future success.

Bro. Corriveau has returned to Estevan after his vacation, accompanied by his wife and family. Corrie is several inches taller since the acquisition of the latter.

Heartiest congratulations to Bro. Emmerson on the arrival of another son, who is reported to be a bouncing boy. Bro. "Papa" wisely reserved his leave for this occasion, so as to be on hand when required.

Bro. Parkin is back from an enjoyable holiday at Powell River, and is expanding with good nature. He reports that he still left a few fish in the lake, but judging from the expansion already mentioned, we should imagine that they are mighty few.

Bro. Steve has joined the Malaspina, and taken his cowpunching hat and six shooter along. Much conjecture is entertained as to the installation of his numerous musical appurtenances, and whether the Ole Man will sanction Steve calling VAJ upon the side drums.

We were delighted to receive a visit from another old timer in the person of Joe Creer, now of Toronto. Joe asks us to extend his regards to all his old time colleagues.

We congratulate the city office upon the institution of their new schedule of duty, viz.: 9 to 4 p. m. with a suitable interval for luncheon, and 9 to 12 on Saturdays. It is not contended that the city office staff are unduly favored, but when we pause to reflect upon our own hours of duty, not excluding Saturday, we are driven to reflect that comparisons are not only odious but L.

It was with regret that we heard of the accident to George Gilbert at Digby Island, but relieved to learn that it was not of a more serious nature.

Does all this noise we hear from Estevan these days mean money? We hope so.

THE WEARY HIKE

By "Critic."

The question of transportation at Point Grey still remains a burning issue. Superintendent in charge of this Division realizes this, and fully supported our request for redress, even continuing on his own behalf when the ruling authorities, sacrificing justice to economy, decided against our petition. Nothing, however, resulted, and when operators continued to raise their voice in protest, transfers were inaugurated, and the discontents removed to other spheres, which aggravates the situation rather than relieves it. The men relieving soon found that conditions were far from palatable. Unable to obtain accommodation at least four miles from the station, possibly and very probably considerably more, they found themselves faced with no other alternative than having to traverse the distance from the nearest car line-five miles, at the commencement and conclusion of each period of duty. How can men, in the face of such handicaps, be expected to report for duty in a fit condition, duty to which physical fatigue is extremely detrimental?

Operators are faced, therefore, with the expensive necessity of providing themselves with an automobile, motorcycle or bicycle, the latter vehicle being useless in the rainy season or during the winter.

That being an impossibility, the unfortunates are therefore reduced to walking, which adds at least 1½ hours each way to their official hours of duty, as well as causing illness in inclement weather when they are forced to work in damp clothing.

How different are the conditions in Victoria, where executive officials are provided with an automobile and the means for upkeep, despite the fact that street car service is available. We are making no adverse comments against this provision, which is as it should be, but why cannot consideration be shown to operative officials who have no other means of transportation?

Adjacent University employes, under precisely similar conditions to our own, are conveyed to and from duty by a jitney bus, at the employers' expense. Telephone linemen, municipal officials, etc., on business in the vicinity, are always furnished transportation, yet government employes making request for moderate assistance are told that the Department "does not feel justified in instituting such allowance."

Transportation is always provided when higher officials visit the station, yet these same officials fail to realize that the identical condition exists for men forced to perform this journey every day of the week. Small wonder that Point Grey, instead of being the Mecca of all operators, is the least sought after station perhaps in the service.

Some day, perhaps, palatial abodes will rise in the sandy vicinity, as the Department contend, but the announcement of this intention dates back beyond the knowledge of the oldest employe and it is no wonder the present generation receive it with a certain amount of skepticism.

Until this time does come to pass, the Point Grey staff remain the victims of a great injustice, which if merely for the good name of the Department should be rectified and rectified without delay. It is certain that if sufficient prominence is given to this point by our long suffering committee, the Department will realize that such a condition is greatly to their discredit.

CANADIAN PACIFIC NOTES

Eastern District

Everybody was agreeably surprised to see that "Batiste" had at last awakened from his slumber and decided to again say a few words about Montreal in the Journal. Yes, but what about the pencil; that he spoke of? No one seems to have any, and the poor scribbler will have to do it all alone again, so don't blame him if there are any mistakes or omissions.

Did all of you see and read the "CALL to SERVICE" in the Journal? Don't let this great chance slip by you and do nothing. Get ready to lend a helping hand to your Secretary. Get after all the NONS and Delinks. We must land them during the "Organizing Week," It is 'o your own interest to speak to every non and delinquent and have them join the C. T. U. of A. Let us make our Union the strongest in the land and we shall then be in a position to derive benefits that we are entitled to. Are you on? Remember it is only the real live ones that succeed in this world. Now is the time to show your colors. You alone will be to blame if not successful.

Bro. Geo. Freeman, who had been transferred to Quebec during the navigation period, has returned to Montreal. Bro. Freeman has decided to take a card in the "Matrimonial Union." Remember, George, it is not an "Annual" but it is for "Life." Our best wishes for a happy and prosperous marriage to you and Madame.

New figures have made their appearance in the office this summer, and eyes are turned on them to see when they will order their brand new C. T. U. A. cards. Don't worry—the "Organizing Week" is coming, and the few nons left will be taken care of.

Among the latest reported on the sick list is Bro. Jack Appleby, with la grippe.

The great reaper made another call this month and this time he has struck close to home. Bro, J. H. Nolin of "RA" office answered the "Last Call" Sunday, October 1st, at his brother's home, aged 48 years. Bro. Nolin, who had been in the office several years, was taken sick last June and although not serious at first the illness developed progressively until the doctors gave up the battle and declared there was no hope. All the staff extend their sincere sympathy to the family in their great bereavement.

ATTEND UNION MEETINGS

Don't say you are too tired; the weather is bad, or there is too much quibbling and "hot air" to interest me.

Every time you miss a meeting and leave it to the other fellow to look out for your interest, you are doing an injustice both to yourself and your organization.

Your views on especially vital subjects should be represented in discussion and by vote and the only way for this to be done is for you to be at your Union meeting.

Organizing Week-October 23-29, doubt exceptional cases where men are compelled to work two jobs temporarily, not through choice, but through circumstances, but there is positively no excuse for the perpetual two-job man. If it ever again becomes my good fortune to employ others (and I have hopes) none need ever apply to me for work if they practice the two-job business.

Go After First Prize Hard. THE SPIRIT OF CO-OPERATION'

In considering the solution of the labor question or even the remedy for the evils of the modern industrial system by means of education, we must bear in mind that today instead of having two personalities—the employer and the employee—to consider, we have instead two units, the corporation of employers and the union composed of employees. Personalities are lost in these two units. No one on either side is directly responsible for anything. Personalities have been transformed into organizations, and in dealing with organizations methods have necessarily been employed which are different from those used in dealing with personalities.

So, as our industrial system has developed in scope, harmonious agreements have become less and less frequent. is not because men are more greedy or less diplomatic than they ever were, but because the employer and the employee have grown too far apart to understand each other. As we now look upon these conditions, we wonder what change the future will bring. A change of some kind Will it be for the better is inevitable. or for the worse? In the proposed international labor alliance there is a hint of what may be done throughout the industrial world, should there be a gradual change for the worse.

But there is a spirit of civilization—a spirit slumbering in the people which will not permit the misunderstanding between capital and labor to continue to the destruction of both and consequently of society and government. It is just as inevitable that this spirit, if correctly developed and guided, will solve the labor question as that civilization is bound to advance.

A new spirit with a more definite end in view must characterize our education in the future. In our teaching we have been taking for granted one of the most fundamental things in life, and that is that all will grow up to a perfect understanding of business and the relation of labor and capital to human development.

If we had trained others years ago in what were certain fundamental principles which should be observed in all business relations, mediation and laws would today be respected, because they would be founded directly upon the enlightenment of those whom they are meant to deal. We have been trying to raise ourselves from the top instead of from the bottom.

We must teach those things which will lead to a clearer understanding of the business world. Understanding will remove a great deal of prejudice and will have a tendency to enthuse both employer and employee with a spirit of fairness. When peace comes to our industrial world, it will not be based upon force, as today through strikes and fear of strikes, but upon a peace bargain based upon justice; and the ability to discern what is justice will not come to employers and employees except through a clear understanding of each other. And how can we begin to develop such an understanding except through the intelligent guidance of thought and feel-That must be our teaching, then we will be able to see justice and the value of co-operation in their true business relationship.

Through discontent the laborer is growing in power. Will he use this power to his own detriment? A few thoughtful men have declared that he will eventually rule the industrial world. If he does rule, will he rule with discretion or will he, through his own ignorance, destroy the advantages which he will have gained? Enlightenment is the only thing that will save him and consequently save society. The object of education is to guide and direct a man's instincts and in this way to lead him out into a full development of his powers.

Why not create a permanent spirit of co-operation and conciliation, based upon understanding? It will not grow naturally out of the industrial system itself unless it has guidance and assistance. Once this spirit is aroused in the people, the labor question is nearing a solution.

Employers and employees are beginning to see the folly of the practice of trying to cut each other's throats, which in the end would destroy the very foundation of industry.

Unless the spirit of co-operation is developed, force will continue to be the resort of both capitalist and workingmen Society under such a system will always be chaotic, and there would never be any definite or permanent settlement between the two. It may be impossible to do away with force altogether, but it certainly can be tempered to a very great extent by striving to lessen its evils through education. Few men can be driven, but all are willing to receive the right kind of instruction.

The sooner that we are taught that "the injury of one is the concern of the other" in the commercial world, then we shall ATIVE OF A PRESS ASSOCIATION. with the hope of becoming a press official-to emulate the example of Al Harrison-or any other officeholder, with a title. a cinch this guy has not paid the assessment. He has a corner on the intelligence of the telegraph profession—he says so himself. This man would sell his mother's soul for $2. Beware of him.

I am not inclined to be as severe as my old friend is, but my newspaper experience has taught me that writers of articles who do not sign their names—well, they are at least actuated by ulterior motives.

Following are a few excerpts from early responses to the assessment call:

"Congratulations on the fight the committee put up. You did better than I honestly expected."

"Congratulations on the new contract. That may sound funny coming from the Pacific Coast, but it's my honest opinion. Let's hope for better things next year."

"Let me express my sincere gratitude for the valuable services of the committee. Our organization must awake to an appreciation of the fact that our committee has rendered a most vital service in the creation of the 'Arbitration and Defense Fund.' "

"I believe our brothers are with you heart and soul in obtaining some kind of financial backing. Of course, it was right to unite with other divisions. Disunity is a loss of power. Thanking you again for your vicarious effort."

"My little boy, 4, said to me the other 'Daddy what is your head for?' Out day: of patience I answered: 'To think with.

"The child said, 'Oh, I thought it was to put your hat on.'

Mature reflection leads me to believe the lad was correct. I'm sure if our brothers 'use their noodles' they would realize the necessity of remitting this $10 at once. Accept my ten and my thanks for your work as a committeeman."

In conclusion permit me to urge the members of every division to heed the editorial in the September Journal:

"Let us have a full and free discussion of the qualifications of candidates for general committees BEFORE election; but nothing but unswerving, loyal support AFTER election."

CHAS. SHEA, General Chairman, U. P. Div. 47.

CHECK TWO-JOBBERS

City employees who take time away from their duties to engage in work as clerks in the elections will be docked in pay for the time they are away. Commissioner Howe, director of the Department of Finance, annumber of letters came to my depart-

"A number of letters came to my depart-ment asking why city employees are getting the jobs at the election posts, while others are unable to get the work there," Mr. Howe said.

"An investigation revealed that twenty an investigation revealed that twenty employees in my department are engaged as election clerks. There has been a custom in past years to let the man take this work and keep up their salaries at the same time, drawing two salaries for the time."

Commissioner Howe declared he is determined to break up this two job practice, and also rid himself of the numerous complaints of applicants for places on the election staffs.

The above news item appeared in the Newark Evening News, Newark, N. J., Sept. 12th, 1922. If Commissioner Howe is correctly quoted and carries out his stand in this matter, he is to be highly commended and it would be gratifying if other public officials throughout the country would take a lesson from his ruling and act in a like manner. It is bad enough when these two-job flends lose no time in either of them, but when the two-job grafters neglect their regular employment to grab off a little easy money "on the side" and expect to get paid at both ends, they certainly have their nerve with them and if they got what they justly deserve they would be abruptly FIRED by their employers from both positions.

It would be well if business men in general would follow Commissioner Howe's example and compel those of their employees who insist upon working two separate jobs to relinquish one or both of them; and it would be particularly gratifying if this rule were carried out in the telegraph profession.

There is an old maxim that "no man can serve two masters," and I believe that also applies to the two-job fiend. No man can work two jobs and do both justice for any length of time, and those who think they can are only kidding themselves. They may believe they are wonders, and appear to be accomplishing their end, but sooner or later a cog slips somewhere and away goes all their human vitality, a breakdown comes, and they have to quit both jobs to recuperate.

Little sympathy should be wasted on the two-job fiend who finally breaks down, and less sympathy on those who employ him and thereby helped to wreck his health, but in case he has a family it is a pity they should have to suffer for his selfishness. He may get some consolation when he hears that it takes two men to fill his two positions, but if he will sit down and ponder he will realize how much better off he would have been had he followed The two-job man is h. Personally, I have absolutely no use for the two-job man, who regularly insists upon practicing that game. There are no

ORGANIZING WEEK A BIG SUCCESS

The returns from Organizing Week, Oct. 23-29, are still coming in at the time of going to press. An aggregate of over 250 new members and delinquents were brought into the C. T. U. A. during this one week, a record that is not at all discouraging, and indicating that concentrated efforts will win if ALL put themselves behind a campaign and work.

As was to be expected, the larger telegraph centers were the scenes of the greatest activity. Montreal, New York City, Toronto and Chicago members were especially active, while Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Calgary, Vancouver, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Baltimore and Kansas City made creditable showings.

The unselfish and unassuming work of the individual members, who preferred to see their district or division obtain full credit for the week's work, rather than themselves, makes the awarding of the prize money a difficult task. The individual worker securing the greatest number of new members or delinquents will receive a prize of $50; the second largest number, $25 and third, $10. In a majority of cases, however, the prize contest committee is without information as to who should be credited, but this information should be complete in the near future.

All new members are to be passed on at regular meetings in the various districts; hence it may be three or four weeks before the applications finally reach headquarters through the system division general secretary-treasurers.

Organizing week has brought home to everyone the fremendous value of concerted and enthusiastic action all along the line for a definite period of time. The persistent and untiring efforts of the officers and members, who are never idle from one month to another, can never be fully appreciated, but without the aid of the lay members their task is disheartening. It was to bring out the support of these lay members in a systematic manner that the call to service was issued.

The call to service was issued at an opportune time. That change in sentiment so convincingly expressed at the recent election, when Labor with a capital L voiced a mighty protest against labor-baiting tactics in the industrial world, proves conclusively that NOW is the time to build our foundations and prepare for better things in 1923.

All signs point to an era of prosperity that will certainly continue during 1923. The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America does not intend to be caught on the side lines where we must watch the cost of living climb while wages remain stationary.

The winter months must and will be utilized for the purpose of corralling every man and woman who is holding our movement back. Not that we are so altruistically unselfish that we desire to force benefits on the non-members, but that we refuse to allow them to hamper us.

Every non-member and delinquent is figuratively and literally thwarting you and I from securing money that we are earning from our employers. We are not collecting, because these self-styled individual bargainers make it unnecessary for employers to pay the wages they should pay to skilled telegraphers.

We all condemn the man who comes around and offers to work our own particular job for less money than we are getting. Why not in the name of heaven condemn the man who offers to work some other brother's job for less money? We are all in the same boat.

Every non-member or delinquent who remains outside the fold is hurting you and I through our pocketbook just as truly as if he came up and offered his services for less than a decent, self-respecting man must have to properly support his family.

Organizing week, if it brought about no other result, was successful in making everybody think at the same time and with the same mind.

There will be another organizing week in the near future. But don't sit idle in the meantime and think the nons and delinquents are less dangerous because they are not being held up to the scorn of publicity.

Every member owes it to his own self-preservation—and that means the self-preservation of his family—to line up that non alongside of him.

W. U. PROFITS $3,000,000 FROM WAGE CUTS WITH AID OF A. W. E.

The Western Union Telegraph Company shows an increase in net income for the first nine months of 1922 of $2,668,873 in the face of a decrease in gross revenues of $424,370. How did they do it?

The employes of the company will have difficulty in realizing that practically all of this was taken out of their hides, pockets, earnings or whatever else may be used to express the fact that they were the goats. This fact is demonstrated by the decrease in operating expenses of $3,302,927.

A telegraph official once expressed himself in this way:

"What else can we do when ordered to reduce expenses, except take it out of the employes; our rents are fixed, we must pay the same rate for our power, our lights, our supplies of all kinds; taxes, interest and other charges go on in poor times as well as in good times, so the only place we can economize is in wages. So we get rid of the higher priced help wherever we can during a dull period and use cheaper help. That is the only way we have of carrying out orders to reduce expenses, by doing with less help and having them work for less wages."

It will be remembered that about a year ago overtime rates were abolished by the Western Union and other economies effected without protest from the A. W. E. Instead of trying to save the workers the officers of the A. W. E. threw away the only defense they had when they surrendered their right to arbitrate.

Truly the A. W. E. is an expensive organization for the Western Union Employes. Even a child can see that it cost the employes, members of the A. W. E. and non-members alike, in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 in the first nine months of this year, because if they had a real union to protect them no such wage slashing and cutting of overtime rates would have been permitted.

LABOR MOVEMENT PSYCHOLOGY

BY PAUL P. SCHNUR

Vice-President for Canada

He who would know the labor movement, its discontent and idealism, its hatred and love, its bitterness and enthusiasm, must strive to understand its psychology. Without such understanding it is not possible to appreciate the true character or real significance of its power over the lives of those who are part of it.

The labor union developed primarily as an instrument of self defense. The hope of greater security is the motive which drives the average worker into a labor organization. The labor union is the instrument of defense which the individual uses, an instrument built with effort and suffering to serve as a bulwark against a harsh, indifferent and changing world which gives no thought to the individual.

Unless we see the labor movement as an irresistible coming together of men and women for purposes of greater security, we cannot and do not understand the labor movement at all. In this irresistible coming together of industrial workers we realize but too well the fealousies, short-sightedness and bickerings over petty things. What is obvious, however, is that without planning we find ourselves generally uniting and developing instruments for common action and self protection. It is the immutable law of nature.

Ambitions of Self-Seeking Individuals

In the slow but sure development of the trade union there is always to be found a desire, on the part of self-seeking individuals, for conspicuousness. Such individuals with their selfish tactics usually succeed in halting, for a negligible length of time, the onward march of progress.

In our own organization we have those who lend an attentive and gullible ear to lime-lighting rascals who are out to further their own selfish ends.

The individual in the commercial telegraph industry is dependent on the collective strength of his fellow workers in the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America for his security. Is it not foolhardy to let limelighters of notorious insincerity creep into our defensive circle and succeed, in no matter how small a measure, to disrupt our solidarity?

Anyone who nowadays asks you to forsake your collective medium of defense—the only medium which has proved itself adequate—to join his "meal ticket" organization of questionable origin but obvious destination, should immediately be classed as a slithering rattlesnake who is striking at the very vitals of your industrial security.

Insidious Campaign of Traitors Will Be Defeated

We find ourselves face to face with the same insidious campaign of destruction that other organizations have had to fight in the past several years. And as other organizations have successfully defeated such destructive campaigns, so shall we defeat the dastardly purposes of our back-biting traitors. It remains to be seen just how long we are going to stand for their propaganda. All the lies in the category of expert liars are at the disposal of our "Industrial Saviours" and it is just a question of running the gamut.

It is not so much our employers we are called upon to fight. It is those who were of ourselves, now turned Judas. We spend time and money that could be put to a better purpose in healing the bruises on our buttocks caused by the vicious kicks of the frenzied loafers who are trying to wreck the organization we have builded with suffering and heart-rending effort.

The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America is an organization of the workers and its affairs are administered by the workers. We are here to stay because we are right and we know that right must prevail.

To those few who have turned against us we can but say they deserve their fate—the fate that is reserved for those who exile themselves from their Union because they have attempted her ruin, and shall have at the same time to see the prosperity and honor to which she rises when she has rid herself of them and their iniquities.

MORE POWER TO VOX POPULI!

"The Viewpoint" as expressed by various writers in the September and October Journal gladdens the hearts of those who love the Union. While the views expressed appear, on the surface, to be slightly contradictory, the essence, being thoroughly masticated and digested, all comes out of the hopper as good, rich, red union blood. When the boys "take their pens in hand," they are beginning to feel deeply. The thought processes are stirred, energy generated and action follows. More power to Vox Populi!

The Journal is getting to be so good that we had to write a hot letter to the editor when ours failed to show.

Having warmed our toes at the flames of "burning criticism," been informed that our "intelligence" (?) had been insulted and read the dignified explanations of our victimized committeemen, what are we going to do about it? What are we going to do for our committeemen whom we sent empty-handed to do battle with "the enemy" while we alternately prodded their rear with pitchforks to make 'em go on and fight and refused them arms, ammunition and moral support? They deserve our thanks and humble apologies.

We all wanted and felt entitled to a raise this year. We are beginning to feel more so now and that feeling will grow and grow as prices keep going up. How can the men who engaged in unethical peanut politician tactics justify themselves before the bar of their own consciences? The rest of us understand them and know their hearts are all right, but what must they think of themselves?

Each of us must hold a secret session with our souls and apply the lash to our own egotism. And then—

Take off our coats and go out next time, to do battle as Americans should—disciplined, loyal, aggressive, confident!

To accomplish anything real and lasting, we must have a real and unshakable organization—that means, each individual must get out and do some organizing. Get the habit.

To work together intelligently for a given purpose, we must all understand the issues—read the Journal. Talk things over with the boys. Write to our friends. Read union labor literature.

ARTHUR REX GRAHAM.

I. N. S. MEN, ON YOUR TOES!

You are electing general committeemen for 1923. Grave danger lurks around the corner if you go wrong. You are WARNED that powerful influences are hard at work within your ranks to elect to office men "ACCEPTABLE TO THE I. N. S. MANAGEMENT."

We pass the palm for unadulterated copper lined guts to the writer of a document received at International Headquarters just before the Journal is put to bed. For publication in this issue and addressed to "All Members I, N, S, and Cosmos" this unabashed possessor of concrete mentality would drivel to you thusly:

"Conservatively progressive" and "acceptable to the management." Hells bells, can you beat those qualifications for I. N. S. general committeemen representing red-blooded Union men!

And, incidentally, this advocate and sponsor of "conservatively-progressive-acceptable-to-the-management" candidates for general committeemen is himself delin-quent although working one of the best jobs in the service,

THE NEW CONSTITUTION FOR ILLINOIS

By S. J. Konenkamp

For the first time since 1870, and for the fifth time since the state was organized, the people of Illinois are now being called upon to vote on December 12 for or against a new constitution. They are to accept all or none of a large number of proposed changes in their basic law. Hence this particular election, coming as it does not more than once or twice in a lifetime, is of greater importance than a presidential election.

The proposed constitution presents the greatest danger that has confronted the people of Illinois in years. The changes proposed have alarmed all the liberal and progressive voters in the state who believe the constitution if adopted would, in the last analysis, make us all subjects of a judicial oligarchy possessing greater powers than many of the crowned heads of Europe.

The language used in the new proposals is full of pitfalls, uncertainties, and words of double meaning, with insidious changes in words that would indicate a deliberate attempt to deceive and hoodwink the voters of the state. For example, by changing the word "laws" in the old constitution to read "law" in the proposed (Section 18) draft, we find in reading the address to the people, prepared by the convention (page 13), and other changes (Sections 86, 92 and 93), that there is a shifting of power from the legislature to the judiciary that is of vital importance.

By using the definite adjective "the" instead of the indefinite "a" (Article 21) there is an attempt made to forever prevent the people of Illinois from adopting the initiative, referendum and recall by declaring the republican form of government of this state shall never be abandoned, modified or impaired. And there are other changes in wording just as important.

By adding new sections (Sections 92, 93 and 1220) and changing others (Sections 20 and 86) the convention proposes unlimited powers be granted to the judiciary, making it the dominating branch of the government. The powers granted the supreme court to make binding declarations of right or declaratory judgments (Section 122) can only be understood fully after the supreme court itself sets its limitations. In this grant of unlimited power the system of check and counter-check as emphasized by the equality of the executive, legislative and judicial branches, each with a check upon the other, is to be abandoned, and this is the republican form of government referred to in Section 21 of the proposed constitution.

The judiciary instead of the legislature is made the source of law (Sections 18, 20 and $6). The power to create new courts is taken away from the legislature (Section 86) and the supreme court is given political patronage by having it appoint officers formerly elected (Sections 94, 97, 109,110 and 117). These, with their retinue of assistants and subordinates, would run up into the hundreds, thereby changing the highest judicial body in the state into what a former governor and judge declares will be a "political brokerage institution." The change would undoubtedly make the supreme court of Illinois the greatest political football in the state.

The bill of rights, instead of being returned unimpaired, as alleged by proponents of the new constitution, is now offered without the guarantee of the right of bail held so sacred in the past (Section 6); the right of a trial by jury is no longer to be inviolate (Sec. 5); the new judiciary powers endanger the writ of habaes corpus (Section 93), and the attorney general of the state is given powers of arrest never before proposed to the people of this state (Section 8). By adding a sentence (Section 3), permitting the reading of the Bible in schools, the seed is sown for some decidedly un-Christian-like quarreling over religion; and by the phraseology of a section (Section 19), purporting to protect negroes in Illinois they endanger the laws governing working women just as the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution, adopted to protect the negroes after the Civil war, has been construed to make remedial labor legislation in the United States almost impossible.

Instead of changing the revenue features to provide for a more equitable system of taxation, the convention retains all the unsatisfactory features of the old constitution, and provides for an income tax (Sec-This provision, instead of betion 142) ing a declaration of basic principles to guide the legislature, is accompanied by legislation embodied in the constitution that taxes all incomes of over $500 for single persons and $1,000 for those who are married, with a series of exemptions that are extremely helpful to all except wage earners and those deriving incomes from personal service. And then, the maximum tax is limited to three times the minimum rate (Sections 143, 144, 145). Important words are omitted (Section 47) that would permit public service companies and others to repudiate their obligations to the people, and, by exempting certain lands from taxation under the forestry sections (Sections 57 and 146), the way is opened for successful tax dodging by large landholders and possibly to secure a subsidy from the state as well. On the other hand, pensions of all kinds where state funds might be used are endangered, and financial aid to charitable corporations are virtually prohibited (Section 157).

The sections dealing with banks (Section 49), with waterways (Sections 230 and 231), and the striking out of some sections dealing with railroads are among many other objectionable features.

The so-called home rule provisions for Cook County and Chicago give the people little that they may not now enjoy by statute (Sections 178 et seq.), but this is used as a basis for forever denying the people of Cook County proportionate representation (Section 23) as guaranteed by the compact of 1787, and for establishing a permanent government by a minority in the state. None of the so-called liberal sections offer anything to the people of Cook County that is worth while in lieu of their right of proportionate representation.

Even the most favorable features of the proposed constitution are open to criticism because the convention has not dealt frankly in discussing vital questions in its address to the people. This address, together with the minutes of the convention, will furnish the basis for future judicial construction of the constitution if adopted, and these minutes will not be available to the public until several months after the vote on the proposed constitution is taken. It is a matter of record that the convention ignored the expressed instruction of the people; that corporation lawyers and big business interests were guiding influences among the delegates and are now supporting the proposed draft, while the liberal and labor forces of the state are actively opposing it, under the guidance of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, the Public Ownership League and the Peoples Protective League, which was recently organized for that purpose.

The voters cannot accept part and reject other parts of the proposition. They must vote upon the 233 sections of the constitution and 35 sections of the schedule. accepting all or none. The opponents in urging the defeat of the proposed document are also advocating that the same forces shall later on work for one amendment that will amend the amending clause of the constitution of 1870. If this is done the really necessary changes in the present basic law of the state may be made in a more careful manner by disposing of one subject at a time and by having that subject presented in a manner that the people of the state may cast an intelligent and discriminating ballot.

A STEP FORWARD IN SENDING MACHINES

The National Transmitter Co. of Jersey City announce a new semi-automatic sending machine that promises to revolutionize the art of mechanical Morse transmission.

This new device is very attractive in appearance, and produces signals that are clean cut and even, that give them greater strength and more "pep" than it has been possible to obtain in sending machines that have been on the market up to this time. The long standing fear that telegraphers have had of losing their "grip" is eliminated in this new device by the introduction of a rubber cushion carried by the lever which prevents any jars to the nerve muscles.

The initial machines that have been placed in the hands of the agents in all sections of the country have shown a wonderful carrying capacity that promises to give instant popularity to the new machine.

The Dununit is the invention of Thos. J. Dunn, who for the past fifteen years has been a recognized authority on transmitting machines, and the National Transmitter Co. guarantee that this model is the best that this well known inventor has produced during his long career in the transmission field.

ROY HOWARD, NEWSPAPER MAGNATE

Roy W. Howard, former President of the United Press and known to hundreds of C. T. U. A. press operators throughout the country, is now one of the controlling heads of the greatest chain of newspapers under single ownership in the world—the Scrippe-Howard Newspapers, which succeeds the Scrippe-McRae League. Robert P. Scrippe is associated with Mr. Howard. The rise of Mr. Howard from a newspoy in Indianapolis to joint control of 25 daily newspapers in 25 years is a record that can hardly be paralleled.

The Scripps-Howard Newspapers comprise the following publications:

Birmingham Post, Sacramento Star, San Diego Sun, San Francisco News, Denver Express, Washington (D. C.) News, Evansville Press, Terre Haute Post, Des Moines News, Indianapolis Times, Covington Post, Akron Press, Cincinnati Post, Cleveland Press, Columbus Citisen, Toledo News-Bee, Youngstown Telegram, Okiahoma News, Memphis Press, Knoxville News, Houston Press, Fort Worth Press, El Paso Post, Norfolk Post and the Baltimore Post.

Under C. T. U. A. Contract

In addition the syndicate controls the United Press Associations, with which the C. T. U. A. has maintained a schedule for 15 years; the Newspaper Enterprise Association, Inc., the Newspaper Information Service, the Newspaper Supply Company, Inc., and Allied Newspapers, Inc., a foreign advertising agency.

Mr. Howard aided in the organization of the United Press in 1907 and in 1908 became general news manager. From the time the first contract was made with the C. T. U. A. in 1907, Mr. Howard has had an active share in continuing the good relations that have existed from then to the present day. He became President in 1912 when only 29 years old and retired in favor of W. W. Hawkins in 1920,

The Commercial Telegraphers' Journal congratulates Mr. Howard on his deserved success and extends to him its hearty wishes for continued achievements.

CANADIAN PRINTERS REAP BIG BENEFIT FROM INTERNATIONALISM

The annual reports of the officers of the I. T. U. show in detail the amounts received from each union in Canada, and the benefits paid thereto during the fiscal year ending May 31, 1922. The tabulation does not show the sum expended to maintain Canadian members at the Home, the expenses of Representatives in Canada, refund of soldiers' dues, or assistance given to Conferences. The total receipts amounted to $595,865.59 and expenditures $2,144,932.07. In other words, the 1. T. U. expended in Canada four times as much as the Canadian unions have contributed. MICHAEL J. TOBIN .

MIKE TOBIN DIES

After an illness lasting nearly a year, Bro. M. J. Tobin, 51, of 2034 Franklin Street, Toledo, O., died Friday, November 10, from throat trouble. Brother Tobin underwent several operations, the last one performed about three months ago, from which he failed to recover.

Brother Tobin was born in Toledo, and in 1897 entered the employ of the Scripps-McRae Press Association, which later merged into the United Press, and in whose employ he remained continuously until his death. He was a member of the C. T. U. A. "Since Organized"—20 years.

As the oldest telegrapher in point of service in the United Press employ; as a continuous member of the C. T. U. A. since, organized in 1902; as a member of the first schedule committee for the Scripps-McRae Syndicate, and again for the United Press Associations, Bro. Tobin established a union record that anyone would be proud to possess.

Bro. Tobin entered the press service of the Scrippe-McRae Syndicate in 1898, and was their telegrapher at the Toledo News-Bee from that time until his death.

When Toledo Local No. 72 of the C.T. U. A. was organized in 1902 Bro. Tobin was a charter member. When the press telegraphers started their first schedule negotiations Bro. Tobin was selected as a member of the committee that secured the first union press agreement in the history of the Commercial Telegraphers in 1905, and from then until 1913 he served on the general committee, first of the Scripps-

McRae and later of the United Press Associations when that organization took over the smaller press service.

When the Western Union attempted to force the United Press Association to break its agreement with the C. T. U. A. in 1908, by threatening to discontinue renting of its wires to the U. P. if it persisted in maintaining a union shop, Bro. Tobin was one of the committee that found a way of getting over this difficulty. His vigorous but nevertheless pleasant manner of convincing the late "Ham" Clark, then president of the U. P., that the Middle West must have more money was referred to for many years.

When a messenger bolted into the conference room with a roll of linoleum about nine feet long, Mike concluded his remarks by saying:

"Here it is, Mr. Clark—a petition from the West to support my argument." It was a turning point in negotiations, and Mike got what he wanted.

During the twenty years of his union membership Bro. Tobin never shirked any duty imposed on him. He was noted for the prompt payment of dues, every assessment was paid promptly and to the last penny, and every committee found Bro. Tobin rallying his circuit to support the union's program.

The long service as a press telegrapher, with its nerve strain and close application to duty, began to tell upon Bro. Tobin some time ago, and after an illness of six months he passed away on November 10 in his fifty-first year. His wife, Mrs. Regina Tobin, survives him. With her the members of the C. T. U. A. mourn his departure, and in paying this well-earned tribute to his memory our thought is that Bro. Tobin was one of the few that could stand all tests of character.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Tobin in her bereavement.

Manion, President of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, is President of the new bank, which will be conducted along the lines of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' Co-Operative National Bank of Cleveland, Ohio, and will have a capital stock of $500,000 and an initial surplus of $100,000.

I. N. S. SETS RADIO RECORD

For the first time in history radio telegraphy has been utilized to transmit a full press association news report across the continent.

Due to severe sleet, snow and wind storms in the Rocky Mountain region and the crippled service on land lines, the International News Service transmitted a full election service from New York to San Francisco by radio through the co-operation of the Radio Corporation of America.

Transmission from the New York office to the newspaper offices in San Francisco was as fast as that obtained over land lines under ordinary conditions.

The conductor of a freight sent the brakeman forward to put off a tramp they had seen board the train just as it was pulling out.

The brakeman went forward, but when he came to the tramp he found himself gazing into the barrel of a gun, and was ordered back to the rear and informed he might as well stay there and save himself some trouble. The brakeman returned to the caboose.

"Did you get him off?" inquired the conductor.

"No," replied the brakeman. "I couldn't put him off. He's a cousin of mine."

"Well, I'm not troubled with that kind of relatives. "I'll put him off," stormed the conductor, angrily.

After a time the conductor quietly returned.

"Did you put him off?" the grinning brakeman asked.

"No; he's a cousin of mine, too," the conductor replied.

Conducted by Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21 feeting Date: Second Wednesday of Each Month at Union of Commerce Hail, 140 Berri St., Montreal.

-Organize-Co-operate-

MONTREAL NOTES

At the regular meeting on October 11, Bro. Jack O'Donnell was appointed Local Secretary-Treasurer and Correspondent of the Eastern District to succeed Bro. Mike McFadden, who left Montreal for the Big Town. We trust he will get all the breaks going outside the regulation "BK" for Mike sure deserves his full share of all the good luck going. The Local has lost a popular, enthusiastic worker, and the Street has lost one of the best in the biz. 73's, Mike.

On Friday, October 27, the Local held a smoker in conjunction with Organization Week, inviting all broker and leased wire operators, including "Nons." SOME big success. All we can say is that all those who did not attend certainly missed one of the best times in a life time. To those who took part in speech-making and entertainment and not forgetting the Committee composed of Bros. Weston, McKenna and Poulin, also Local Chairman Hartley, who worked so hard and were instrumental in making it the grand success it was, the boys who attended all express their appreciation and thanks. Let us not forget Bro. Schrader in the above names. Harry surely showed a barrel of "Pep" in more ways than one and comes in for a special "Thank You."

Bro. Laprague of "RA" was a guest at the Smoker and delighted all those present with a few of his numbers. As a warbler Guy sure has all the qualities, and if encores mean anything all those present were of the same mind.

A pleasing feature of the Smoker was the presentation from the platform to Bro. Eddie Cohen of a much decorated Ham Sandwich. Eddie is so busy these days, etc. (mostly, etc.) that he hardly finds time to eat and having a special liking for Ham Sandwiches the Committee rose to the occasion. Eddie expressed his appreciation in a few well chosen words and gave a demonstration of how a ham sandwich should be eaten and really enjoyed.

Vice-President Schnur presided at the Smoker and says it was one of the most He agrees with the other guests that Montreal is one enjoyable evenings spent.

fine town for such an occasion.

Bro. Schriver of Laidlaws is taking his vacation in the "wilds" after "Big" game. Having tired of the indoor pastime of frolicking with Bulls and Bears, Bro. Schriver is after King Moose and the boys wish him all the luck in the world and look forward to a nice steak. Bro. McKenna is holding down Bro. Schriver's seat at Laidlaws during his absence.

The Organizing Committee composed of Bros. McKenna, Short, Weston, Poulin and Schrader spent a very busy week "Organizing Week" and present results indicate their labors were not in vain. General Chairman DesLauriers has also been a very busy officer in this respect landing not a few "Nons" and "Delinks." are a few "hang-outs" yet, however, whom we hope to have lined up before the first of the year. Keep after 'em boys with no let-up and make it 100 per cent.

The Special Assessment levied last December in order to build up a local fund for emergencies such as unemployment, etc., has been discontinued as of September 30, last. However, we are sorry to say that the majority of members are still in arrears as regards this assessment, and this is a further request to such members to please pay up just as soon as possible. From present indications we are in for a very hard winter as regards members unemployed, there being several "On the Block" just now, and our local fund being at the nursing stage just yet, will be inadequate to take care of these members, as they should be, unless every member in the arrears steps up and pays. The amount of the assessment was small, being only fifty cents per member per month or five dollars for the ten months, but however small it is going to help a lot. There are members outside of Montreal who are more prompt in paying than those who are right here. As an example there is a Brother in Halifax nearly 1,000 miles away, who never has a chance to meet the boys as we do in Montreal. All he has is his Journal and the minutes of a meeting now and again. He does not even get a dues or assessment notice for he is always on the job in that respect. Now, that's UNIONISM and a fine example for any District, especially for Montreal members, who have everything that this member has not got in the way of meetings, entertainments, etc. There are members also, whom we do not see at a meeting from one year to another, but who live within half an hour's walk or ten minutes' ride from the hall. Get some Pep, men, and don't leave it all for a half a dozen of the fellows to do. Our meetings are the second Wednesday of each month, so get the habit and come around occasionally at least.

Members of the Montreal District Council are working hard these days getting ready for their grand dance to be held on Thursday, November 30, at the Stanley Hall, Stanley street. A good night's entertainment is in store for all those who attend. This is for a worthy cause, the proceeds to be used for the Annual Convention to be held in Montreal next summer. The balance will be distributed among the different locals, we understand, to help take care of the unemployed. Tickets may be secured from any of the officers of this local or from Bro, Schrader.

At our regular monthly meeting, held on October 11, a resolution was moved, the substance of which is as follows:

"Whereas, the annual dues of the Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21 are but twelve dollars ($12) and inadequate to meet the needs of our growing responsibilities, And, whereas, our Brothers in the Commercial Divisions are paying annual dues of Fifteen Dollars ($15), And, whereas, our Sister Broker Divisions, across the Line, have for the past year had their annual dues set at Eighteen Dollars ($18).

"Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the annual dues of the Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21 be increased to Sixteen Dollars ($16), beginning January 1, 1923, And Be It

Further Resolved, that this resolution be submitted to the General membership for referendum."

At the same meeting a motion was carried that the Special Assessment levied last December, of fifty cents per month per member, be discontinued as of September 30, 1922. So the membership will readily see the object of the above resolution is to get away from these Special Assessments, which are a drag on any Organization and a cause of discontent among many of its members. The outside Districts will therefore return their ballots, after voting, just as soon as possible.

(Signed)

L. H. Deslauriers, General Chairman

TORONTO NOTES

We were pleased to have our old friend "Mickey" Mara with us at the last meeting. Attaboy Mickey, keep up the good work and you will be elected trainer of the Hockey Team.

Bro. Eddie Byrne was an absentee. How come, Eddie, have you not recovered from the shock of picking the Yanks. As a picker, Eddie sure does grab off the Oyster's Ankles.

Bro. Don Cameron and Jim LeGarde were with the gang last night. Fine biz, ole timers, keep up the good work. Wonder what the girls have to say about it. Oi yoi.

The Bulls and Bears Hockey Team composed of Telegraph Operators who work for the different broker and bond houses in Toronto organized again this year and expect to be more successful than last year, when they finished second in the Western City League. With the following officers elected we should make it go. Hon. President Wm. Smart; President, Wm. Watts; Vice-President, Geo. Flannery; Manager, Harry Carlton. As the players keep up the financial end of the team we decided that we could make a better success of things if we had some outside help. We wish to congratulate the other Telegraph Operators around the street who are non-players for the generous support. You gotta hand it to our gang, when it comes to handing out money to help the team they are right there with both hands. We hope we will not be a disappointment to the boys.

Bro. Askin of Johnston and Ward was at our last meeting. Welcome to the fold Tom, ole kid.

Bro. Geo. Slade also took the moth balls out and decided it was too cold to be with the gang. Attaboy, George, bring Curt along next time. How about using cave man tactics on Pete?

We still have a few delinquents who are surely hardbeiled, but we may make it hot enough for them yet, and show them the way out of the fog.

Easy.

OHIO BROKER DIVISION

On Tuesday evening, October 24, President R. H. Johnson addressed a meeting at Hotel Olmsted, Cleveland, and was received with the greatest enthusiasm. President Johnson spoke on the progress, activities, financial conditions, accomplishments and plans for the Commercial Telegraphers' Union.

The meeting was attended by practically all broker and press telegraphers in Cleveland, and some commercial men also were present. As it was President Johnson's first visit to Cleveland since his election, much interest was manifest in hearing his talk.

Everyone present expressed the greatest satisfaction with the information they received, and to say they were pleased with Brother Johnson's personality is putting it mildly.

After Brother Johnson finished, every person present, who was not already a member, had signed application for membership, which in itself speaks the confidence and support President Johnson commands.

Charles B. Carnall, Cleveland, Winkelman's, has sold his newly constructed home on Lakeland Ave., and is building another in the same vicinity, which, by the way, is one of the finest sections of the city.

Herb, B. Rankin and Fred W. Agnew are both sporting brand new cars. They're not Lis's either, Paul Martin, Findlay, paid us a visit recently. Paul's farming activities this summer have been productive of good earnings, judging from the "Morganic" appearance he presented.

Howard Lewton, one of our most prominent sportsmen, has recently returned from a hunting trip in northern Michigan. His success was verified by several of our boys who gathered at his home to help store the winter's supply of venison.

"Jack" G. Adams, of Tillotson Wolcott Co., Cleveland, is scratching his head wondering what it is all about. At the meeting at the Olmsted several members expressed themselves as meeting Jack before, and all added "he sure does fling a wicked hand."

"Andy" Turner of the Eastern Broker Div. paid us a visit recently, meeting some of his co-workers heretofore known only over the wire. When Andy was with the A. P. in New York he was rated as their only 100 per cent efficient sender.

WHO WAS THE FIRST BROKER OPERATOR?

The recent marriage, at the age of 85, of Horace Leslie Hotchkiss, a broker on the New York Stock Exchange, brings to mind that it was Mr. Hotchkiss who first introduced the telegraph wire as an adjunct of the brokerage business, says the New York Evening Mail.

Shortly after the Civil War Mr. Hotchkiss caused a private line to be strung from his downtown office to the old Fifth Avenue Hotel. Other brokers were credulous about the success of this venture. Some frankly said Mr. Hotchkiss had lost his head, but within a day or two, when there came over the wire a commission for handling a block of some 40,000 shares, the brokers almost en masse hastened to go and do likewise.

The thousands of miles of private wires stretching from New York, Boston and Chicago to all parts of the United States give testimony to the foresight of this veteran of the Stock Exchange.

The chronicler neglects to give the name of the first telegrapher to work a brokerage wire. Perhaps some of our young old-timers can enlighten us and history give proper credit to the man who gave birth to one of the most essential aids to the financial world.

Believing that the RELAY needs a little oil now and then, I have concocted the following in my laboratory and offer it to that most-cussed-out-man—the editor. If he wields his pernicious blue pencil on my brain storm, he does two things; blights my hopes as a columnist and gets himself additional cussing. But if he prints it there will be about another gallon of oil on his desk next month. So, now that we understand each other, Ed., take your choice.

Many of the leading newspapers did not lose the opportunity to "box" and augment editorially the story from Pennsylvania that a miner had made something over $200 in two weeks, or over $500 in one month. They failed to enlighten their gullible readers that such large earnings are indeed rare occurrences in the mining industry and is made possible only by striking a "soft spot," where the coal responds prolifically to the pick. These disseminators of poison against union labor would have us believe that ALL union miners may earn this much. As a matter of fact these same editors would not have the moral courage to enter a coal mine if they were assured $500 in one day.

If you haven't decided how to spend your Xmas bonus yet, don't forget that part of it could be used for your 1923 annual, which is off the press and waiting for your remittance.

We hear there's a big campaign on for new members and that prizes are offered. If we have to pay ourselves to strengthen ourselves, guess we will just have to pay ourselves.

No, Mickey, the fact that I have appointed myself editor of "Relay Oil" gives no one license to call me an oil can.

We, for one, are thoroughly disgusted with Chi. Every time we wander into the big town it's tag day.

Well, at any rate we have one thing to be thankful for—we have no Labor Board to "impartially" decide what's best for us.

We hear there's a few NONS in Chi. To them we say: "Those who go to bed with the dogs, must expect to get up with the fleas."

With Mickey McDaniel at the seat of eruptions, much can be expected. We know him. Give him an ounce of support and he will give you a pound of result.

People in the progress of civilization have traveled from cannibalism to vegetarianism; governments have marched through barbarism, through tyranny and monarchy up to republicanism. Labor has advanced from slavery through the feudal system up to our present state of democratic organization. Yet, there are many telegraph operators, supposedly intelligent people, who gamble with independence, yes, with liberty itself, by not supporting their union.

Of course, no one conversant with the Trades Union Movement and the tactics used by the capitalistic class against us was surprised to read the various editorials of approval for the recent injunction contained in our daily newspapers.

Leading men in the steel industry assured President Harding that they would examine closely into the evils of the twelve-hour day. They appointed a committee. That's the last of it. Ever since Andrew Carnegie admitted that the long hours imposed an unnecessary hardship, committees have been sporadically appointed, but the poor serfs continue to have their lives sapped out at the rate of twelve hours a day, including Sundays.

In 1914 broker salaries on La Salle street were $35. Today they are about $50—this applies in the majority of cases; the minimum being still lower—or an increase of 43 per cent against 100 per cent in the cost of living and 100 per cent and over in commissions charged by brokers. In other words, broker telegraphers are shy 57 per cent, based on the cost of living alone, not counting the increased efficiency of eight years' more experience. Of course, workers will never receive all that's coming to them, but they can receive something in the neighborhood of what they should. SEVENTY per cent increase since 1914 would be reasonable enough, or $60, per week—in the majority of cases—the maximum for more skilled workers always taking care of itself. Can this be done? Easy! Give President McDaniel your support and the rest is easy. If you don't want a salary you are entitled to, stay out of the union.

With Xmas and its bonuses (maybe) approaching, the open season for hand-shakers and front office dasch-hunds is now declared open.

With the baby divisions in Michigan, Ohio and the Southwest steadily growing into husky youngsters, much can be expected. We have everything in common, boys. Let's co-operate in every respect. If you run across a NON in our territory don't fail to let him know what you think of him and we'll do likewise.

There are a thousand and one reasons why we should support our union, but a NON cannot give you a single reason why we should not have a union. Who is right? Therefore, will you be right or wrong?

HEADQUARTERS NOTES

Next regular meeting SATURDAY, NO-VEMBER 25TH. Take an interest in the affairs of your organization and attend the meetings.

Former Secretary Chas, Kruse dropped in from the land of "Sunshine and Gold" (bring your own gold with you) a few days ago. Chas, says the atmosphere in God's country is wonderful—but who can live on the atmosphere? Glad to have you with us, Chas.

Brother Buckley of Zeiler and Co. drops around quite often to give us the low down on the market movement. Bob says he sees no reason for selling this market, therefore intimating that he is a BULL. We hope you are instrumental in squeezing the shorts, Bob, as we have several in this firm who are short one Union card.

A. W. (Andy) Nelson, who has been confined in a hospital in Oak Forest for the past year or so, always appreciates a visitor or a few words from the boys around the street. We are pulling for you, Andy, old top, and hope you will be with us again soon.

Brother M. E. (Mike) Donohue called at headquarters a few days ago looking fine and in good spirits. Call again, Mike; always glad to see you.

George Grant, a true Western Broker Division "Booster," left for Davenport, where he will be located with Harris-Winthrop. Luck be with you, George.

Organization Week is over, but the W. B. D. campaign is still on. We should have several more applications before the end of the year. Who's next? Step forward, please.

What good is a promise if you do not keep it? (Nons and Delinks please copy.)

Brothers Goodale and Walters' organization work is beginning to bear fruit. The combination, Red and Ray, or Rough and Ready, will be rewarded some day. So will the nons whom you are working on if you can convince them to crawl over to the right side of the fence.

Windsor McKay's recent editorial, based on "THEY SAY" and "I HEAR," should be a severe blow to the scandal-mongers. Call a SPADE a SPADE, and throw away your HAMMER and get a HORN; we are bound to progress.

Bartlett-Frazier & Co. have taken over the wire system of G. B. Van Ness & Co., Ricketts and York moving over with the wires. You are with a regular firm now, boys; good luck to you.

Brother Sandall caught on at Paine-Weber & Co. Atta-boy, Sandy.

Insure yourself before the end of the year by taking out a card now. "NO CARD, NO FAVORS." Your 1923 Annual is now ready.

Brother McCoy is back at Logan and Bryans, after spending a couple of years with Van Ness & Co.

(REMEMBER THE BROTHERS WHO ARE UNEMPLOYED,)

Call WABASH 1426

when you hear of 'a job either in the city or out of town.

The plaudits of the world are as fickle as a woman's whims—actions speak louder than words.

President McDaniel, accompanied by several of the W. B. D. Chicago boys, among them former Secretary Kruse and Brother and Mrs. J. Murray, attended the dance and entertainment given by the Milwaukee Subdivision Friday evening, November 10th. I'll say we had a good time, and believe me, those Milwaukeeans left nothing undone when it came to seeing that we enjoyed ourselves. Never mind, we will reciprocate some day, Brother Carl Bell was seen riding on a Lake Street "L" a few nights ago. Were you looking for a washerwoman, Carl?

Brother John Douglas Miller, who left for Atlanta a few weeks ago, has moved on down to New Awlins. Sho nuff, Mister Jack, we are following you.

The situation on the coast seems to be rather disgruntled. My advice to the boys out West is get together while the getting is good.

Brother W. E. (Bill) Feaster arrived from New York a few days ago. We all remember Bill—even though he was in JOIAET, when the whistle blew at Bennetts, he heard it.

Along with your Xmas savings please save a few extras for your 1923 card.

NEXT REGULAR MEETING, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25TH. Please help your officers by attending the meetings and urge someone else to come with you. 1:30 P. M. is the time.

The days are short now—but the boys on the coast say they are getting longer out their way. Improve conditions by solidifying yourselves.

See you next month, 73s.

W. A. HARRIMAN & CO., INC.

Bro. Frank E. Hailstone (Kid Sleetrocks) announces the arrival of an eightpound baby girl at his house. Both mother and kiddle doing fine. So far he has not passed around the ropes but we are looking for them. Make 'em good ones, Frank. It's getting cold now and we can't keep the windows open.

Bro. Johnny Jones continues to pick the lemons. He lost a bet on the Georgia-Maroon game, but he still remains loyal to the Sunny South. Atta-boy, Johnny; Carp. needs the money.

Bro. Bill Heckinger says, "Ain't this world's series stuff HELL?" Wonder what he means?

Bro. Fred Leibrock helped out for the day during Hailstone's absence. Come again, Fred.

We're all afraid that the "Saxophone Kid" will soon have gray hair worrying about the day when Bro. Heckinger will accomplish the feat of knocking that chair clear out from under him as he rounds the east corner with a handful of stuff for the West. We are contemplating asking an appropriation to defray the expense of installing a traffic cop.

Who won that Michigan-Vanderbilt game, Johnny?

LOWITZ CHAPEL NOTES

E. Lowitz & Co. have opened a branch office in the WOW Bldg., Omaha, with George Bulloch as manager.

There has been no change in the lineup here for some time. All sitting tight waiting for the "Xmas bonus." And have the first twenty marked for their 1923 Annual.

"Red" Goodale moved in from his country home in Lombard the first of the month. The boys pulled the old time Hallow'en stunt on him, so he moved in to Austin, where they have modern plumbing.

We just heard our old friend, Earl King, who left here about a year ago, has landed as Jesse Livermore's private operator. Jesse used the same judgment in picking an operator that makes his operations in stocks successful, we will say. More power to you, King.

Brother Bert Thornton was away for a couple of days on account of sickness. Hope you are O. K. again, Bert, old top.

President McDaniel visited us a few days ago and the only one present was Brother Browner. We last saw Jimmie deeply interested and shaking his head as if to say, "Yes, that's right." You see how lucky you are, Jim, to be the dog once in a while.

Conducted by The New England Brokers' Division, Headquarters and Employment Bureau, No. 7 State Street, Hoston, Mass. By J. F. MULLEN, JR,

Regular monthly meetings at Headquarters, last Monday in the month.

Sunday, October 29, will long be remembered by the telegraphers of Boston, for on that date a representative gathering took place at the Hotel Bellevue on Beacon Hill.

Shortly after 3 o'clock a meeting was called to order in the parlor of the hotel by the President of the New England Broker Division, who read many letters from those who were not able to attend, among which were letters of regret from Bro. Shea of Oshkosh, Wis., and Bro. Decelles of Montreal, with checks attached.

President Johnson was then introduced and for two hours he gave a survey of the organization's activities, and at its conclusion answered questions for half an hour. He described in detail the conduct of affairs at the International office and then radiated therefrom to all the centers of activity throughout the country. He explained the secession movement in Canada and pointed out that there was no principle involved on the part of the secessionists, but that it was merely the result of disappointed ambitions of certain individuals who started the movement. He seemed to think that the secession movement would be short lived, and those who had harkened to the call for dual unionism would soon sense the spirit of the times, which is solidarity of the ranks and unity of purpose. He dwelt at length upon the Association of Western Union Employees, pointing out the concessions, such as they were, granted to W. U. employees through the company-owned "union," were only granted because of the continued existence of the C. T. U. A. And that as a consequence of economic conditions bound to arise at some future date the elements submitting to the dictates of the company-owned "union" would be compelled to turn to the C. T. U. A. for leadership to prevent their further degradation. The sporadic efforts to keep alive the company "union" is proof positive of the above facts.

When Roscoe started he said he was not much of a talker, but, after listening to him, we concluded he was a "straight-from-the-shoulder" spellbinder, a logical reasoner and a sound tactician.

The way he maneuvered at the conclusion to avoid an ovation was unique.

Bro. Conry, Vice-President of the C. T. U. A., followed after President Johnson, speaking briefly on local conditions, and pointing to the fact of the large attendance at the meeting, said that Boston was measuring up with the rest of the country in putting the C. T. U. A. in a position to ultimately be of great service to the telegraphers.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members marched to the dining room and partook of the good things and enjoyed the music arranged for by the committee. Bro. Michael J. Reidy acted as toastmaster and he sure did produce some laughs. A goodly number were called upon and responded, but the gem of the evening by all odds was "Roscoe's Dream." The party broke up before midnight and Hi Finn sang "How Dry I Am" in an anteroom to a selected audience.

LOCAL NOTES

George S. Hearon, better known as "Freddie," one of our old standbys since 1907, passed away at his home in Chelsea October 17 as the result of a shock suffered the previous evening. This was the second attack of the same nature within a short time.

"Freddie" was well known and much beloved by all telegraphers of the Eastern section, having served his time with the W. U., Postal, brokers and newspapers. For the past two years he was employed by G. F. Redmond & Co., which house, as well as the New England Broker Division, was well represented among the many floral tributes, and by a delegation at the funeral.

Frank Beede, notorious two-job man, is still at it—W. U. nights and E. M. Hamlin & Co. days. Harry Hutchins, another consistent two-jobber at the W. U., was inquiring as to the prospects of getting a broker's card, having learned that the N. E. B. D. had all the real broker jobs sewed up.

Now that election is over perhaps we may receive more attention in our claims which have been pending, it seems, so long. However, it is better to report progress, real progress, with the full feeling that the statement is true. We know that the patience of all of us has been severely tried but we still must maintain a stiff front, knowing ours is not in the form of a political favor by any means, after many pleas, for a long deferred justice.

At this writing our case has at least two important conferences in front of it and each time as we pass the many necessary steps and stages such a matter incurs success looms brighter at each step.

Continued courage and more patience are necessary. It hasn't been an easy matter, piles of work have been involved, and you will have more, much more, of the details later.

This is what does it:

"It is not the guns or armament,
"Or the money they can pay,
"It's the close co-operation
"That makes them win the day.
"It is not the individual "Or the army as a whole
"But the everlasting team work
"Of every bloomin' soul."

Election night, Nov. 7th, all our five Central Offices put in some busy sessions. The men in the big new office in Central park, Manhattan, took care of nearly 150 alarms from 9 A. M. to midnight. This is exclusive of still alarms handled by telephone. Among the alarms were 94 bonfires and 21 false alarms. The total involved the movements of 302 engine companies, 167 H. & L. companies, 141 chiefs, 21 fire boats, 11 water towers.

This is some showing, I'll say, and should be of some weight in the proper direction.

By the way: We should be getting one day off every seven days. Some of us are going eight and nine days without any time off since our winter vacations started. (We had no summer vacations this year.) And still it has been said we work only 277 days a year! No, brother, that doesn't jibe, how could it? Well, we're from Missouri.

BRIEFLETS

By special arrangement with Reuters, Ltd., the Canadian Press, Ltd., is establishing a direct news service between Canada and Australia. Formerly news communicated between the two countries had to pass between London, England.

Acting as arbitrator between newspaper printers and their employers, Mr. August Herrmann of Cincinnati ruled that 7½ hours would be the regular shift. Wages were increased $4.50 a week on morning newspapers and $4.45 on afternoon newspapers. This award makes the scale $56.25 a week for night work and $52.75 for day work.

Frank H. Lewis, aged 63 years, a veteran operator in the service of the Associated Press, died suddenly October 30th, while attending a baseball game in Chattanooga, Tenn. Mr. Lewis had been a telegraph operator for more than forty years. While in China, he is said to have installed the first telephone in the Celestial Empire.

Calgary's reputation as the leading telephone city on the North American continent, with one instrument in use for every 4.10 persons, will be maintained this year, according to E. Eachers, who is in charge of the production of the new telephone directory. The circulation of telephone directories in Calgary is approximately 32,000, and this year shows an increase of about 2,000.

Speaking of dancing, the return of the long skirt is a good thing for the dance, for it will do away with some of the freaky steps, because in long skirts girls will be unable to execute them easily. They would get their feet tangled up with their skirts if they tried to do the jazz steps. However that may be, when the late dances were introduced a certain article of wearing apparel interfered with the steps—and the girls parked it.

Western Union stockholders have no fear that the "wages" of their dollars will be deflated.

In its August financial statement the company reports that clear profits for that month were $583,391 in excess of August last year. For the first eight months of this year clear profits were $11,006,829, an increase of $2,827,201 over the same period last year.

It doesn't matter what is the name of the largest man alive. He is a Serbian and you couldn't pronounce it, anyhow. He is 34 years old; weighs 458 pounds; is 9 feet 3 inches tall, and he works on a farm in his homeland. Some farm hand! He could be pulling down a hundred berries a week in vaudeville in the United States, or more than that in the movies, but it makes him mad to have people staring at him, and, anyhow, he would rather work for his daddy on the farm and be with the home-town gang.

The Canadian Press, Ltd., at its Board of Directors' meeting held in Montreal, October 25th, elected the Oshawa (Ont.) Reformer, a tri-weekly paper, an associate member. The class of membership for papers which do not appear daily was adopted at the last annual meeting, but this is the paper to be so admitted. Plans for an augmented cable service in connection with the approaching British elections were approved.

The International News Service opened a relay station in Denver Saturday for the handling of Rocky Mountain news.

A new publication, EL PAIS, started in Havana on October 10th. The new newspaper, which is up-to-the-minute in every respect, both as to plant, editorial force, and wire service, is a "Liberal" party organ.

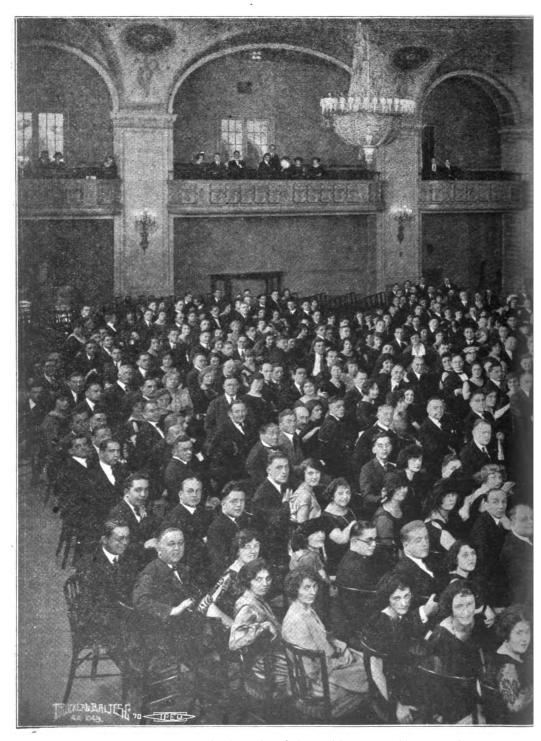

A service is being received direct from New York from The United Press.

Bro. Mal Doyle is handling the wire. He is a "card" man.

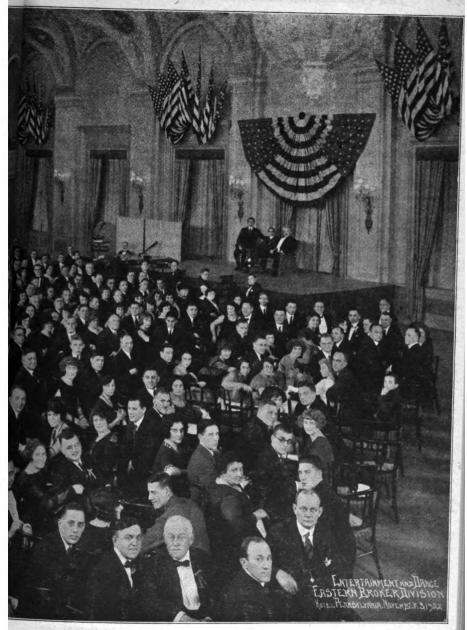

The management thoroughly appreciate the services of a first class telegrapher and have provided everything in the way of comfort, which includes a "new" typewriter, as they realize that an artisan is worthy of his "tools."

"I give preference to trade unionists because I am convinced that the man who gives a considerable portion of his time each week and a considerable portion of his earnings each week to try and improve the conditions in which he lives is justly entitled to more consideration than the man who remains outside and will not give a portion of his time or a fraction of his money to better the conditions of himself and those who are dependent on his earnings."—Judge Cussen of the Australian Arbitration Court.

E. B. D. BALL IS GREAT SUCCESS PRESIDENT JOHNSON AND POLICE COMMISSIONER ENRIGHT GUESTS OF HONOR

On Friday evening, November 3rd, 1922, the members of the Eastern Broker Division assembled with a host of friends in the Grand Ball Room of the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York to celebrate the fourth annual entertainment and dance and a most successful and enjoyable evening was spent.

The program was under the personal supervision and direction of Mr. Al. Sanders, who had provided an excellent bill. Members and guests began to arrive early and almost every seat was occupied when the performers began and every one of the private boxes in the gallery were occupied. Everyone enjoyed the entertainment, and at its conclusion our guests of honor, International President Roscoe H. Johnson and Brother Richard E. Enright, Police Commissioner of the City of New York, were introduced and addressed those present. Our International President was quite brief in his remarks, which were of a very congratulatory nature, and then Brother Enright delivered one of the most interesting talks ever listened to by any body of telegraphers.

It is to be regretted that Brother Enright's remarks cannot be given here in full for the benefit of our entire membership, for everything he said was not only interesting but mighty instructive.

Referring to the large attendance, Brother Enright made his point clear by an incident which occurred shortly after "Al" Smith had been elected Governor of the Empire State four years ago. Governor Smith had been invited to address the convicts of one of the State prisons, and when introduced, he said: "Fellow Citizens." The snickering which followed gave the Governor the cue to his blunder, so he started again, this time opening by saying: "Comrades." Of course this caused an outbreak of laughter, but Governor Smith, who possesses an unlimited amount of natural wit, scratched his head for a moment and then said: "Any way, I'm damn glad to see so many of you here."

That's exactly the thought that Brother Enright wanted to convey upon our audience, and judging from the laughter, he succeeded. He also emphasized to his audience what a powerful factor the telegraph is in the business world. He stated it would be impossible for the railroads to function were it not for the telegraph. Nor could big business enterprises or little business concerns function were it not for the telegraph, bringing out the importance of the telegraph in the business world, and to almost every person in private life, as the great telegraph brings folks quickly, accurately and efficiently in closer relation to one another.

Brother Enright also made a very timely and important suggestion to his hearers; calling attention to the fact that the great founder of the telegraph, Samuel F. B. Morse, lies buried in the City of New York in Greenwood cemetery in the Borough of Brooklyn, and suggesting that the members of the E. B. D. should name a delegation each year to visit the grave of the man who made the great telegraph possible and gave us the means to practice our profession. He added that some suitable tribute should be placed upon the grave of our benefactor's last resting place, thereby taking the proper initiative in honoring his memory.

A resolution will be introduced at our next regular meeting, providing for the carrying out of this suggestion.

Brother Enright told of a very interesting incident which occurred while he was visiting in Europe a few months ago. In Belgium he was being shown through the Belgian police headquarters when he spied some strange looking instruments which upon inquiry proved to be telegraph instruments. Brother Enright, upon learning that they used the Morse code in the Belgian police telegraph department, asked if he might send a message, which he did to the astonishment of the Belgian officials. The message and the unrecognized "Grip" of the Commissioner created quite a commotion all over the system. The telegraphers all along the line wanted to know what it all meant.

He concluded his remarks with some very flattering compliments to the officers and members of the E. B. D. and their friends. He said he felt more at home among us than with any other assemblage he had attended during his public career and felt proud of his membership in the Organization.

He was roundly applauded as he took his seat and remained scated on the stage until a flashlight photo of the crowd was taken.

The chairs were then removed from the floor and dancing was indulged in until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

The affair was a complete success from every angle. Our program and space was generously contributed to by a large number of the firms in the Street, which helped in a large degree to pay the expenses of the affair.

The Committee of Arrangements take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks to all who in any way contributed to the success of the affair.

(Signed) F. W. TOWNE, Chairman, Committee of Arrangements

THE TAIL OF THE KITE

Reward of 15 United Cigar Stores certificates for the apprehension of the person or persons who wished that coat-tail on Jim Campbell.

The Birds and the Beasts were there. Not to mention the Chickens.

That good old warrior, Percy Thomas, also attended the gathering and we were delighted to see him.

Interborough Rapid Transit sent inquiries to H. Q. as to whereabouts of one James F. Campbell. He was not an all-night passenger this year as he had been on previous occasions of the kind. He usually travels on the subway all night and reports to work from the Interborough trains at Wall and William.

Some folks complain of not attending the ball because the Reparations Committee is always on the job as one enters the hall.

Bud Rupple and Joe Seffson looked after the payment of, and collection for tickets.

Joe Rosenberg pointed out one brother to his wife "as the little man with the big family." Mrs. Rosenberg said "Oh, that must be Mr. Mallon." "Twas.

Joe certainly looked after his friends' needs.

Jack Gallagher, to use his own expression, shook a mean 1861.

The Donnellys, Jim, Sr., and Jr., and young John, were there by a large majority. Jim Junior was willing to compete with the young crowd but the Senior said he wouldn't pit the 1861 brand against the 1922 variety.

James Peacock Duckworth, mayor of Bloomfield, was there with Mrs. Duckworth, who accuses the Chairman of the Executive Board of trying to lure her husband to the ball with him for the purpose of introducing a few of Jim's lady friends!

Reported from Jersey City that Allen Trudo was discovered on board the Ferry Weehawken wearing the undertaker's suit and was thrown overboard by an enraged citizen of Englewood.

For John Fletcher's information: There was no "Committee Room" this year and many present expressed admiration for the tailor who pressed the suits. Every one of them were perfectly smooth about the hip pocket—except Jim Campbell's; his was commodious enough to carry a ton of coal.

"Honest" Clyde Bradish asked Ralph Johnson if he had anything on his hip. "Nothin' but a birth mark," replied Ralph.

Genial Frank O'Sullivan was on the job as usual, all dolled up like a horse.

Matty Gaffney says he never misses the ball. That's one night Matty declares himself off for a good time.

Lester Green, Miss Green and a party of friends enjoyed the evening. Lester didn't miss a waltz but says he draws the line on trying to dance the "kitchen sink" and other up-to-date dances.

Harry Cook and his tux did the hesitation in approved fashion.

Bill Truitt and Leslie Baker were there greeting friends, although neither ever won a prize on a dance floor. Bill is too bashful and Leslie is more so.

One member sent his entire household except the graphaphone and family dog and then spent the evening dancing with his daughters. That's our idea of a sport.

Charlie Donohue, the old reliable, was THERE. He doesn't dance but says it's a pleasure to get with the boys at least once a year. We saw faces of old friends we hadn't seen for many years. Does a feller good. I'll say it does.

"Catch 'um Jack" Harry Gates brought a large representation from his county, down in Tennessee.

We always depend on at least two people attending the affair—Doc and Mrs. Howell. If every member came and brought his wife, or sweetheart, Madison Square Garden wouldn't hold the multitude. Let's try it next year!

We had a pleasant evening watching the longitudinal gyrations of Jim Campbell's coat.

If we didn't know Jim so well, we'd swear he had a case of hootch cached in that coat tail. Oh, Boy! It was the cat's pajamas!

Ralph Johnson claims he was there, but isn't sure about it. We'll say HE WAS.

As a dancer Sid Gilson is winner of the hand embroidered door-mat. His feet were not on good terms with each other; every time they got near enough they got tangled up!

We left the hall with our folks happy in the thought of having spent such a delightful evening with friends and brother members, and carrying home with us the mental picture of Jim Campbell's coat tails!

Chairman, and Mrs. R. C. Patterson of the Pittsburgh District shook the soot of Pittsburgh off their Sunday-go-to-meeting's and spent a pleasant evening with us.

While Brother Patterson was in session with the General Committee at their annual meeting on the day following the Ball, Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Hickey, wives of our General Chairman and Secretary-Treasurer, respectively, constituted themselves a reception committee and took Mrs. Patterson to the Casino Theatre to see "Mary, Sally and Irene," after which they dined at the Hotel Astor.

Chairman W. H. Schott of the Baltimore District said he was sorry that he did not bring the "missus" with him.

Chairman Lou. Ruberg of the Philadelphia District arrived in time for the General Committee meeting and reported that unforeseen circumstances prevented him from getting out of Sleepytown in time for the Ball.

"Bill" Russell of Keech's was there with Mrs. Russell greeting old friends.

S. V. Reichart, of Halle, Steiglitz's, dropped in to say howdy and liked the affair so well that he stuck to the last.

The Grand Old Man of the craft, Brother Ralph W. Pope, was unable to attend on account of meeting with an accident in which his foot was slightly injured. We missed you, Brother Pope, and we hope and pray that all's well with you again.

General Chairman Jack Dunn, Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Clark, and Master Allan Dunn occupied one of the boxes with Secretary Jack Hickey, Mrs. Hickey, and Miss Dorothy Nichols, Jack Hickey's niece.

Brother Fred Towne, Chairman of the Arrangements Committee, Mrs. Towne, and a party of friends from Newark came early and stayed late.

Brother Lem Lewis of the Arrangements Committee was not seen on the dancing floor as often as on former occasions. What's matter, Lem, wouldn't she let you?

Bud Rupple of the Arrangements Committee as usual done himself proud at the ticket window where he was doubled up with Vice-Chairman Charley Josephson. This is the third time Bud missed the entire vaudeville show by being tied to the job and we had to coax him away long enough to get in the photo. We appreciate your good work for the E. B. D., Bud, and hate to impose on your willingness to help out, but you fill the requirements for that job better than any of us.

George Miller of the Con. Exchange was there shaking hands with the gang, as was Vince Conley of the Con. Exchange.

Frank H. McNulty enjoyed a pleasant evening with his co-workers of other days.

The Fire Telegraph Despatchers were represented by Brother Frank J. Marshall, Secretary of Chapel No. 1. There's a hard worker for the organization, boys, and a credit to the craft.

Brother Clarence Avery and Mrs. Avery seemed to enjoy themselves.

The lady you saw sitting in the reception room with a group of old timers gathered around her was none other than Sister K. N. Stetson, who has just recovered from a long period of illness. We were indeed glad to see you looking so well, Sister S., and trust you will continue in good health.

When it comes to Ushering we have to hand it to Recording Secretary Frank Barrett for the efficient manner in which he handled the crowd as Chairman of the Ushers' Committee.

Vice-Chairman J. L. Croxton, Chairman of the Floor Committee, was ably assisted by a force of Floor Committeemen. Due to his watchfulness and instructions to his Committee the "tin can," "shimmy" and other non-classicals were taboo.

W. F. (Buck) and Mrs. Ewing were among the Philadelphia delegation. Buck never misses our affairs, wherever he may happen to be located. Brother Ed Fraser of Winkleman's did not fail us. Ed was there forty ways.

Miss Aline Whittlesey, formerly Assistant Secretary of the E. B. D., got a great hand from the boys. We noted there was a "Waiting List" of the younger Brothers with bids in for the next dance, Her daddy, Brother Ed Whittlesey, was also there, looking well and happy.

Editor's Note: At least once a year we feel at liberty to take the "lid" off and say a few things in a light vein regarding our annual affair. Be it understood that the reporter's remarks are intended for a jest and with no feeling whatever of ill will. We like to kid the boys—especially the Chairman of the Executive Board.

Headquarters Notes

The regular annual meeting of the General Committee of the Eastern Broker Division was held at the Continental Hotel on Saturday, November 4th. The meeting was attended by District Chairmen R. C. Patterson, Pittsburgh; L. Ruberg, Philadelphia; W. H. Schott, Baltimore; Chairman J. F. Campbell, N. Y. District Committee; Brother B. J. Kearney, N. Y. District Committee, and Second Vice Chairman Chas. Josephson, N. Y. District.

International President Roscoe H. Johnson and Past International President Percy Thomas were present at the request of the Committee.

The sympathies of these Headquarters are extended to Sister Mary Hagan of Lipper's in the death of her father; also Brother "Mike" Ryan of Noyes & Jackson's in the loss of his father.

Bro. J. P. Curran of Housman's was elected as an additional delegate to the Central Trades & Labor Council of Greater New York.

Bros. W. U. Tate of Redmond's; H. J. Hickey of Pynchon's and J. P. Curran of Housman's were appointed to represent the Eastern Broker Division in the non-partisan political, campaign activities of the American Federation of Labor.

Arthur C. Connor, known to telegraphers as "Jack" Connors, last employed by the I. N. S. at New York, died in Bellevue Hospital on October 11th. His remains were shipped to the home of his sister in Lima, Ohio.

Our heartiest congratulations to Bro. "Josh" Jones, who took a chance with the hymen knot one day last month. Jimmy Ross says bride and groom are both happy.

A convincing argument as to why Union men are preferable to non-union in the broker field and to what ends members of the Eastern and Western Broker Divisions will go in their co-operation with those who employ our men is contained in the following story:

Recently the Secretary of the New York District received a call from the firm of Oliphant & Co. for a sub for the regular operator (a non) who reported sick, and one of the boys from the Waiting List was assigned to the job immediately upon receipt of the call at 9:30 A, M.

About 11 A. M. the Secretary received a phone call from the sub and was asked if we could do anything to prevent a tie-up of the wire he was working to Hodenpyle, Hardy & Co. in Chicago. He informed us that the regular operator at Hodenpyle's, also a non, had laid off and put on a lady sub from the W. U. there who knew nothing whatever about the broker game as well as being a very poor operator, and that she had the wire at a standstill.

We immediately sent a flash to Chairman McDaniel of the W. B. D., who got in touch with the Hodenpyle firm and informed them of what was going on, with the result that an experienced man from the W. B. D. replaced the inexperienced non, before much damage had been done.

Had an inexperienced non from the W. U. been on the New York end of the wire trying to work with one of the same calibre at the other end, it's an easy matter to figure what the result would have been, both in delay to the movement of the business and the loss in cold cash to both firms for the errors that would surely have been made.

This is the kind of co-operation we give, and it is the kind of co-operation that is making the employers realise that it saves them money to pay our scale and get the tright kind of man rather than try to save a dollar in the hire of an inexperienced non. Surely, the above is conclusive proof to the firms concerned that the Union telegrapher is preferable to the non-union.

We want to congratulate the sub, Bro. Jack Martine, for his keen interest in the business of the firm, even though he was hired but for one day.

Photos of the Ball can be purchased at the Secretary's desk at $1.00 cash.

PITTSBURGH DISTRICT

President Johnson was with us on Organization Day, Oct. 25th. We had quite a meeting and he gave us one of his characteristic talks on unionism and, on request from the audience, an account of the trouble the W. B. D. had with the various grain firms in Chicago who had a desire to cut wages last summer.

His remarks were listened to attentively and the members got much valuable information.

Brother Johnson had to cut short his remarks to catch a train for Baltimore.

Chairman Patterson was selected to represent the Pittsburgh Unit at the By-Laws conference of the Eastern Broker Division at New York and incidentally he and Mrs. Patterson were at the grand ball of E. B. D., which Pat says was one of the finest social functions it was his good fortune to attend. Commissioner Enright and a lot of prominent men and women were in attendance.

Since the last issue of the Journal was received the firm of Culver & Co. have gone out of business, letting some eight or ten operators out. Among those were James and Frank Dugan, and Steve Aubrey of the Pittsburgh office; Walter McNerney of the Johnstown office, and Manager Tom Barrett of Pittsburgh and his two nephews, managers of Steubenville and McKeesport, respectively.

Bro. James A. Dugan done the honors for Chairman Patterson while on his trip to New York, Chairman Patterson was telling your correspondent that there will be a meeting in the very near future to arrange for a meeting to continue Organization Week.

We expect to get a committee together to map out a concrte plan as regards our annual enertainment, in the very near future.

President Johnson in his Organization Week Campaign visited Philadelphia Friday, October 27th. The regular monthly meeting was called on that date and all the old guard came out to greet him. Those not present missed a good treat.

A resolution was adopted upholding the policy of the present officers, and pledging wholehearted support.

A plan of organization was mapped out and this old town will be carefully canvassed for all available members.

Next month's meeting will be held Saturday afternoon, November 25th, when nomination of officers for the ensuing year will take place.

Brother McGrath, now with Newhall Gross and Diffenderfer, late of New York, was a visitor at the last meeting.

Bro. George Truitt is once more back in our fold and holds down temporarily the Consolidated Press Association wire, relieving Brother Millis who is physically disabled. It is reported that wire is one h—of a roast, but the tougher they come the better George likes it, Brother Smith, handling the Greenwood wire on the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, was relieved for a couple of days by Bro. Harry Isaacs.

Mike Auerbach, well known to many operators in Philadelphia, New York, Pittsburgh and throughout the country, who became totally blind about three years ago following a paralytic stroke while working for the Postal in New York, died Oct. 20th. Up to the time of becoming incapacitated he was an active member and was well liked by all he came in contact with. He is survived by a 4-year-old son and wife, who are making their home in Camden, N. J.

Price Guard & Company have two stalwart members in George Paulhamus and Harry Koeberle. We hope they will be able to get around to the next meeting and make a few good suggestions for the common welfare.

Bro. Philip Murphy is connected with the bond house of McBride & Company. Brother Murphy is able and willing and has the goods to make good in any capacity.

We regret to report that our Vice Chairman, Elmer E. Bone, member of Greene & Company bond brokers with offices in the Stock Exchange building, suffered a painful but not very serious injury to his ankle when he jumped out of an automobile which collided with another while on his way home. Congratulations on your alertness and athletic ability.

BALTIMORE CELEBRATES TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The twentieth anniversary of the C. T. U. A. in Baltimore was observed in a fitting manner on October 26th, with a meeting and banquet. Organizing Week, October 23-29, was chosen for the celebration.

Among those present were International President Roscoe H. Johnson and—oh, well, why try to mention names?—they were all there. King's Restaurant on Redwood Street was crowded to capacity.

Twenty years ago organizers came to Baltimore and got us started in the O. C. T., which later, through amalgamation, became the C. T. U. A. October 26, 1922, Roscoe Johnson came along and boosted the spirits of the boys to such an extent that they all went home determined to do bigger things for the organization. Roscoe made a good impression on the boys, and as Bill Freeman stated, it certainly sounded good to hear a President come across clean with his statements, with no exaggeration as to conditions, etc. Roscoe made a hit, sure nuff.

The first two hours were taken up entirely with eats. The courses came so fast and plentifully that no one had time or inclination to talk. Bob Allison expressed the unanimous vote of all when he congratulated Mrs. King, wife of the proprietor of the restaurant, who cooked the dinner. "A little more dressing," Mrs. King, please," said Bob every five minutes. Someone suggested that Bob was stuffed with stuffing long before the meal was over.

The affair from beginning to end was a big success. Much praise is due Mr. John King, his wife, and the little lady who helped serve the meal, for the big success. Mr. King, besides running the restaurant, is an organizer for the Baltimore local of the Street Car Men's Union. And this is what we ate:

Oysters on Half Shell
Olives Celery Radishes
Vegetable Soup
Baked Rock Fish, Tartar Sauce
Roast Turkey

Cranberry Sauce Chestnut Dressing
Potatoes a ia King
Waldorf Salad Cheese
Pistachio Ice Cream
Coffee Cigars Cigarettes

Bob Russell had to work so announced he couldn't attend. Any Baltimore Union event without Bob would be no event at all, so the boys took one-half-hour shifts and worked Bob's wire.

Ralph Powers, Willie Schott and Bill Freeman met Roscoe at the train in the morning and after taking him to his hotel to register, Bill Freeman "Dodged" him all round town and through the suburbs till afternoon. Roscoe announced that Baltimore had treated him royally and we can tell Roscoe that we will do even better the next time he comes this way. We don't break loose often, but when we do, WE DO.

We said before that everybody was there. We take it back. There was one youngster missing—a prominent one, at that. Tom Bishop, who will soon celebrate his eighty-first birthday, and who has been telegraphing on fast wires for over 60 years, couldn't get off. However, we sent him a full-sized meal over to the office. Tom holds a life membership in the C. T. U. A., presented to him as a mark of esteem and respect of the organized telegraphers in 1914.

Bob Russell didn't even try to make a speech. The best he did was to ask Roscoe a few questions.

While we would have been pleased to have our International Secretary-Treasurer with us, still we felt he was near. His brother Ralph represented himself and Frank, and apparently thought this gave him the right to eat two meals. We are not saying he did so, but at any rate the next day he complained of having a poor appetite.

Willie Schott, our little Chairman, wouldn't give Roscoe a minute to himself. He met him at the station, and then after the close of the market went up to the hotel again and stuck to the President till time to eat.

Gene Bates thought the first course was the whole meal. He ate so many olives he had to request the waitress to bring him some bicarbonate of soda to loosen him up so he could take on the next course.

Roscoe is on a diet, and we were much worried about what he would eat. He alibied out of it, however, and claims the doctor told him he could break the diet every three weeks. He said October 26th was the exact time he could eat. And he did.

We at the big table thought the bunch at the smaller table were mighty quiet. We actually worried for fear they weren't enjoying themselves. We learned, however, they had conspired to get through the first courses quickly so that they could get a whack at the turkey before we did. They hadn't figured there was so much turkey in the country. A fine bunch of ginks—Rose, Loats, Vitek, Louck and McLean. After the first three courses were served they began to sing, but the police reserves stopped the racket.

Some of the boys actually felt so good about the middle of the dinner that they wanted to stop all festivities so they could pay their annual dues for next year. (?)

Gus, George and Charley announced at the beginning of the feast that they challenged any three men in the place to compete with them in eating hot soup. No one would accept the challenge so a messenger was sent outside for three men. He brought in three policemen. The noise during the contest—a swirling, mushy, soupy noise—was so great it interfered with Roscoe's appetite, so the contest was stopped right in the middle. Of course, everyone knows that Gus, George and Charley are the famous Klein Brothers.

MICHIGAN BE	ROKER DIVISION
-------------	----------------	--	--

On the occasion of President Johnson's visit to Detroit on Oct. 23, the members of the Michigan Broker Division made the best turnout they have been able to show this year and we were able to give the President close to 100 per cent attendance, only two or three of the members being absent. The gathering took place in the Hotel Cadillac and President Johnson started out to give a 15-minute talk but did not wind up for over two hours and it can be truthfully said that he covered a lot of ground in that time and had an interested and enthusiastic audience with him all the way.

The details of his remarks and the purpose of his visit are known to all by now and it is hoped that the results will be both beneficial and lasting. At any rate the necessity of maintaining the organization and of trying to make it as powerful and active as possible was made clear to all present and it is certain that the Michigan Broker Division will do its part in advancing the interests of the organization.

The next regular meeting of the Michigan Broker Division will be held Monday, December 4, 1922, at which time election of officers for the coming year will be held and it is hoped that all of the members will be present to do the job right. President H. E. Neumann has found it necessary to withdraw from office on account of business pressure as he recently ventured into the confectionery business and is the proud proprietor of one of the finest shops on the west side of Detroit, located at 6219 Lafayette Boulevard West. We all wish him the best of luck and hope he makes a cleaning.

Brother Guy Blakeley is up in northern Michigan on a hunting trip, and if he doesn't see any deer he at least hopes to land some of the big fish in Hubbard Lake. He left armed to the teeth and carrying a compass, so he would know which way was north when he gets there.

Bro. C. E. Brower is relieving Brother Blakeley at Jones & Baker, where he is ably assisting Bro. Don Fiedler.

Bro. Wm. Balmes, formerly with Bennett Smith, has located at Hamilton B. Wills & Co. and seems to be very well satisfied with things in general. Bro. Balmes is president pro tem until the election next month,

The recent report that eight Detroit firms had their ticker removed and their wire service discontinued does not appear to have thrown any of our men out of work; in fact, we haven't heard of any firm losing their wires as reported. There have been two or three firms opened here recently and we landed one of them but the others apparently caught their operators in the woods so we hope they will have a circus with them before they get through.

Remember the next regular meeting Monday evening, Dec. 4, 1922. Notices will be mailed out later to remind you again. We must keep going, we must work and we must co-operate if we are going to accomplish the results we are striving for.

JAMES H. RYAN DEAD

On Thursday, Oct. 19, James H. Ryan, member Eastern Broker Division, was found dead in his apartment at the Willard hotel by his friend Edward F. Mulligan who had called by appointment. Brother Ryan was 47 years old and had been recognized as a telegrapher of the finest grade for many years. He had an extensive acquaintance among the leading members of the profession and was highly regarded by them all. He was a member of the Elks, which organization took charge of his remains and sent the body to Washington, D. C., for interment. All telegraph organizations in Detroit and many individuals sent beautiful floral testimonials of esteem and sorrow.

Mr. Ryan is survived by a sister, Mrs. E. B. Hollins of Washington, D. C.

Bro. J. A. Magee, formerly of Sydney, bid in Brother Gillis' old job at Moncton. Understand Magee's home is in Moncton, so this ought to suit him pretty well.

Bro. "Nick" Carter, formerly of Halifax, bid in Windsor, Ont., but after a couple of weeks there the job "blew up" and "Nick" had to force Mowry at the Mail & Empire, Toronto, nights. There must be some attraction in Toronto for since then a night job in Montreal has been bulletined, but "Nick" passed it up. How come?

The other day Buck received a letter from the Chief at KX in which said Chief Reddington was "saying it with flowers" to Buck on his NEAT and alcoholic copy.

Lynch wrote Red about it, and Red was passing it on to Buck. Red's letter read something like this: "Following from 'WFL' which s. i. p."

Buck wants to know whether WFL said it "simply is perfect" or "simply is punk." (I suggest the latter.)

FRENCH LANGUAGE PRESS CIRCUIT

The first French language leased wire service in the history of North America was opened Nov. 13 by the Canadian Press, Limited. This circuit runs from Montreal to Quebec City, taking in the following papers: La Presse and Le Patria of Montreal; La Nouvelliste of Three Rivers, and Le Soleil at Quebec.

Two translators are employed in the Montreal Bureau to prepare the news for this circuit, and two additional operators were required, one at the Montreal Bureau to send and one at Quebec. This wire formerly was an English language lease, but at a meeting of the Directors of Canadian Press, Limited, on Oct. 24 it was voted to make this circuit strictly a French language one, and operate another circuit between Montreal and Quebec for the English paper in Quebec City only.

Great things are expected of this French circuit, and if it is a complete success as is hoped for it, many other clients will easily be obtained. The management is to be congratulated on its initiative.

Working the different jobs are the following operators: J. E. Marchand, sending operator, Montreal Bureau; L. J. Landry at Le Patria; A. Le Francois at La Presse, both in Montreal; J. E. H. Germaine at La Nouvelliste, Three Rivers, and J. J. O'Brien at Le Solell, Quebec.

The wire will open at 7:30 in the morning and close at 3:30 p. m., the French papers being very desirous of going to press early each day, and on Saturdays most French papers go to press around 10 a. m.

MONTREAL DISTRICT COUNCIL

While this Council has been functioning for six months, we must plead guilty for our absence in these columns. However, the lethargy of the summer months with their fishing excursions has been shaken off and our debut carries the assurance that henceforth we shall be regular contributors.

The Montreal District Council, reorganized along new lines last spring by Vice-President Schnur, is destined to become a real factor in promoting the interests of our membership, not only in this District, but the entire Dominion. going to criticize freely but our criticism is to be constructive and educational.

Our District Council is a delegated Each subordinate unit affiliated with the Council-and they are all affiliated—is entitled to one delegate for every This gives the twenty-five members. Council about twenty delegates who meet regularly once a month to discuss matters of interest to all telegraph workers.

Each affiliated unit, by electing as their delegates to the Council the best men available, make it possible to bring together under one roof the men who are most familiar with the labor movement in general and our own in particular.

The District Council in turn has affiliated its entire membership with the Montreal Trades and Labor Council. sending five delegates to the Trades Council the telegraphers of Montreal are at last taking their rightful place in the ranks of the organized workers of all trades.

Our Council is a live organization and we aim to promote real co-operation between our affiliated subordinate units.

We are also making preparations for the 1923 Convention, which will be held in Montreal next October. The responsibility of welcoming and entertaining the Convention delegates and their wives will devolve upon this Council and we accept it gladly, for we have the facilities for making it a never-to-be-forgotten affair. However, we realize that entertainment is only an incident to the real purposes of such a gathering and we are also going to be prepared to submit some constructive legislation for consideration.

The Entertainment Committee has set itself the task of raising its Convention Fund by holding a series of big dances, etc., the first of which is to be held Thursday, November 30th. All affiliated units are working hard to make Montreal's Sixth Annual Dance a big success.

The main plank in the Council's legislative platform is the standardization of commercial wage scales, equal pay for Morse and Automatic and a standard minimum for broker telegraphers. Success is crowning our efforts along these lines in that we are promoting a live and healthy interest, an evidence of which is noted in these questions coming up for discussion in meetings all over the country.

We note with pleasure that Toronto is now engaged in organizing a District Council along similar lines to our own. We sincerely trust our sisters and brothers in Toronto will give the Committee now working on this matter their full sympathy and support.

Winnipeg, wake up and join the procession!

Subordinate unit elections are occupying our attention and lively contests are forecast.

The well merited promotion of J. E. Poole, an old time telegrapher, who has been sent to London, England, as the news representative of the Montreal Star, meets with the approval of his many friends.

Watch for our notes next month.

At the moment of writing no new developments are forthcoming regarding the proposals under discussion. The committee will hold a special meeting during the second week in November to decide upon a course of action, after which a statement will be issued to the membership.

Congratulations were quite in order on November 1st, when Miss Mona Mutrie became Mrs. Bro. Crow in Victoria, B. C. The good wishes of the staff accompany the happy couple.

We cannot refrain from congratulating the Department upon their decision, belated though it be, to brighten up the interior of the stations. Visitors to Victoria will no doubt favorably compare the present panelled effect with the old dingy interior so painfully fraught with memories to the older members of our staff. It is to be hoped that other stations are to be accorded similar treatment, especially those open to publicity, such as Point Grey, etc. The casual visitor is by no means the casual observer, and the staffs are jealous of the impression created by the appearance of their particular station.

"I unhesitatingly condemn either one or the other, and the employers responsible for either the 12-hour day or the sevenday week are condoning a crime, and should be treated accordingly. Both are unnecessary, uneconomical, and unjustifiable." No, this remark is not ours; it was made by no less a person than John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in an instructive article in the current issue of the "Survey Graphic." Still, we agree with the gentleman.

George A. Littell of St. Louis, a long-time member of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers and at one time a member of the C. T. U. A., died in St. Louis November 5th. Bro. Littell was a delegate from the C. T. U. A. Local No. 3 at the Chicago Convention in 1919 and was favorably mentioned for the office of International President, but declined to accept nomination. He was employed in the grand offices of the O. R. T. at the time of his death.

THE VIEWPOINT

THE LESSON OF 1922

In the last two issues of The Journal it seemed that all parties, aggrieved or otherwise, were issuing words of resigned disapproval or singing praises through the columns about what Press committeemen did at New York in June.

The PAST means nothing in our young lives but a possible guide to mistakes committed. What all seemed to overlook in their criticisms was, directly or indirectly, each and every member of the C. T. U. A. is responsible for all acts committed at the June negotiations. Under these stressing circumstances the load of blame must be shared and carried equally.

This is true, inasmuch as members were half-hearted in their response for support on different things which would tend to bring unqualified victory to the Union brothers,

You failed to:

 Have a fund sufficient to make possible a proper hearing. Money is prestige.

 Give unqualified support to the men at New York WHILE THEY WERE ARGUING OUR CAUSE. This was especially noticed at Chicago.

3. Use the right amount of forethought in picking committeemen.

Only men of 100% Unionism, courage, persistence and a complete knowledge of what the members want, should be sent to pow-wow with the company chiefs. Men of previous committee experience, with these qualifications, are especially fit for such a task and should certainly be given this honor again.

Let us look ahead to next June now. The news of the day tells us that $200,-060,000 has been placed by some 5,000 manufacturers and nationally reputed advertisers for newspaper advertising for the year 1923, according to the American Association of Advertising Agencies. This is a radical increase over all previous years and will doubtless reach even greater figures than the above-mentioned amount.

How much are the press associations going to glean out of this fabulous sum from the newspapers? How much are the operators going to receive?

G. R. GRANT, Div. 47.

EACH MAN AN ORGANIZER

Having received recent communications from President Johnson, Vice President Schnur, and Secretary Crewson, calling for a special organizing effort—now elapsedI would like to place a few comments on record.

As an official member, I would gladly welcome anything which lies in my power by way of strengthening our body. A great many of our brother operators are aware of the isolation of VCU. It is therefore quite unnecessary to point out the obvious difficulty of getting in touch with "NON" and "Delinquent" members. These mainly consist of "Ship" and summer service men, and whose addresses are very transient in nature.

Occasionally a shot is fired, but distance makes poor calibrating. We have therefore to find a remedy. I would suggest and impress each member, that he is an organiser—"Second to None"—if, and when, he drops across the erring brother operator.

he drops across the erring brother operator.

Here is the "dope." You have a card.

Why? If an asset, then why not to others.

If not a card for 1922, then surely 1923 should bring forth fruit.

I have not found a brainy man who can furnish a justifiable, logical argument against holding a card in this outfit. Believe me, friends, it cannot be done. Why should we leave it to our officials to do a little organizing, where you are "The Johnny on the Spot."

We are nothing, if not a militant union. Granted that we meet tough "propositions," I mean "Nuts."

A majority of our fellow operators are amenable to suggestion, but when you encounter the other brand, just switch his address along either to Bro. Secretary Crewson or myself, and we will try a little "trepanning" to see if there is any meat in the shell.

Now boys, "All Together," and get busy for 1923, or take your medicine,

P. S.—A few notes from brother scribes are welcomed. Ginger up, Uncle Dudley. We miss you.

W. J. McBride, E. S. D., Secretary.

DUES ARE TOO LOW

I am filling in and returning the Funeral Beneficiary card.

It seems to me we are not paying enough dues if we are going to have benefits. Eleven dollars a year is not much to pay for the benefits we have received, and if anything should crop up there would be very little funds to go on with.

I have been at this station since 1897. Started in at $45 a month. Now, thanks to the Union, we get $132. David Logan.

Div. 53, Clo-Oase, B. C.

To the Members of the Floating Service of C. M. W. S.-D. No. 59:

May I, one of the above members, although silent ere this, draw the attention of some of you, in all probability nons or delinquents, to a small yet important point which you are continually overlooking, namely, the fact that you still persist in copying press messages for the officers on board your respective ships, the result of which we all have to bear.

I wish to emphasize the fact that those of us who do not persist in this non-union habit are being continually subjected to a lot of antipathy together with a lot of "behind-our-back" comment, the first being when we relieve you, and the second during the following voyage or voyages, and when you relieve us. This is all the more annoying due to the fact that the antipathy is brought about at the beginning of the voyage, and which paves the way for other unpleasantness, particularly when one is under the command of an overbearing master.

I maintain that this is entirely unnecessary, as the handing in of press is not allowed under the obligation to preserve the secrecy of correspondence. I refer now to that press which is addressed to an addressee other than that to C. Q. This is one of the hard points against us who do not copy it, because the majority of ships' officers have been erroneously led to believe that C. Q. is the only addressee. This could be rectified were it not for the fact that they can inform one that "If So-and-So, whom you relieved, could do it, why can't you?" which tends to make the necessary explanation much harder.

This practice should be discontinued, if only for our own benefit, while the giving away of press will not stimulate the business of those companies who have press services to sell, one of whom are our employers.

Perhaps some of you have not thought of this. If not, think it over. I may be Wrong.

LABOR WON BY KNOCKOUT

November 7th-The fourth anniversary of the "first" Armistice Day-was the greatest day for labor, organized and unorganized, in the history of American politics.

Oh, that the workers would have realized the power of the ballot before.

ln 1920, Warren G. Harding carried New York State by a majority of more than a million votes.

In 1922, Alfred Smith, Democratic candidate for governor, carried New York by almost as large a majority, or a change of 2,000,000 votes and without an effort.

It would be just as easy for labor to choose its own representatives at the polls, as it was for the voters of New York and twenty other states to rebuke Mr. Harding and his "government by injunction."

The defeat at the polls of such stalwart representatives of "big business" as Senators Frelinghuysen, Townsend, Kellogg, Calder, New, McCumber, Du Pont, Pomerene, Sutherland and Poindexter, with the resignation or expulsion from the Senate of Newberry—regardless of whom their successors may be—is a "shadow of coming events" two years hence, providing those who work for wages will but realize THEIR POWER AT THE POLLS.

The name of the party by which labor comes into its own is immaterial, but the rebuke of the Democratic party in 1920 and the "smash" at the "government by injunction," anti-soldier bonus and high tariff policy of the present Republican administration is indicative of the people's desire for a new political party.

In its intense zeal to continue to fool the people "big business," through its hirelings, will be very considerate of labor between now and 1924 election time.

Abolition of the Railroad Labor Board, revision of the Esch-Cummins Law, dissolution of injunctions against labor unions, are among the few "sops" that are being handed out twenty-four hours after the election results were announced.

There may be a few "voluntary" increases in wages, but don't let 'em fool you. Devote every spare moment to organization, both industrially and politically.

WORKING TWO JOBS

-Chas. Shea.

F. W. Towne of the Eastern Broker Division favored Journal readers with a very interesting article on the subject of telegraphers working two jobs, in October Vivid and indisputable truth Journal. ran through every line and paragraph of Brother Towne's article. He very aptly quoted the old, time-honored maxim, "No man can serve two masters." When a man is working two jobs he cannot faithfully serve both employers. He is laying down on one or the other. Incidentally, he is keeping some other honest man out of a job who has none.

I have never yet seen a two-job worker who had any money; and all of those that I have known or heard of who worked two jobs eventually lost their health, and reached the point where they could not work one job, much less two.

When a man tries to "hog" his way through the world he is going to come to grief, sooner or later. If working two jobs is not "hogging" it, I would like to know what any fair-minded man would call it.

The C. T. U. A. Constitution is very plain indeed on the subject of the two-job 'hogging" performance. It says:

Article 28-Members, duties of.

Sec. 2. Members shall render all assistance possible to fellow members in securing work.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of all members to discourage the working of overtime and bonus, which tends to reduce the demand for telegraphers.

Where a member puts in Sec. 4. full time for a company or firm, he shall not work for another company or firm without the consent of the subordinate unit of which he is a member. Upon being convicted of the first offense he shall be suspended for thirty days, and on the second offense he shall be expelled from the Union.

The foregoing sections of our Constitution should be strictly enforced at all times.

> CONSTITUTIONALIST, Philadelphia, Pa.

CHAOS OF JUDGE-MADE LAW

This business of permitting every Federal judge in the United States to make his own law covering industrial matters has its disadvantages, not the least of which is hopeless confusion resulting from lack of teamwork on the part of the judicial lawmakers.

By way of illustration:

Congress in the Clayton Act declared that picketing is a lawful right of strikers.

Supreme Justice Taft, in the Tri-City case, ruled that while picketing may be lawful, the number of pickets at any point should be limited to one.

Federal Judge Wilkerson, in his famous Chicago injunction, outlawed picketing entirely, along with a number of other rights which workers and some very capable lawyers regard as inalienable, and eliminated Judge Taft's lone guardian.

New comes Federal Judge Charles F. Amidon, of North Dakota, with an injunction against shop strikers, in which he declares that both Taft and Wilkerson are wrong and that the number of pickets should be limited to three.

The North Dakota jurist has been regarded as a liberal. in any event, the law he laid down to striking shopmen is more liberal than that of Judge Wilkerson. The latter restricts the workers to "a life of silent meditation and prayer," as the New York Times put it. Judge Amidon says they may do a number of things, and, marvel of marvels, puts a few pertinent restrictions on the Great Northern Railroad, which obtained the injunction.

In addition to permission to employ three pickets, Judge Amidon says the strikers may "have a small tent immediately at hand to protect such pickets from the weather while they are on duty, but there must not be present in or about it at any time anyone but the pickets who are on duty."

Pickets, in the performance of their duty, are granted the privilege of "recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful means from not entering the plaintiff's service and to quit said service if they have already entered thereon.

That is legal heresy to Judge Wilkerson, whose law not only prevents the strikers from talking to strikebreakers but forbids them to even discuss the strike among themselves.

But Judge Amidon goes much farther in framing his law for the strike. He holds that while the pickets "confine themselves to a peaceful and orderly exercise of their rights" the railroad shall be enjoined from doing any of these things:

(1) From using toward them threatening or abusive language or epithets, a variation of the "scab" inhibition of the Wilkerson decree.

(2) From inflicting upon them any personal injuries or attempting to do so.

(3) The armed guards of the railroads are enjoined especially from "drawing or exhibiting firearms or other dangerous weapons for the purpose of intimidating said pickets and from using firearms or other dangerous weapons at all except in the presence of imminent peril such as threatens very serious injury.

If Justice Taft is right Judge Wilkerson is wrong. If Judge Amidon is right, both Taft and Wilkerson are wrong. If Congress is still the law-making body of the nation, then all of these self-constituted judicial legislators are wrong,

If that is contempt, the judges themselves are to blame.

If they must make laws, they should at least be consistent.

DIDN'T RAISE HER BOY TO BE A SCAB

The following article is reprinted from the New York World:

"I have just read Daugherty's blanket injunction, and if organized labor and the people in general stand for that they would stand for anything and deserve anything. Having been a reader of the World for twelve years, I cannot fail to be aware of the World's bias against organized labor, but I well believe it to be too great and far-seeing a newspaper to uphold such a menace to human liberty as this is.

as this is.

"If, as the World claims, the shopmen's union had lost the strike, this injunction is not needed; if the roads cannot win against their employees without the aid of such a dangerous weapon as this is, then they had better admit that the men have

"If that injunction had been effective two weeks ago I, a responsible, patriotic, Christian mother of sons of native ancestry for five generations, would be myself liable to whatever penalties go with disobedience to Mr. Daugherty's ukase, for I would be guilty in three of the thirteen points of the injunction, namely:

"1. Arguing with someone who announced that he intended to work for a railroad.

"2. Preventing a person from continuing in railroad employment.

"3. Telling a person that it is unsafe for him to remain in railroad employ.

"The 'person' was my son, who, misled by the glowing advertisements in the newspapers, had foolishly left his own work and become an electric welder for one of the railroad shops, at which employment he continued two hours, for the moment I learned of it I went directly to that railroad yard, straight down the right of way to the shop where he was working, and I argued with him to such purpose that he resigned as a strike-breaking railroad employee and returned to his own work.

"That was my duty, and I would do it in spite of any injunction.

"The above paragraph admits of two more violations:

"4. Walking down a railroad right of way.

"5. Interfering with an employee in the performance of his duty.

"Heretofore I have left public matters to others, being fully occupied with the duties of responsible and worthy mother-hood, but I have written to Mr. Jewell, asking to join the Shopmen's Union in any honorary capacity and offering any assistance I can give him in resisting such an unheard-of and undreamed-of attack upon the liberties our forefathers died to bequeath us."—A Patriotic Mother.

YANKS REPLACE CUBANS

Several months ago when the Associated Press converted its Cuban wires into native-manned, Continental alphabet affairs, it was predicted that it was an impossibility to make a sifk purse out of a sow's ear.

Beginning on December 1, the Associated Press will revert back to the old system in Cuba, that of handling the report in English, the wires being manned by American operators.

It is probable that a couple of men will be sent down from the United States.

For some time past, or during the interval that an "experiment" was on, whereby the report was handled in the Spanish language, a $35,000 leased wire was reduced to practically one-fifth of its capacity.

Finally the clients came to a realization that they were being mulcted, while the Associated Press at the same time realized it was losing what little prestige it enjoys? in the Republic of Cuba. Hence the hurried change,

TOM MOORE TO REPRESENT CANADIAN LABOR AT GENEVA

Tom Moore, President of the Trades and Labor Congress, will represent Canadian labor at the International Labor Conference which opens at Geneva on October 18th.

In addition to a single direct representative each, both employers and workmen are allowed to send a person to act as advisor to their delegate. J. W. Bruce of Toronto will act in that capacity to Tom Moore.

W. C. Coulter, of the Booth-Coulter Copper and Brass Company, Toronto, has been selected to represent the employers of Canada, and H. W. MacDonnell of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Toronto, will act as advisor.

The Dominion government delegates will be Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who is now in Europe attending the meeting of the League of Nations.

These are the four Canadian delegates selected by the Federal government and in addition to this the provinces have been invited to send representatives at their own expense to act in an advisory capacity toward the Canadian delegates.

IRISH TELEGRAPHERS STRIKE

A strike of postal workers, including telegraphists, began in the Irish Free State on September 10, between 10,000 and 12,000 employees being affected, dispute, which did not affect Northern Ireland, was a sequel to that which occurred last March, when the Irish Postal Union threatened to strike if the wage reductions which had come into operation in Britain were enforced in Ireland. This Government agreeing to set up a Commission (known as the Douglas Commission) to inquire into "the wages and salaries, organization of work, and conditions generally in the Post Office."

In August the Free State Government issued an index figure for Ireland which did not bear out the contention of the postal workers that the cost of living was substantially higher in Ireland than in England.

The Irish Postal Union objected to this decision, declaring that the new cost-ofliving figure had not been agreed to by the postal workers and that, as the final report of the Commission had not been issued. the proposed reductions irregular.

By September 11th the strike was practically general throughout South and West Ireland and, except by railway, communication between North and South was cut off, telegraphic communication with England being also suspended. The Government endeavored to maintain essential services, but there was considerable dislocation of trade. Support was given to the strikers on September 14th by the dockers in Dublin Harbor, who refused to handle mails brought down by non-union workers to the steamer for Cork.

The strike came to an end on September 28th. By the terms of the settlement the postal workers agreed to accept the Government's offer of September 9th to spread the reductions over a period of It was arranged that three months. three-eighths of the reduction should take effect as from September 1st and the balance as from December 1st.

"MONEY TALKS"

There has been much written and a great deal more preached about the value of the union label, card, and button to the workers. But all the writing and all the preaching will accomplish very little until concerted action is displayed by every member of Organized Labor when spending money.

The sale of union-labeled products will never exceed that of non-union products until we, the organized workers, stop buying non-union products. Unless we make our own products popular they will never be popular. Belief in our own products will create belief in the buying public.

Remember, you are boosting your own labor and that of your fellow trade union-Get this thought clearly in your mind and then talk the products of Organized Labor up and not down,

We should feel ashamed whenever we spend money for the products of those who are opposed to us. Each time you fail to patronize union labor is a loss to us and a gain for those opposed to us. Of course, this is a great disadvantage to If you have made that mistake in the past, resolve right now that you will never again be placed at a disadvantage by your own thoughtless action.

You will find that many of the buying public will change from non-union to union products when you set them the example. Most people like to help those who know enough to help themselves.

Remind yourself and those dependent on you that if your employer should show a preference for the services of those not organized, your power of purchase would be curtailed. Give your fellow trade unionist a square deal by purchasing the products of his labor, so that his power of purchase will not be curtailed, and he in turn will be in a position to purchase the products of your labor.

You know the old saying, Talks." Think it over Lot of "Money Think it over. Let all unionearned money talk in the future and ask for the union label, card and button.

(Advertisement published in Shreveport, La. papers by W. H. Werner, president of Louisiana Open Shop Association, and large em-ployer of labor, who has been disliked by workers for his anti-union activities.)

I have been doing my work with "open shop" men for about two years and failed to get satisfactory results. Hereafter I will work nothing but union bricklayers and union plasterers on my masonry work.

THE "KEEPING ALIVE" WAGE

Paul

0 L Wm.

I. G

Alex

The "Railroad's" Labor Board now nies the right of the workers to recei a living wage. In other words, it do not believe that the twenty-five miliwage earners should live!

If the Labor Board were real frant would make its decision read like this "To H- with the working people! I That is really them starve to death." what the decision means.

Even extremists like President Ha ding and Judge Taft have stated that the workers should not only receive a living wage but a "saving wage." "They're the workers"—especially at election time

But here is an autocratic government institution, established by a law which declares that the workers shall receive "just and reasonable wage" coming 🍕 against a living wage. This Board deni the right of the laborers who do the physical work required to keep this great nation running prosperously sufficient for to keep them physically fit to do the work Surely the men who toil are the ones 🐐 more than anyone else require their ! share of vitamins.

The railroad workers ask for a living Any fair-minded tribunal wor give them such a wage under the ter of the law. Surely, the words "Just" a "Reasonable" in the law can be inte preted to mean at least a decent living.

There is some question as to the for ula for arriving at a living wage. Pres dent Jewell and other labor leaders de nitely showed the Labor Board what costs to keep a family according to American standard of living. The Main tenance of Way workers, who received $563.04 a year, know that it is not enoug to maintain a family in self-respect. care not what formula is used to dete mine the wages. As essential workers one of the most essential industries transportation—they demand to live. J. M. BAER

MONTREAL TAKES FIRST PRIZE

Complete returns from Organizing Week, October 23rd to October 29th, have now been received and compiled. A grand total of 287 members and delinquents were secured as a result of this one week's work.

The task of awarding the three prises of $50, $25 and $10, to the three best individual workers has been an impossible one, owing to lack of information. With one or two exceptions, individual workers either preferred to give all credit to their respective districts, or the secretaries failed to credit them in the reports.

In order to reach a fair solution of the problem, it has been decided to assume that the prize winners are in the three districts making the best showing during the week.

These districts are: Eastern District, Canadian Pacific System Division No. 1, with 67 members; Chicago District, Western Broker Division, with 30 members; New York District, Eastern Broker Division, with 25.

The three prizes, therefore, have been sent to the secretary-treasurers of these districts, to be paid to the best individual worker or credited to the district treasury, as the district membership sees fit.

Your officers wish to take this opportunity to express hearty appreciation and gratitude to each officer and member who helped make Organizing Week a success.

EDITORIALS

By ROSCOE H. JOHNSON

The Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America was perhaps the first organization to sense that economic conditions are now ripe for an aggressive LABOR OUTLOOK advance by organized labor.

IN 1923

ism from our industrial life.

For the past two years the employing class has taken every advantage of economic conditions both to beat down the workers' standard of living and to disrupt their organizations.

They have used the decline in the cost of living to compel and to justify sweeping reductions in wages. They have used the fear of unemployment to dragoon the workers into line. They have used the army of the unemployed, which probably reached the four million mark last December, to recruit strikebreakers when the workers dared openly to resist. They used the vast financial resources of accumulated war-time profits as insurance against strikes. They put their surplus into the war chest of organizations publicly committed to the elimination of labor union-

Now all this is at an end. Those very economic forces which the employers used against labor can now be used by labor against the employers. The opportunity is at hand for labor to regain the ground it lost and to advance to new positions on the front of human betterment.

According to the Labor Bureau the cost of living has ceased its decline. What movement exists is upward. No worker need fear the loss of his job. Men are no longer hunting jobs. Jobs are hunting men. There is no army of the jobless from which to draw recruits. The depression has been a drain on the war chest of the employers.

These are not the only economic forces that are working Labor's way. ness is definitely on the make. Every week increases the pressure of competition and of the movement of business recovery toward continuous and uninterrupted production. The temporary setback of the strikes merely serves to aggravate the tension. Increasing profits from increased production enhance the employer's ability to pay adequate scales. The trend of wages has already swung upward. Employers in every section and trade have seen the writing on the wall and have already submitted to increased compensation. The United States Steel Corporation has set a precedent which is hard for an employer to flout.

Now is the time for Labor to act. But how long it will be time is difficult to foretell.

There is a definite movement among employers, now taking shape, to get what small advantages they can from the present situation. They plan to induce Labor to sign agreements providing for future wage adjustments based solely on changes in the cost of living. Even though this may involve a temporary wage increase, they maintain, it will bind Labor later to submit to decreases.

Apart from economic theory, the experience of the last three years has convinced most labor unions of the dangers of this kind of a bargain. Both the past and the future stand as warnings against them.

Free of such handicaps and confident of its power, Labor stands today on the pathway of achievement.

CANADIAN TOPICS

By the Vice-President

Organizing Week netted over 150 members in Canada. This announcement will not bring a spark of gladness to the dichard crepe hangers.

The wonderful showing made by the English Labor Party in the recent elections is gratifying and an object lesson for the workers of this Continent.

The C. P. R. Telegraphs has recently put into effect working rules which are not acceptable to the workers. Such encroachments on our rights cannot be tolerated and the management, if at all wise, will heed the ominous rumblings of discontent. Trouble is brewing and we cannot accept responsibility for starting it.

The net operating revenue of the Canadian National Telegraphs in 1921 was almost double that of 1920. That was made possible by the acceptance of a lower wage than that paid by competing companies. It is about time the C. N. T. workers busied themselves and demanded an equitable wage.

The Canadian National members west of Winnipeg want a new district with officers of their own, headquarters to be at Edmonton. We must agree this is a reasonable request and should receive prompt consideration from the officers of Division No. 43.

The five million dollar Mount Royal Hotel in Montreal, just completed this month, will be the headquarters of our 1923 convention. A splendid setting for a distinguished assemblage. Get ready to bring your ladies along. We are making preparations to entertain 200 delegates and visitors.

Montreal trades unions are making a big drive on the non-union workers this month and great results are anticipated. Samuel Gompers, the veteran labor leader, will address monster mass meetings of the workers during the campaign.

The building trades are the weakest and will receive the most attention.

It will be remembered that the telegraphers in Montreal are now solidly organized. The dispute between Canadian railways and their shopmen, which arose over a proposed wage reduction, will probably be settled this month.

The railways proposed a reduction in wages last July which the men would not accept. A strike was averted by the Minister of Labour who urged that negotiations be reopened and an effort made to arrive at a settlement without subjecting the country to a serious railway tie-up at a critical time. Negotiations have proceeded slowly since then, with several breaks in relationship.

While no announcement has been made at this writing, it is believed the settlement will be on the basis of the Baltimore Agreement, which was the means of settling the shopmen's strike in the States. The Canadian dispute involves 35,000 men.

Now that Canadian Marconi operators have a contract which gives them practical recognition of their organization (Division 59, C. T. U. A.) and insures wages and working conditions for a year, they are settling down to the business of solidifying their ranks.

What excuse has a Marconi man for not becoming a member and paying his share of the freight? Surely the men all realize the value of their organization now!

The officers of the Division are real live workers and should not be called upon to carry along dead weight in the shape of lame ducks. Here's hoping every man jack in the service measures up to what is expected of him as a man and a brother.

The Broker Division continues slowly but surely to climb to the 100 per cent solid mark, which is as it should be. The remaining two nons in Montreal are coming in at the next meeting. Toronto and Winnipeg are also in good shape and reporting steady progress.

Broker men all realize the value of organization and once started on the right track they become valuable boosters of the C. T. U. A.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to the entire membership. Pax vobiscum and may next year be a banner one for our Union.

OUR KEYNOTE: RESPONSIBILITY

By Edward L. Boole,

The ranks of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America are not exactly honeycombed with bona-fide Georges, those much imposed upon and self-sacrificing individuals the world over whose worthy deeds are truly exemplified in the trite, illogical and abhorrent slogan, "Let George Do It." In the lean years, when the old ship wallowed in the trough of the sea, and its tattered salls and creaking masts seemed about to go by the board, our Georges stood by the halyards and saved the day. When I stand in the presence of a real George I feel almost impelled to reverently doff my Kelly, or, retaining it in its anchorage upon my grizsled locks, bring my digits to its brim in a military salute. I have often wondered how it was possible that when we were beset by the common foe, and our Georges have gone to the front line trenches to repel the brunt of the attack, so many of our members could lay back complacently and find solace in the serene thought that so long as George was on the job all was We are all equal stockholders in this organization of ours, and no one individual should be expected to contribute more aid than another in the herculean task of sledding it to its proper destiny.

This organization, it would appear, is so ultra-mutual or so lacking in genuine mutuality, I know not which, that none of us has the right to command inactive individuals to accept responsibility and to do their full duty by the organization or quit. Persuasion is the only force available to us. Many of us realize that few tasks in all the world are more difficult of accomplishment than to persuade individuals against their will to assume definite responsibility.

There are some men who accept no responsibility, however plain or urgent; others accept responsibility because they are afraid to dodge it; but, thank God, there are still others, and among them I am pleased to think more than a fair sprinkling of C. T. U. A. men are numbered, to whom the acceptance of responsibility is second nature, who go out of their way to be useful and helpful—men who, partly through a sense inborn and partly through intelligent observation, have realized the interdependency of human beings and have resolved to do their full share toward making the world a decent abiding place for mankind.

The history of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America shows that the splendid progress it has made has been brought about not through the feeble efforts of the few anaemic specimens that have seeped through undetected crevices in its system of investigation, but through the sledge-hammer blows of red-blooded men—men of courage—men of iron; men who never lost faith in hours of darkness; men who were undaunted in the face of bitter criticism; men of clear heads and stout hearts and high ideals. We have a man-sized job on our hands, a man-sized burden to carry, man-sized responsibilities to recognize and accept.

A merchant analyzes his business in an endeavor to discover what departments and what employes are profitable or unprofitable to him. Unprofitable departments he eliminates or consolidates; unprofitable employes he dismisses or demotes. He charges each department with its share of the expense burden and permits none to lean upon another. Each employe must do his share of the work, and do it in harmony with his associates. The enterprise that we telegraphers are conducting particularly requires the productive activity of each unit and the cooperative performance by each member of each unit of his full duty as a component part of the organization. As sensible men we must know that no argument can be advanced to convince intelligent men that some C. T. U. A. members should be permitted to lie down on the job entirely, while others, more conscientious than they should keep the wheels moving by doubling the efforts that they should in equity be required to make.

The territory covered by this union's jurisdiction is a very small part of the world, but it is the world as far as you and I are concerned, and it is practically the world of our wives and children. Our job today, which we must tackle manfully as befits men who realize their individual responsibility, is to brighten that world, to do our utmost to banish grief and trouble from it, and to leave it better than we found it. That is the essence of the work in which we are engaged, the mission of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. This is the one big object we must never lose sight of. It is the object you and I must keep before us during every minute of the coming year.

My brothers, let us go out into this world of ours tomorrow with the determination to further that object. Nothing else is of consequence. Petty bickerings, maneuvers for political advantage, the consideration of purely personal likes or dislikes, cannot be tolerated. There is serious work to be performed, and the days are all too short to permit the wasting of our time and energy in attending to matters of no vital importance. To make the C. T. U. A. a tower of strength, that alone is enough to occupy all the time we have to give to this work. Our flield is practically limitless.

During the year 1923, opening as it does more brilliantly radiant with the hope of grand achievement than any that has preceded it, let us carry the C. T. U. A. gospel into every corporation and business house to which we have access, and, for good measure, into similar places where we have not as yet gained a foothold. As responsible men-not as children, not as counterfeits feigning manhood—as responsible men, we have no alternative. Aside from our large and ofttimes too vague obligation to society, we have a very definite obligation to each other, an obligation that we took at the C. T. U. A. altar and that no man whose conscience whispers articulately dares disregard. The security of each of us depends upon the security of all of us, and nome of us has the right to the mental peace that such security affords him if he does not contribute his share of the effort necessary to make him secure.

This, then, the keynote: Responsibility. Realize your individual responsibility as a member of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America; accept that responsibility and build. The foundation for an edifice that no power on earth can destroy has been laid carefully and wisely by our far-sighted predecessors. It has been cemented with an adamantine mixture of loyalty and fraternity. Build upon it with every assurance that it will support any weight that it may be burdened with. Build upon it so imposingly as to compel attention to the structure by its sheer magnificence. Build so that when the time shall come for us to yield the trowel to younger hands, we may contemplate the result of our labors unashamed.

The company continues to advertising since 1918. believe in advertising, however.

The Western Union has discovered, according to the statement of officials, that it gets better results for less money by maintaining a publicity department than an advertising department. Right now they are preparing a piece of news for the press of the United States setting forth that week-end letters to South America will be accepted at greatly reduced They are frank inasmuch as they state that they believe the publication of their announcement will greatly increase business to South America. They have already tried this method of reaching the public and found that it is cheap and at the same time brings results.

How much longer are American newspapers going to grant free service of this kind in the interest of profit to the individual and the corporation and loss to themselves, and to the community by the loss of justified revenue for service? This is a natural outcome of the press agent evil that is sure to grow.—(Editor and Publisher.)

Our Own Travelogues.

The Western Union operator in the Blackstone Hotel, Chicago, just tele-phoned up to me that he cannot send the words "et cetera" in a day letter because "et cetera" is French -so she tells me. I argued that "et cetera" was now English, but she said no, and would not let me discuss with her the Latin and Greek origin of certain English words.

She said she knew what "et cetera" meant, but that I must make it "and so on"-which she maintains is English.

I should have telegraphed this information, but obviously could not do so in a day letter because, you see, I can't telegraph the words cetera."

ECONOMIC POWER OF UNIONS By W. J. McMAHON

Is there a growth of real economic and moral power developing in the ranks of organized labor of our day?

No doubt by a good many otherwise estimable people this would be answered in the negative, and so answered because of their lack of sympathetic understanding of the purposes of our Unions; their ideals and practices, and an utter lack of insight on the heartbreaking sacrifices often made by unselfish Union men to advance the cause of the toilers, which is the cause of humanity.

If there be a doubt in the mind of anyone that real power is taking root and is already flourishing in several places in our country, let them ponder a few moments on the fact that organized labor already has several going and prosperous financial institutions of their own, as set forth in the September Journal, and there will be more to follow.

The organized Telegraphers in the Railroad service are the latest to come forward in this line by the launching of their bank in St. Louis, and although their venture is the "babe" in point of time, we are confident this husky youngster will very soon grow to the giant proportions it deserves, which will be indicative of the steadfast character of the men who have so nobly struggled to build the O. R. T. Every telegrapher in the country should not only boost this venture of our brothers on the railroad, but should be proud that men of our profession show such courage and business ability.

What was it that won the United Mine Workers strike? No doubt the undaunted courage and the sacrifices of the men and their families in their determination to fight it out and the help of other Unions was a very large factor; but the Harriman Bank loan of $100,000 to the Miners' Union seems also to have had quite a decided effect on the mine owners. At any rate, they settled, and it is a significant fact that the bank officials declared the Union miners could have borrowed $500,000 on the collateral they submitted. Is there no indication of financial power in this incident? I shall say there is.

Gentlemen of plethoric bank accounts that run into the hundreds of millions may sneer at a mere half million, but everything has to have a beginning. It is not so much the possession of wealth, but rather the control of it that counts.

Did you ever see them "back-fire" for a prairie fire? You start a fire in the path of the oncoming blaze, following up the one you start, and when the big roaring flame comes to where you set off yours why it's all through—nothing to burn.

The establishment of these Union banks is the "backfire" of finance and will eventually balance the monetary situation, at least to the extent that the dollar aristocracy of the U. S. A. will hesitate to enter on a program of deflation such as we have experienced in the last two years.

The effect on organized labor as a whole will be encouraging and have a steadying tendency, as well as giving it more weight in controversy.

Where does the C. T. U. A. come in on this? What interest have we in banks or banking? We are a part of the legitimate organized labor of this country and as such we should function. It is our duty to ourselves and to each other to aid in every honest move that will advance us as Unions, but first we must build a real organization, composed of every person engaged in the work of the telegraph. That's the big task that comes first, and it will not be long delayed if each one-goes to the work of recruiting in earnest.

DENVER.—The right of labor to organize, to a living wage, and the love and respect of humanity was emphatically voiced by the Right Rev. J. Henry Tihen, bishop of the Denver diocese of the Catholic Church, at a mass meeting held at Grand Junction.

The open shop, said the bishop, is wrong. It would place additional burdens and handicaps upon the workers, he added, and therefore should not be advocated or tolerated.

PORTLAND, Ore.—A strong stand for larger participation by workers in the management of industry has been taken by the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

At their session the bishops voted approval of the declarations of the social service committee that "the worker who invests his life and that of his family in industry must have, along with the capitalist who invests his money, some voice in the control of the industry which determines the conditions of his working and his living."

BRIEFLETS

The National Grange in the final session of its ten days' convention held in Wichita, Kan., unanimously adopted a resolution opposing the ship subsidy by the U.S. Government. The National Grange represents nearly one million organized farmers of America.

The Ship Subsidy Bill is "one of the biggest gold bricks the American people were ever called upon to buy," the American Federation of Labor declared in a statement issued from its New York head-quarters.

"If there are any in this country who are anticipating lower wages for coal miners next year, they might as well abandon that anticipation now and devote their spare time to some other subject." Ellis Searles, editor of the United Mine Workers' Journal, declared in an address before the Business Science Club of Philadelphia.

Acceptance by the union leaders and mason builders of a proposal to submit their controversy to a board of arbitration averted the lockout of bricklayers which threatened to tie up building construction in New York City and throw 125,000 craftsmen out of work.

George B. Fraser, aged 59 years, died at Olympia, Wash., on September 19th. He had been in the service of the Associated Press at Olympia and vicinity for many years.

Roscoe E. McGowen, formerly Associated Press operator with the Moline (Ill.) Dispatch, and later telegraph editor of Rock Island (Ill.) Argus, becomes an editorial writer on the New York News about December 10.

George T. Hargraves, manager of the Universal Service, is back after a four months' leave of absence, during which he spent his time roughing it in the Adirondacks and in Pennsylvania on account of his health.

The Fuller Brush Co., manufacturers of widely advertised brushes, "positively refused to have anything to do with Organized Wage Earners," in connection with erection of new buildings in Hartford, Conn. Keep this in mind when the next Fuller salesman comes around.

On night I dreamed the sun arose on A day that none could censure: A perfect day! No scandal and No coryphee's adventure; No railroad accidents occurred, No murder was committed, No jury probed unwritten laws, No millionaires remitted. No rich man's wife took leave of him. No poor man's home got triplets, No Profiteer's excuses came, No candidates told fiblets; "At last," I cried, "the perfect day; A journalistic heydey; But one thing could improve on it, And that if it were payday." I donned my togs and went to work, As is my daily caper; The edit. gruffly said, "Go home! Today there'll be no paper!" -(Buffalo News).

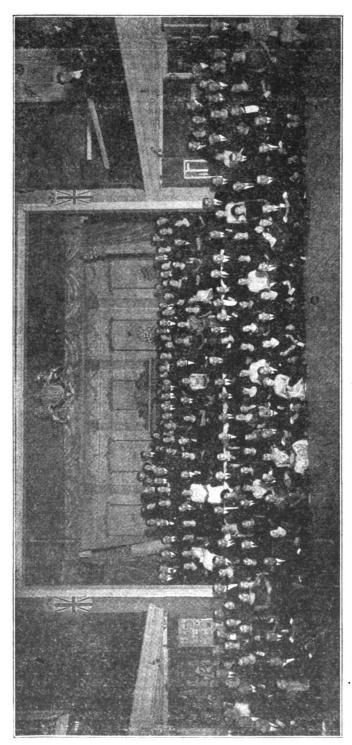

Contract has been signed between Sioux City (Ia.) newspapers and the typographical union, effective from June 1, 1922, to May 31, 1923, providing a night scale of $44 and a day scale of $41. Machine learners are paid $27 to $35.50 for day work and $30 to $38.50 for night work. Night foremen get $47, day forement, $44. Apprentices get one-third to one-half of journeymen's scale. The working week is 48 hours.

NOBLE HUNTER DEAD

Many friends in the telegraph world will be grieved to learn of the death, in Denver, early in December, of Noble F. Hunter, an employe of the Postal Telegraph Company for nearly 20 years.

He had been active in C. T. U. A. circles for many years, always carrying an up-todate annual.

Brother Hunter was interested in mining property on the western slope of the Colorado Rockies, and for several years past he forsook the key during the summer months to "work" his vein in the rugged hills, returning in the fall to resume his duties with the Postal.

LOCAL NOTES .

MONTREAL DISTRICT COUNCIL

Now that our Sixth Annual Dance is out of the way we have nothing to do but plan another entertainment along the same lines.

Last month's affair, held at Stanley Hall, Thursday, November 30th, was an unqualified success as will be noted by the flashlight picture carried in this issue.

This Council believes it is quite necessary to promote as many social functions as possible because they are a splendid medium of getting together.

We find ourselves besieged with requests to hold another dance on St. Valentine's Day, February 14th, and our next meeting will undoubtedly take heed of the clamor and launch the arrangements. It is a foregone conclusion that our next affair will be even more successful than the last.

Tom Carrothers, Eddie Young and Vin Wallace are snow-shoeing around looking for a good dancing school. It's about time these wall flowers learned to dance.

Bob Greenfield gave the girls a treat by showing up in his claw-hammer. Bob out-Shieked Rubeoff Vasselino and had 'em all dizzy. Smatter, you didn't dance, Bob?

George Hines was also in full regalia and didn't miss a number.

Nellie Vance had her programme filled early, as usual, which was quite a disappointment to a number of us. Sister Nellie is always good to look upon, but was exceptionally pleasing to the eye this night of nights.

"Doug" Lawson and Ralph Haig, the gold-dust twins, did their stuff in full dress and were real handsome and tuneful.

General Executive Board Member Decelles brought his family and reports that a good time was had by all. His daughter Eva is a lovely little lady and a splendid dancer.

Georgie Gorman manipulates a wicked hoof and was much in evidence with his missus.

Larry Deslaurier and his wife were among those present but didn't dance much. Mrs. Larry sprained her ankle a short time ago and did not feel like hopping.

Everybody missed Rose Ganser, who was indisposed and couldn't come. Hope you won't disappoint us next time, Rose.

"Bill" Hartley, our genial president, was also among the missing. Bill had to go and get himself a mess of tonsilitis the day before the hop.

Mr. J. McMillan, general manager, C. P. R. Telegraphs, sent his best wishes and regretted his inability to be present.

"Bert" Walters, the popular local superintendent of the Canadian National Telegraphs, was with us and met many old acquaintances. Come again, Mr. Walters.

Mr. G. H. Ferguson, C. P. R. traffic chief, brought his family and had a good time. His son was the lucky winner of the cash prize.

Carl Castleman as secretary of the Entertainment Committee proved himself a live wire and is deserving of much praise. Carl wore out a pair of $5.79 brogans getting the stage set for the hop.

getting the stage set for the hop.

Jock Decelles, Cy Williams, A. Sanefacon, Vin Wallace, Joe Monette, Harry Schrader and Carl Castleman spent most of the evening at the door handling tickets and welcoming the guests.

Vice-President Paul Schnur was present with Mrs. Schnur and his sister, Marion. Brother Paul was chairman of the Entertainment Committee and necessarily quite busy but we couldn't help but notice that he had time to dance with such good looking ladies as Mrs. Cy Williams, Mrs. Carl Castleman, Mrs. George Gorman and Mrs. Decelles.

The winter weather brings thoughts of Santa Claus and hockey. Why can't the Montreal telegraph workers get up a good strong hockey team? We are taking up this question at our next meeting. The good-natured bragging of our Toronto hockey-playing brethren has our goat.

At our last meeting a Committee was chosen to investigate the problem of raffling an automobile for the purpose of raising funds for our Convention needs. The Committee will report its findings to the next meeting.

We find ourselves wondering when Toronto and Winnipeg will form their District Councils. The Canadian National members in Toronto have gone on record favoring the Council idea but we have been told the C. P. R. boys are a little bashful. Come on in, fellers, the water's fine! The District Council will help you solve your problem of promoting co-operation between divisions.

The Montreal District Council extends to the entire membership its sincere wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. "SIMPLICIMUS."

EDITORIAL

The situation is improving daily. The month of November records of our Service Bureau are very encouraging and the prospects for the near future are very bright. Fourteen permanent positions were filled in the New York District during this month; nine full week jobs were secured, and one hundred and thirty-six single day's work were distributed among the boys on the Waiting List. Exclusive of the permanent positions, $2,755.50 worth of emergency work passed through our hands.

There are other reasons why we should feel optimistic for the near future.

Listen—Twenty years ago the bulk of the stock market business came over the public wires of the Commercial companies; the trading was done almost exclusively by banks and big business representatives; the general public knew little or nothing about the securities markets, and the field for broker telegraphers was negligible.

Compare those conditions with what they are today.

When the United States went into the World War and the Government started an intensive campaign for the sale of Liberty Bonds, the general public and the little business man for the first time was drawn into the securities market. It was a common thing in the trains morning and night to hear mechanics, office workers and wage earners in general going and coming from work discussing and reading the stock market news.

Consequently, the result of the flotation of Liberty Bonds brought about a new era in the scope and class of stock market buying and selling. The little business man and the wage earner, having thus been initiated into the game of Bulls and Bears, were subsequently buying railroad; steels; oils and other classes of stocks and bonds.

With this increase in the stock market business came the opening of new firms in the game, and an active campaign for the business of this increased army of customers started, and at the same time sounded the death knell of the slow, unsatisfactory and lack-of-privacy method of handling orders over public wires and trading on newspaper quotations from 24 to 48 hours old. Fast private leased wires over which instantaneous quotations were flashed were installed in broker offices and the Stock Exchanges were brought to the Main street of every town and hamlet throughout the Country, which enabled the customer to walk into the brokerage office in his home town, take his seat in the customer's room in front of the quotation board, watch the changing prices in securities as they were received over the fast private wire with the same advantages as if he were actually trading on the floor of the Stock Exchange in New York.

Many of those country offices were closed by the recent failures of brokerage firms, but the taste for speculation is still as strong as ever in the minds of those former customers and it is a foregone conclusion that they will not go back to the old twenty-year-ago method of trading. They have been accustomed to receiving instantaneous quotations and quick execution of orders and are ready to trade again, but the home town broker office on Main Street with its fast wire connection and quotation board will have to be re-opened before they will do so.

The business is there and somebody will have to go there to get it.

Whether it be a Big Board, Consolidated, or Curb Market firm, it will mean at least two telegraph jobs for every Main Street office re-opened. Therefore, we have reason to feel optimistic for the near future.

Those of us who are inclined to believe that the Main Street customer was cured of speculationitis when the firms failed and the home town broker office was closed are going to live to see the day when a three million share market will be a normal day's work. The field of the broker telegraphers has grown at least five hundred per cent in the last ten years and it will grow at almost the same ratio for the next ten to come.

The writer distinctly recalls the day when the race pool rooms in New York were The newspapers featured the occasion on front pages with items such as "A DEATH BLOW TO GAMBLING," " etc.

What was the result of closing the pool rooms? There were one thousand hand-books being made for every pool room closed,

The gambler will gamble and the speculator will speculate, whether it is "Spotting the bang tails" or "Teasing the Bulls and Bears." It is the same spirit and desire to increase one's bank-roll that makes the market for both.

We are all by nature gamblers or speculators, the only difference is that some possess stronger will power to limit his chances than others.

Even the fellow who opens the little grocery store is speculating with his bank-roll on its success or failure.

The Main Street fast wire broker offices are coming back with the number of former customers multiplied and a similar increase in the field for broker telegraphers.

HEADQUARTERS NOTES

The sympathies of the members of the Eastern Broker Division are extended to Brother S. J. Poorman of R. W. Evans & Co. in the loss of his father; Brother M. Ehrlich of Potter & Co. in the loss of his father and Brother Tom Ruddy of Clark, Childs & Co. in the loss of his brother.

Brother Bob Christian of Harris, Winthrop & Co. was married to Miss Anita May Simmons of Brooklyn on December 2nd. Congratulations to the bride and groom.

Brother Herbert Long of A. A. Housman & Co. is at the Municipal Sanitarium at Otisville, N. Y., on the sick list. Herb would welcome some correspondence from his friends.

Brother W. J. (Billy) Mitchell, of the E. B. D., is slowly recovering from a serious iliness at 96 Park Avenue, Saranac Lake, N. Y. He is taking subscriptions or renewals for all the popular magazines and would appreciate any orders sent him. He would like to hear from his old friends anyway.

We are pleased to learn of the return to work of Brother Jack McCloskey, of Byllesby & Co., who underwent an operation recently.

Replying to an unsigned note received by our Organizing Committee as to whether Henry L. Carter on the Post & Flagg circuit at Columbia, S. C., and covering the Saturday night job for the I. N. S. there, was a member, we are pleased to say that Brother Carter is an up-to-date member of the E. B. D.

The article in the November issue of the Journal entitled, "W. U. profits $8,000,000 from wage cuts with the aid of the A. W. E.," was a timely warning to the misled employees of that Company. The writer neglected to state that the employees of the W. U. pay dues of fifty cents per month to the A. W. E. for the privilege of having their wages cut. Adding insult to injury as it were.

At the last regular meeting of the New York District, E. B. D., held on November 25th, eighteen applications for membership were placed before the members for their consideration.

Seventeen were accepted and one reiected.

The rejected application was that of Wm. J. Slade, whose application stated that he is employed in New York by E. F. Hutton & Co. It was reported that Slade worked for Bennett & Co. in Chicago during the recent strike on that firm.

Brother Jack O'Connell, an authority on Phillips Code, and other codes that Walter was not guilty of using, has signed a contract for a two-year cruise as wireless operator on the private yacht "Ohio." passing through the Panama Canal about this time on his way to the Orient. Jack Hickey will act as his social secretary during his absence. O'Connell's mail comes in perfume scented, pale pink envelopes from all parts of the globe. It takes a social secretary and an interpreter to answer his correspondence. He is now looking for an interpreter who can "thiggin thu Gaelic," to add to his social staff. Please page Charley Josephson.

Due to our being completely tied up with the detail work preliminary to the holding of our annual Ball on Nov. 3rd, we were unable to do very much in the way of organizing work during the week of Oct. 23rd to 29th, designated as Organizing Week.

Nevertheless, an Organizing Committee was appointed of which Brother W. U. Tate was appointed chairman and plans were laid for an intensive organizing campaign.

Brother Tate and Secretary Hickey have worked up a list of wire houses in our District and are collecting the names of the operators employed therein with a view to combing the District for nons and delinquents.

In this connection all members are requested to send to Headquarters a list of the names of operators working in the offices with them and also the names of correspondent firms who have wire connections with their firms and the names of the operators employed by the correspondents if possible.

The work of the Organizing Committee up to this time has been very encouraging. Eighteen new applications were brought before our last meeting on Nov. 25th. We expect a like number for our next meeting to be held on Dec. 9th.

Brother Tate is putting in every minute of his off time on this work, and he should get the co-operation of the membership. He may have the name of a Non with whom you are personally acquainted whom you could induce to join, or he may need a list of the names of the men working for your firm. Get in touch with either Brother Tate or Secretary-Hickey at Headquarters for information regarding our organizing campaign. A few words from you may land the fellow they have been working on.

Mr. Charles L. Abernathy, brother of Brother Ivan B. Abernethy of the Eastern Broker Division, was at the last elections elected to Congress from the Third District, North Carolina.

We are pleased to learn of the promotion of "Little Jimmy" Gilroy to the managership of the Harris, Winthrop & Co. office at Camden, S. C. Congratulations, Jimmy. We wish you the best of luck. We know you possess the qualities that are mistaken for and termed "luck." Tom Edison calls it "One per cent inspiration and ninety-nine per cent perspiration."

Brother "Jimmy" Kelly of the Canadian Broker Division was a welcome visitor to Headquarters where he met some of his old friends.

The Joint Banking Committee of the A. F. of L. and the Trades and Labor Council of New York and vicinity advise that a labor bank to be called The Federation Trust Co. will open in New York about the first of next year.

Mr. Walter McCaleb, who organized and managed the Locomotive Engineers Bank of Cleveland, Ohio, has resigned from that institution and is now ready to render his valuable assistance to establish a trade union bank in New York.

Mr. McCaleb has been identified with the banking business for many years and at one time was Vice-President of the Bankers' Association.

The assertion credited to Edison that "a first-class telegrapher would make good in any line of business" was brought to our mind yesterday when we were honored by a visit from one of our distinguished members in the person of Brother John F. Cronin.

John made good in many lines. Old timers will remember him as the Prince in the "Prince of Pilsen," and in other Broadway shows of other years.

At present he holds the responsible position of Secretary to the Commissioner of Plants and Structures, and it may be news to some of our members to know that this Department of the municipality through the establishment of five-cent fare bus lines throughout the five Boroughs of Greater New York has been ably assisting Mayor Hylan in his fight against the Traction Trust for the retention of the five-cent fare.

Matching brains with the traction people's law talent in court injunction proceedings to keep the busses on the streets is not so easy a job as telegraphing, but Brother Cronin is equal to it,

We are sorry to learn of the illness of Brother Joe Rosenberg of Logan & Bryan's, and trust that it will be of short duration. Jos has been one of our hardest workers for the E. B. D. in his quiet, unassuming way without any personal tooting of horns. The number of new applicants he brought into the fold and the delinquents whom he brought back speak louder than all the horns in the universe.

Heard a wonderful flash the other day which will bring tears to the eyes of many a "boomer." Old Tom "TB" Brennan has resigned to take effect the first of the year. The "boys" are glving him a banquet at so much per plate. Old Tom carries with him the contempt of every operator that came into contact with his venomous nature.

Occasionly we get a kick from some member who does not get his Journal and it turns out to be the fault of the member by neglecting to keep the Secretary posted on his change of address.

Several members are having their mall sent to these Headquarters and never call for it. The mail box each month is full of Journals uncalled for. These members are requested to advise the Secretary where they want their mail sent.

The members of the Eastern Broker Division extend to each and every member of the C. T. U. A. our best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

GOODBODY & CO.

Dick Johnson spent a very pleasant vacation hunting through the woods up in Maryland, Brother Cook, one of the old timers in Wall street, acted as Chief during Mr. Johnson's absence.

Brother Sam Turner had full charge of the tell-tale and reports that everything was in tip-top shape. According to rumors around the street, "Sam" had many a restless night worrying whether the tell-tale would tell or not.

Orders clerks "Jack" and Mulligan report that there is still a mystery connected with the Tell-Tale and Brother Turner, which is yet to be solved.

DEAN, ONATIVIA & CO.

Here is an infant fast growing to man's size. We have just moved into palatial quarters in the New York Stock Exchange building, where we occupy the entire twenty-second floor. "Jack" Rolinson, son of the famous classical fast Morse sender of the '80s, is in charge, and with "Paddy" Shea at the Chicago end, make a hot team. The second Chicago is being taken care of by "Jack" Martine and "Barnie" Quinn, Washington wire is ably handled with Luke O'Reilly, at this end, and "Jack" Benton and Tally Martin handling the stuff at the Capitol. "Red" Bekerson holds the fort at Minneapolis. A new office has been opened in the Waldorf and several connections are being considered in the West. A man without a card on these circuitts would be about as welcome as Volstead on the Coney Island Bowery.

ROSENBAUM GRAIN CO.

This is a lively outfit and has connections with Dean, Onativia & Co. H. E. White is in charge at Chicago, assisted by Slits, Walton, Duffy, Waliace and Smith. Brother Charley Sabiando handles the New York end at the Produce Exchange. We hope the W. B. D. has taken care of this outfit, in the way of cards, as they are "some pumpkins" out that way.

E. B. D. AIDS STRIKERS.

That the rank and file of the E. B. D. can, when the necessity arises, display the very best spirit and qualities of all that is interpreted as the essence of solidarity, was ably demonstrated during the campaign carried on by the E. B. D. for the relief of the striking miners and shopmen last Summer.

The Executive Board of the New York District recommended to the membership that a contribution of $100.00 be made from our local funds. When this recommendation was placed before the members at a regnlar meeting, it was decided to appoint a committee to receive voluntary individual contributions from those of our members who wished to so contribute.

The total amount received by this committee was $676.00, collected from the following sources:

Total ...........$676.00 In addition to the above about fifty bundles of discarded clothing was collected from members of the New York District and shipped to the miners.

In appreciation of its efforts in behalf of the miners and railroad workers, the following letters were received: Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 3, 1922.

W. U. Tate, Chairman,

Eastern Broker Div. Miners' Relief Com., New York City:

Dear Sir and Brother:

I am pleased to acknowledge receipt of your favor of October 30th. I wish to officially express, in behalf of the International Union of the United Mine Workers, our appreciation of the service you and the Eastern Broker Division of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union have rendered the United Mine Workers during the recent strike.

The help you gave was very badly needed and it assisted our organization wonderfully in carrying on the strike to a successful issue. I can assure you that the members of your organization occupy very warm places in the hearts and minds of the United Mine Workers. We will gladly reciprocate, if the occasion requires, any assistance that lies within our power.

Again thanking you, and with kind regards, I am,

Fraternally yours,
WM. GREEN,
Secretary-Treasurer.

New York, Oct. 19th, 1922. Mr. John A. Hickey, 44 Broad Street, New York City.

Dear Bro. Hickey:

This will acknowledge receipt of your check for $100.00 donation to the railroad shopmen.

May I extend to your members through you the sincere appreciation of the yeoman work that is being done by the organization for the benefit of both the miners and the railroad shopmen.

It is co-operation of this sort that strengthens one's belief in the trade union movement.

The telegraphers of New York City, as represented by your branch, have evinced a spirit of helpfulness to the rest of the movement here that is deserving of the highest commendation.

Should the time ever come when your organization needs help and assistance of this body, you may rest assured that we will leave no stone unturned in our efforts to resince the fully forts to reciprocate fully.

With kindest regards to yourself and the members of your organization, believe me to be,

Fraternally yours,
WM. F. KEHOE,
Secretary.

PITTSBURGH DISTRICT

As a result of International President Johnson's visit to Pittsburgh, quite a few applications have been received.

Owing to the failure of so many firms during the Spring and Summer the Street has been very quiet, and at the present time there are several of your boys waiting for something to turn up.

At Jones & Baker's the house is 100%, Messrs. Owens, Hinman and Willson being respectively phone man, order clerk and operator.

Directly underneath their office we find R. C. Patterson with G. W. Weller & Co.

In the Shannon Building are located Winkleman & Co., with Messrs. Charlie Miller, Warren Woodhall and Mr. Robertson, all A1. At Winkleman's Greensburg office H. A. Davis is manager and "Jimmie" Dugan the operator. At their Uniontown office Harry Bowman handles the chalk.

Across the street from Winkleman's, Assistant Chairman Laitta is with Taubman & Co.

At Obey & Nuttall's, another 100% house, are Pete Wilbert and "Boss Op."
Johnny Matthews and Charlie Faulkner.

At their Butler Branch our former Vice Chairman, L. A. Parker, is operator, and E. A. Smith handles the chalk.

At the office of-Kay, Richard & Co. is the old war hoss Eddie Murray.

At their Pittsburgh office are Mike Dougherty, Homer Brown, Mr. McDonough Dolan, and "Old-timer" Frank Barr is chief.

At Moore, Leonard & Lynch, in the Frick Building, are Manager Billy Mc-Moil, Floor Man Fred Brockschmidt, and Operators Sam Inks, Fred Moore, Paul McPyke, and Herb Colebrook, former night Chief Operator for the Postal.

Brother Young is working for Eisenwein & Cutter, a sugar house.

Harry Armstrong is also working for a sugar house.

At Masten's, Carl Halle resigned on November 15th and left for the West.

Pittsburgh District will hold their annual election of officers on Dec. 16th, and there are likely to be a new set of officers elected.

ORGANIZE—CO-OPERATE

reau, 215-221 Imperial Bidg., 213 South Clark St., Wabash 1434.

Regular mosting dates, First and Third Saturdays in each menth in headqua a payable annually, January 1st, or somi-annually, January 1st and July 1st.

OUR ANNUAL MEETING

As provided for in our Constitution and By-Laws, the annual meeting will be called to order at 3:30 P. M., Thursday, December 28th. The meeting will be held at Union Headquarters, Room 321, Imperial Building, 312 South Clark Street.

Due to the fact that the 23rd and 30th of December falls on a Saturday previous to Christmas and New Year's, the Executive Board decided that the logical time would be during a week day between the two mentioned holidays. We trust that this will be entirely satisfactory to all of our members and hope to see a well attended meeting.

The election of officers for the year 1923 is, of course, important but there are other things of just as vital importance to be decided on for the welfare of our organization.

The annual meeting is the place to air your views. Consult your By-Laws, and if there is anything that you want changed or added, write it up in proper form and submit it to the meeting. If you are an out-of-town member you can send it to President McDaniel and he will introduce it for you. Members located outside of Chicago may also send in their nominations for Divisional Officers to President McDaniel, who will place the nominations before the meeting. The officers to be nominated and placed on the ballot are the following:

President, First Vice-President, General Secretary-Treasurer and five Executive Board members who must reside in Chicago. In addition to that three vice-presidents, residing outside of Chicago, are to be nominated and placed on the ballot. It has been the custom to have the vice-presidents geographically located, so that each section of our membership would have a vice-president. For your information the following are serving now and their terms will expire January 1st, 1923:

1st Vice-President .....Vacant.
2nd Vice-President .....W. J. McMahon, Milwaukee.

3rd Vice-President ..... G. E. William, Denver.

4th Vice-President ..... Vacant,

Executive Board ...... O. L. Newcomer, Chairman.

Geo. B. Miller, R. W. Goodale, G. W. Lawson, J. J. Murray.

Remember that all matters to be submitted to a referendum of the entire membership must be submitted to the annual meeting Thursday, December 28th. Chicago members can do so by attending the meeting, others by mail to President McDaniel.

Please bear in mind the importance of our annual meeting Chicago members: and be on hand. Remember that we are striving to make your jobs more secure and better for you and you should lend the organization as much of your time as possible, especially on such an important occasion.

HEADQUARTERS NOTES

The entire division extends heartfelt sympathy to Brother H. J. (Heinie) Wiegel in the loss of his wife recently.

We wish to call your attention to the third paragraph in the November issue of the Journal, under Headquarters Notes reading "Brother Buckley of Zeiler and Co., etc." We wish to state that Brother Buckley is with the firm of Curtis and Sanger and the two firms were confused in the writing of his article. No discrimination was intended where the words "THE FIRM" appeared, as we referred to the entire division and not to any particular firm. We are pleased to say that we are 100 per cent in both the firm of Zeiler and Co. and Curtis and Sanger.

Brother J. D. (Jack) Miller is with us again after spending a few weeks in the South. Same old Jack.

Brother Mat Thornton dropped in on us a few days ago. Glad to see you, Mat.

Brother Sussman of the Pittsburgh district of the E. B. D. was a recent visitor at Always glad to see our headquarters. out-of-town brothers. Call again.

Cleveland-to-Chicago-to-Cleveland. like Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance in the old days, slipped in on us a few days ago. Guess who I mean! his first name is David.

Brother Ralph D. Martin now has his shingle out as Doctor of Chiropractics. He is located at 3708 Grand Blvd., Apt. 2. Anyone desiring regular treatments from a regular "Doc" and a regular fellow call on him any afternoon from 3 to 6 P. M.

Following are the ones who have departed from Lamson Bros, since the Leland-Lamson consolidation: H. E. Bender, C. E. Sandall, G. B. Miller and B. A. Benson. Brother Benson is now with a real estate firm, and Brother Geo. Miller is selling Fords and Lincolns for Pomeroy and Bray. 'If you wish to purchase a Lincoln or a Baby-Lincoln get in touch with Brother Miller. Telephone Normal 3890. Brother Benson can be reached at 5018 Broadway, Phone Sunnyside 0326.

Brother Dave Ellington has taken unto himself a "wiff." Congratulations, Dave, and may your back yard soon be cluttered with kiddiekars.

Brothers Brown and Parks of Lamson Brothers spend all of their afternoons at the Board of Trade Gym, but nothing has been learned as yet regarding either of them challenging Jack Dempsey. Maybe they are playing hand-ball to keep in practice for rolling pins and skillets.

Past President Alcorn spent a couple of days among his many friends recently on his way to Springfield on a business jaunt. Come again, Jawn and let us know what's going on down state.

The Western Broker Division has been awarded second prize as the result of its work during Organization Week. This merely illustrates what can be done if we get out and work. Let's start the New Year off right and let nothing go undone to solidify our ranks.

Brother Ollie Covington of St. Louis, a member of long standing in the W. B. D., is now located with a large manufacturer of cigars in that city and the last reports are very bullish. We cannot wish you too much success, Ollie, old boy.

Brothers Fisher and Gustafson, the Winkleman team, drop in on us quite We are thinking of signing them up in the hot stove league. Call again, boys; we are always glad to see you.

Between elevators, the writer recently had the pleasure of shaking the hand of Brother P. L. Stevenson of A. D. Baker Long time since we had seen and Co. Steve. He looks just as young as ever.

Don't forget the number, WABASH 1426, if you hear of something that will benefit your brother members.

The most appropriate thing that we can think of just now is a 1928 annual or semi-annual. A few of the boys have already remitted for the ensuing year.

May you all have a most joyous Christmas and a prosperous and happy New Year.

Evidently the members of the Labor Board are themselves not accustomed to accurate thinking in precise terms. This, however, does not hinder them from announcing that 11,000 railroad telegraphers will suffer a reduction in salary effective January 1st, 1923. How many of the deliquent and non-members in this division paused when this bit of news was placed before them?

73s—See you next year.

MRS. H. J. WIEGEL DEAD.

The sudden death of Mrs. Henry J. Wiegel, wife of Brother Henry J. Wiegel, of Pynchon & Co., Chicago, was a severe shock to her family and friends.

Mrs. Wiegel was an officer in the True Kindred, Naomi Council; a member of the Chapter, Eastern Star; Austin Woman's Club, the Neighborly Club, and the I Will Club.

Burial took place in Forest Home beside her daughter Ethel. Services were held under the auspices of the Order of the Eastern Star and the Christian Science Church, and at the cemetery by the True Kindred.

Brother Wiegel and son Harold have the sincere sympathy of all members.

CHRISTMAS

There is not one of us who is not pleased at the thought of Christmas. We look forward to its coming each year with a world of delight. We plan for weeks ahead what we are going to do, how we are going to spend the day, and particularly what joy we shall give to our fellowman. It is the one day in the year, too, when we can drop the dignity which convention puts upon us and be children with children, because Christmas is the children's day. And the closer we come to being children on Christmas Day, the better we shall spend it. And rightly so, for it was a Child Who gave Christmas its signification. It was and is a Child Who sanctifies its joys and hallows its pleasures. So it is worth while having a day like Christmas in the year. It is worth becoming a child with the children on Christmas Day, and by doing so we shall pass it with benefit to ourselves.

W. A. HARRIMAN & CO.

Brother Hailstone insists on boring us with the various accomplishments of his six-weeks-old baby girl. He pulls these occasionally: "You should hear her talk," "You should have seen what the 'kid' done last night." But the prize winner is this: "The Kid took a chance on a punchboard for me and won me a Cigaret Case." How do they get that way?

Brother Fred Leibrock has a regular "sine" here now. Glad to have him with us. What's "X." Fred???

Oscar Davidson is having considerable trouble with his new bug. He brought a complete kit of tools recently and seems to have the bug in pretty good shape now, after grinding the valves, removing the carbon and replacing several burned out bearings and brass points, etc. He says he has it hitting on both tonsils now.

Brother Bill Hickinger seems to have plenty of work these days. Wait a couple of weeks, Bill, and we will make you a present of a pair of roller skates.

What's the matter with the Clock. Dave?????

If the Football season would only last as long as the baseball season, Carp and Johnny could retire in a year, the way they picked winners this season. Only one of their picks lost. -Ctf 1170.

MILWAUKEE NOTES

Sub. Div. No. 2, W. B. D., held forth at the annual dance and entertainment of the Milwaukee Telegraphers on Nov. 10th. About 300 attended and enjoyed both the dancing and the entertainment, which consisted of interpretative dancing in costumes by graduates of Miss Ethel Koch's Dancing School. The railroads were represented by Brothers Schnatz, Williams and Geller. The Press Divisions carried on in the persons of Lloyd Chambers and John S. McGowan.

The occasion was honored by the presence of R. H. MacDaniel, President, W. B. D., and Chas. Kruse of Chicago, who took a keen interest in the affair, and seemed to enjoy their short visit to the fullest.

The local boys were nearly all there, and worked hard to entertain their guests. Brother Art Tofte, of Paine Webber, was the champion "go-getter," being responsible for 12 couples, with Brother Bussey a close second, and they were not allowed to miss a dance.

It was a pleasant affair, well carried out and so thoroughly appreciated by those present, that many asked to have one each month—but once a year is quite enough, according to the committee. Chairmen of the various committees were:

Arrangements—A. J. Callen. Reception—A. F. Tofte. Floor-J. D. Bussey.

Refreshment—A. G. Olsen.

General Chairman-W. J. McMahon.

We are pleased to chronicle the promotion of Brother Frank Konzal from the wire to Financial Editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, which took place on November 13th. Our good wishes and congratulations follow him into his new position.

This is another instance proving adage that "You Can't Keep a Good Man Down."

Brother S. T. Dargan, late of Chicago, has taken the financial wire and the Milwaukee members extend him a hearty welcome.

Winkleman & Co. have opened here, in the Plankinton Arcade, under the management of Mr. Erwin, an old-time telegrapher.

THE HEADLESS MORSEMAN By Give and Take

From a pronounced rear seat I arise to respectfully inquire what has come over the spirit of the dreams of the commercial telegrapher of today? Once upon a time it could proudly and truthfully be said that he had the courage of his convictions and that he got results when he felt inclined to take up the cudgel in defense of the principles he was espousing. He was a "live wire," ready and willing to place his shoulder to the wheel when he heard the faroff cry of a brother craftsman in distress. He was ubiquitous—a regular "Johnny at the rat-hole." To-day to all intents and purposes he has retired to his villa for somber and sour meditation on the foibles of his compatriots-in fact on the ills of an entire world. The element of caste has taken so tenacious a stranglehold upon him that he instinctively holds himself aloof when through a lurch in his studied equilibrium he accidentally brushes elbows with a fellow craftsman. The springiness of gait, the beaming physiognomy, the cheery word of greeting that characterized him in the halcyon days are now strikingly and mysteriously lacking and he slouches along, bent and morose, for all the world a veritable Atlas carrying the world and its multiplicity of woes upon his devoted back.

I believe that pretty much everyone will agree that the telegrapher is temperamental, and that in the exercise of his idiosyncrasies he commits the most perplexing and astounding actions. For instance I recall a fellow who quit his local for the outlandish reason that there was too much glumness about headquarters and that he could not stand for the icy stares cast in his direction by his fellow members. another occasion two men relinquished their cards because an international officer in the course of an address had stated that the C. T. U. A. would defend to the limit any member who was embroiled in a civil suit, be he right or wrong. A secession movement which practically dismantled a division some years ago was brought about because of the fancied domination of an international officer and a too free plastering of assessments upon the members thereof. Another novel alibi for quitting the game was cited by three men who were members of an outlaw organization which was on the point of dissolution. The outlaw body, through the gentlemen mentioned, had sought an exchange of its irregular cards for the regular pasteboards of the C. T. U. A. local. Naturally their request was denied and they quit in high dudgeon, whereas the majority of the outlaw body returned to the C. T. U. A. fold. And so on ad infinitum. It is indeed a bitter commentary that such things should come to pass because in the cases mentioned the charges made were threadbare and unworthy of such drastic action.

As I view the general commercial situation through the telegraph kaleidoscope today, the commercial operator is engaged in marking time in the onward march of the flower of union labor throughout the world to its glorious destiny. While the C. T. U. A. has some thousands enrolled under its banner these of necessity must be augmented by other thousands if the commercial telegraphers of this continent are to experience everlasting emancipation from the yoke of the oppressor. While the members of other craft unions are buoyantly goose-stepping toward the promised land of milk and honey, the commercial telegraphers seem content to remain immersed in a slough of indecision, discord and discontent from which they woefully and unrighteously attempt to convince themselves there is no hope of extricating themselves.

Faugh, say I, to all those who are influenced by such chimerical and outlandish thoughts. It was ordained by the creator of this good old world of ours that all peoples, regardless of race, creed and color, should enter the lists in a combat for existence that was to endure from the cradle to the grave. The commercial telegrapher cannot by any manner of means dodge this inexorable mandate any more than he can lift himself by his bootstraps to the apex of the Washington monument, and the sooner he realizes it the better it will be for himself, his dependents, his fellow craftsmen, his community, and his country.

munity, and his country.

With the approach of another Yuletide let us all be keen for doing something towards encouraging our fellow members in the direction of renewed endeavor in the days following the placing of another calendar milestone on the tortuous road over which we have been struggling for, lo, these many years. This is the best time in the year to make one's arguments sink home—to get properly under the none too pliable cuticle of the prospect, the non, and Eminent statesmen and the delinquent. economists have been presaging a gradual swinging of the pendulum towards normalcy and prosperity, and any man who cannot view the coming year with serenity must be classed as a hopeless pessimist.

PRESS DIVISION NEWS

INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Kansas City-South

Bro. A. M. Brock of San Antonio took a couple of days off the other day and went up toward Kerrville, Texas, in quest of bear and other big game, but neither he nor his relief, Bro. Burge, would report as to the catch. How unlike Brother Miller of Wichita, who last summer always flashed the fact that "I caught 51 fish, etc., etc.," when he reported back from a fishing trip, and which caused a committee of investigation to be appointed to verify such extravagant statements.

Brother Studehalter, of Fort Worth Record, recently took a couple of weeks' rest, being relieved by Brother Kelly.

Brother MacClintock, of KX, is knocking "'em cold" with a new Phordillac.

Rumors are current that both the United Press and I. N. S. will open up new offices soon after the first of the year in the Southwest. Let's have them.

The latest flash from the A. P. is that several smaller papers are reducing their hours of service from 8 to 6, and somettimes 4 hours a day. Operators' pay de creased in proportion. Minimum, however, $30 a week.

BRO, SHANKS DECLINES.

Editor Journal: I have learned that an effort on the part of some of the brothers has been put forth to have my name selected in the forthcoming election to fill the office of Secretry-Treasurer, I. N. S. Division. I wish to thank these brothers for the honor of being held by them as worthy of the place, but it would be absolutely impossible for me to serve in any capacity which would necessitate my taking a trip to New York, and under no circumstances could I accept such office.

I make this statement in the hope of forestalling the necessity of having to ask you to make another selection in case such efforts were to succeed against my wishes. Fraternally,

Chicago- St. Louis-Indiana

I hope by this time you brothers of Illinois have voted against the new constitution, as it means nothing for "free people," and puts the working man at the will of capital.

I note in last month's Journal that the South is 100 per cent organized in Fords.

They have nothing on this circuit.

Jack Veith at Springfield and "Jo" at "MS" say they wish there were no motor cops, so they could burn the roads up without interference.

The air around "GX" seems to be very strong when a man can run six months without refilling his tires.

Brother Frayn says he didn't knew profanity was so prevalent until he bumped into two or three. That's nothing, Jo, compared with me taking a wheel offen a dump wagon.

Brother Heeter, I understand, has been advised by the doctor to take up exercise, and has purchased him a "bike," and reports that he is well tired at present.

We would like to know who the "bird" was that got "in—Stanley" for instantly the other day.

One of the dear "beloved" reports his index finger being bit by the "baby" as the cause for a break recently.

Brother Boyle recently took over the assignment at Terre Haute vacated by Brother J. K. Dale, who went to "IA," relieving Brother "Kaintuck" Cartmill. The latter took over the assignment at Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Brother Pat Kerrigan wishes to report that he and Bud O'Donnell—of course another Irishman—have been "Fording" lately and will later go over into Illinois and get some good air.

"GB" says his "Chev." puts down one and picks up three at times.

Brother Neal at "BV" and Adamson at "FJ" still hold forth on the tough end of the circuit.

Brother "Knap" at "PR" registered his first break in twenty years the other day.

Brother Johnson at "CR" has been a frequent visitor to "HX" lately. I wonder why. Harry and Red Heeter talk a language that we don't understand on the wire.

Brother Williams at "HK" still delivers the goods.

Brother Red Kernahan at "EV" reports getting bum tips on the races.

We still have three more that are on the blinds, located at VN, IN and SG. Our brother at "SG" is a doctor of some

Our brother at "SG" is a doctor of some kind—that is, I hear them call him "Doc," but at present I don't know just what kind of a doctor he is. If he's the kind I think he is, I think I'll invest in a dollar for some paper for tonic.

Pennsylvania State Notes

Brother Washabaugh, at Altoona, has been off a week sick with what he at first thought was neuritis, but which he later learned was a bone infection of the arm. He's back with us now, but we are sorry to hear him say that his arm is no better.

Since the writer entered the matrimonial state, not long ago, he has been trying, by telling him the joys of married life, to get Brother Watterson, at "PS," the bachelor of our string, to forsake the life of "single blessedness" and become a Benedick. But "Wat" says that getting married is too expensive a proposition, and he intends to wait until he's worth a million dollars.

Pennsylvania State wire and "NX" office haven't yet recovered from the shock received soon after the elections, when Brother Harkness, at "NA," wanting to have a little fun, broke in right after ten with "FLASH, FLASH, ANDY GUMP WINS BY BIG MAJORITY."

Kansas City-Texas

Merry Christmas to all the Brothers and best wishes for a prosperous New Year.

This is my last epistle in this column. Two years is enough to undergo the responsibilities of spokesman for this valiant army of the Southwest. As has been pointed out time and again by officers of your Union, or your division thereto, the position of circuit chairman is not an idle honor. There are thousands of things that a circuit chairman can do for the good of the cause. He is elected by the several circuits to function as a mediator, a protector, an ambassador and an -as sistant secretary. He is supposed to "go to the bat" in defense of any injustice that he feels is being perpetrated upon any member of the circuit. Why, he even "takes his life in his hands" when he "bawls" a sender for what he thinks is indiscriminate "riding" by a sender of certain of the members, or what he believes to be false accusations on the part of the alleged boss of the circuit, the "sending" operator, with regard to unnecessary "breaks" by receiving operators.

Then again the circuit chairman in performance of his duty and calling is required to keep posted on all conditions pertaining to organized labor in order to answer questions and to advise his constituents in all matters pertaining to labor questions on or off the wire.

The circuit chairman is supposed to keep a record of operators on his circuit, date of employment, his severance of connections, the cause whereof, and to make a report to the Division secretary-treasurer at consistent periods, giving a complete line-up of his circuit and changes in Whenever he finds a non or a personnel. member who hesitates to transfer into his division within reasonable time, he is supposed to go after him rough shod, leaving all personal feeling and sentiment obscured from his mind until he makes them come across. And again, the chairman must always have a little left over out of his check to buy his stamps with, and occasionally enough to send a message.

There are a half dozen good men on this circuit to choose from, and there is no reason to continue any particular one to be the goat continuously; and, besides, who wants to throw their hat in the ring three times when none but the brazen Teddy has done likewise.

With thanks and appreciation for the hearty support received from the boys in all things worth while to our progressive development, I will return to the sidelines temporarily and will refrain from "BREAKING" except when some worthy applicant comes around to be signed up.

And, with apologies to the other chairmen who have been crowded out by my long-winded speeches, address me at the chicken farm.

Fraternally, "BUCK" HINER.

Kansas City-Atlanta Notes

It's not the Atlanta-South any more. They've done gone and made it the Kansas City-Atlanta circuit.

Brother "Red" Aaron at Little Rock

Brother "Red" Aaron at Little Rock has resigned to do it for a brokerage firm. The "Red Trio" was broken up a few days, but it's intact again with Chief Operator Reddington sending out of KP. E. J. Davidson relieved Aaron at RN.

McBride at "BX" Hudsoned to Atlanta for the Ga. Tech-Auburn game, and if he is a true son of Alabama he lost money on his fellow-"statesmen."

The racing season has opened up at New Orleans again, and the boys all have an ear open for the "good ones" Penrod at "NV" hands out—sometimes.

With the change to KP the boys were treated to the first hand-sending they've heard in a long time when Ed Daugherty slipped it to us a few days. "Man, it shoah am good stuff."

"KP" is wondering if Maddux at AS signs in and goes home. That's the only time we hear from him nowadays.

boy's there.

miss "E. A." Cox's and We kinds Hippy's stuff since the change in relays. but we get a little of it now and then. It'll pick up pretty soon if Hornady's back in AJ.

Chicago-San Francisco Circuit

Merry Xmas and Happy New Year, boys.

Before going further, I make a motion that we cut this wire into two sections, with a correspondent at each end. There is lots of good news interesting to the boys west of Denver that I don't know about. Soon's the Journal is out and you read this, someone please start something.

Brother Tracey at (K) is Grandpa We all extend conagain, and it's a boy.

gratulations, Oscar.

Prank Murphy at (SX) sent a friend of his two "turkeys" by mail for Thanksgiving, both in the same envelope. If they bite like those in the army camps, I'll bet you've lost a friend, Murf.

Brother N. P. Hansen has been assigned regular to (TF), replacing Brother Baber, resigned. Hans worked the United News at St. Paul last spring, and has been on the coast for the past summer. We're glad to have you with us, Hans, but TF is a cold place.

Brother George Kirschmeyer at (CI) is some bowler-not the cup kind, the ball kind. The official scorer gives him an average of 155, and anywhere from there up to 200.

Everybody watch for the January Journal. This old circuit is going to surprise the entire organization—if the editor of the Journal can stand it.

Brother R. D. Abernathy at (DP) is the champeen—of the world. In over a year he never has registered a single break on the circuit—that's a record but there's a reason.

Brother J. H. Cannon at (DX) has a title—"chief"—he hires operators and works a relay office, acts as wire chief and messenger, files news, answers the telephone, and transacts business.

Brother Covington at (WU), "major of finance," is a gambler. He bets money, sight unseen, on anything; he offered to bet Brother Bert Grimes that the fire on the Pacific Ocean would leave a big hole in the bottom when it burnt itself out. Take him up, Bert.
Brother L. E. Demarais at (CX) has trouble with his elevator, also the cold weather. Where is that nice-looking elevator girl that used to run that dummy, Lan?

I have a letter from a brother on this circuit asking:

"Why don't you or someone else start something in regard to placing an assessment of $25 on men who have been working without a card on another service and then come over and get in for a small amount?" This brother urges that a special assessment of $25 be placed on such men, especially those who have worked for a considerable length of time and lost their jobs and then applied for a card. I agree with you, but here's the item; let them all express an opinion; you have

"Cyclone Circuit," Bast

Two more clients added to our reputable circuit this month. One is Washington, D. C., with E. J. Keckel taking the slants from the slabman at NX. Allow us to state right here that he's no bush leaguer. either.

WHEN DO WE GET THAT RAISE?

Dallas, Texas, is the other spot which elects to become the recipient of a crackerjack financial report. As this "copy" goes to our editor, the operator has not been designated for the newcomer.

WHEN DO WE GET THAT RAISE? "Doc" Earl King, whom we have considered as the fleetest of the fleet-footed senders, has left our midst, and in his place comes "Jim" Maynard, from the United News night side. Jim is getting right into Doc's footsteps so closely that sometimes we forget in our dilemma and address him as Doc.

WHEN DO WE GET THAT RAISE? We heard Richmond (Va.) break the other day, and chuckled. But we still have a laugh to go, as what we thought was a break from Mothershed proved to be wire trouble. Will that man ever break?

WHEN DO WE GET THAT RAISE? Len Solt at Cleveland took the wire away from Jim recently to "spread the glad tidings" of the arrival of a 10 1/2 pound son. The football team at Macedonia, where Len lives, claim they need new material for the high school football team. "By gosh, I'll give 'em a whole team myself," quoth Len, and so far four sons are footballward bound in the Solt household.

WHEN DOES HE GET THAT RAISE?

Jim Blair at Chicago gave us a tip the other day. We played it; so did Jim. He lost. So did we. Now Jim says we bulled the horse's name. What's in a name, anyway?

WHEN DO WE GET THAT RAISE?

OVER 250 AT TORONTO DANCE

All branches of the telegraph in Toronto were represented at the big Euchre and Dance at the Canadian Foresters' Hall, Toronto, on December 6th. It was one of the biggest and most successful affairs put on by the Toronto live wires. Over 250 were present from the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National, Canadian Brokers, press and wireless divisions.

Euchre prizes were keenly contested for under supervision of Brothers Billy Watts and Tom Taylor.

The dance, however, was the most popular attraction. Stevenson's Orchestra kept the dancers on their toes all the time. The many novelties injected into the dance brought forth enthusiastic applause, and there was a strong clamor for another "get-together" before the winter social season comes to an end.

Great credit is due to Chairman Alex. S. Strachan, Treasurer Tom Clark and their assistants for the huge success. The following were members of the committee: Max Stein and Mrs. Chambers, C. N. T.; W. R. Watts and J. H. Culkin, Brokers; Tom Murray and T. J. Tobin, Press; J. H. Waters, Miss McKenzie and Miss Stickle, C. P. R.

Many of the Eastern Fire Alarm Superintendents attending their annual meeting, held here December 5, visited our Manhattan and Brooklyn Fire Alarm Central Offices before returning to their home towns.

They all ecemed very much impressed with the immensity of our plants, but that, of course, is to be expected, considering the areas served and that our engineers were very liberal in providing operating room floor space.

We learn that Manhattan office is not the "last word" in fire alarm equipment, and that our Brooklyn office will surpass Manhattan. Good! Our outlying boroughs may look forward to attaining the ideal.

Among our visitors were: Supt. McDonald of Brockton, Mass.; Supt. Percy A. Blaisdell of Everett, Mass., and Supt. Fickett of the Boston Fire Alarm. We understand the Boston boys are after a better compensation than they receive at present. Our best wishes are with them in their worthy efforts. Here may be a chance for a Fire Department Chapel No. 2, and we respectfully direct the attention of our C. T. U. A. brother officers of our Boston district to an opportunity.

We are winding up old 1922 with a good report of progress. We were hopeful of being in the position of imparting to the boys something very definite, but the breaks were against us. Not against our cause, mind you, but the peculiar twists that civics take when a municipality owes more money in a current year tthan it can pay during that period, and these obligations must be jockeyed over to the following year. We are riding along, guided by good hands, and outside of these trying delays we feel sure that 1923 has better things in store for us. While the hard material work of the proposition is being carried on unceasingly by our tireless chairman, Brother W. A. Martin, it might be in order to suggest autosuggestion as advocated and practiced by M. Emile Coue, and each member say every day, twenty times a day, "Our success is getting nearer and nearer to us every day." Ne joke in this; just feel you are going to win and we will.

And, by the way. First half 1923 dues are due January 1st. Save your executive member the trouble of asking and asking. Come across promptly and show there is sincere backing to our movement,

And: We extend to all our brothers of the entire International C. T. U. A. best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a very happy and prosperous New Year. May all your worthy aspirations be realized, your fair and just claims acknowledged and granted, and that all may find in their coming year that this little old world is a better place to live in with your little families than it was in old 1922.

Conducted by Canadian Broker and Leased Wire Division 21 Meeting Date: Second Wednesday of Each Month at Union of Commerce Hall, 149 Berri St., Montreal.

---Organizo----Co-operate---

Things are not very bright on the Street at the present time. During the past few weeks another member was added to the list of those unemployed in the city as well as a member in Quebec City, and from current rumors we understand another firm at present employing two members is contemplating closing down completely within the next week or two. This is certainly going to be a very bad winter for our brothers unemployed and a big drag on our Local. However, things can be helped a lot if those who can will take out their 1923 card as soon as possible, in order to build up the Local fund, and those who have not yet paid the Special Assessment should do so at once. The Xmas spirit is prevalent just now, so why not inject a little and help make it a little more bright for our more unfortunate brothers unemployed. There are a few yet who have not paid the assessment and every dollar is going to count between now and brighter days for the unemployed.

Remember the numbers to call when a sub is needed or a regular job is in view. Call General Chairman Deslauriers at Main 8390 or General Secretary-Treasurer Gorman at Main 6908.

The Local extends to Bro. Bilodeau its deep sympathy in the recent death of his brother.

The Montreal District Council held a very enjoyable dance at Stanley Hall on Thursday, November 30th, which was well attended. All those who were fortunate enough to attend express themselves as having the time of their lives. Some of our members danced so hard that they found it difficult to get down on the "old job" Friday morning, but they concede that the bully time they had fully compensated them for a few odd stiff joints. The Committee on Arrangements certainly deserve a lot of credit for the smooth way in which the affair was run, and further shows the great advantages of co-operation, the committee being made up of representatives from all divisions in Montreal.

Vice-President and Mrs. Schnur were surely on the job, and hard workers, too, getting everyone acquainted and "feelin' t' home." Although the Vice-President was evidently trying to disguise himself (did you notice his upper lip, boys?), he was easily recognizable by his usual activities.

Bro. Eddie Weston was there and he sure shakes a wicked hoof. After the third dance he tried to bribe the orchestra to play nothing but one-steps, although he said afterwards that he didn't mind holding the ladies' hands in the Paul Jones.

Local Chairman Hartley was an absentee, owing to his being laid up in bed with friend "La Grippe." It was hard to say who was the most disappointed, the ladies, the boys, or "Bill" himself. The fact is Bill worked so hard for the success of the affair, as well as our Smoker, that he overdid it. However, he has the satisfaction of knowing that he did his "bit" with successful results.

There was general excitement and indignation among the fair sex when it became known that Bro. Andy Long was an absentee. However, we understand that "Shorty" has a good alibi, but the ladies were sure peeved that he didn't come around and treat them to at least one little walts.

General Chairman Deslauriers and General Secretary-Treasurer Gorman as well as Bro. Schrader were there on the job and kept busy. Bro. Gorman's reputation as a "Tripper of the Light Fantastic" did not lighten his duties any. He had a full program before the opening number, and says he had to catch a car to work the following morning without his breakfast, being fifteen minutes late as it was.

Bros. Hines and Lawson were two more very busy beys, the latter declaring that on another occasion he is going to wear carpet slippers for, as he expressed it, "Can anyone imagine anything worse than twenty dances, a tight shoe, a corn and it raining?" Bro. Poulin says the only remedy would have been one of "Jim" Campbell's coat-tails.

Bro. O'Donnell says that the next time he is going along provided with a guide and writing expert. After ten introductions in a row to dazzling ladies, from each of whom he engaged a dance, his "bean" soured aerial-wise, he could not decipher the special code, and he could not remember the faces of his would-be partners, with the result that he was tearing his hair and begging for a guide to "point 'em out to him." However, he says he came through "Jake."

We were all pleased to see Sister Vance there and sufficient to say that no one saw her sitting out any of the numbers.

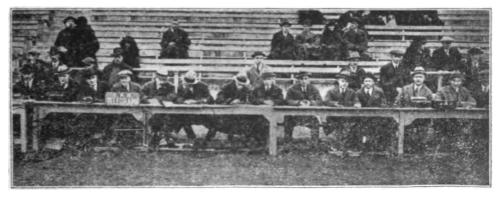

Bro. "Jimmie" Boston was there, all dolled up like a horse and says he enjoyed the dancing even more than he did the "Smoker."

Bro. "Jim" Smith of McCualgs is at present taking a well-earned vacation. We understand "Jim" is disporting himself at Atlantic City, where he is missing our below zero weather these days. Bro. McKenna is subbing for Bro. Smith.

The boys at L. & B.'s have fallen hard for the radio spirit, under the leadership of Bro. Eddie Cohen. The latest enthusiast is Bro. Don Blehr. The "Skipper" says he wants one on which he can talk to his many friends, the captains of the big liners at sea, now that the port of Montreal has closed for the season. Bro. Eddie Driscoll says why not get a "sea-going hack?"

LAST-MINUTE FLASH—Just heard that Bro. Don Blehr has an addition to the family, a fine big boy, born December 7th. Congratulations, "Skip," old top. Better reconsider installing that radio outfit now.

RADIO BY MACHINERY

Radio messages have been sent by automatic machinery at a rate between 80 and 100 words a minute by the White Star liner Majestic, to the station of the Radio Corporation of America at Chatham, Mass., a writer in the Montreal Gazette states. The speed is nearly as fast as that at which messages can be sent by wire, and may open a vast new field of usefulness.

THE VIEWPOINT

FAVORS TOURNAMENT.

Editor C. T. U. A. Journal: Of late I hear distant rumblings of another tournament to be held in New York within the next year or so. I, personally, am very enthusiastic over this news, and certainly hope that it will result in the boys getting up another one. It has been many years since we have had one, and I am quite sure there are enough of us left to make it entertaining for the fraternity at large. Let us get busy out Chicago way as well as in the East and try and make this tournament a big success. WHAT SAY, BOYS? LET'S GO.

Fraternally yours, DAVID J. ELLINGTON, Chicago.

PERTINENT COMMENTS

Industrial conditions do change, although they consume a long time in turning for the better. The workingman is gradually nearing that goal which we hope will be the millennium for the worker. Even H. E. Howe, who has been chairman on a committee investigating labor conditions, will attest to this. After a struggle with figures for nearly two years Howe has come to the conclusion that the twelve-hour day is entirely too lengthy for a workingman.

In the 1924 national budget LABOR was allotted $4.718.030 for "promotion of labor interests," while at the same time our Indian brothers were appropriated $12,584,305 for their "interests," or three times the amount the workingman is allowed to better his conditions. It's not that we are jealous of our predecessors on this continent, but rather irritated from the viewpoint of sanity and sense of propriety. If a handful of redskins are equal in interest to the thirty millions of workingmen, or even near a recognizable ratio of interest, then we had better quit and help shovel millions more into the coffers of sweat-shop emperors.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION.

Mr. Roscoe H. Johnson, President.

Dear Mr. President: Prior to my departure for California, I feel that I must send you a few lines to thank you for the kind greeting that both you and Brother Powers extended to me upon my arrival in Chicago yesterday. You may be sure that I deeply appreciate your kindness, and I only hope that any of our American brothers visiting the Canadian side of the border will receive the same hearty welcome that you extended to me, a private member.

It is always my endeavor to further extend the good feeling and fellowship between the American and Canadian sections of our Brotherhood, and my one regret is that owing to the brevity of my visit to this city I did not have the great pleasure of making the acquaintance of other brothers in Chicago.

Please extend on my behalf to local members the heartiest good wishes of their Canadian brothers.

Hoping that I may have the very great pleasure of renewing your acquaintance upon some future occasion.

Fraternally yours,

V. H. SOARES, Local 59, C. T. U. A. (Canada).

THE MEASURE OF A MAN.

By The Iconoclast,

The place to take the true measure of a man is not the forum or the field, not the market place or the amen corner, but at his own fireside. There he lays aside his mask and you may judge whether he is imp or angel, king or cur, hero or humbug.

I care not what the world says of him, whether it crowns him with bays or pelts him with bad eggs; I care never a copper what his reputation or religion may be; if his babes dread his home-coming and his better half swallows her heart every time she has to ask him for a five-dollar bill, he's a fraud of the first water, even though he prays night and morn till he's black in the face and howls hallelujah till he shakes the eternal hills.

But if his children rush to the front gate to greet him and love's own sunshine illumines the face of his wife when she hears his footfall, you may take it for granted that he's true gold, for his home's a heaven, and the humbug never gets that near the great white throne of God.

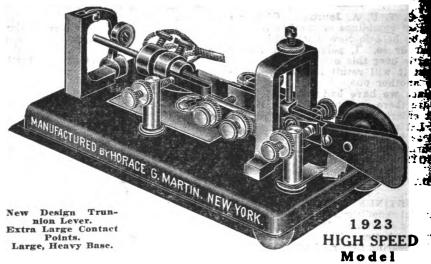

I can forgive much in that fellow mortal who would rather make men swear than women weep; who would rather have the hate of the whole he-world than the contempt of his wife—who would rather call anger to the eyes of a king than to bring fear to the face of a child.

TRIBUTE TO MEMBERS SINCE ORGANIZED

The following letter was sent to 65 members who have completed 20 years of continuous membership in the C. T. U. A.:

Chicago, Dec. 27, 1922.

Dear Sir and Brother:

You have just completed 20 continuous years of membership in the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America.

Your international officers deem it a privilege and a pleasure to extend our heartiest felicitations and appreciation of your loyalty and services during these long years of trials, disappointments and triumphs.

You first became a member of our organization when carrying a Union card required courage of the highest caliber. You aided in the rapid growth of the

C. T. U. A. in 1905, '06 and '07.

You participated in the stirring days of 1907-for all of which we pay you tribute.

But above all, you stood steadfast and loyal during the trying days following the strike, when our beloved organization would have foundered but for the loyalty of those who refused to allow adversity to swerve them from the course of duty.

To you above all others is due honor and credit from every member of the C. T. U. A. for the continued existence and multitudinous services rendered the telegraph fraternity in the last 20 years.

With heartiest wishes for long years of prosperity and happiness, we remain,

Cordially and fraternally yours,

FRANK B. POWERS. International Secretary-Treasurer.

ROSCOE H. JOHNSON,

International President.

THE COMMERCIAL TELEGRAPHERS JOURNAL

The above circular gives one an idea of the depths of servility to which the Western Union hirelings and traitors at the helm of the company union have descended.

"Let's make it one our MASTER can be proud to look upon."

Symbolizing the A. W. E. as a dog in the cartoon is justification for a protest from the canine family, but the dog will never know how degraded he is made to appear.

"Let's make it one our MASTER can be proud to look upon."

Bought and paid for, the A. W. E. officials are trying in their grovelling way to serve their MASTER to the best of their ability. Praise and tribute of gold doubtless has been poured upon Bower by his MASTER in New York City for his gem of the purest ray.

Reams of proof and argument in the Commercial Telegraphers' Journal could not tell the truth about the A. W. E. so convincingly as this circular.

The "Association of Western Union Employes" was set up by the Western Union Telegraph Company in 1919 through appointed delegates, whose expenses were paid by the Western Union Telegraph Company.

The reason? To prevent a few unthinking telegraphers from joining the organization that has been a thorn in the side of the Western Union Telegraph Company for 20 years, and at that time had just secured governmental recognition of the right to organize despite the opposition of Postmaster General Burleson.

Despite the promises of the Western Union Telegraph Company that members of this company union would receive preference in employment and promotion, but 20 per cent of the employes are members today.

Paradoxically, the livelihood of the officers of the A. W. E. depend upon the existence and agitation of the C. T. U. A., for the day that the C. T. U. A. ceases to wage the battle for commercial telegraphers will be the day the A. W. E. loses its subsidiary from the Western Union Telegraph Company. The Western Union will have no further use for it.

The history of company unions has been the same, from the time of the Rocke-feller controlled union in Colorado, now gone and forgotten, to the lumbermen's controlled union on the Pacific coast, recently disbanded.

Created during a strike for justice; disbanded when the employer feels safe from labor troubles!

Western Union telegraphers: How do you like the slogan:

"LET'S MAKE IT ONE OUR MASTER CAN BE PROUD TO LOOK UPON?"

POSTAL GRANTS FIVE PER CENT INCREASE

Announcement was made in the latter part of December by Edward Reynolds, vice-president and general manager of the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company, of a 5 per cent increase in wages, effective Jap. 1, 1923, for all employes of twelve months continuous service.

Inasmuch as this increase will make a maximum of $161 per month for first-class operators, no great wave of enthusiasm has been reported as sweeping through the ranks of our Postal members.

As a sign of the times, however, this increase can be taken as a clear indication of the difficulties experienced by the Postal in keeping their wires manned. No one thinks for a moment that the Postal telegraph officials are advancing wages because of their "recognition of the loyal, enthusiastic and effective service rendered during the past year."

It is merely a tidbit thrown out to their overworked and underpaid employes in the vain hope that they will not organize and will be satisfied and contented with a wage that compares unfavorably with that received by unskilled immigrant labor.

The inevitable result of temporizing with rotten conditions will be to make for greater activity within the ranks of Postal System Division of the C. T. U. A. during 1923.

CANADIAN	TOPICS

(By The Vice-President)

The membership of Canadian National System Division No. 43 is concerning itself with several matters of major importance.

The subject of married women remaining in the service, to the detriment of other members, has developed considerable discussion and the sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of having the married women taken out of the service. Of course, this applies only to those married women who have husbands supporting them. The membership of Division 43 has our full support in the bringing about of a satisfactory regulation of the employment of married women. Our attitude is that in these times of unemployment when the jobs are all too few to go around, the woman who has a husband supporting her must be denied the right to compete for jobs.

Another issue that is agitating the minds of our members in Division 43 is the installation of the Teletype machines. The Company has, without regard for the Schedule, arbitrarily set the rate of pay for the operators of these machines at $70.00 per month. We are not at all surprised at the intense feeling of resentment which would naturally follow.

It will behoove the Management to take stock of its untenable position and immediately take steps to eliminate this latest imposition or stand prepared to take the inevitable consequences. Our members in Division 43 have reached the limit of endurance. We will not tolerate Western Union methods in Canada and it is about time certain officials of the Canadian National Telegraphs realized it. Do they need a third lesson?

We have reason to believe it is not a coincidence that both the C. P. R. Telegraphs and Canadian National Telegraphs are violating their Schedules at the same time. The two Companies are undoubtedly taking advantage of what they consider an opportune time to "get us on the hip." For every bit of rawhiding and Schedule infraction we can thank C. W. Mitchell, A. Robinson and H. Pryde. This trio stands for "a continuation of our harmonious relations with the Companies," according to their latest pronouncement.

if C. W. Mitchell & Co. believe that present working conditions in the Canadian telegraph offices are good and that relations between the workers and the managements are "harmonious," may God have pity on any man or woman who follows the "leadership" of such exponents of "harmony."

Unlike the "A. W. E. attitude" of these secession howlers, the C. T. U. A. stands committed to the policy of bringing about a big improvement in present working conditions and the foregoing paragraphs will show that, so far as the red-blooded fighting element is concerned, the present relations between the Companies and the workers are anything but "harmonious."

The C. T. U. A. has for some years advocated a standardization of wages and equal pay for Morse and Automatic. This deep-rooted principle has now taken the forefront in the minds of all telegraph workers,

The accomplishment of this much needed standardization is our cardinal objective for the year.

THINK AND TALK ABOUT IT!

This writer, together with General Chairman Young of Division 43, attended a meeting in Ottawa January 5th which was addressed by Sir Henry Thornton, new president of the Canadian National Railways and Telegraphs. Some fifty odd general chairmen and International officers representing over 90,000 workers on the National System, were present.

Sir Henry, in the course of his address to the workers' representatives, announced his policy and outlined his intentions as regards the workers on the National System. His most significant remarks were in connection with his attitude towards organized labor. Sir Henry stated it was his wish that all workers on the National lines should join their legitimate trade unions and take an active interest in their organizations. He insisted that better results would be obtained all around if the workers were solidly organized into legitimate and responsible trade unions. (We would suggest that certain officials of the Canadian National Telegraphs take note of Sir Henry's policy and adjust their attitude to conform.)

Sir Henry also made several timely observations anent his conception of a living wage. His remarks in this connection coincide with our own views and we believe Sir Henry will, in the near future, apply his ideas of a living wage to the Canadian National Telegraphs.

Canadian Press men are all talking about a minimum wage of $8.00 per day or $48.00 per week. These men are a determined group of unionists and eight dollars a day for their labor is certainly not unreasonable. The management and member papers are willing to pay a decent wage for good service and it is altogether unlikely that any difficulty will be experienced in negotiating a new contract along the above lines, once the men decide to send in their Committee. These men have the moral and financial backing of every member and we wish them success.

General Chairman Wm. Mitchell of Division 53 has, through General Superintendent of Government Telegraphs D. H. Keeley at Ottawa, brought about a conference between himself and Divisional Superintendents Phelan and Dowling at Vancouver. Grievances and Schedule interpretations will be discussed and settled.

R. Gooding at Amesbury, B. C., will kindly note that in spite of his foolish propaganda, Government telegraphers of the Yukon and British Columbia Lines are still depending on the C. T. U. A. for protection against discrimination. The C. T. U. A. alone has been able to help these civil servants and the men are wise enough to know it.

Now that annual elections in the various divisions are behind us we can settle down to a good hard grind of bettering conditions for ourselves during the fruitful and pregnant year of 1923.

To those brothers and sisters who have been elected to office we offer our congratulations and at the same time pledge our loyalty and support.

This is Convention Year. Now is a good time to start looking around for intelligent material to represent you at Montreal in October. It is never too early to set ourselves this important task.

LESTER L. GREENE, M.S.O.

Lester L. Greene, the subject of our first "Member Since Organized" photograph on the cover page, entered the employment of the Western Union Telegraph company in Buffalo, N. Y., at an early age as a messenger boy. He was advanced to a telegrapher and served the Western Union in that capacity a number of years, leaving them for employment by the Postal Telegraph company in Chicago, where he remained several years.

After another brief period with the Postal in New York, he ceased active telegraphy and went with a Wall Street investment house outside the telegraph field. He became connected with several financial institutions in various capacities and seven years ago re-entered the telegraph field with a large brokerage house. He is now manager of the General Order Department of this house.

Bro. Greene has carried a card for over 30 years, first in the Order of Commercial Telegraphers and then in the C. T. U. A. since organized. He has been one of the bulwarks of the organization in New York City, first in old 16 and later in the E. B. D., always giving freely of his services and wisdom as an officer and a member.

PLANNING AN AMERICAN DICTATORSHIP

By S. J. Konenkamp

A new group of revolutionists are operating in the United States. A dictatorship is in the making and the republican form of government is in danger of being overthrown, but the sleuth hounds of justice instead of rushing the revolutionists to secret prisons are reported co-operating with them. The plotters are not connected with Moscow, the Third Internationale nor any other proletarian group: They represent the internationale of Wall Street, Threadneedle St. and the Bourse of Continental Europe. They are revolutionists nevertheless seeking to entrench the dictatorship of the plutocrat through an extra legal system of government based upon a foundation of declaratory judgments; a foundation that has been described by one supreme court as having all the essentials of a soviet government.

Declaratory judgments as contemplated by these revolutionists are orders issued by judges of the state and Federal Courts without any limit placed upon them by any legislative regulation. They would abolish all laws that might limit judicial power and substitute therefor a procedure which would be nothing more or less than injunctions of either a mandatory or restraining character. The scope, the enforcement and the penalties of such orders would be determined entirely by the courts without any power resting in the legislature to limit them.

Campaign Is Nationwide

The campaign for this change in government is nationwide. Several state legislatures have been captured and other states as well as Congress are being urged to give the courts power to make "binding declarations of right" or to issue "declaratory judgments." When these are fully applied they will include every phase of our social, political and industrial life. The terms embrace rights arising out of franchises, contracts including wage agreements, or any other written instruments whether between individuals or groups, public or private. It includes disputes of all kinds, including wage disputes as well as those between persons engaged in any kind of business; questions involving civil service or any other phase of the relationships that industry and commerce may create. Almost any other dispute one can think of may become immediately, at the instance of one of the parties, the subject of a declaratory judgment or a binding declaration of right.

Dummies could be used in frame-up cases to interpret contracts through collusion so that when a real dispute arose under the contract the aggrieved party might find himself confronted with a decision already made and a binding declaration of right affecting his interests already recorded. In fact the first case involving a declaratory judgment that arose in the state of Michigan was on its face a frame-up. The parties were a street railway company and a non-union workman seeking to upset an arbitration award made by a board of arbitration in favor of a labor union. This might have been just as easily one of these so-called friendly suits to interpret a city franchise wherein the city would get the worst of it.

Daugherty Injunction Outshone

Cases of this character might be made on a statement of facts imaginary at the time and that never would arise, but once the court had jurisdiction it would retain such jurisdiction and enforce its decrees. The power asked for by Attorney General Daugherty in enjoining the railway shopmen would be tame in proportion to the powers of a court enforcing a declaratory judgment. The scope of such legislation would permit the establishment of industrial courts, compulsory arbitration and complete government by injunction. This scope, however, would not merely affect wage earners. It would be equally applicable to employers in their relations with one another as well as with their employers and the legislatures of the state and the nation are to be stripped of their power to interfere with such an arrangement.

The exact words of the directors of the revolution are that the courts shall have "enlarged powers of preventive remedy unlimited by statutory provisions," and to have all justiciable matters "subjected to the consideration of a competent non-partisan tribunal consisting of men selected for their peculiar qualification subject to appeal and final determination by a court." Under these circumstances the judiciary would be the source of all law with the judges exercising unlimited powers as a chancellor in equity with no guide but the judges' conscience.

The full significance of this change in our government was discovered through careful investigation of the proposed constitution for the State of Illinois and its exposure resulted in an overwhelming vote of the people of that state to reject the plan. Section 122 of the proposed constitution read:

"Provision may be made by rule of the Supreme Court for the bringing of actions or proceedings in which a merely declaratory judgment or decree or order is sought and for authorizing the court to make a binding declaration of right whether or not any consequential relief may be claimed."

Lawyers were puzzled by the unfamiliar terms used in this section; their explanations of its meaning were generally hazy and different. The supporters of the Constitution offered no explanation but persistent questioning and constant effort developed the information that laws providing for declaratory judgments had been enacted during the past three years or so in New York, Connecticut, Florida, Kansas, Wisconsin, California, Michigan and other states; that bills were pending in Congress proposing similar powers for the Federal Courts; that a number of State Bar Associations were supporting the change and one justice of the Supreme Court of the United States and one member of the President's cabinet were named among those active in the campaign.

Business Men as "Assistant Judges"

One of the leading opponents of the Illinois Constitution recalled an address made by a very powerful agent of Wall Street to the American Bar Association at Boston in 1919 and a reference thereto showed the plan in full. With this speech as a guide many vague sections of the proposed constitution became clear. The proposed non-partisan tribunal of business men was taken care of by providing for an unlimited number of "assistant judges" who did not need to be lawyers but who would be appointed to the "Circuit Court of Cook County" (Chicago). This same court was given jurisdiction over all matters requiring power to enact laws affecting the courts. The Supreme Court of the state was given absolute power over all other courts and judges and made "the source of all law" with exclusive right to determine matters of legal procedure. Strange though it may seem to some people, it was the representatives of organized labor who ferreted out the facts and convinced all forces connected with the campaign that this was the purpose of the constitutional changes.

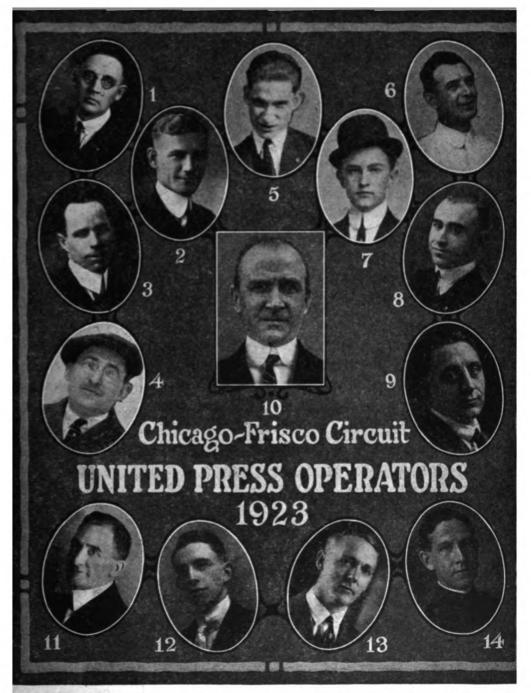

Many state legislatures have been in the hands of reactionary elements since 1919 and it is in these states that the most effective work has been done by the supporters of "declaratory judgments" at home while sounding the alarms about revolutionists abroad. In many of these states there are laws that will make it a simple matter to operate all the machinery proposed for Illinois.

The plan is entirely foreign to the ideals of Americans or any other people exercising self-government. Its very proposal ought to be sufficient to arouse old-fashioned Americans everywhere and the experience of the people of Illinois ought to serve as a warning to all other citizens. If the system of "declaratory judgments" is permitted to grow for a few years it would make the legislative branch of our government absolutely impotent with nothing short of a counter revolution necessary to destroy absolute judicial control.

OPERATORS REMEMBERED ON CHRISTMAS

Telegraphers in the large financial districts, as well as on the line, were well remembered during the Christmas season of 1922. Reports are that $1,000 gifts were made in at least one house in New York, while $300 and $400 gifts to operators were nothing uncommon.

The big surprise, however, was the gift of an extra week's pay to all Consolidated Press operators of one year's service. This is rather out of the ordinary for press associations, but the disease has not proved contagious among other outfits. They will have an opportunity this summer to give press operators a schedule that will make Christmas gifts unnecessary.

Pittsburgh

Some one said there were no International News Service operators in Pbg.?

Pipe 'em off.

J. H. "Harry" Cowan, the chief, is still the same old Beau Brummel as of yore. Harry sports a new silk shirt every day, and claims he is not quite as old as Sam Bare (?) He would like to know why they put "C. T." on the new fangled wire log. Charles "Nick" Carter, the "speed demon," has parked his "chicken coupe" for the winter. Nick says he don't like to drive during the winter, but we understand there is a different motive. Nick just can't help from pushing on that long stem in the floor and consequently has been contributing to the support of all the burgesses and police judges in and around Pbg.

C. E. Morgan, alias James Pierpont, has moved to that foreign village of Turtle Creek and opened up one of those emporiums wherein you play that great American game of bluff, called-Yuker?? James P. says he is giving the foreigners in Turtle Creek their first lesson in Americanism.

Bill Cruse, who lives up in the sticks and wilds of Perrysville and has a cellar full of—spuds, spent several days hunting this season. We understand from reliable sources Bill GOT the sum of One rabbit, but our informer says Bill pulled that out of a log, then hit it over the head with his gun. Why not shoot the darn thing, his gun. Bill?

Sam Bare, young and handsome and willing to be married, is looking for an Italian girl. He says she must be pretty and have a dot, whatever that it. Sam can order a dinner in Italian that would do justice to Victor Emmanuel, and Sam says 'dago red" is good for the stomach, but of course Sam don't drink it for that.

Verna M. Gerst, our handsome multiplex operator, says she hasn't been proposed to so far this year. Verna can't understand why all the visitors try to vamp her.

Merritt, our smiling bureau manager, still smokes stogies galore. Mun says shaving is a darn hard job and of course we agree with him.

The vote on the Montreal resolution was: For, 7; Against, 46. Resolution defeated. Fifty-four votes were cast which contained one spoiled ballot.

The total number voting was extremely gratifying to me, but still it is possible to have it heavier. The tellers can check a full vote as easily as a fifty per cent, one, so on our next referendum let's see if we cannot still show an improvement. At the end of the year our total membership was 89 members. Fifty-four of these voted and the balance decided to pass the responsibility to the other fellow, and unless interest is taken in your local affairs the morale of that same local is bound to decrease. Votes decide any issue, boys, and your officers gain confidence through your ballot expressions.

A statement of our financial position at the end of 1922 has been forwarded to all officers and ex-officers so that I need not comment on that subject. Any member desiring a copy who has failed to receive one may receive this statement by advising me.

During 1922 an endeavor was made to make annuals popular on Canadian Press and fairly satisfactory support was obtained, but, like the voting, an increase in that respect is also possible. Needless to say I am still of the same mind in regard to annuals as I was last year and will appreciate cooperation from the membership. Out of our total of 89 members, sixty took out annuals which leaves a good number of half-yearly men, who, I think, with a very little sacrifice could arrange to remit the full yearly dues.

Let's interest ourselves in annuals and make them more popular than ever.

No doubt surprise was caused by the absence of the name of F. A. Coyle from our ballots. Owing to private affairs Brother Coyle decided he could not give the required time to an office in the local this year, but is still in the service and will be able to render advice whenever called upon.

J. A. McDougall, Secretary-Treasurer.

MEMBERS OF DIVISION NO. 47

Through the Journal I would like to express my appreciation of the confidence shown in me by the members of United Press Division No. 47 in electing me to be their new secretary-treasurer, to succeed Bro. D. K. Stevenson of Pittsburgh, who has left the United Press service.

Nobody can take "Steve's" place. I realize that is an impossibility. He won his spurs by years of unselfish devotion to the cause of press telegraphers and will always hold a place of reverence in the memory of his old associates.

The best I can hope for is that I will be able to conduct myself in such manner as never to bring any disgrace or discredit upon the office that has for so long been honorably and efficiently administered by the "Father of our division." I promise to do my level best to do this. To say that I feel honored is expressing it very inadequately.

I wish Steve a long life of contentment and happiness and I'm sure all telegraph operators join me in this wish.

"All in"—the day after Xmas. It ain't got nothing on us, "We wux all in—about 3 a. m. the next morning."

This string celebrated the new year by taking on a new client, Pensacola, Fla. J. T. Fox, formerly I. N. S. skipper at that port, is handling the sails capably.

Red Finnegan at Fort Smith is still holding the record for quick action. He makes it in about "30 seconds flat." That's going some. Keep it up Red and we'll enter you in "Tobasco Handicap" with Spark Plus.

Ed Daugherty at "Kp" with his "wine" and bug were all to the good Christmas Day. Reddington has a hard time trying to make both ends meet—Dallas and Atlanta on one wire.

Davidson at Little Rock and Burlow at Memphis are among the newest arrivals on this string. Davidson relieving "Red" Copeland at "Mp" for 60 days.

Penrod at Nashville was right sick a few days before Xmas. What was it, Pen, "rheumatiz"?

Maddux at Anniston is our next eastern committeeman. Kgns, "Mad," tell 'em about it next July. We're with you.

Bill Neeley at New Orleans is busy as a one-armed paper hanger these days with the big murder mystery at Mer Rouge, La.

James at Mobile is getting to be some dog fancier. He wants a greyhound now. I'll lend you my Tin Lizzie, "Jiggs"; she points birds, squirrels, filling stations, garages and everything.

At "AJ" we have with us "Handsome" Hippy Thomas and "Private" E. A. Cox, still holding down the Windy City end.

And last, but not least, is Bob Fine at Knoxville, bringing up the rear. Hold to it, Bob, it's the best place to be.

Everybody keep their New Year's resolutions— maybe!!!

New York State Circuit

C. C. Smith, our obliging and courteous sender at NX, recently went to work in the Christian Science Monitor Bureau, uptown, swapping jobs with Bro. E. S. Sandberg, who came to NX. We miss old Smithy quite a lot and hope the change to a somewhat lighter job will put him back in fine physical condition again.

Bro. O. R. Owen is batting them out at NX and is making code experts out of us all. We never knew there were so many words in the book. We are all progressive, though, and don't object to increasing our knowledge, so let 'er rip. Owney. More power to you.

Young Tom Sweeney at Buffalo recently took a week off, on account of an attack of grip. Enforced vacations of this kind are not very enjoyable though and we're very glad to have Tom back again. W. P. Mc-Hugh from out Ohio way relieved him.

Tommy Cornell and Bob Haines of Albany are developing into radio experts. Tom said he heard a strange station the other night and is sure it must have been Kilkenny, Ireland. Bob said he wondered who let the cats in.

Navigation on the Hudson River is at a standstill now. They close it every year so Tom Casey of Newburgh can use the big waterway for skating.

Come on, you literary gents. Somebody ought to send Editor Powers a write-up of the Empire State circuit every month.

Atlanta Southeast Circuit

With the passing of the Washington-South circuit, and opening of the Atlanta Southeast, all is peace and quiet in the land of sunshine and wild women. (Mostly sunshine.) Although we miss McCormack and Tarry at "WA," the vote on this circuit is unanimous in favor of the two "bosses" at "AJ" better known as "Hippy" Thomas, C. O., and "Excuse Me" Cox.

We hate to mention Cox in these notes on account of his extreme modesty (judging from his reticent mood on the wire) but we're forced to do so to give everybody a square deal.

We don't hate ourselves or anything like that, but we're inclined to believe those boys at "AJ" like the new circuit.

- W. J. McGinnis, the latest addition to the sunny "Southeast," is doing the stunt at Wilmington, N. C. Judging from Mac's kny he's one of the old school and a good judge of race horses. Mac hails from Baltimore; that explains it all.
- J. C. Miller, Columbia, (S. C.) Record. is rather down on his luck, with his mother seriously ill with influenza and his wife ill with pneumonia. Miller has the heartfelt sympathy of the whole bunch. Hope everything comes out all right, Miller, old boy.

(Ernest) Cox says "RWB" is good code, but who the devil composed KTN? Ed Daugherty at Kansas City? Oh boy, ain't it a grand and glorious feeling.

While the boys up north are freezing, Burr at "JM" works in his shirt sleeves with the windows open. Florida's a great country—in the winter, but—.

Goo-bye.

Cert. 523.

CONSOLIDATED PRESS NOTES

Sunshine Circuit

Hello, boys and girls! We wish you a very happy and prosperous New Year, and may the sunshine brighten your hearts and brotherly love prevail on the "Sunshine Circuit" and throughout the rank and file of the Consolidated Press Association.

Who said the "Sunshine Circuit" had pulled a Rip Van Winkle? We are very much awake and entering the New Year in excellent spirits, (not liquid) and the once little circuit continues to expand day by day, and new but welcome faces are numbered among us along the line.

We were the recipients of a welcome surprise a couple of days before Christmas, which I am sure was the means of enabling all of us to enjoy a better holiday than we would have otherwise. We had received our regular weekly check, and most of us had it spent for Santa Claus, when right on its heels came another full week's pay to those having been in the employ of the Consolidated Press Association one year or more, and lesser sums to those having been in the employ for shorter periods, so that everybody received some token of the Company's appreciation for their efforts.

This little token was not given as a bonus by the Company, nor was it received by the boys as such, but it was given and accepted as a Christmas gift, in appreciation for our untiring efforts and faithful service to the Company during our term of employment.

You can imagine our surprise upon receiving this little gift, as press associations are not in the habit of giving out gifts to their employees, and I have worked for them all.

It merely goes to show the Consolidated Press Association, headed by David Lawrence, is interested in our welfare and is willing to assist us along in life, and appreciates our good work.

Homer Smith, at Nashville, says he purchased two new tires for "Lizzie" and "spent the difference"; Granny Gravely, at Richmond, purchased another square meal, gave his Durant a shine, and put the rest away "for future reference"! Graham, who left Birmingham for Washington, "almost" got himself another Essex; McCarthy, "Mc," at Washington, probably made several trips to Georgetown and also the "three-mile limit." Unfortunately "Chas." Gheen, at Washington, was in the hospital, so they probably got him. R. L. Lewis, Harrisburg, Pa., probably took a trip over to Baltimore to see Marie. Larry Dunham, Lynchburg, Va., probably purchased a few more radio sets. C. W. Kendrick, Roanoke, got some Santa Claus with his. "Rabbit" Hawkins, Charlotte, took some more stock in "Mountain Dew." (Not Orange Crush). Morris, Birmingham, paid Santa Claus what he owed him. Holley, New Orleans, made a few extra trips to Spanish Fort, and a trip down the old Mississippi river on Steamer Louise, while I pulled myself out of the hole with mine, and believe me it was a life-saver. (Nothing else but!)

Since our last appearance in these columns New Orleans has been added to the fast growing circuit, with W. E. Holley, formerly from the A. P. at Birmingham, doing the receiving.

Beginning January 3rd, Charlotte was made a full day position with "Brer Rabbit" Hawkins holding down the fort.

A few changes have occurred on the circuit recently which deserve mention. distinguished buddy and Division Traffic Chief Charles T. Gheen has been appointed Pacific Coast Traffic Chief with headquar-ters at San Francisco, and was relieved of his duties in Washington by our old standby George W. Graham, or "Gram," from Birmingham, while Gheen underwent an operation, prior to his departure January 3rd for Frisco. We regretted to hear of his illness and congratulate him on his recovery and promotion. While we hate to see "Chas." leave us, we feel it is the "Sunshine Circuit's" loss and the Pacific Coast's gain. At this writing no official announcement has been made as to Gheen's successor, but our old reliable George W. Graham will probably be appointed Southern Division Traffic Chief at Washington. We believe him to be a reliable and-capable man for the post, and he is well liked by all the boys. Graham was relieved at Birmingham by R. Medicus Morris, formerly with the A. T. & T. at Denmark, S. C., and the United Press, and various press associations and brokers at other places. Welcome to the fold, Morris, make yourself at home.

From the information we can gather, the "Sunshine Circuit" has only about two nons now and these will probably get in line within the near future.

We failed to see the Consolidated Press Association represented in the Journal last month, and am sure all would welcome a little item from them regularly. Let's hear from some of you real good writers.

Let us enter the New Year with at least one good resolution:

"Resolved, that we will render good and faithful service to the best of our ability, and show our appreciation for their interest in us, and that we will become solid during the year and co-operate for the good of the service and all concerned."

We thank you for your kind attention.

J. N. HANNA.

Ira Byron Carley, recently of the A. P., has broken into our midst at KP. Welcome is our middle name, Byron. Lon Chaney, from over Indianapolis way, arrived in Kansas City with 1923 and relieved Bro. McCloskey at KZ. Mac is on the news wire at that office.

WHEN DO WE GET THAT RAISE?

Sid Dargan reports all's well in Milwaukee while Al Koppes at Minneapolis claims ear muffs are the style. Speaking of ear muffs, Earle "Doc" King was transferred from New York to HX and is helping Estep furnish the music on the west end. Glad to see you, Kid, but please furnish us with an up-to-date code book. Code is something "Doc" uses nothing else but.

WHEN DO WE GET THAT RAISE?

Bud O'Donnell at St. Louis took a couple of days off and went up in Illinois with his folks for Christmas. The weather was beautiful and Bud drove all the way in his recently acquired Phord.

WHEN DO WE GET THAT RAISE?

Bro. E. L. Hall at DA says it sounds like old times to hear King go through his performance on the west wire. He avers, however, that the days of calm and peace are gone forever.

No breaks so far during the new year and everything moving at top speed. Won't the U. P. management take note and please tell us.

The officers of U. P. Division 47 have been announced. Much has been said as to what we need, what we would like to have, what we ought to have, and what we ought not to have. U. P. Division officers are going to do all they can to do these things for us. Now is the time to tell them what they should begin working for, what you would suggest that they do, and any other pointer that will be of value to them in the negotiating of new contract this summer. Let's not wait for the day when they will be in New York, and then begin talking of what we would like, but get busy now and lay our plans. Write them NOW and let them get a good comprehensive idea of what is expected of them.

F. O. Chaney, Indianapolis, has moved on to Kansas City, U. F. wire. We welcome our old side kick Bert Grimes who came down to IA from Chicago.

U. P. DIV. ADOPTS INSURANCE PLAN

By an overwhelming vote the members of United Press System Division No. 47 adopted two propositions submitted by the general committee for group insurance, one for straight life insurance, and the other for accident and health insurance.

The propositions voted on and accepted were as follows:

"We (the Metropolitan Life Insurance company) will insure 225 members of your division, on the group plan, at the average age of 32 for $6.83 per $1,000 per year. If the average age is higher, or lower, the premium will be 3c per $1,000 higher or lower as the case may be. Hence at an average age of 35, the rate would be $6.92 per $1,000 per year.

"For $12 per year per member we will pay $10 weekly in event of accident or sickness. The $10 weekly will be paid for an indefinite period."

No medical examination is required.

If a man leaves the service, he takes his insurance policy with him, but thereafter he must pay the current rate at his respective age. New members of the division must have been employed by the United Press 90 days before being eligible to insurance at the special rate named.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE

Carl F. Faller of Chicago will be our 1923 general chairman and Moulton B. Norton general secretary-treasurer. Bro. R. E. Allen of Buffalo declined nomination for re-election for personal reasons.

Bro. Faller has served many years as general chairman and despite his endeavors to shift the burden to other shoulders, we simply must call on him every now and then. It is doubtful if any other two men in the Universal Service have a better knowledge of the night side problems through their long experience than Bros. Faller and Norton.

NEW YORK DISTRICT OFFICERS FOR 1923

At the regular meeting held December 9th, the following officers were elected for the New York District. Eastern Broker Division:

Chairman, Frank A. O'Sullivan.

First Vice-Chairman, Jos. P. McGivern. Second Vice-Chairman, J. J. Donnelly, Sr.

Secretary-Treasurer, John A. Hickey. Recording Secretary, Frank E. Barrett. Members Executive Board, Jas. F. Campbell, Chairman; John W. Dunn, Bart. J. Kearney, Richard P. Scales, Harry H. Pfeiffer.

Sentinel, Clarence J. Youtz; Sergeant-at-arms, Ralph Johnson; Delegates to the Central Trades & Labor Council: Isidore Schwadron, Bud F. Rupple, Hugh J. Hickey.

Following are extracts from the remarks made by Brother Frank A. O'Sullivan, newly elected General Chairman of the Eastern Broker Division, at the meeting of Dec. 6, 1923.

Before proceeding with the regular order of business, I wish to express my thanks and my appreciation for the honor you have conferred upon me.

Another year has passed into history, and we find ourselves in a position to face with confidence whatever the future may hold in store for us.

Our organization is a business concern, in which we are all equal partners, sharing alike in its benefits, and dividing its work and responsibilities, it behooves us to work harmoniously together for the success of our enterprise. Each man must do his part. Harmony means team-work, and team-work means assured

You may be affiliated with other organizations, both fraternal and social, butthe E. B. D. is your business organization. It deserves, and should receive your attention before all others.

The broker-telegrapher, possessing all the knowledge and training of the broker, combined with the art of the telegrapher, is a factor of prime importance in the conduct of the speculative and investment markets of our country.

He has, through our organization, maintained a high standard of business conduct, and the ethics of our profession are as rigid as those of any other.

There is no place in our ranks for unreliables, slackers, and malingerers.

WE DELIVER THE GOODS.

The work of organization so successfully initiated and carried on by Brother Tate must not be regarded as the culmination of an effort. It is really but a beginning, and the conclusion will be on that day, when the last one of the comparatively few telegraph managers, chief operators and telegraphers, who are still on the outside, signs an application for membership.

Consider, if you please, the work of our Emergency Service Bureau, maintained by our organization, without cost to the employer.

To illustrate how this Bureau works, we will cite a typical every-day case. It is 9:30 A. M., "Jones & Co." have just learned that their telegrapher is unable to report for duty, because of sudden illness. Their wire is uncovered and they are confronted with a really serious situation. What is to be done? That is the question. Why they telephone Broad 2258, our secretary secures the best available man for the job, and the situation is saved.

It is self-evident that this work deserves the support of every employer, every chief operator and every telegrapher in the Street, and the way to support it is for all telegraphers engaged in our line of work, regardless of rank or rating, to join with us.

Cultivate the fraternal spirit, attend our meetings as often as possible. Come to headquarters for a chat after business hours. Read your obligation again and resolve to live up to it.

Line up, brothers, for 1923. Forward, no marking time; always forward.

PRESENTATION

At the regular meeting of the New York District, E. B. D., held on Saturday, January 12th, the retiring General Chairman, Bro. John W. Dunn, was presented with a handsome open-faced gold watch suitably engraved.

This mark of appreciation from the membership was handed to Brother Dunn by General Chairman O'Sullivan, who recounted in a few appropriate remarks the wonderful achievements of Brother Dunn's three-year term as General Chairman.

Headquarters Notes

Bro. R. G. Barber of Jones & Baker's has been on the sick list for over a month recuperating from an operation for appendicitis.

Bro. Frank Williams met with an accident on the slippery sidewalks during the recent heavy snow storm and is laid up with a broken leg.

We have been compelled to listen to many arguments on all sorts of subjects at Headquarters, but the difference of opinion between Harry Cook and Ed Lubkert as to what kind of a flag Washington carried in his boat while crossing the Delaware, was the cat's whiskers. You're losing time in Wall Street, boys. Shubert's Winter Garden or the Keith vaudeville circuit would give you some real dough to pull that stuff in a monologue.

Our meeting room floor has been covered with new linoleum and we now look all dressed up. We have also provided a specially built cuspidor for "Buck" Ewing when he comes to town as we want to keep the linoleum looking nice and clean. When Buck takes a good aim at an ordinary sized cuspidor he never misses it—more than a foot.

Just as we are going to press we received a flash that the stork arrived at the home of Bro. Walter Wehr. Congratulations, Walter.

Munds & Winslow Notes

Munds & Winslow have re-arranged their wire and order room to meet their present needs, making it real comfortable for all concerned.

On January they opened their New York-Miami wire with Bro. Charlie Gessner, the noted cartoonist, on the New York end. Bro. George Hockstadter handles the orders. On the wires we find Bros. Al Smithers, Harry Nyce and Charlie Gessner. Bro. Jack Gray handles the chalk on the board.

OBITUARY

The sympathies of the members of this Division are extended to Bro. Harry Gillman in the death of his father, Andrew Gillman, who for over fifty years was employed by the Western Union; Bro. Lorraine Larey in the death of his mother; and Bro. John W. Pernau in the death of his mother.

HENRY FORD'S "SOLUTION"

Henry Ford has been talking to a delegation from the International Labor Office of the League of Nations. As a cure for world unrest—as a sure cure—Mr. Ford suggests a job of some sort for every ablebodied man. "Let the people of the world once get the idea," he said, "that all they need is to do a good day's work, six days each week, and that in this way they can make their own prosperity, and there will be no more talk about unstable conditions, for instability will have ceased to exist."

This is a curious and even absurb piece of philosophy. There must be something in addition to the job; there must be a wage value attached to it. Unfortunately, many men who labor industriously not six, but seven, days a week never get a pecuniary reward that enables them to face the future They are never more with confidence. than one jump ahead of the butcher and the baker. They are subjected to a dozen mean little pinching economies that break down courage and rob life of its zest. They are forced to send children to work too young, forced to deny them the advantages of education, forced to see sons and daughters of promise denied their chance to broaden intellectually and rise to their inherent sphere. To prattle that circumstances can hold no man down is bosh and piffle. Its refutation is in the statistics that show that an enormous percentage of the leaders in all walks of American life are men with the advantages of college educations.

Mr. Ford talks as though the mere fact of being blessed with a job filled one's soul with a fervor that left nothing else to be desired. Yet, in all too many cases, the job is little but a desperate club with which the worker is able to hold at bay the wolf of want. To call a job, merely as a job, a cure for social unrest is to blind one's self to facts that cannot be brushed aside. horse in the shafts has a job. He gets his oats, his hay, his water and his stall, and on Sunday may kick up his heels and roll in a pasture. He knows no other want. But man is not a beast of He is happy. the field, and the mere fact that he has a job does not present him with a one-way ticket to a land where the cost of living and of bringing up a family is of no concern. Without a job his lot is often desperate; but that does not mean that, holding possession of a job, he is miraculously anointed. The job is a cure-all only when it furnishes the worker with food, shelter, a just share of recreation, the means of bringing up his family decently and the chance to save something for a rainy day. # PITTSBURGH NOTES

START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT— GET AN ANNUAL

The boys must have been very busy last month—probably buying Christmas presents with that "bonus"—there were only a few at the meeting.

At the next meeting—January 20th.—we will elect officers for the ensuing term. Lot of good material in this section and we expect to see a live crowd at the meeting and also expect to elect some live wires.

AN ANNUAL SAVES YOUR SECRETARY ALOTTA WORK.

Bro. Shade relieving at Mastens. The vacancies caused by sickness of our Secretary-Treasurer McCutcheon and the Chief Operator.

All glad to see "Mac" back in harness. Had a tough time, Mac, but a young feller like you don't mind that.

Bro. J. Harry Bowman is now Manager for L. L. Winkelman at Uniontown. Fine, Harry, glad to hear it.

DID YOU SEE THE ANNUAL'S PRETTY COLOR

Bro. Jimmy Dugan back in town again—can't keep Jimmy away from the burg. 'Smatter Jim, don't you like Uniontown? Glad to see you land with Halsey & Co.

Bro. Barrett getting all set to open for our friends F. H. McNulty & Co.—We understand they will be located in the location formerly used by Dier & Co.—Couldn't find a better location and we wish them the best of luck. Expect to place one of our boys as telegrapher for them.

DID YOU GET THAT ANNUAL? WHY NOT?

OBITUARY

Bro. Samuel H. Ridinger, former Chairman of the Pittsburgh Unit of the Eastern Broker Division and a member almost from its inception, died of tubercular trouble on November 18th at Girard, Ohio, the home of his sister after almost three years illness.

Bro. Ridinger was born in Mason County, W. Va., 33 years ago. His first position was as call boy on the Erie R. R., at the age of 15. In 1910 he came to Pittsburgh as a despatcher of the P. and L. E. Ry., (The N. Y. Central into Pittsburgh), and in 1916 went with Childs, Kay and Woods, a Pittsburgh brokerage house, staying with them until forced by illness to go to a sanitarium at Mt. Alto, in the Allegheny mountains. He had a most lovable disposition and was liked by all who knew him. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Sara M. Ridinger.

PHILADELPHIA

Here is the new line-up for 1923—Chairman, George A. Truitt, Vice Chairman, Elmer E. Bone, Secretary-Treasurer, Benj. H. Potter, Executive Committee, S. R. Long, C. R. Makin, L. Ruberg, R. A. English, Cornelius Kelley. This line-up, which consists largely of the oldest members and hardest workers in our local, should certainly warrant your support as they are in hopes of making 1923 the banner year of the Philadelphia Unit, E. B. D.

What did you think of the banquet? It cost us some real cold cash, but we believe it will have its effect during the coming year. Why not come out to all our meetings—they are interesting as well as instructive.

Are there any vacancies anticipated? Any new houses about to open in town? Come to the meetings and find out.

Your Secretary-Treasurer is all prepared to receive your dues for 1923. Send them in early so that you will be in good standing in the Funeral Benefit Department

Our good friend and Bro. Jack Hickey came over from New York and helped us celebrate and gave a short but interesting address. We do not "act up" for company when Jack visits us as we feel that he just fits in like a nickel in the Automat. He's as welcome as the raise in the pay envelope.

The retiring officers wish to thank the members for their support during the year 1922 and to request that you all get behind the 1923 line-up and do your darndest to make it the best year ever.

EDITORIAL

By J. A. Neimant.

The last meeting of The N. E. B. D. Thursday, Dec. 28, was enthusiastic enough from the point of view of those who attended; but as has been the case for a long time past, generally speaking it was the membership that has always shouldered the burdens of administration who that afternoon attended to the election returns and other necessary detail. Of course there were some members absent who were detained at their posts on account of wire trouble and other reasons, as on that day the weather was particularly bad; but those who are usually absent from meetings were also absent on this occasion. This brought about a discussion on the merits of the roll-call. It was decided that the practice of reading the roll-call at all regular meetings was too important a procedure to be omitted any longer.

A man's unionism is not to be measured only by the way he pays his dues. Any way it can be figured, if a man takes a real interest in anything he must surely demonstrate it in some manner. If he likes drama you may be certain that he will go to the theatre now and then. If he is a boxing enthusiast, you would be exceedingly surprised if he should tell you he never saw a boxing contest. In no more certain way, I believe, can a man's unionism be measured than by the amount of interest he takes in union meetings and union affairs. A good "brother" is only too anxious to keep his hand on the pulse of the organisation, in order to be able to render any assistance within his power, should such aid be called upon. He takes pleasure in doing anything that will benefit his fellow members, and the matter of personal sacrifice of time and money is hardly given a thought—it is done cheerfully.

Governments collapse, and the most secure position may be rendered extremely insecure overnight; and if that should happen to YOU, what will you have to say for yourself? More than seniority, more than telegraphic ability, more than being a good mixer is going to count in the selection of men to fill vacancies in the future. He who attends all meetings and is always seen at "HQ" when out of a job, and is never seen at all after he has been placed, will be remembered at another time when he may again begin to come around because he needs our assistance. These are some of the things which are important to consider. An hour and a half once a month is not much of a sacrifice for those who have to work the hours required of the average broker operator. If you are so far away that it is inconvenient to attend, you have a valid excuse; but even then it would not hurt so very much if you were to make an annual visit to the boys, to meet the officers and to shake hands all around. Come on, boys! Show your colors! Even if you have to put yourself out a bit to come to a meeting now and then, make a point of being there once in a while anyway. Let's go!

NOTES

The newly elected officers are as follows: President, J. F. Mullen, Sr.; Vice-President, L. H. Kinney; Secretary-Treasurer, J. A. Neimant; Corresponding Secretary, A. P. Ahearn; House Committee, Everett Kingsley and J. A. Neimant; Board of Directors, Fred. Feltus, D. B. Fishaker, L. H. Kinney, J. V. Atkinson, and Fred. J. McKenna.

A short time ago there were several men on the block, and the future did not look very bright. Now there are only two men out, and they are kept fairly busy on secops. It is quite evident that we have the situation well in hand.

ANNUAL ELECTIONS

The annual meeting of The Western Broker Division was called to order at 4 p. m., Thursday, December 28th, at Union Headquarters, with a capacity crowd on hand.

Among those present were Past International President Percy Thomas of New York who needs little introduction, Past International President Konenkamp, International President Johnson, and International Secretary-Treasurer Powers.

After reading a brief report covering the period since becoming President, President McDaniel proceeded with the regular order of business, and when this was disposed of, Brothers Thomas, Konenkamp, Johnson and Powers were introduced in the order mentioned, and everyone present enjoyed with great interest everything that each speaker had to say. The speech-making was concluded by a few interesting gestures by some of The W. B. D. members, and a vote of thanks and appreciation was extended to our Brother visitors for the part they played in making our annual meeting a successful one.

Before declaring the nominations in order, President McDaniel outlined briefly what had been accomplished in the past three or four months, and what can be accomplished in 1923 if the officers and members will co-operate and devote some of their time to the welfare of our organization.

He appealed to those present to nominate only those whom they felt reasonably sure would serve the organization for the coming year, and do so in every respect. He also asked that anyone being nominated who did not feel that he could devote some of his time to the affairs of the organization should in all fairness to himself and the other officers and members of the division decline said nomination. In closing his address the President made it rather clear that whether he be re-elected or not his Union activities could only continue as they have in the past.

Nominations were then declared in order and the following were nominated to serve as officers for the coming year:

President—R. H. McDaniel, E. L. Boole. (Vote for one.)

Secretary-Treasurer-Carl B. Bell, R. W. Goodale. (Vote for one.)

1st Vice-President-Geo, B. Miller, J. J. Murray. (Vote for one.)

2nd Vice-President-W. J. McMahon, Milwaukee, Wis. (No opposition.)

3rd Vice-President-A. R. Lyon, C. E. Baker, Los Angeles. (Vote for one.)

General Executive Board. (Vote for five.)—H. Q. Albaugh, J. G. Jones, Oscar Davidson, Ray H. Walters, Claude L. Reiter, R. W. Goodale, J. J. Murray, E. L. Boole, Jas. E. Flanagan, J. J. Bath.

In the event one candidate is elected to two offices, he will accept the highest office, and the candidate receiving the next highest number of votes will be elected to the other respective office.

A self-addressed envelope accompanies each ballot for the voter's convenience, and with the idea in mind that a 100% vote will be cast. The election will be held at our next regular meeting SATURDAY, JANUARY 27th. Please do not fail to be on hand.

Headquarters Notes

Your 1923 dues are now due, make it easy on our new Secy., who will be inaugurated January 27th, by remitting now.

We were extremely fortunate in having such Bros. as Percy Thomas, Past Int'l Pres. Konenkamp, Int'l Pres. Johnson and Secy-Treasr. Powers with us at our annual meeting.

Many of the boys seem to think we are about due for a dance or entertainment; we will have to admit that we are way over due, but let's be in a position to put it on right when we finally decide boys. Give us a little more time to think it over.

Three or four of our boys were forced out by the recent failure of the Houston-Fible Co., of Kansas City.

Bro. Thos. Davidson, who was with Harris-Winthrop and Co., prior to the Houston-Fible failure, is now located with W. A. Harriman & Co.

Bro. H. M. Shanks of Rockwell City, Iowa, was a recent visitor at headquarters. We were all glad to see you Bro. Shanks, call again.

Bro. Chas. Kruse has again departed for the land of SUNSHINE and GOLD (bring your own gold with you). We miss you, Charlie.

Bro. A. C. Baldwin, who was a victim of an automobile accident sometime ago, is reported to be on the mend, and expects to be back to work shortly.

The door bell ringers continue to ring the bells, and incidently cut their throats.

Beware of the delinquent scandal mongers. No true union man ever participated in such small and unfair tactics.

The race for Secretary-Treasurer seems to be rather heated, with the odds about

Bro. Percy Thomas spent quite a little time at headquarters after the meeting renewing old acquaintances, and making some new ones.

Saturday, January 27th is the next regular meeting day. The election of officers will also take place at this meeting, please do not fail to attend.

Bro. Thos. H. Jordan, the champion ticket seller of the WBD, has been home sick for sometime. Tom will be glad to see any of the boys who care to call on him at 6648 Maryland Ave.

Bro. Dan Kennedy occupied a front seat at the annual meeting and seemed to enjoy himself immensely.

CHARLEY SUMMERS AND THE "WATER" TELEPHONE

By E. L. Boole

The first telephone set to reach the West was consigned to General Anson Stager, general superintendent, central division, Western Union Telegraph Company, Chicago, Ill., in 1876. At about the same time the first Edison phonograph to reach Chicago was installed in an office adjacent to Gen. Stager's headquarters in the old Union building, corner of La Salle and Washington streets. The telephone instru-ments were attached to a wire which ran between the general superintendent's office and the Western Electric Manufacturing Company, of which Gen. Stager was president, across the river at Kinzie and Dearborn streets, about a mile distant. interest attached to the installation of both these wonderful inventions, and people flocked by scores to gaze upon and test them. I well recall how excited I was when it came my turn to converse with Mr. Enos M. Barton, secretary of the Western Electric Company. You had to talk mighty loud to make yourself understood. Mr. Barton's voice seemed to come from the bowels of the earth it was so The phonograph agent charged a small fee for the privilege of listening to his talking machine and his office was packed daily.

Mr. Charles H. Summers, the electrician of the central division, occupied a room within Gen Stager's headquarters. He was about 60 years of age and was probably the most genial man I ever met, and his big heart fairly oosed with the milk of human kindness. What made his wit and repartee the more spontaneous was his personal appearance, for he was the very embodiment of the "country jake" and rather gloried in it. The "Hungry Joes," the "Waco Kids" and other "con" men of their stripe of that day sought to pick him up as a "rube," but old Charley was as sharp as a steel trap and their blandishments were wasted on him. It leaked out that on one occasion Charley "unloaded the ahip" of a "con" gent who imagined he had lassoed a "sucker." He was a great practical joker and scores of men fell for his "stuff," some of them with ill grace it may be said.

The coming of the telephone and phonograph served to key Summers to a keener pitch in the hoaxing line. The first shot out of the box he rigged up a contrivance which he termed his "musical" telephone. This consisted of a box relay with a tiny music box secreted within it, and I want to tell you that when the music began to play his audiences sat spellbound. It was a cute trick and many of his auditors never knew they had been hoaxed until months afterward. Preliminary to these entertainments he regaled them with a brief lecture on the possibilities of the astounding invention, always ending thusly: "Now, gentlemen, you are about to hear a man in Milwaukee play the piano for you. Eddie, tell the professor to hit her up lively." I would then give a command to the mythical Milwaukeean through a bogus telephone, at the same time touching an electric button that started the music in the box relay.

But the thing that gave Charley Summers a niche in the hall of fame of practical jokers was his famous "water" telephone. This contraption made him a lot of enemies for the time being. But when their heat had cooled they would bring their friends to be victimized, and the latter would bring their friends to be similarly treated, and so on ad infinitum. a huge water tank on top of the building was supposed to be immersed dozens of coils of wire spliced together with a total length of hundreds of miles. Sinking the coils in water was for the purpose of illustrating the efficacy of his machine, Summers would tell the onlookers, and his story never failed to bamboozle them. The piece de resistance of his scheme was an imposing looking box of considerable height to which was attached intricate telegraph paraphernalia, together with a huge mouthpiece and an ordinary tele-phone receiver. Our battery tender was a man named Waters. Summers would explain that although Mr. Waters was only a hundred feet away he was in reality hundreds of miles distant-measured by the length of the mythical colls in the tank.

After getting his man worked up to a fever pitch of expectancy he would tell them to call Mr. Waters. There being no response. Summers would urge the victim to elevate his voice, adding that it took great lung energy to penetrate the hundreds of miles of wire. At this interesting juncture I would touch the button, a funnel would shoot out from the box directly over the deluded one's head and a stream of water would deluge his cranium. Some men took the joke good naturedly while others became rebellious. I recall one gentleman of the cloth who became so incensed that he tried to engage Summers in a game of fisticuffs.

The genial soul of Charley Summers long ago passed beyond the Styx. As I sit nightly listening to radio concerts I think of him and his deredevil tricks and moralize that he was not so far out of the way after all. Not by the highest flights of the human imagination could he hope to presage the startling phenomena in the electrical world we who remain have witnessed. Yet with the passing of a few years the very things he essayed to grotesquely portray have become actualities.

UNIONISM IN PRACTICE

Christmas spirit was all aglow at the new palatial headquarters of the Milk Wagon Drivers at 220 So. Ashland Blvd., Chicago, one of the finest on the Boulevard, when approximately $5,000 worth of clothing and groceries were distributed to the poor and needy of the city, in accordance with their annual custom.

cordance with their annual custom.

No other event during the year so whole-heartedly occupies the time of the big hearted milk wagon drivers and none inspires him to greater effort. Hundreds of big heaping baskets loaded with groceries and provisions enough to supply the average family for a week or more, together with good warm clothing of every description to protect the ragged children of the poor against the cold winter blasts, are distributed along the various routes of the milk wagon drivers all over the city.

So engrossed have the members of this organization become in the relief of the poor and distressed, which has now been going on for eight years, that a special department known as the Milk Wagon Drivers Welfare Auxiliary Organization has been organized to conduct the work. The Auxiliary consists mostly of the wives and daughters of the Drivers, who work the year round preparing the garments according to carefully prepared records gathered by the drivers who come in contact with the needy on their daily rounds.

We start the New Year still plugging. Some of our boys may be a little peeved at the delays but such things cannot be helped.

We all know, and not one will deny the fact, that our workers are still going strong and we all have good reason to feel encouraged with their persistent efforts.

We must agree with Max O'Reil's famous commentary on Luck:

"There is no luck in life. Luck is of our own making. • • • luck means the hardships and privations which you have not hesitated to endure, the long nights that you have devoted to work, luck means the appointments you have never failed to keep, • • • luck means trusting in God and in your own resources. If you are successful all the failures will how at the top of their voices that you have always been lucky. You may certainly be lucky for a short time, but you cannot always be lucky any more than you can always be unlucky.

"The same in life; the only way to be lucky—that is to say, successful—is to leave nothing to chance, but to work and work and work again; to inspire confidence in others by the strength and uprightness of your character; to make yourself indispensable by your reliability and your devotion to your calling, respected for your honesty and sincerity; and always to hear in mind that what can be obtained once by tricky means can, as a rule, be obtained by honest ones."

Delays Add to Our Determination

These are the lines we are working on and the provoking delays are only greater incentives to strengthening our determination to carry on to an end which must and will bear a just and proper recognition of the important service the Fire Telegraph Dispatcher renders the citizens of the City of New York.

Fires are on the jump it seems in spite of all the strenuous efforts to check their origin. Last year's record was 18,774, an increase of 2,424 over the year 1921, of which 11,316 occurred in the Boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx and Richmond, while Brooklyn and Queens contributed 7,458.

This means well over 20,000 signals handled by the Dispatchers and all without a single error, which stands well in the front of "recommendations to be proud of."

We are very sorry to learn of Pete McGowan's nervous breakdown, due to overwork in the Board of Estimate at the recent budget making time. Our old friend Pete is not only a "buff" and ardent fire fan but "some fire telegraph dispatcher" as well, which gives him the "edge" on other "buffs" of the department. He has never missed an election night on the "platform" in over 25 years, which is "going some" and we all wish and pray for his speedy recovery.

Strife

The law of worthy life is fundamentally the law of strife. It is only through labor and painful effort, by grim energy and resolute courage, that we move on to better things.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

We all may not be entirely in accord with all of T. R.'s views but I'll venture to say you will all agree that this is good "dope."

Who is responsible for the book "How to Become a Detective" left with us and marked "platform copy, E. A. F."? Now maybe someone will "discover" why the -transmitters "kick up" so often.

A few "First Half" and January dues still due. Snap in, fellows, snap in.

TAKE OUT YOUR 1923 ANNUAL—REMEMBER THAT THE DUES ARE NOW SIXTEEN DOLLARS PER ANNUM—

The Local Secretary-Treasurer reports that as yet he has not found it necessary to burn any midnight oil on account of overwork in writing out receipts for the 1923 dues, but says he will not kick should the occasion arise. So what say, Boys? The Lord knows we need our proportion of these dues right now. As predicted last issue a Brokerage House employing four operators, three of them members, went out of business and this adds to the already large list of unemployed. How would it feel to be unemployed yourself with practically nothing between you and alms. Sounds tuff, but that's exactly what it means to some of the boys without a job today. Surely for the sake of thirty and one-half cents per week, which is the cost of your annual, you are not going to delay in paying up. The Local does not want to levy further assessments, but unless every member of this District pays up promptly, it is inevitable that such assessment will certainly have to be levied unless we wish to see some of our unemployed members accepting alms. So let's start 1923 right, and we can start it right by lessening the sufferings of others and this can be done in a great measure by taking out your annual card RIGHT NOW.

International President Johnson is favoring us with a call which we hope will be an extended one. However, if the Int. Pres. did not bring his seal-skin and galoshes with him we are very much afraid he will abbreviate his stay, but we hear that he enjoys the rough weather and you can bet your life he is getting it rough all right. Ten below zero, a thirty-mile gale, and a cutting snow storm. Something like Rex Beach writes about in the Yukon. However, we are sure that, although it is anything but a warm welcome as regards the weather, he is getting it 100% as regards the various Divisions in Montreal. Pres. Johnson is going to favor us with his attendance at our regular meeting Wednesday next and we understand that later on he will address a joint meeting of all Montreal Divisions. We sincerely hope that Bro. Johnson's visit will be a fruitful one and that he will enjoy every minute of his stay, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather conditions.

Old Man Winter is taking his toll among the Knights of the Ticker as usual. Up to the time of writing we hear that Bro. O'Donnell is laid up with the 'flu and bronchitis, but is on the road to a speedy recovery, and Bro. Tom Walsh is confined to his home with a severe attack of lagrippe which we hope will be ably combatted and that we may see both brothers out again very soon.

The firm of Harper & Co. has opened a wire service with Bro. O'Donnell at the helm.

Bro. Louis Goyette is filling in for Bro. O'Donnell during the latter's illness.

Bro. "Mike" McFadden is in town for the holidays. "Mike" says there is nothing like "Nu" York, outside of Montreal and even at that it might have it on the City of "Drys and Beers" if they would only quote "NI" on the Big Board.

Bro. "Hub" Purcell of Halifax and Bro. J. G. Andrews of Quebec wish all the boys a very prosperous 1923. These two boys are separated from us by many miles of railroad, but nevertheless they are with us all the time in the spirit of Unionism, being among the first to send in for their new cards and payments of assessments, etc. Many happy returns, boys, and we trust that before this old sphere revolves another calendar's length, we may see you and take you by the hand and say that over again.

There is a current rumor afloat that Bro. Eddie Cohen of L. & B. is about to take unto himself a wife sometime during this month (January). If this rumor is correct and we have every reason to believe that it is, instead of quoting that old adage "Another Man Gone Wrong" we will say in this case "A Young Man at Last Awakened," for, believe us, boys, this is going to be a great thing for "Eddie." Why? Say, if ever a man needed sleep, it's that bird. Seven nights a week, all day Sunday and Saturday afternoons. That's how hard he has been smitten for the past twelve months or more. Everyone of the boys wish Eddie all the joys and prosperity in the world and that all his troubles will come singly.

We hear great reports from Bro. Don Blehr regarding that new arrival of his. The "Skipper" has not yet decided whether the boy will sine "M" or "CJ."

What is the matter with Toronto. No notes received for two months now. Has the Hockey team monopolised the local secretary's spare time?

FOR SALE—A radial set in good condition. Reason for selling, expect to have no time after January 23rd to experiment with scientific inventions. Apply Eddie Cohen.

At the last regular meeting the election of local officers took place, the office holders' time expiring Dec. 80th. Although urgently pressed to retain their respective offices of local chairman and secretarytreasurer, Brothers Hartley and O'Donnell declined on the grounds of other strenu-ous duties. The new officers, Bro. "Eddie" Weston as local chairman and Bro. "Joe" Roy, as secretary-treasurer, are both well known boys and the interests of the local could not fall into better hands than these brothers, as has been ably shown in their great interest as regards local furtherance of the Division. As retiring secretary-treasurer I wish my successor and his team-mate, the local chairman, every success in the world and to all the boys a very happy and prosperous 1923.

73's J. F. O'D.

To the Members of Great Lakes Subdivision No. 59, C. T. U. A.

Greetings Bros:

I appreciate the honor conferred in appointing me your Local Chairman for the present year.

While I will have to wait until the opening of navigation before I can take part in any meetings with you, and express my appreciation personally, I wish to thank you through the medium of our Official Organ the Journal for the honor and confidence you have placed in me.

The office of Local Chairman while an important one can be amicably filled if given the wholehearted support and loyalty of its officers and members.

Knowing most of you personally I feel confident we can, and will make this a successful year.

My message and appeal is for solid unity and unlagging enthusiasm to the spirit of unionism, and faithful service to our employers. Let us protect our work with assiduity as we protect our health and property through the several forms of insurance.

The union is our work insurance and being the vital factor in the producing of revenue should be first among all other insurances.

The unpopular parasite worker is our worst enemy having neither soul nor conscience. Fortunately we have very few in this class and I feel with tactful approach-ment we can eliminate the very few in our midst.

Let every brother be an enthusiastic worker and not rest content until every delinquent and non are within the ranks. Don't wait for the other fellow to make the interview but go yourself taking an application form with you. Our worthy secretary will be pleased to supply the necessary forms and any information in this connection. Trusting this will be a banner year for the C. T. U. A. and wishing you all a happy and successful New Year.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

T. R. Ives, Cert. No. 4.

To the Members of Great Lakes Sub. Div., M. W. System Div. 59.

Greetings:

No doubt you are all aware that I have been appointed your local Secretary-Treasurer for 1923 and I earnestly ask your hearty co-operation for a successful year with 100 per cent membership.

There is no reason why we can not get together during the coming year and every man should see that each and every operator with whom he comes in contact holds his 1923 card.

Be a booster for your Union and don't leave all the work for your officers.

Yours fraternally, J. E. WEST,

Marconi Station, Port Arthur, Ont.

LOCAL NOTES

N. Y. DISTRICT COUNCIL No. 16

The meeting of the New York District Council held in the World Building December 29th was not as well attended as usual. due to the bad storm.

The following officers were elected for the year 1923: Ike Schwadron, President; Charles Josephson, Vice-President; B. F. Rupple, Secretary-Treasurer; Advisory Board, Percy Thomas (chairman), J. A. Hickey, B. G. Chandlee, T. S. Mahoney and Jos. B. Milgrim.

Our worthy Bros. William A. Martin and Frank J. Marshall of Chapel No. 1 were present and Bro. "Bill" gave an interesting line-up for the coming year. His hard work in the Chapel along with Bro. Mar-shall and the executive board has been very tiresome and he is to be congratulated for his hard work. He assured the officers of the District Council that he would stick until the finish and that the officers of the District Council and Eastern Broker Division had co-operated with him in every way.

The officers also congratulate Bro. John Nolan for his splendid write-ups in the Journal. It is sure pleasing to read such good news and his hard efforts in securing these write-ups every month.

Bro. Bennie Gilchrist was also present at the meeting, and I must say that Bro. Gilchrist is always a steady guest at all meetings.

Of course the Eastern Broker Division was represented and Bros. J. F. Campbell, J. A. Hickey, Hughie Hickey and Charles Josephson helped fill the chairs.

Bro. Josephson gave a very interesting talk on organization work.

We were in doubt about the appearance of Bro. Jim Campbell, but were glad to note that he arrived on time. We understand Jim's family object to his taking chances on his health in a sleet storm. We refuse to print anything about coat-tails.

Bro. J. Milgrim spoke on organization and was appointed Special organizer to line up the unattached press men in the different bureaus within the New York District with a view of forming a local unit of the National Press Division.

The work is now being carried on and a report will appear in the following issue of the Journal as to what progress has been made.

President Schwadron gave out some interesting news and lined up the big issues for the new year.

Bro. C. H. McElreath, Superintendent Int'l News Service, was unable to attend on account of sickness.

Good work by the District Council was reported by Secretary Rupple for the year of 1922. He explained how the remains of Bro. Lindsey E. Campbell, who died in New York on April 3rd, were taken care of by Bro. C. H. McElreath who had the body shipped to his family in Memphis, Tenn.

Bro. A. C. Connors, who died October 21st, was taken care of by the officers of the District Council and body shipped to his sister in Lima, Ohio. The District Council bought flowers and paid all expenses trying to reach his relatives by telegraph.

A list was taken up for Bro. Connor's sister which netted around a hundred dollars, Bro. McElreath and the boys of the International News sending check for $25. The departed brother was laid to rest beside his mother in Lima, Ohio.

Plenty of work was secured for District Council members at the Universal, International News Service and United Press, through the secretary's hearty co-operation with these concerns at all times.

The year 1923 will probably be a big one for the District Council as we are out to form new units. Only co-operation with the Council will bring success.

The officers wish all units and officers a happy New Year with the biggest success of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America for the New Year.

B. F. Rupple, Secretary-Treasurer.

SOUTHWEST BROKER ELECTION

At the regular election, Dec. 9th, the following officers were elected to serve for the year 1923: Floyd R. Smith, president; Harry H. Hall, vice-president; A. M. Hall, secretary-treasurer, 2604 Lockridge; members of executive board, R. R. Smith, W. J. McKenzie, Cal E. Ryle, H. H. Hall and S. P. McConnell.

We had a rousing good get-together meeting and smoker, Wednesday evening, January 10th, at the Coates House.

About twenty-five of the boys turned out and everyone had a good time, and if the "pep" they displayed continues, we will make great strides the coming year.

We all enjoyed the fine talk given us by Bro. Jack Argersinger. Come again Jack.

The Press division was well represented, but we all missed our old friend Daugherty and Jones. However, their alibis were good.

Plans are in the making for a big ball, which we hope to stage within the next three or four weeks. Everybody very enthusiastic about it, and we hope to outshine our Eastern brothers, the Hotel Pennsylvania notwithstanding.

The recent failure of Houston, Fible & Co., here resulted in six or eight men being let out. However, all of them were "non-believers" in organizations, such as ours—their ideas being that they had life time jobs, and did not need cards—Well, you never can tell!

DON'T FORGET YOUR CARDS ARE NOW DUE: WHY NOT GET AN ANNUAL.

NUMA

Its going to be no card, no favors, boys. That erstwhile "stannch striker" and leader of the Bennett trouble here, R. A. Richardson, is again working for Bennett.

Incidentally, he laid down on the payment of his card for the last half 1922, which he was greatly in need of, when he wanted to do a little scooping for the various press associations. That's all changed now, and he is off the Unions for life. Oh, well, he did not put anything over on the boys here—they all know his calibre.

OHIO BROKER DIVISION

The Ohio Broker Division, six months old baby of the C. T. U. A., enters upon the second lap of its first year with a larger membership for the territory involved, than at any time for years, and with a nice balance on the right side of the ledger.

The election of officers for 1923 has been completed and announced as follows: President, Charles B. Carnall; vice-president, George T. Hattle, and secretary-treasurer, Leonard F. Solt, all of Cleveland, where headquarters are located.

Much work has been laid out for the coming year, and the new officers express great optimism for the twelve-month term, for the new division. They will be busy 365 days of this time working for the interests of the division, laying plans, and carrying out ideas that are calculated to work great benefits for the organization. The co-operation is asked of every member to his fullest capacity.

The next meeting will be held on Saturday, February 3rd., at 2 p. m. Several important matters are to come up which necessitate action by as nearly all of the membership as can attend. Therefore each member is asked to make a special effort to be there.

John G. (Jack) Adams, recently of Tillotson Walcott Co., who "sticks till the bitter end," is taking on a new job, for, as usual, his wire was discontinued. Jimmy Acles, who is doing what is known on the street as the "ticker job," is sporting a new Columbia eix. The Nash was all right, only the gasoline line to the magneto became clogged too frequently.

Horace Sherwood of "Winke" at Akron, says, "I'll be up to that meeting sure unless they discontinue sale of the particular brand which my motor burns." That's why some of we fellers don't drive a car, they're too durn particular these Volsteadian times.

The unemployment list at headquarters has been reduced until there is only one or two on the "snowball" brigade. Jobs are in sight for these and then there will be happiness for all once more.

MONTREAL DISTRICT COUNCIL

The Council wishes to announce that it has authorized Euchre and Dance for the Montreal boys and girls.

Our lady members have displayed such a keen interest in social functions that a novel idea is being promoted, namely that we are letting the girls put on the kind of a show they want.

Sister Betty Schnur, the only lady member of the Council, was elected chairman of the Dance Committee and given full power to put on a show that will be remembered for some time.

The Nationale Hall has been secured for Friday evening, February 9th, and Eddy's famous jazz band will be in attendance. There is to be a euchre with valuable prizes; plenty of refreshments; balloons, serpentines, confetti, etc. A gala night for a dollar which includes war tax, checking and refreshments.

We are not out to make money on this affair. All we want to do is break even and give everyone the time of their lives.

The girls are working enthusiastically and we look forward to a wonderful time. Keep the date open and bring your friends. FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 9th!

Wednesday evening, January 3rd was the occasion of a nice little surprise party given two of our good Montreal members who are to be married this month.

Bro. Eddie Cohen of the Broker Division and Sister Fanny Schwar's of the C. P. R. Division have decided that two can live as cheaply as one so a number of the girls and boys got together and gave them the raspberry and incidentally a beautiful set of Community silver. Of course Eddie can eat ham sandwiches without using silverware, but we felt he could always hock the silver when he comes to the bitter realization that two cannot live as cheaply as one and his money runs out.

"Layin' all jokes to 1 side," as Ring Lardner would say, we sure had a nice time at the party. Eddle and Fanny are a dear little couple and the Montreal membership holds them in high esteem. They have our best wishes for a long, prosperous and happy married life.

We note with much pleasure that our plans for raffling a Studebaker touring car are meeting with general and enthusiastic support. The tickets will sell at one dollar and will be ready by the first of February. Who will be the winner of the car?

The entire proceeds of the raffle will be devoted to the District Council Convention Fund. We hope to raise enough money through this medium to give the delegates and their wives a grand time.

The Toronto boys and girls during the 1921 Convention gave the Convention delegates and visitors a wonderful time and we in Montreal are quite naturally determined to eclipse Toronto's hospitality.

Toronto will sit up and take notice when they see what the Montrealers can do. Prenez Garde!

Everything is not so rosy as might be in Montreal lately. Both Commercial companies are trying to get away with some funny work and we are all het up over it.

As free men and women, solidly organized, we have a pardonable feeling of independence and pride and we do not propose to take any slaps in the face.

Our schedules must be lived up to by the Companies or there will be trouble. Messrs. McMillan and Perry may well put that in their hatbands. "Simplicimus."

V. J. FLEURY, M.S.O.

Bro. V. J. Fleury was born in the town of Lindsay, Ont., where he received his education. He acted as telegrapher, ticket and express agent at various places in Ontario on the Grand Trunk Allendale division, where standard rules were first put into effect in Canada. Later on he worked for the Canadian Pacific Railway throughout the Northwest, when the towns usually consisted of two box cars and a grain elevator.

In Winnipeg, Bro. Fleury had the honor of assisting in the drafting of the first commercial schedule ever signed by a telegraph company in Canada, the Canadian Pacific.

Coming to Toronto 18 years ago, Bro. Fleury has worked continuously for the Canadian Pacific, holding several offices in the C. T. U. A., and serving on many committees during schedule negotiations.

M. J. REIDY HONORED BY BOSTON

Michael J. Reidy, member of the New England Broker Division, former member of the House of Representatives from Dorchester and public speaker, received a fine Christmas present from Mayor Curley yesterday. Bro. Reidy was nominated to the $4,000 street commissionership, which will shortly be vacated by Richard F. Andrews, appointed in the Peters regime.

There seems little doubt at City Hall that Bro. Reidy will soon have the Civil Service approval for this position.

Born in South Boston in 1870, Bro. Reidy had but little schooling and has won a liberal education by unremitting application of his mind to a wide variety of positions. After a few years' service as messenger boy he became successively clerk, wire operator, auditor, stenographer and newspaperman. His earnings have gone largely to support a widowed mother and his six sisters and brothers.

Bro. Reidy has lately been operating the wire between the Boston and Western offices of a big packing company. He has a National reputation in this work; he has long been a member of the National executive board, Commercial Telegraphers' Union and president of Boston Local 4.

Through three years in the House, he was chairman of the Boston Democratic delegation, because of his intimate familiarity with the city and its multiple administrative and economic problems.

THE VIEWPOINT

By "Jim" Hosey, U. P. Operator on the Mount Carmel Item.

With the committeemen of the various union press associations now elected for 1923 it behooves all members to bestir themselves and get in touch with their union representatives, and make it plain to them just what their individual sentiments are as regards negotiations for a new contract.

DON'T DELAY THIS ACTION. Tell your committeeman how you feel about your salary and working conditions, before he goes to New York City, so that he will know exactly the thoughts of each person he represents and, after a general analysis of all the correspondence received, he will be in a position to present intelligently the desires of the union men he represents when he goes into general conference with his brother committeemen.

Have a thorough understanding with your duly elected leaders before they go into conference with the press association officials and then stand firmly behind them in whatever action they may deem it necessary to take providing, of course, that such action is consistent with the wishes of the majority of the membership, and it assuredly will be, because we have selected responsible representatives to act according to the will of the majority. Once the committee reaches New York there should be nothing but the solid, unanimous backing of the membership behind the committeemen's conduct of our union affairs.

There has been some sentiment—a rather small percentage, I understand—against payment of the ten dollar assessment levied by our committeemen last year. It is beyond my comprehension how a good union man can haggle over paying this just assessment, especially when he knows the money is being applied for his own personal benefit, along with all other members. Suppose we had a weak committee to represent us and had received a cut in our salaries during the past two years we would probably have been willing to pay $500.00—IF WE HAD IT—in order to get the old salary schedule back, wouldn't we?

Now stop and recall that ours is one of the few crafts that has not been compelled to take a cut during the past few years, and then try to realize that it has only cost you ten dollars outside of your regular union dues to maintain your present salary.

Then, again, I do not want to appear egotistical, but will state that I have been carrying an up-to-date card since 1903, and it is my sincere belief that it has been the sticktoitiveness of old-timers like myself, and others, that has kept our union intact and made the salaries that obtain today possible. Suppose we had been narrow-minded and fought with leaders at critical times and in emergencies, and been miserly about paying our dues and assessments, don't you think the union would have been busted up long ago and that you would, in all probability, be working now for about one-half or twothirds the money you are getting today?

Think of the amount of money secured, in increases through continual payment of union dues since 1903 and then figure up what you have paid in dues since you became a union man. Try to balance these amounts and I believe your ten dollar assessment will not be discernible with a microscope for many of you when you make the comparsion.

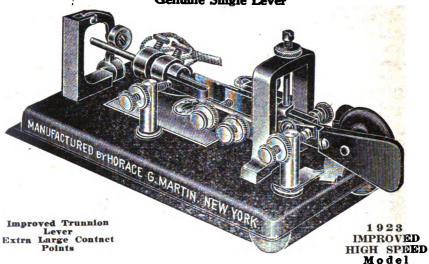

Twenty years ago the salaries were less than one-half what they are today. Was it or was it not our union which brought about the increase?

Normalcy is dead; we are back into another era of high and ascending living costs. I think our committeemen will see the handwriting on the wall this year and will prove themselves good poker players and will not be bluffed when they sit in and take a hand at Uncle Sammy's most ancient and popular indoor sport. Let's all get busy and start right now to cooperate with our committeemen and then stand staunchly, honestly and bravely behind them in whatever they may do after they reach New York City.

SPYING ON "RADICALS"

Where does liberty end and tyranny begin?

If a letter sent out by the intelligence office at the Vancouver army post is not near tyranny, what is it? Here are the opening sentences:

The intelligence service of the army has for its primary purpose the surveillance of all organizations or elements hostile, or potentially hostile, to the government of this country, or who seek to overthrow the government by violence.

Among the organizations falling under the above head are radical groups, such as the I. W. W., World War Veterans, Union of Russian Workers, Communist Party, Communist Labor Party, One Big Union, Workers International Industrial Union, Anarchists and Bolsheviki and such semi-radical organizations as the Socialists, Non-Partisan League, Big Four Brotherhoods and American Federation of Labor.

This is a matter that should come to the attention of congress. When persons in the army feel called upon to catalogue the Big Four Brotherhoods as organizations to be kept under surveillance it is time for somebody to be investigated. If it has come to the point that such orderly and substantial citizens as the railroad workers of America must be watched under a spy system, as this intelligence officer declares, what are we coming to?

And here is his charge that the American Federation of Labor and its membership must be watched and reported on—to the army. And the World War Veterans, themselves a part of the army when an army was needed to fight—they must be spied on and the army intelligence office notified.

Russia in the palmiest days of the czar kept her gendarmes to peep in at the windows and spy through the keyholes in the doors. Prussia in the palmiest days of the kaiser was famous for her effective spy system. But where are the czars? Where are the kaisers?

The letter of the intelligence officer continues:

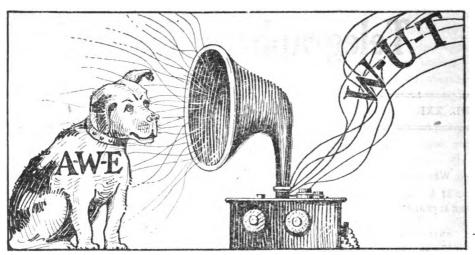

Not only are we interested in these organizations because they have as their object the overthrow of the government, but also because they attempt to undermine and subvert the loyalty of our soldiers.

Their object is to "overthrow the government"? The railroad workers would "overthrow the government"? The several million members of union labor would "overthrow the government"? The World War Veterans would "overthrow the government"? This is a vile libel on the organized workers of the country. Would it not be better for the intelligence bureau to do some spying on itself?

The way to keep the government from being overthrown is to keep it frobecoming Prussianized by the intelligence department of the American army

C. J. McTIERNAN, M. S. O.

Bro. C. J. McTiernan, whose photo this month graces our cover page, was born in Little Falls, N. Y., March 29, 1882. He has been a telegrapher for twenty-five years, working commercial, railroad, broker and press jobs. He was secretary-treasurer of Utica Local No. 46 at the time of the 1907 strike.

He became a member of the United Press Division when it was formed in 1909. He was elected Eastern committeeman a year ago and only recently elected secretary-treasurer, to succeed D. K. Stevenson of Pittsburgh.

Brother McTiernan entered the U. P. service July 11, 1910, at Dunkirk, N. Y., in the Dunkirk Observer office, was transferred to Little Falls, April 24th, 1911, and has been there ever since.

M. S. O.'S, M. B. O.'S AND THE C. T. U. A. MACHINE

Twenty-one years ago a number of Commercial Telegraph employes banded together throughout the United States and Canada in an effort to form a machine. That machine was for the purpose of improving their working conditions, shortening their hours and increasing their pay. The method they adopted for carrying out this purpose was laid down at a convention of representatives, with the understanding that they would meet at stated intervals, discuss their methods, re-arrange their policies and once these ideas were adopted by a majority vote, all members, that is, all true unionists, would act as a union, as one body; in other words, be a machine.

No greater compliment can be paid to an organization and its officers than to say it is a well-organized machine. This is especially true of a labor union, where so much depends upon the logic, ability and forcefulness of the leaders, because the average union has no patronage, no spoils with which to build up a selfish or unproductive political machine.

A would-be leader of the labor movement is in a most ridiculous position when the worst he can charge his opponents with is being members of a machine. To any reasoning person the truth is evident; that the accuser wants his own machine, his own organization, his own ideas to prevail and that the majority are against him.

It doesn't take much study to realize that "organization" and "machine" are words that can be interchanged since an organization or union that isn't a good machine is no organization. Likewise there can be no machine except where the group, even though it be a small one, is well organized.

The most powerful part of the C. T. U. A. machine is that group of union men and women who can say:

"I have been a member of my union but once, and I am still a member."

The highest degree in this group are the M. S. O.'s, even though they are just human and average the same as any others in the M. B. O.'s—i.e., "Members But Once."

It is the M. B. O.'s who make up the C. T. U. A. machine. The "in and outer," the repeater and the will-o'-the-wisps who follow every fairy or lightning bug are our greatest handicap. The "Member But Once" is a union man or woman in the truest sense, because they say:

"No secession, no disruption, no internal strife will cause me to swerve from my obligation to stand shoulder to shoulder with my fellow workers."

No group of men and women can stand together for more than a generation without experiencing many severe tests of their faith, their fortitude and their perseverance.

The C. T. U. A. has had its share of attacks from within and without by the impatient, the ambitious, the thoughtless and impulsive members, oftentimes stirred up by the many followers of Judas Iscariot. We have had our "secessionists" in the press field, in the wireless, among the brokers and the commercial members. We have the Nationalist, the Socialist and the Industrialist ever clamoring to tear the structure apart in order that they might try to build up a new machine according to their PECULIAR or particular plans and specifications.
